Revolving Shelves, Magnetic Door, Big New Roll-Out Freezer

Fits flat against wall or square into a corner. Available in Mix-or-Match colors—and white. With right- or left-hand doors.

in the new "Straight-Line" General Electric Refrigerator-Freezers

THIS SMART new General Electric Refrigerator-Freezer with its trim new "Straight-Line" look was designed for beauty-and convenience.

Not a hinge or handle protrudes to mar its smooth, straight lines. Sides, top and back are all flat and straight. That's why you can set it flush against the wall in line with your other appliances or square into a corner. You can make it a "built-in" simply by hanging wall cabinets

And General Electric's wonderful "Touch-Action" Features put all foods within easy reach in the 10-cubic-foot automatic defrost refrigerator section and in the 5-cubicfoot Roll-Out Freezer.

Magnetic Safety Door! A touch of your toe opens the Magnetic Safety Door on the refrigerator. Since it has no latch, it helps protect children from the danger of being locked inside.

Consider dependability, too! Today, more than 3,500,-000 General Electric Refrigerators have been in use 10 years or longer. Ask your G-E dealer about his easy terms and generous trade-in allowance. Household Refrigerator Department, General Electric Company, Appliance Park, Louisville 1, Kentucky.

New "Straight-Line" Design. Refrigerator fits squarely into a corner. No dirt-collecting waste space at back, none needed at side for door clearance.

GENERAL (%) ELECTRIC

GENERAL ELECTRIC "TOUCH-ACTION" PUTS ALL FOODS AT YOUR FINGERTIPS

TOUCH . . . and the shelves revolve. All the food you want is within easy reach ... practically handed to you.

TOUCH . . . and the vegetable bins revolve. Vegetables and fruits ride right out in front of you for easy choice!

TOUCH . . . and the 5-cubic-foot freezer rolls out. You see what you want at a glance! Holds up to 175 lbs, of food!

TOUCH . . . and the Magnetic Safety Door opens to the big automaticdefrost refrigerator section.

Have you taken the 4-second sound test? Next time it's noisy, put your fingers in your ears. Notice how quiet and peaceful it suddenly becomes. That's how an Armstrong Cushiontone Ceiling can hush noise in your home.

How to end ceiling problems and enjoy sound-conditioning at no extra cost

PROBLEM Unsightly cracks have suddenly appeared in your ceiling, or perhaps the paint has peeled, or the ceiling is stained. Fix it? Sure. But, oh, how you dread the mess of plaster repairs and the bother and expense of repainting. Worse yet, there's no guarantee that the cracks won't open up again. Wouldn't it be nice if you could put an end to messy ceiling problems once and for all? And wouldn't it be even nicer if you could sound-condition your room at the same time—at no extra cost? Well, you can! The solution at the right tells how.

SOLUTION Install a beautiful new Armstrong Cushiontone[®] Ceiling. Any husband can do it. It goes up right over your old ceiling. Cracks disappear forever and you sound-condition at the same time. The perforations in the attractive random pattern of Cushiontone absorb up to 75 per cent of the noise that strikes them. See your Lumber or Building Materials Dealer for Armstrong Cushiontone Ceilings. He'll tell you how to put them up. Or, if you want Cushiontone installed, call your Armstrong Acoustical Contractor. Both are listed in the Yellow Pages.

Transparent Color! -the new look in unfinished furniture

Now, without hiding the natural grain beauty of wood, you can finish unfinished furniture, built-ins, wall paneling and room dividers to blend with the color scheme of your curtains, rugs or walls.

IT'S EASY to achieve this "modern mood in wood" with REZ, the unique wood finish that colors and protects without masking the grain.

Not a paint-not a stain

NO BRUSH MARKS, bubbles or messy sagging. A special resin-base formula carries color into the wood. Result: Instead of hiding the wood with color, REZ tones the wood for a rich, fine furniture look.

13 COLORS - hundreds of color effects. REZ color tones can be used separately, or intermixed to create many more colors. REZ color tones beautify any kind of wood—and every wood lends its own touch of color and texture to the transparent colors of REZ. (Above, Blue Spruce REZ on pine.)

See how all 13 REZ color tones look on wood. Send for free color card and book-let to REZ, P. O. Drawer 3, Dept. F, St. Louis, Mo., or see your local REZ dealer's display of REZ colors on wood.

Funny about our cover room: practically everybody who looks at it likes it, but most everybody has a different reason. To one, the beamed ceiling is the big attraction. Another likes the color scheme of neutral background, sharp accents. Still another goes for the big windows and the way that they bring the outdoors inside. Helps put more smiles in the day!

There's nothing like the telephone for saving steps and time. But one of the nicest things about it is the way it helps put more smiles in the day.

Friends and families are closer--life is happier-there are more good times for everyone--when pleasant voices go back and forth by telephone.

It doesn't have to be a weighty thing. Many a time it's fun to call up just for a friendly chat.

"KEEPER OF THE HOME"

"I am the Keeper of my Home." These words literally jumped out at me when I read "For This: I Thank Thee. God." I felt as if I had found a long-sought treasure in these words. Housewife fails to imply all the things a wife and mother represents.

This new name suggests love, protection, authority, faith, responsibility, decency and influence . . . and I hope the name catches on.

OUR COVER FAMILY

We want to thank you again for affording us one of the nicest experiences of our lives. The article (Feb. '57) was wonderful, and never in our wildest thoughts did we expect to be cover material.

We have received lots of mail as a result. Much has been from friends, but about a letter a day has come from strangers who were interested in our plan or coffee table. People have stopped by the house, too. Well, to sum it all up-we have had a wonderful time this month.

The copy of American HOME and all the letters go into our scrapbook -Jean Wyatt to treasure.

"BEAUTY" GOES TO AUSTRALIA

In your Sept. 1953 issue, you picture "This Big Beauty." My wife and I liked it so much for the house we were contemplating and which is now nearing completion, that we "filched" the exterior design, with a modification or two, and substituted our own interior layout.

-Colin A. Johnston, Australia

HOLY LAND GARDEN

In 1952 you ran an article about the Darby Holy Land Garden at Sacramento's Elmhurst Church . . . We hoped it would stimulate similar planting in the belt from Texas to California, the climate of which resembles that of Palestine, but we had no idea how our desk would be avalanched with inquiries. That was five years ago. Inquiries still come! -C. M. Goethe

How to select a paintbrush

A good brush performs better ... wears longer...saves you money

> There are several qualities to look for when selecting a good paintbrush. First, see if there is (1) a full head of bristles in a firm setting.

Then, look closely at the individual bristles. They should be (2) finely tapered with slightly curled tips.

Make sure a generous portion of the bristles has tips which are (3) split or

"flagged."

Your final assurance of a brush which will give excellent painting performance is bristles which (4) vary in length.

A brush with these qualities has a greater working and paint-holding capacity-elim-

Now, better performance with improved TYNEX® nylon bristles

When buying a paintbrush, look for (6) the trademark TYNEX on the handle. Quality paintbrushes made with bristles of TYNEX nylon give you better performance. They pick up a full load of paint at every dip and lay on a smooth, streak-free coat.

Cover House

MARTHA B. DARBYSHIRE

Perhaps in the back of your mind you see a house that's perfect for you, but having it seems impossible. It's a good house, the one you want, and you're not willing to settle for less. You'd rather wait until you can afford to build this one. But it has a lot of things that boost the cost.

You're right to demand quality in a house. Construction costs are high, and yet there are many architects, designers, and builders who are in their chosen profession not only for a legitimate fee but for the satisfaction and pleasure it gives them to create good homes. When you find a man like this, you will probably be surprised how far he can stretch your budget to include many of the particular features that you would especially like to have.

Our cover house, for example, is such a moderately priced home. It belongs to Mr. and Mrs. John B. Lyttle of Santa Ana, California, and is on a 60x117' lot that's planted with several 20-year-old full-bearing orange trees. The house has a living-dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms and den—plus some extra features. This is the work of a man who puts the coveted "custom look" into moderately priced homes. He knows how to plan and how to buy.

The Lyttle house has a connected two-car garage, insulated ceilings, oak floors, plaster walls, big closets, steel sash, sliding glass doors, thermostat-controlled forced-air heat with a summer air-circulating switch, large wardrobes, two baths, tile counters, electric heaters. The kitchen has inlaid linoleum, flush hardwood cabinets, Formica counter tops, a dishwasher, garbage disposer, and exhaust fan.

A house like this takes imagination and knowledge of new, as well as old, construction materials . . . and a sensitive awareness of how to use them. The Lyttle house shows how to economize without sacrificing quality, how to have a few extras, plus a few dollars towards something else.

BUILDER: HARRY GATES INTERIOR DECORATOR: DON CREIGHTON, A.I.D.

