DISHWASHER NEWS FROM PROCTER & GAMBLE

Look! Cascade's dramatic water-sheeting action ends spots, streaks and film!

Only Cascade contains Chlorosheen to change water drops into clear-rinsing "sheets"... stops spotting as no other leading detergent can! You'll see a sparkling clean difference when you put Cascade in your machine. These dramatic photos show why. Notice how the water on the plate at left is rinsing off in clear "sheets" to slide away food particles and grease. No water drops left behind to dry into messy spots and film! Cascade's exclusive Chlorosheen is the secret. Cascade with Chlorosheen in your dishwasher will mean visibly cleaner dishes and silverware, visibly brighter glassware. For best results, always get Cascade.

Cascade is safer for fine china patterns, too!

WASHED 1000 TIMES IN ANOTHER DETERGENT

Proof Cascade protects finest china patterns as no other leading detergent can. Everyone knows even finest patterns can fade with time and use as shown by plate at right washed with another dishwasher detergent the equivalent of every day for 3 years! But see at left Cascade preserves the clear-cut beauty of this delicate pattern. No wonder Cascade is recommended for safety by the American Fine China Guild.

CASCADE IS ENDORSED BY EVERY LEADING DISHWASHER MANUFACTURER

WHAT HAPPENED

TO THE COUNTRY KITCHEN?

If your kitchen is becoming more of a "work center" than the "family center" it should be, you'll especially enjoy this issue of The American Home. In this day of efficiency worship, we decided to find out what happened to the room we called "heart of the home"—the country kitchen. We found out:

It never went away. Obscured by a haze of kitchen-of-tomorrow dreams, the country kitchen has gone right on being loved and used, and you'll know why when you see the ones starting on page 15.

We think this kind of kitchen is important today, when almost everything comes built-in except warmth and charm. In spite of miracle foods and appliances, many homemakers spend more time in the kitchen today than their mothers did. Because they like to be there. For the last thirty years, designers have been applying the tape measure to our kitchens in a laudable effort to save steps and speed work.

But some things can't be measured with a tape, and these are the things that cause the kids to gather in the kitchen for homework and Dad to linger after the table is cleared.

What do we mean by country kitchen in 1960? We don't mean a single decorating style, but all styles that promise the colors and textures of home in wallpaper and paint, in wood and brick. We mean kitchens that prove that the pleasure of the having is in the showing, whether it be old pewter, colored glassware, bright copper, or wrought iron. We mean kitchens you love, not just love to work in.

We would be the last to return to the dark days of no modern appliances, no streamlined cabinets or wipe-down surfaces. No pioneering, please, just a country kitchen that shows our love of food, family, and home. . . . and a pan of biscuits in the oven.

FIRST REPORT! OWNERS RATE THE NEW COMPACTS

America's new small cars are on the streets of every suburb. Here's what owners like (and dislike)

There are six American compact cars currently battling for public favor, and by next fall there will be four more. Hundreds of thousands of these newcomers are already on the road.

Do they do the job? Are they a better car, dollar for dollar, than their full-sized cousins? Are they really more economical in the long run to buy and operate? Do they perform well on the highway? Are they really easy to park and drive in traffic?

Because consideration of a compact car will obviously enter into your future buying plans, The American Home decided to go after the answers to these questions from the new owners themselves. To guarantee impartiality, we engaged the R. L. Polk Co., a firm that has kept automotive registration records since license plates were first issued, to choose owners at random from seven large cities. These cities (Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas, Denver, Detroit, Los Angeles, and New York) were picked to give nearly every variety of terrain and climate.

We talked to 105 owners of compact cars in these cities. The sixth make, the Comet, had not been in production long enough for fair evaluation, so it was not included in this survey.

Probably no other car has ever appeared on the American market that is as radical and different as the Corvair. It has a six-cylinder, mostly aluminum, aircooled engine mounted in the rear where luggage is usually kept. Two average-sized persons can easily shake hands across its 51"-high roof.

All but one owner we talked to praised the Corvair, despite acknowledged difficulty with the "teething" problems that seem inherent in most all-new cars. The one exception was a Detroit foreman, Edward R., who became so disgusted with continued low gasoline mileage and failure of the dealer to correct it that he traded his Corvair for another compact.

Mr. R.'s trouble involves early-production Corvairs only. The engine uses two carburetors, one for each bank of three cylinders, and these are located off to the side away from a heat source. Consequently on damp winter days, they tend to ice. This causes hard starting, stalling, and high gasoline consumption. Chevrolet has long since rushed a kit of corrective parts to dealers for free installation, but many people, it turns out, would rather complain than come in for a free cure. The same lethargy was shown to a fan-belt breakage problem caused by an incorrectly designed pulley. People wait until it happens before getting a free new pulley installed. As a result they risk the inconvenience of a roadside breakdown.

Actually, neither Corvair nor any of the other compact-car manufacturers has ever claimed the kind of mileages that are reported by professionals in contests such as the annual Mobilgas economy run. Without paying undue attention to good driving habits, you can expect 16–20 m.p.g. in the city and 22–25 on turnpikes with any of these makes. The biggest variable, according to the engineers, is you and not the car.

Anna T., a housewife in Dallas, uses her Corvair mostly for errands around town. One time, though, she and two other women drove 250 miles to their college reunion. She says of her Corvair, "This is a car I can drive, not just steer. I would take it any day in (continued) preference to my husband's big car. That rear seat that folds down makes my Corvair as handy as a station wagon for shopping and hauling kids."

Don S., also of Dallas, is a sports-car enthusiast who bought a Corvair when his wife finally rebelled against imported two-seated roadsters that, more often than not, were in pieces on the garage floor. Mr. S., an aircraft designer, likes the "imaginative engineering" of his Corvair, particularly the rear engine and the gearshift mounted on the floor "as in the real cars of yesterday."

"I've had a lot of fun with it," he reported. "Last week I raced it with several imported sedans and came in second to a Jaguar. I wore out a set of rear tires, but the car handled beautifully."

"My mountain goat" is the way Dr. James G., of Denver, refers to his Corvair. He bought one of the recently introduced two-door models to carry him on his rounds, which include the hilly outskirts of the city. "I got tired of getting stuck during the winter in my other cars," he explained. "The Corvair salesman told me that the engine weight in the rear would prevent this, and