Lyttles' decorator also helped stretch budget. In living room he combined new, old (note reupholstered sofa) with taste. And handling of colors makes difference between mediocrity and an outstanding home. The background is neutral, the accents sharp.

There's a snack counter joining the living area and kitchen, with shutters and a sliding door between the rooms. Under the white ceiling lamp at left is dining table, an old mahogany one that has been ebonized to tie in with contemporary furnishings.

Next time you lift a pan of boiling water off the stove, you will see the three ways heat escapes your home:

convection: Steam rises and escapes. In the same way warm air in your home rises and escapes through uninsulated walls and ceilings.

gets hot and conducts the heat away from its source. Furnace heat, too, is conducted away through the adjacent sidewalls and ceilings.

3 RADIATION: Heat radiates from the pan and escapes. Likewise, furnace heat will radiate and escape unless stopped by efficient insulation.

New Spintex, a mass type mineral wool, is the only form of home insulation that effectively stops heat loss all three ways...makes your home more comfortable summer and winter...saves up to 30¢ on every fuel dollar!

Spintex is easy to install. It comes in thick batts or blankets. It is light in weight, cuts clean and sharp, fits snugly, won't settle — and Spintex mineral fiber is fire-proof. Made of finer mineral fibers, it contains more heat-stopping dead air cells.

Spintex in nodulated form is scientifically blown into inaccessible attic spaces and sidewalls of existing homes

FLORENCE J. JOHNSON

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO OUR HOUSE

Our family is great on celebrating birthdays. Even Ginger the fox terrier has a party—complete with gifts. But Grace, our oldest, added the most unusual guest of honor to our birthday list. We now celebrate the birthday of our HOME! We are all proud of it, and each year we've planned to do many things that would add to its attractiveness. But with a family of growing children, we've never been able to stretch the money to cover additions to our garden, new blinds for the windows, or the remodeling of the fireplace.

One day, after a session with the budget—which still wouldn't cover the new window blinds—Grace made a statement that started the ball rolling. "Seems to me we can always stretch our budgets for birthday and Christmas gifts. Let's set aside a date as a birthday for our home. Then we can each choose a gift according to our pocketbooks."

Brother Dick was skeptical. "My present state of finance would buy maybe one brick for the fireplace."

But the idea had possibilities—the more we thought about it, the more we liked it. At least it was worth a try.

And are we glad we tried it! Why, the very first birthday produced an astonishing array of gifts.

The head of the house scowled at our faded, broken blinds; he decided to repair and paint them. Dick's allowance proved strong enough to stand the shock of purchasing the paint, and I stretched the household money for a forsythia bush and some special tulip bulbs for the front yard.

Grace gave a spice shelf, while practical Jane bought a new shoe scraper for the back entrance. The reason—her daily task is to keep the porches clean. Tommy stretched his allowance for a pair of grass clippers, but six-year-old Judy's small allowance was a financial headache for a young lady with a liking for lollipops. With help from her grandfather, her first gift, a coconut wren house, now hangs in one of our trees.

he fireplace was remodeled the second year—a combined gift from Grace, Dick and Dad. I came through with new andirons. Tommy and Judy gave a pair of planters for the mantel, and Jane surprised us. She haunted second-hand shops in every nearby town until she found an old-fashioned copper bucket for kindling. Incidentally, that gift started us all on hunting antiques, and set the pattern for furnishing our home.

This year Jane is working a sampler for the hall, and Grace is doing needlepoint for an antique fireplace bench they found on one of their tours. Tommy and Judy, with the help of their grandfather, are planning a new home for Ginger. And I'll have a new patchwork quilt ready for the guest room.

Yes, a birthday for your home really starts things going. Gifts coming from individual allowances are no drain on the general expense account and ingenuity makes limited sums go a long way. So if you want a shrub for a vacant corner, a new garden gate or goldfish pool, why not give them to your home as birthday gifts?

Speaking of pools—another year should have the groundwork laid for one for us. A swimming pool, no less!

Interesting people, wherever you find them, have one quality in common: they're all interested in the people and the world around them. They're the kind of people who do things.

The head of this family of Very Interesting People is our art editor, Ed Fortuna. He and his wife, Blanche, believe each member of a family should have some strong individual interests, but also that the whole family should have interests they can share in common.

Ed (whom you'll remember as maker of the "stained-glass" windows you saw in our November 1956 issue) is an elder of the church, and he and Blanche sing in the choir. They also sing in the Parkchester Choral Society, which does benefit concerts. Blanche is a leader of the church's Girl Scout troop, and Dave, 13, plays on the church basketball team. He has one hobby that's not only fun but profitable, too: making earrings from shells. He's also getting a reputation as a pretty good cook, specializes in waffles. Judy, 8, has her Brownie troop as her main outside activity, has the lead in her class play.

When all of the energetic Fortunas get together on a project, the results are usually first-rate—like the job they did when their apartment needed redoing; or picking beach plums, wild grapes. wild cherries or elderberries at their beach house for the delicious homemade jellies that Blanche turns out. The only problem is keeping supply up to demand—they're favorites for home use and gifts.

During the past several summers, the Fortunas' activities have revolved around their beach cottage. But as much as they like the beach, the Fortunas couldn't help PLEASE TURN THE PAGE

-who know that the greatest joys a family can know are the pleasures they share together

This is the story of the Fortunas' vacation last summer—

1,329 miles by car, a food bill no more than if they'd stayed at home, and two children occupied and happy every mile of the way!

One of the nicest things about traveling in your own car is that you can stop when and where you choose and stay long as you like especially if, like Fortunas, you know how to cook your meals as you go.

getting interested in other ways of spending their vacation. They were particularly intrigued by the idea of touring New York State by car and preparing all their own meals along the way, not only for economy's sake—a factor with a family of four—but also for the freedom and fun of it. "You won't cook your own meals longer than two days," warned well-traveled friends.

Frying pan with disposable inserts cut breakfast clean-up chores. Hot-dog

In Ontario, Fortunas watch tanker come through lock of the Welland Canal, connecting link between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario.

Careful planning provided four good swim stops in eight days. Adventures like this draw a family closer together.

The Fortunas sent for maps and folders, talked with people who had traveled a lot by car, and read magazine articles on the subject. So when they headed for the open road, they carried a full supply of staples, and their first day's lunch ready-made. Then about every second day they'd stock up on foods they'd need for the next few meals. So they traveled light, yet always had what they needed.

Perhaps the best meals of all were the Fortunas do-it-yourself breakfasts. By starting their days off this way, they not only got a jump on the day's traveling, but they also gained another advantage that they remember far more vividly: eating breakfast amid some of the state's most beautiful scenery. And at this early hour they had vast areas to themselves . . . "like eating on our own private estate" is the way Ed describes it.

Breakfasts consisted mainly of bacon and eggs. "But if we had any ham steak, frankfurters, or hamburg left over from the previous night," says Blanche, "we used that instead of bacon." She recommends browning CONTINUED ON PAGE 20 thin-sliced frankfurters before scrambling eggs over them, or serving tiny meat balls with fried eggs.

Instead of orange juice, the Fortunas had quartered oranges. And if they wanted to get an extra early start, they are cereal and fruit right out of individual-portion

Right after breakfast each day the Fortunas prepared and packed lunch—usually with sandwiches as the mainstay—and on cool days they heated soup and poured it into a vacuum bottle.

The big meal of the day was always in the evening. But it was prepared only after the Fortunas had made certain of their motel accommodations. Then they'd drive out to a scenic spot and prepare supper.

These meals were always kept simple, but they were appetizing and nourishing. The mainstays were simple-to-prepare meats, and frozen or canned vegetables. Franks, hamburger, or ham steak were the meat course for most of these evening meals, and were used in different ways. And instead of the daily salad, they are lettuce, carrot sticks, celery, and radishes as finger food.

"All this was not nearly as much work as it may sound," says Blanche, "because we all did our share. When we sat down to eat we'd put water on to heat in the biggest kettle of our cook kit, which then became our dishpan. We dried dishes with paper towels."

Cooking out, of course, was far less please turn the page

"I saw Texas! California!" Advance planning makes the most of vacations by car. For instance, restlessness is likely to become a problem when the distances grow long. That's when you need various diversions, especially for the children. One device Fortunas found successful was to let kids color in states of cars that they saw.

Old-type swing door used to bang refrigerator, cabinets-and housewife!

what a difference a different door makes!

See the change that a handsome Modernfold door makes! It folds inside the doorway, saving all the space ordinary door-swing steals. It can't bang furniture or other doors, can't block traffic or pinch fingers, can't blow shut. But it can—and will—give a lifetime of convenience.

This door can take it! It has an inner framework of double-strength steel, yet opens and closes at a touch. Double-hinged steel plates, top and bottom, give a smooth, accordion-like action. And every hinge plate is welded to steel rods that prevent twisting, pulling or swaying.

A Modernfold is all door. Not just one side, but both sides have evenly spaced folds, open or closed. And both sides are covered with a flexible, easy-to-wash vinyl fabric that won't warp, crack, fade or peel. And nobody but Modernfold gives you such a wide range of beautiful colors and unusual textures to choose from.

There's a Modernfold for any opening in any home or building. Don't be satisfied with anything less. Modernfold doors are sold by leading lumber dealers, department stores, decorating shops. Or look in the classified directory under "Doors."

Attractive new MODERNFOLD door always stays inside the doorway-and out of the way!

Here is MODERNFOLD'S inner framework of steel. A door without this steel structure is like a body without a spine.

Only MODERNFOLD offers such a wide selection of decorator colors and fabric textures.

Look for the MODERNFOLD name on the handle. When you find it, you've found quality that lasts a lifetime.

expensive than eating in restaurants. Do-it-yourself meals also meant only casual clothes were needed at mealtime, so luggage could be kept to minimum.

Dave (a Yankee fan) gets set for "pitch," Baseball Hall of Fame, boy's dream.

While they traveled from one stop to the next, the Fortunas had a variety of games that they played. One that they made up consisted merely of a map of the United States mounted on a piece of cardboard. The object was to spot cars from as many of the 48 states as possible, and then color in the respective states. Dave and Judy had a good deal of fun, and got a subtle lesson in geography as they colored in 42 states for cars they saw.

And a great many other lessons were learned just as pleasantly. The Fortunas visited the Baseball Hall of Fame, Fenimore House and the Farmers' Museum at Cooperstown, and the Howe Caverns in Cobleskill. In Newark, N.Y., they saw the world's largest rose gardens at Jackson & Perkins Co., and in Rochester they visited Kodak Park to get the lowdown on how photographic film is made. They visited Fort Niagara (famous in Revolutionary War days), and then crossed over into Ontario, Canada. During their day in Ontario, Hot shots Judy and Dave check the "Hot Shot" cannon on rampart of old Fort Niagara.

Do-it-yourself breakfasts were "like eating on your own private estate." Scene here: Letchworth State Park, among East's best.

they took the Maid of the Mist trip past the Niagara Falls, and also visited the Welland Canal which connects Lake Ontario with Lake Erie. Along the canal they stopped to see big ships raised and lowered in the locks.

Back in the United States the next day, they saw the "Grand Canyon of the East" in Letchworth State Park; they moved on to the Corning Glass Center in Corning. All told, they traveled 1,329 miles on their 8-day trip. Food expenses were about what they'd have spent at home. Gasoline came to $25, and motels averaged $13.50 a night ($10 the least, $20 the most).

Yes, the Fortunas are Very Interesting People—people who do things. And they hadn't been home long when they started talking about where they'll be traveling and cooking out this vacation.

ooking for "something different" in garden flowers? Then how about the beauties you see here? They come in various shades of yellow, orange, pink, as well as white, and they're extremely long-lasting, both on the plant and when cut.

These beauties are blooms of the Peruvian lily (Alstroemeria aurantiaca). The plant flowers in June and July and grows 21/2' to 3' tall. You plant the thick, fibrous roots in the fall, at the same time and in pretty much the same way as you plant tulips or daffodils. If you can, give them a lightly shaded location.

There are several different species of alstroemeria, but most of them can be grown only in the warmer states-in the South up to Washington, D.C., and on the Pacific Coast. Aurantiaca and its varieties, however, can be grown as far north as Boston and Chicago, although in those areas it's best to cover them in the fall with a foot or so of dry leaves, straw, or similar material. This covering should be removed in the spring.

Peruvian lilies make several stems and should be planted about 18" apart. They like humus-rich, moist soil, so use plenty of compost, peatmoss or well-rotted manure when you plant them. Dig holes a foot or more deep and mix compost (or other organic matter) and soil, about half and half, right in the holes. When the mixture is pressed down a little, the holes should be about 8" deep. Set the roots at this depth and cover with the soil mixture.

Later in the fall, when the ground has frozen about 2", sprinkle a handful of complete plant food over each planted area and, if you live in the North, cover with a heavy mulch of leaves or straw. Remove the mulch in the spring at about the time that daffodils and tulips begin showing through the ground. Repeat this feeding and covering procedure every fall, and take care that you don't injure the shoots when you remove the covering the second

The first summer after planting, the Peruvian lily often grows only about 2' and has comparatively few flowers. From the second year onward, however, it grows 3' or more and has many clusters of a dozen or more flowers each. -JOHN L. RUSSELL, JR.

A BETTER BUY... Thermopane!

Bondermetic (metal-to-glass) Seal

Every window (identified by this symbol) in this model house is insulated with Thermopane. Builder: James C. Moreland & Son, Inc., Norwood Park, Chicago.

A HOUSE WITH NO HOLES IN THE INSULATION

Today's best builders would no more leave a house halfway insulated than halfway finished. (Come to think of it, they're pretty much the same thing.) Which is why you'll find *Thermopane insulating glass in every window of so many better houses.

By completing your insulation with Thermopane, the builder saves you just that much more money in heating (and air-conditioning) bills. You stay just that much more comfortable. Your home is just that much more valuable. And, incidentally — you'll never have to buy, put up, take down, scrape, paint, wash or worry about storm sash. Thermopane is self-insulating!

AWNINGS OF REYNOLDS ALUMINUM

CHOOSE FROM THESE TYPES... REMEMBER, ALUMINUM GIVES "COOLER SHADE"!

Nothing else makes such a difference in the looks of your house as smart, colorful awnings. And nothing makes that difference so permanent as strong, rustproof, weatherproof Reynolds Aluminum! Your house gains in value instantly-far beyond the small cost.

Even more important is the difference in comfort, with heatreflecting aluminum awnings. Cooler shade, glare-free interiors, no fading of draperies and upholstery. And if you have air-conditioning, your savings in operating costs will pay for the awnings over and over!

Reynolds supplies the awning industry with highest quality aluminum materials-which become the basis of the "finest products" in the field. Look for this "finest products" emblem which identifies Reynolds Aluminum. You'll see it featured in the literature and advertising of leading awning manufacturers!

CLEVER WAYS TO TITLE HOME

MOVIES

RUTH M. MALONE

Oming back from your vacation with lots of movie film to prove what fun you had? Well, when vacation's over, there's still more fun in store for you if you title your movies—make real productions out of them before showing them to friends.

If your film shows points of interest along the route you took, use a map to introduce your movie. Pin a large map on a wall and trace or outline your route. Print the title you have chosen across the map, and photograph it—close up, to show the entire map.

Want to "animate" your map? You can have a black line run along your route without any visible aid—and it will mystify your friends! First, fasten the map securely to the wall. Focus on it from a point that will just include the borders . . . use a tripod if you have one. With a heavy crayon or soft pencil, mark the first inch or two of the route. Then, with a gentle jab of the camera release button, take a quick picture. Draw another inch or two on the map and flip the camera release a little more. Continue doing this until you have shown the entire route.

Or cut small footprints out of dark paper and use them to mark the route, moving them a little between each shot.

Will your vacation include a visit to the seashore? Then write or print the title of your film in wet sand, or use pebbles or small shells to form the letters of the title. Or let a wave "write" the title for you. Draw the letters in the sand close to the water's edge. Turn your camera upside-down and shoot the lettering until a wave washes over it. You can even get this kind of title at home. Spread some sand in your yard and have someone toss a pail of water over the letters after you've shot them for three or four seconds. When this length of film is processed, it will be backward. Reverse it end for end and splice it in at the beginning of your film. Then you'll see the wave washing across the screen first. As it recedes, the letters will mysteriously appear out of the wet sand!

For movies of a mountain trip, try photographing tiny footprints taken at small spaces on any incline, with small "bushes" and pebbles. Let pictures of a wedding trip emerge from the cover of a bride's book. If the honeymooners took a cruise, a small boat could cover the route. If they took an automobile trip, use a tiny toy car. Take pictures just as described for the crayonmarked map.

Movies of a birthday party? Photograph the unlighted cake, stop the camera and light one candle, then take another picture. Do this until cake is "magically" lighted.

No special equipment, other than your camera (and by all means a tripod if you have it) is needed for any of these ideas. Try a few of them, and you'll think up many novel approaches of your own. You'll be able to give your movies a professional finish. And you'll discover titling movies is nearly as much fun as taking a trip!

NEW! FOR DISHWASHER OWNERS

Cascade eliminates drops that spot!

Only Cascade has an exclusive ingredient that changes drops of water into cleansing, clear-rinsing "sheets"—stops spotting as no other detergent can!

Compare two glasses fresh from the dishwasher rinse. Water drops clinging to the glass washed in another leading detergent can dry in ugly spots. But not a drop remains to spot the Cascade-washed glass. That's the magic of Cascade's exclusive formula. It changes water drops into free-flowing "sheets." And it leaves everything so slipperyclean, rinse water slides right off. Result: no water drops, no more water spots! Cascade gets glasses clearer, silver and china cleaner than any other detergent!

What's more, Cascade is safer than any other detergent—actually protects gold leaf and other delicate china patterns. So switch to new Cascade. You'll love everything about it!

annual eMANcipation day!

On Sunday, June 16th, we will pay national homage to the titular head of the family. Every father please take note, and brace yourself for an onslaught of attention.

Every purveyor of services and goods will soon be advising your family on the best way to pamper Papa. You will be over-indulged and blissfully bemused by the singular lack of household complaints on "Your Day". Mother, or one of your progeny, will amiably fix that leaky faucet or re-glue the loose table leg, under your armchair supervision.

While you have your family in this temporary, cooperative do-it-yourself mood, it might be a strategic time to suggest that someone else re-decorate the bedroom. Point out the advantages of E-Z-DU Washable Wallpaper for the job. Tell them that it comes ready-trimmed and pasted with simple step by step "how to" picture instructions in every roll. Just cut strips to proper length, wet and sponge smooth on the wall. That's all! More and more families are using this sure, easy, low cost means of wall decoration. Your twelve year old daughter can do the job in a breeze. E-Z-DU is really easy to do.

Your Imperial dealer will be happy to demonstrate, but to avoid disappointment, make sure you specify E-Z-DU by Imperial.

It's always particularly interesting to see what an interior decorator does to his own home, and Robert Sidenberg of Edina (Minneapolis), Minnesota, proves how delightful a job can be done. Painting is Bob's hobby, and he painted the flowers on his dining-room walls to give the room a look of summer. With his wife, Dotty, he selected plaid gingham chair coverings, gay French plates for the open cupboard, even light curtains that contribute to the airiness that sets this summery mood.

THE EGG

RAY ABEL

AND YOU

Proken eggshells make beautiful mosaics! Eggshells have a surprisingly wide range of subtle colors—flat white, ivory, pale honey, beige, warm brown, even some mottled shells. If you want a still wider range of colors for your mosaics, use vegetable color dyes on some of the shells. Then they're as versatile as an artist's palette. Making eggshell mosaics is great fun, and you can decorate pieces to get results comparable to beautiful boxes, canisters and such that you'll see in exclusive gift shops.

Once you get started, you'll think of many ways to use this fascinating, inexpensive technique. And we believe that you can please the most discriminating friend if you choose your subjects wisely. An eggshell-mosaic box is a delightful gift idea, because your present won't be duplicated.

All you need to make the attractive decorative accessories shown on page 42 are some eggshells, vegetable color dyes, a pair of tweezers, adhesive, and shellac, varnish or clear plastic fixative spray—and, of course, the item you want to decorate. Since you probably have many of these things on hand, the cost of the decorating materials turns out to be practically nil!

With a bold rooster motif done in eggshell mosaic, a plain wooden box can become a thing of beauty, to be displayed with pride. Trim a mirror with deep brown and cream-colored eggshells in a diamond-like pattern, and it becomes an elegant piece. Let the sea inspire a handsome picture featuring a modern design of whales and sharks—rounded motifs that lend themselves beautifully to this medium. And you might decide to decorate a tall wooden box or a kitchen canister with a clown or a funny giraffe for a touch of humor. The possibilities are limitless!

In any case, trace your motif from a favorite picture—from a book, perhaps, or a greeting card or newspaper—and trace just the outline. Break eggshells into small pieces of various shapes. If you want to use special colors, dip piece of shell in warm vegetable color dye. Use tweezers for this. Dry colored shells before you proceed. Now see the step-by-step how-to pictures on page 42.

Now...from Lennox...a whole-house air conditioner for cigarette money

now available for custom-installation by your local Lennox Comfort Craftsman

Why enjoy air conditioning in just part of your house for just part of the day or night? You can afford better than that—now! Lennox, world leader in the science of conditioning air, has developed a remarkable new air-cooled whole-house air condideveloped a remarkable new air-cooled whole-house air conditioner that's surprisingly economical to install, operate and maintain. It costs no more over the years you enjoy it than you spend on cigarettes—even if your family smokes as little as two packs a day!

Economical to install

Called the Lennox Stowaway, this new air conditioner has been specially designed for low-cost installation in any home—no matter how it's designed or heated. It requires no plumbing, no water tower, no expensive wiring; can be neatly "stowed away" in an attic, basement or crawl space, or outside on a roof or concrete slab. If you have a warm air heating system of any make, you're really lucky of course, because you can then use your furnace ducts and registers. But since the Lennox Stowaway air conditioner requires only the simplest type of ductwork, it can also be economically installed in homes with hot water, steam or radiant heat; or with a space heater, wall heaters or floor furnace.

Costs less to operate

And what about operating costs? To cool and dehumidify the air throughout your house, the Lennox Stowaway air conditioner uses substantially less electricity than many other air-cooled air conditioners of similar capacity. Two compressors assure a constant, comfortable balance of temperature and humidity. Lennox Stowaway units of 2-ton, 3½-ton capacities—also 5-ton single-compressor model—are now available for custom-installation by your Lennox Comfort Craftsman. Also available is a wide variety of other Lennox air conditioners—for every home need, and for many commercial applications.

Plan colors you will use before you start. If you want to dye shell, dip into warm vegetable color dye, holding with tweezers. Brush a coat of adhesive-the kind that dries transparenton back of piece of eggshell and place on box with tweezers. Fill in picture, then background.

Here, step-by-step, is the way you decorate gifts with eggshell mosaics

First trace design you wish to reproduce onto tracing paper. Then blacken other side of paper with a pencil-or place a piece of carbon paper under tracing. Hold tracing on article (tape is easiest way) and trace design on to object.

Use shell pieces of contrasting colors to fill in the background of the article so design will be clearly outlined. When the adhesive is fully dry (at least 24 hours after the final piece of shell is placed) brush over entire piece with clear shellac or varnish. Or use plastic spray.

HOW TO PUT CLUB MEMBERS TO WORK

Members of The Woman's Club of Starke, Florida, became editors for a day—developed a "live" edition of The American HOME—in one of the outstanding programs of the year. It's a sure-fire program idea many clubs will want to try, because it calls for member-participation. And since active participation stirs up enthusiasm, there's better attendance at meetings. It's a change from the usual guest speaker, too.

Mrs. C. L. Scholl, president of the club at the time, came up with the idea of making this magazine "come to life" when the American Home Department of the club asked her to suggest a novel program. Then the chairman took over as Editor, with committee members acting as department-editors-for-a-day.

• A basic modern living room was set up on a stage to show one excellent way for a club member to have her living room look "When the Committee Meets" at her home.

The Editor took over first (each editor's role was limited to 10 minutes to keep the program moving along in interesting fashion) to advise that a housewife can be her own decorator, if she chooses, with The American HOME to guide her.

• Then the Home Furnishings Editor took members, step-bystep, through various points to be considered when decorating.

She explained the choice of furnishing colors, discussed fabrics, suggested various wallpapers, pictures and mirrors. Most of this material, incidentally, was gathered from American HOME articles. Each club member was urged to try a few ideas of her own to put personality into a room so she can be particularly proud of her home when it's her turn to be hostess to a club meeting . . . or to any group she entertains.

Mrs. Virginia Ream of Pasadena, California making the Cheer window test.

"I saw for myself! Cheer washed so white I could see the difference!"

Cheer's Blue-Magic whitener makes the difference . . . and only Cheer has it!

Here's why Mrs. Ream could see the difference. Only Cheer has the Blue-Magic whitener—a special ingredient that gets clothes really white.

Why is whiteness important? Because if your white things are really white, you know that your whole wash is good and clean. And Cheer washes clothes amazingly white, even whiter than they were the day you bought them.

Try blue Cheer. Make the Cheer window test, as Mrs. Ream did, and see the difference yourself.

If you judge your wash by whiteness-it's got to be Cheer!

She calls it "PINK HEAVEN"

What can words possibly add to the pictures? A solid, substantial but completely dull "before" of the Fort Worth house Mrs. Lodda Daniel bought. A dingy brick house that was painted pink and is now a pretty house. A bit of New Orleans "lace" at the doorway, the entrance approach cleanly defined, window trim freshened up—and in those few exterior changes Mitchell Leisen made for his client, the whole difference between an ordinary house and a distinctive one. Fortunately we do have the pictures—for it would be difficult indeed to convince most people that so much was gained by doing so little.

And just as amazing is the fact that Mr. Leisen performed this artistic sleight of hand by remote controlfrom Hollywood, 1,500 miles distant from Fort Worth. From afar, too, he started this assignment by completely remodeling the interior, working only from floor plans and photographs.

When Mrs. Daniel bought the house, she knew there'd have to be some changes made to turn it into the "Pink Heaven" (inside and out) she'd always wanted. She told Mr. Leisen her basic desires, and he took over from there . . . mixing paints, changing floor PLEASE TURN THE PAGE

Results? The exterior colors—pink, dark gray and white—blend beautifully, and the handsome white roof is functional, too, reflecting the sun's heat, keeping the house cooler in summer. Walk around back and you see how color and a new terrace give Mrs. Daniel a wonderful outdoor living room where she can entertain, have meals and enjoy the sun. The rear of the original house was uncared for and lacked any planning whatsoever for a full enjoyment of the grounds. Those days are gone forever. Mrs. Daniel is getting every bit of fun she can out of the center of her life—her home.

When Mrs. Daniel commissioned Mr. Leisen to remodel her house, he was busy directing a film for Paramount Pictures and couldn't make

He held reconstruction of the interior to a minimum, redoing only the master bath, the kitchen, and back porch. Mr. Leisen then provided sketches to the Texas architect who made drawings for the contractor.

You can destroy poison ivy in wild areas by soaking the ground with a general weed-killer that contains an herbicide like ammate or borax.

THEODORE A. WESTON

But don't use a soil-poisoning herbicide on your garden beds. Choose a poison-ivy or brush killer that contains amizol or 2, 4, 5-T, and apply it with a sprayer. Chemical is absorbed by leaves, so protect nearby plants from spray with newspapers.

Always discard unused weed-killer—where it can't injure anything—and wash out sprayer or watering can with a kitchen detergent and then three or four fillings of plain water.

Short Course in POISON IVY

Inless you know you're immune to ivy poisoning—and few people are—be everlastingly scared of the plant that causes it. The mildest case is no joke, and a serious case is dangerous. So: 1) learn to recognize poison ivy anywhere; 2) eradicate it from your property.

To recognize it, remember that it's a vine, either climbing or ground-covering, and that the leaves are made up of three leaflets. Young leaves, when opening out in early spring, are reddish and decidedly glossy. Mature leaves are rich green, fairly glossy. In fall, its leaves turn red again.

To destroy it, use a chemical poison-ivy or brush killer, sold at garden supply stores.

If you touch it, rub the place immediately with dry soil, sand, or absorbent cloth; then wash with yellow laundry soap. If a rash develops, and you suspect ivy poisoning, see your doctor!

You can pull out young plants—but be very careful. Use newspaper, as here, or thick rubber gloves. And don't let your clothes or shoes touch the ivy!

that it's composed of the rhyme to remember:

mental picture of it. Note three leaflets. Hence "Leaflets three—let it be!"

DON'T burn it! The poison is carried by smoke in tiny droplets. Use herbicide on pulled-out ivy and bury or pile somewhere to decompose. In case you're concerned, this young man who posed for the photos at the Brooklyn Botanic Garden is fortunately immune to ivy poisoning!

DON'T touch clothing or shoes that have been in contact with poison ivy. Wearing rubber gloves, wash clothing with plenty of soap or detergent, and rub shoes thoroughly with soapy rag.

DON'T pet your dog after he has romped in poison ivy. He is immune, but the poisonous oil clings to his fur. Wear rubber gloves, rub him with cotton rag, then bathe him.

DON'T ever touch raked-up garden rubbish if there's any chance that it includes any poison ivy. Carry it with a rake or fork.

DON'T ever cultivate, dig or plant, bare-handed, in any area where poison ivy leaves, stems or roots may be in the soil.

Chances are you share that common need for a good deal more storage space. You can get this extra space—and you needn't resort to the expense of adding closets—if you use small cabinets and shelves. They're decorative as well as useful, and they give you a low-cost means of keeping possessions where they're handiest.

Actually, every room in your home ought to have its own storage area, where you can find things without a temper-testing search. In your kitchen, for instance, you might replace old cabinets with easily-removed shelves. These shelves can rest on small-gauge plumber's pipes that are attached with flanges to wood strips on the wall. The result: dishes come out for eye-catching display at your fingertips.

Bathroom storage can be consolidated into spare wall space by stacking inexpensive metal cabinets with sliding doors. These cabinets on a shelf are also an ideal catch-all for an entrance hall (left)—or bedroom, where a dressing table can hold toiletries and accessories.

A shelf arrangement above your desk, or a room divider in your living room, can be a highly decorative home for books, plants and ceramics, arranged according to your own taste. Special poles and wall strips are available in many stores for just this purpose.

Glass shelves hanging from a perforated-hardboard wall piece are widely used today. Placed above your sink or range, they can hold spices, utensils, serve as added work space. Whatever your requirements, modern, versatile arrangements like these provide accessible storage for items you use often and like to keep handy.

the confusion if we'd only rearrange our living areas a bit. As I ironed, my mind began to whir. . . ."

That's the way Mrs. Charles J. Paine of Dallas, Texas, describes the start of what she calls "Operation Room Shift." And it's a pretty good name at that, for—while there were quite a few structural changes made —just about every room on the first floor of the house has been shifted. The old arrangement (shown in black on plan) was a mixup. Everyone was getting in everyone else's hair . . . deliveries to the kitchen had to be made through roundabout routes.

Another problem was the living room. The lovely view of the patio was obscured by heavy draperies. The fireplace at the end of the room made it hard to arrange furniture in good groups. The fireplace wasn't used much anyway, so why not move the pickled-pine breakfront to the end of the room? It made the room more spacious, with an open area in front of the big windows looking out on the patio.

The real inspiration was making the dining room into a sitting room, shifting the dining room to where the old kitchen was, and building a new kitchen adjoining the breakfast room. This PLEASE TURN THE PAGE added a room to the house—without an actual addition to the house.

The new kitchen is streamlined. It's next to the breakfast room, where the playroom was, so food-serving is easier. And Mrs. Paine's family can gather there and visit with her while she's preparing a meal, and yet not be underfoot.

Probably the highlight of the Paine house is the breakfast roomkitchen area with its brick floor, mammoth cabinets of fruitwood, acoustical-tile ceiling and matching wallpaper and curtains in a blue, brown and tan chintz pattern. A Franklin stove piped into the existing flue replaces the old barbecue pit. In the new kitchen, the windows have been moved together and centered over the sink. The alcove under the old back stairs now houses the refrigerator. Originally there was a bathroom behind what's now the built-in counter-top range at the end of the kitchen. Now the shower space is for storage of cleaning equipment. The lavatory is used as a deep sink for flower arranging. The old garage was enclosed, and part of it now serves as a laundry room. Cupboards from the old kitchen were painted and moved here. Now there's plenty of room to store ironer, ironing board, and laundry supplies, plus a closet for delivery of dry cleaning. An anachronism, you think, in this setting of tangled jungle growth above us; pounding surf, vast pineapple and sugar plantations below us? No, in Honolulu it is not incongruous, for the vegetation is as richly heterogenous as are the islands' cultures. In the Hawaiian Islands many, many nationalities live happily together. They know better than any other people on earth how to meld many cultures without absorbing them completely, thereby enriching rather than standardizing their way of life. Standing here, in this quiet, cool and fragrant bird-filled garden of the Robert Thompsons' overlooking the teeming city of Honolulu, one comprehends how highly rewarding and civilized is this tolerant attitude which permits the descendants of New England missionaries to live and work happily side by side with Orientals and Polynesians equally jealous of retaining their cultural inheritances.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are noted landscape architects, both of New England stock. Honolulu is their home. From their lanai they can watch the blazing, blatant sun go down over the shimmering Pacific below them and enjoy, equally, the beautiful antiques with which they have furnished their home-some from his family in Maine, others brought on her grandfather's brig on its run from San Francisco. Within, the blue and white living room is keyed to a fine collection of Spode, Wedgwood, Staffordshire and Dedham ware. Over the fireplace hangs a portrait of Mrs. Thompson's great greatgrandmother who threw corn cobs at the British at the battle of Bunker Hill. Behind a fine antique sofa is an old secretary brought from Maine. It holds Doulton and lusterware and is flanked by Chinese prints on silk. Exquisite Japanese cabinet has gold lacquer panels, and the distinctly Colonial bay window sparkles with hand-pressed Early American glass displayed before masses of fuchsias. The Oriental rugs and Bristol candlesticks are as cherished by the Honolulu Thompsons as they were by the Thompsons of New England, who brought them here.

And now we make a sharp right turn off Diamond Head road, down a perilously narrow and winding lane overgrown by masses of pink and purple bougainvillea that lead to the sea and the home of Eaton Magoon, Jr. scion of a storied Honolulu family

Here, on a wide ledge at the base of the old volcano, is the hereditary property and seat of five branches of the Magoon Family. It is a fitting site for one of Honolulu's most interesting clans stemming from Chun Afong, a wealthy Chinese merchant wed to a Hawaiian of royal blood. Their many and beautiful daughters married well both here and on the mainland and the blood line was mixed with English and Scotch-Irish—where the Magoon name enters. Eaton Magoon, Jr. (Bob to his friends) is the great great-grandson of Chun and Julia Afong. . . . Bob's house is very small, exceedingly distinguished. Done in a romantic combination of Hawaiian-Oriental, its architecture is dramatically simple. A symbolic moon gate at entry repeats curves of polished koa gate to the beach. Court is paved with flat volcanic rocks washed smooth by surf and set in white cement. A large picture window reflects the changing blues of the Pacific. Furnishings, kept understated, point up the brilliance without while, inside, modern sofas live quietly with priceless Oriental antiques. Kitchen and Bob's own bedroom open on the lanai, which faces the sea.

Both house and furniture were designed by Bob, after years of planning. Rooms would be spacious, flowing one to another, all focusing on the magnificent color and action of the sea. As contrast there would be quiet courts on the mountain side, filled with ancient carvings and fragrant Stephanotis blossoms. Guests would enter the traditional Chinese moon gate symbolizing a roundness and fullness of life and a sense of completion in all endeavors. After Yale and two years in the air force, Bob returned to his family business, taking time out to write his first musical, "49th Star." Then, acting as his own designer and contractor and with the help of a talented cabinetmaker, Etsuji Koga, he began to work on his house. Running like a musical theme is the beautiful koa woodwork inspired by an old Chinese desk with simple raised center panels. Design is repeated in benches and beds, and the effect is one of simple unification and understated elegance. Chinese and Japanese treasures are sparingly used to point up two beautiful antique screens. The core of the house is the music and soundproof recording studio where Bob composed "13 Daughters!" a musical comedy scheduled for a Broadway production and which is partially autobiographical, sparkles with Chinese proverb and humor, and is richly woven with Hawaiian pageantry.

A richly talented young man of many facets, Eaton Magoon Jr. can be said to be well on the way to achieving the ancient Chinese ideal, a completeness and fullness in all endeavors.

Patterned after the ancient Samoan long house is the excitingly modern home of the Edmund F. Fitzsimmons—he who hails from down in Maine, his wife Mary island-born.

In 1940 Ed Fitzsimmons went to Samoa with the anthropological research yacht, Director II. He was deeply impressed with the soaring Samoan long house with its sense of freedom and no internal walls. But a modern American family with a growing boy and girl needs privacy and quiet seclusion. There must be partitions. So they borrowed the old sleeping balcony idea from the mountain cabins in Maine, combined it with the Samoan look. The "hayloft" has a sitting room for hi-fi and TV, the master bedroom suite. Below are kitchen, service and children's rooms.

"It's an isosceles triangle," says Ed, owner and builder. "It's simple—like a wigwam," says his wife. When your reporter became impatient with this easy-going approach to one of Honolulu's most discussed houses, she called the architect, imaginative designer Pete Wimberly, who so brilliantly interpreted this ancient shelter design for the Fitz-simmons family. "Oh, Ed's house? It's just the lean-to in the Boy Scout Manual!" There may be nothing new about leaning two walls together to form a shelter, but you'll find PLEASE TURN THE PAGE a delightful setting for easy informal entertaining. Ed works long days as a builder. Contrary to current myth, Honolulu men work as hard as—if not harder than—mainland men. Business opens at eight and often doesn't stop until the warm tropic sun splashes gaudily into the Pacific. A small pool provides a quick, cool plunge, a base of operations for fourteen-year-old Melainie and brother Jeff. Part of the scene: Ed broiling a tropical fish, Mary concocting a salad.

Friends in muumuus and shorts will drop by for a relaxed Hawaiian afternoon in sun and water. Pace is slow, talk is easy. Soon there will be music. By Monday morning everyone is refreshed and ready for another hard work-week. As in every U.S. city, Honolulu life is real and earnest—for everyone, of course, but the tourists!

there is everything new and daringly beautiful about this particular solution to man's housing needs. To begin with, the "lean-to's" are laminated beams, 8x14 inches, cradled in cement buttresses. They rise swiftly to a skylighted peak twenty-eight feet above the ground. A support of equal length runs under the floor to complete the triangle. The gable end of the house is inset deeply, so the roof, like folding wings, protects the interior from summer sun and sudden rain. Three types of lumber were used: Douglas Fir, Western red cedar and Philippine mahogany. Chevron pattern of cathedral window is formed by battens continuing as glass frames. On lanai, window reflects the sky and sea. Inside, a handsome chimney piece rising through the living area has raised hearth of cast stone for extra seating during parties. Note mammoth Japanese water kettle and flaring copper hood. The lava rock of the chimney is similar to the ancient Hawaiian method of dry walls as seen in old temple sites. Handsome, the rough, huge poi board a Hawaiian family formerly sat at to pound their basic food. Now a museum piece, but put to use as a coffee table.

Architecturally the house harks back centuries, but it operates as effortlessly as an electric clock. Mary runs this four-bedroom, four-bath house without a maid, and with time to spare for the Honolulu Academy of Arts and the Junior League. Funwise, the house offers

Entertaining ideas for June

by Betty Crocker

Summer's in the air! And who wants to stay indoors? Let's have dinner on the porch tonight — or on the terrace! Serve something light. A salad and tall glasses of frosty-cold tea. The big moment comes with dessert—a real summernight special, like our Strawberry Angel.

It's the season for small hikers—and big ones, too. So be ready to pack lots of picnic baskets. Pile the hampers high with fried chicken, potato salad—and what for dessert? Our new Cake Cones . . . colorful as a carnival!

A June birthday on your list? Here's a cool idea! Instead of frosting your cake, top one layer with slightly soft ice cream and stick in candles. You can't beat cake 'n ice cream to win a youngster's heart!

Any day you want to make someone happy—bake a cake! It's no trouble, no fuss—with our quick'n easy mixes. And your cakes taste homemade-good every time. For our mixes start with real home recipes and the same good ingredients you'd use, like Softasilk Cake Flour and high-quality shortening. Why not pick your favorite flavor—and bake a melt-in-your-mouth-tender cake right now!

First, a party we have chosen for FAMILY FOOD and one we think more fun than all the old familiar buffets put together-a Pupu party. The seven young women acting as hostesses (the seven delights of the Islands) are left to right: Mrs. Edmund F. Fitzsimmons; Mrs. George Denison; Mrs. Charles A. Guard; Mrs. A. Gordon Hodgins; Mrs. J. Stanley Hodgins, from island of Kauai; Mrs. Allen C. Wilcox; Mrs. Robert H. Evans, from Kauai (all others from Honolulu). They are wearing muumuus (Chinese pajamas) and beautiful maile leis flown from Hilo for the party. Maile is a hauntingly fragrant vine that grows high in the mountains on the island of Hawaii, has been used for generations in ceremonials. PLEASE TURN THE PAGE

Pu Pu (sometimes spelled)

Pupu and pronounced pooh pooh) is the Hawaiian word for snack, appe tizer, hors d'oeuvre. In the islands there is a group of eight young couples who found a way to streamline entertaining yet dispense with the cost and work of elaborate dinners. They formed the Les Gourmets de Pupu Society which meets once a month at one of the members' homes. Each individua brings his favorite Pupu, and each couple contributes to the liquid refresh ments. The regulations of the society are strict and uncompromising. To be eligible, husbands as well as wives must prepare and bring their favorite dish. Only the host and hostess of the month are permitted to invite a guest—with the exception of the grand annual, when each member may bring a guest. It was our luck to be in Honolulu at this time!

A Pupu party is fun as well as economical family entertaining. Most people would rather nibble on tasty snacks than sit down to a full course meal anyway—particularly when the nibbles are such interesting concoctions as they serve in the land of hula! So why not organize your close friends and start a new entertaining fad? You must have a recipe for a favorite dip or hot Pupu which PLEASE TURN THE PAGE washes and rinses cleaner-then dries-all by itself!

New Filter-Stream washing-plus 5-temp drying-all in one appliance

There's an entirely new Filter-Stream washing and rinsing action in this RCA WHIRLPOOL combination. Clothes are showered with a powerful stream of filtered, sudsy water—never sloshed around in dirty, linty water. Clothes are rinsed 3 separate times, then they're gently fluffed and dried.

Automatically, this RCA WHIRLPOOL measures the water, re-heats the water, and filters the water all during wash and rinse. There's even an automatic dispenser on top for full-strength bleach and bluing.

Think of owning an RCA WHIRLPOOL Filter-Stream washer—and a full-size 5-temperature dryer—both in one slim, trim appliance! Costs less than separate machines, too. See your RCA WHIRLPOOL dealer this week—he'll give you a generous trade!

This flat-topped modern home in the Pasadena hills was designed with the easy life in mind. Keystone of the efficient plan is the use of builtin storage units in each room of the house.

THEY BUILT IN EVERYTHING

Then Mr. and Mrs. Bradner Petersen built their home in Pasadena, California, they planned it three ways for convenience and efficiency: 1) the rooms are arranged to separate sleeping, utility and living areas, 2) easy-to-maintain materials are used wherever possible, and 3) the Petersens allowed plenty of space for storage.

But quantity isn't the whole story on storage. You also need quality-that is, the right kind of space in the right place. Take for instance, the Petersen dining-room storage.

Not only is the space adequate, but it's also near the dining-room table. In addition, the trays and shelves are built to hold dishes and linen conveniently.

For belongings that you don't use daily, location of storage isn't so important. Articles that are used seasonally can be stored in an attic or high on closet shelves.

What you store has a lot to do with the way you should store it. Anything that's affected by temperature, moisture, light or insects should be stored where it will always be safe against the threatening elements.

JAMES W. BRETT

Complete dining-room storage is accomplished with these cabinets on either side of the kitchen door. Glasses are stored at top; hardboard trays pull out for easy access to place mats, table linen.

BUT THE PEOPLE

View from master bedroom shows wardrobe wall and the set of trays that hold all Mr. Petersen's clothes except his coats, suits and shoes, Lavatory and dressing room are on the other side of storage unit. Shower and toilet are compartmented.

modern woman's way to internal cleanliness

Far more effective than any homemade solution, yet safe for delicate tissues — special preparation for the douche!

Today, discover a wonderful "clean feeling" . . . a refreshing sense of well-being and intimate daintiness you've never experienced before.

Discover Zonite—the modern woman's way to internal cleanliness. Once you do, Zonite will be just as important a part of your grooming as your deodorant, bathsoap and other personal needs.

Zonite is entirely different from old-fashioned, homemade douching solutions. These "make-shifts" cannot and do not offer the antiseptic, germicidal and deodorizing action of Zonite. In fact, Zonite is the one effective liquid specially made for feminine hygiene.

Yet Zonite is so safe . . . safer by far to delicate tissues than other liquid antiseptics for the douche!

After menstruation—and always—reassure yourself with this modern woman's way to internal cleanliness and security.

She calls it "PINK HEAVEN"

(Begins on page 49)

Hollywood sound stages, Mitchell Leisen completely redecorated the home without seeing it. He took his basic color scheme from two Toulouse Lautrec prints Mrs. Daniel owns.

The interior has a pink motif, with variation going as far as a deep red lacquer on the refrigerator and kitchen counter tops. Working from the inside out—and strictly by remote control—Mr. Leisen completed the revamp of the interior, then started on the exterior. He was able to make the trip to Fort Worth to supervise the final details. The whole project, including the exterior terraces and landscaping, took about one year.

The new interior is just as striking as the new exterior. In what was formerly an old utility and storage porch there is now a quaint colonial family room where cooking, dining and a chat by the fire are really enjoyable because the surroundings are so pleasant. The walls are done in natural-finish common brick, and pine paneling. The furniture is Early American. The dining table is an adaptation of the old trestle table with a trough underneath to hold magazines. Ladderback chairs, a hutch cabinet and an old commercial coffee grinder carry out the colonial theme.

A new brick fireplace and wall were built in, and the back door is now behind the fireplace. The curved section of the wall is used as a snack bar. Directly behind it is the kitchen. Efficiency as well as charm are built into this room. For dishes and silver, there are four storage closets under the snack counter, with the range right alongside. Indoors or out, "Pink Heaven" it is!

View from snack bar shows how well-planned Mrs. Daniel's kitchen is, with appliances built in, counter and storage space to spare.

Pots and pans hanging over range are decorative and in easy reach.

Case for a High Light

If you're like most of us, there's at least one little horror about like this in your home. But you don't have to put up with it if you follow our suggestion: Just install "knee-action" socket fixture right in the bulb sockets, bending one to the right and one to the left. Then screw in the counter-light bulbs.

Now cover the fixture attractively: build open "box" with turned spindles (get them at a lumber-supply store). Spindles let air and light through. Put translucent glass panel in bottom to hide bulbs. Hinge this panel so it'll be easy to change burned-out bulbs. Finish box with stain or paint.

HANDYMAN HOW A TO'S

All power tools operate the best when you use them safely. Paint the knobs a bright color so you won't be apt to bump them, but so you will remember that they may need adjustment for each job. Before you switch on power, check all locks, switches, controls; make sure that they are right.

Does your hand get tired on a long painting job? You'll make the work much easier if you fit sponge-rubber ball down over the brush handle so the ball provides a larger finger grip. This makes the work less fatiguing. Cut the hole in the ball by using a knife with an extremely sharp blade.

Brikcrete needed to build

Brikcrete needed to build the exterior walls of the "Brikadier." *National Average. May vary by locality.

Eight-inch Brikcrete, usually costing less than lumber, means all-m-sonry walls without price penalty. Provides the combination of safety, long life, eye-appeal, low maintenance and high resale values that only fine masonry can deliver—not only for the "Brikadier", but for any size of home or any type of building. Design, size and proportion in line with modern architecture. Range of 14 colors. Low cost because of local manufacturing. Write for literature and name of nearest plant.

Manufacturing Territories Open

More local plants are badly needed to supply increasing demand. To men of vision and aggressiveness, Brikerete is truly an outstanding manufacturing opportunity. Ideal community enterprise. Plants operate in franchise protected territories. Liberal sponsor cooperation. High income potentials. Requires no skilled labar. We supply the basic equipment on easy-to-pay rental terms. Write for Brikerete Book No. 2 for information.

Completed panels ready for testing.

Because the heating panels of steel pipe are concealed beneath the floor surfaces every inch of wall and floor space is available for use and decoration. Steel Pipe radiant heating systems provide more comfortable draft-free, healthful heat .. no more hot or cold spots or blasts to cause wall streaks or dirt deposits.

Steel Pipe radiant heating is first choice because it satisfies every woman's need for home comfort with decorative flexibility and every man's requirement of heating efficiency with economy.

CONSULT YOUR ARCHITECT, BUILDER OR HEATING CONTRACTOR BEFORE YOU BUILD

Because your Steel Pipe radiant heating system will be an integral part of the house, and must be planned right down to the last valve and pipe coil before construction is started, tell your architect, builder or heating contractor in advance that you want "invisible" Steel Pipe radiant heating. He will plan accordingly for your satisfaction, savings, and lifelong comfort.

Live in gracious comfort the whole year 'round with TWN DOW

the windowpane with insulation built in WINTER OR SUMMER—Twindow, the world's finest insulating glass, keeps the interior of your home more comfortable . . . adds to the attractiveness of your rooms . . . opens wider views for enjoyment all year through. Photo courtesy Place Homes, South Bend, Indiana.

- Rooms are warmer in winter, cooler in summer
- Heating and cooling costs are lower
 - Windows are clearer
 less fogging and icing
 - Outside noises are reduced
 - Gives you a "storm window" in permanent form
 - Two types and many standard sizes available

Winter's icy grip or summer's enervating heat holds less terror when your home is equipped with Twindow. For this twin-glass windowpane—a product of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company—has insulation built in. This means that your rooms are kept warmer in winter... cooler in summer.

You will enjoy your home even more . . . actually be dollars ahead . . . if you insist that your new or remodeled home be equipped with Twindow in every room. For example, heating costs will be less in winter. Air-conditioning bills will show a decrease in summer. Your family's health will be safeguarded against window drafts which so often are the cause of colds and other illnesses. Twindow reduces window steaming and icing, and the bother and expense of storm windows are eliminated.

Why not make sure that your home has all these advantages? They are yours at a cost that is no more than that of single-pane windows plus storm sash. Whether you are building or remodeling, why not get specific information on Twindow from your architect or builder?

TWO TYPES OF TWINDOW®

METAL EDGE. Ideal for large window areas and where maximum insulation is needed most. Made of two panes of '4" clearvision Plate Glass, with a '4" sealed air-space between. Exclusive stainless steel frame protects glass edges against chipping. Exceptionally sturdy.

GLASS EDGE. Constructed of two panes of ½" Pennvernon® Window Glass, with a 3/16" airspace between them. The high insulating value makes these units ideal for modern window wall construction. Available in popular sizes for a variety of window styles.

FREE BOOK. Illustrated in full color, this is a must for every homemaker. Send for your free copy today.

"Charcoal Lighter" is a safe and easy liquid that makes charcoal "catch" and keep burning. Price is 59¢. "Star-styx" is another good idea. The impregnated material is lighted and then placed under charcoal to start a glowing bed of coals. Package of 16 sticks is priced at 39¢. Why not use one of these handy fire-starters instead of dangerous combustible items? You'll get better results.

C'MON OUT TO COOK!

Why cook outside? The outdoor cook knows the answer to that . . the cook who has sniffed the savory scents of charcoal or hickory or a combination of both. This aroma, enhanced by the addition of a favorite meat done to perfection, perks up appetites like nobody's business. And just one taste tells the uninitiated why they should cook outside. Doubt it? Consider these reasons:

- · Cooking outside gets everybody into the act-amateur or professional cook, child or adult. Everyone ends up wanting to help, and so everyone gets in on the pure and simple fun.
- · Make your backyard your picnic grounds and you can stop beating your way through traffic to get to a crowded picnic area.
- · Mobs of people (if you like it that way!) can be entertained with far less trouble outdoors than indoors.
- · There's less work involved in the preparation of the mealand very little clean-up afterwards, if you use paper plates and other paper goods. And your house stays neat.
- · Give it a little thought, use the right materials, and the cooking and eating outside is out-and-out good. Try it-you'll like it!

Light Refresher Course for Summer

DOROTHY BRIGHTBILL

Refresh and renew your home for summer. It's easy and inexpensive with do-it-yourself decorating ideas like these. And we have patterns to guide you . . . patterns for everything but the birdcage! The Swedish window frame can be painted right on the wall. Or cut the shape out of plywood or fiberboard, paint it and mount on wall with thin screws.

The curtains and the apron are made exactly alike, so you need only one pattern for these. Use the new synthetic fabrics, and only the barest amount of pressing will be needed. Firm up the headings with felt-like washable fabric made especially for this purpose.

• We found a nondescript old dining chair with charming lines, and painted it white with blue accents. Then we added the delightful painted "Street Scene" across the top. Never overlooking the versatility of good design, we used bits of the same "Street Scene" on plain white china. It looks fresh and new.

1670—65¢, Home workshop and painting pattern for scrolled Swedish frame to go around a window. 1671—35¢. Sewing pattern for café curtains, apron to match.

1672—25¢. Painting pattern of "Street Scene" for china and for little chair (above). Use special paint on china (for oven-baking). Use regular artist's tube oils to paint chair. You might use this painting design on a wastebasket, too.

GREEN ALL SUMMER

ost of us can have a green lawn all summer. The only people who can't are those who live in areas of extreme water shortage where lawn-watering is completely prohibited, and who encounter long periods of drought.

A green lawn in summer depends mostly on three operations, each handled in the right way at the right time: mowing, feeding, watering. With today's equipment, fortunately, they're all easy.

Mowing should be frequent. Set your machine at $1\frac{1}{2}$ " and mow whenever the grass is 2" high. In hot weather, once a week may do it, but in cool, moist weather it may mean every five days or twice a week. If you let it get too long before mowing, the grass will suffer a set-back and it may not stay green.

Regular feeding is absolutely essential to summer greenness. A good general rule is to feed three times a year: in very early spring, at the beginning of summer, and at the beginning of fall. In the March issue we told about the early-spring feeding. Now it's time for the second feeding.

Four types of fertilizer can be used safely at this time: non-burning complete plant food; high-analysis, slow-release, all-nitrogen lawn food; all-organic fertilizer; instantly soluble plant food (applied through the sprinkler). The PLEASE TURN THE PAGE

Your Lawn

New "impulse" sprinklers cover a large area, a full circle or any size sector, and sprinkle evenly.

one point to remember is: don't use more than the manufacturer recommends

Before watering your lawn, be certain it needs it. And if it does, soak it well. Never water a lawn "just a little." If you're not sure whether the soil is drying out, test it with a trowel, either in the lawn itself or in a bed immediately adjacent. If the soil is powdery and dry to the touch, it needs watering; if it feels damp, even though not actually wet, it doesn't need watering.

How long to let the sprinkler run depends on how much water it delivers to the area being sprinkled and on whether your soil is light or heavy. It's best-and most economical-to water slowly, usually for several hours, until a trowel-test shows soil is well soaked to a depth of at least 4". By the time the water sinks to its full depth the soil will probably be moistened to 6", which is about right.

With today's selective weed-killers, containing 2,4-D, lawn weeds are no longer a problem. Crabgrass, once established, isn't quite so easy; but crabgrass killers, used diligently, will eventually get rid of it.

Lawn insects can be controlled with DDT, chlordane, or dieldrin. For grubs (which work at the roots, just below the surface), treat the lawn once a year. For chinch bugs (tiny fly-like insects at the base of the grass leaves) or sod webworm (indicated by small tan moths flying out of the grass), spray or dust every two or three weeks till eliminated.

Chances are your lawn won't suffer from disease, but if it does, the newer turf fungicides will soon eliminate the trouble. THE END

In the September issue of The American HOME, which you'll get around August 20, we'll take up fall lawn care.

BUILD A BARBECUE IN 45 MINUTES

CAROLYN COX

We needed a barbecue at our vacation cottage. But the elegant stone or brick ones seemed too expensive, and we had no space to store a portable one, so I decided to design and build a barbecue myself. My design was simple—it had to be if I were to build it. And build it I did—in just 45 minutes!

I wanted a fireplace with the grill at comfortable work height . . . a barbecue that could easily be reassembled if it proved too small . . .

Crisscross the blocks (above) to overlap joints. Top layer (below) is four 6" blocks, two laid flat on each side. So fire trough is 14" wide before lining is added. Lining makes size right.

a barbecue that was inexpensive and easy to erect, And that's just what I ended up with.

Here's what you'll need to build this barbecue: 18 8" concrete blocks (corner) and 10 6" concrete blocks (corner), 20 standard-size fire bricks, and a 10x24" cast-iron cooking grate. You need no mortar, so fireplace can be redesigned at any time.

Set the first course of blocks level and firm in a prepared bed of sand three 8" blocks and one 6" block side by side, pressed close together. Lay a similar series of four at the end of the first, all eight blocks running in the same direction. Overlap joints by setting ends of 6" blocks against ends of 8" blocks. First layer measures 30x32".

Crisscross blocks so they don't spread apart. Corner and end blocks should have smooth sides outward, cores up.

Next two layers are same as first. Top layer has only four 6" blocks (no 8" blocks), two on each side, laid flat. This forms fire trough—14" wide before lining with bricks. Flat blocks make two 8x32" slabs to hold chef's utensils and food supplies.

Line fire trough (above) with fire bricks, and line sides to form frame for grate. Finished barbecue (below) has a 9x32" trough, with grate up about 5". Room to cook lots of food.

Line fire trough completely with bricks. No part of concrete blocks should be exposed to direct heat. It takes 12 fire bricks to cover bottom of trough. Start at front edge and lay three bricks lengthwise along left side, then stand fourth brick upright as a finishing post. Standing brick on other side, with a brick laid flat between, covers back edge. Put one brick crosswise at front edge. Remaining five bricks fit in with three laid crosswise, two lengthwise.

To line the sides, lay three bricks edgewise against blocks on each side, covering the core faces.

Now you have a frame for the grate. Just place it on top of the bricks.

The trough, fully lined with fire brick, is about 9x32", providing an excellent draft. Cooking surface of grate is 5" or 6" above floor of trough. To control heat for fast or slow cooking, vary thickness of charcoal bed.

Decorating a kitchen can be an easy job for any homemaker, experienced or not. And there's a simple way to be sure of successful results-by following a few rules. Rule One: Start with the floor. Two: Don't forget you may want to change colors later on, so choose a floor that will go with several color schemes -like this charming new polka dot design in Armstrong Linoleum. Rule Three: Pick up at least one of the floor's colors and use it lavishly around the room. Rule Four: Get your floor at a store that features the Armstrong brand. This way you'll be sure of top quality and a wide choice of designs and colors. There are over a hundred smart styles to choose from in Armstrong Linoleum. It's the modern fashion in floors for every room in today's fine homes.

TANGY WILD BLUEBERRIES ... REAL MUFFIN BATTER

THE KIND OF BLUEBERRY MUFFINS FEW COOK (and no other mix) CAN MATCH

Only wild blueberries, that grow tangy-flavored in northern summers, have this special tart-sweet flavor. These are the blueberries you get in the Duncan Hines Mix alone. And this is the fruity flavor and fragrance that makes your muffins match the finest found in all Duncan Hines' traveling and tasting. We've mixed a real muffin batter for you, too . . . and in stirring time you have a full dozen ready to pop in the oven . . . more than from any other mix. Like all 16 Duncan Hines Mixes, the Blueberry Muffin Mix has something special gained from searching for the finest eating, something . . .
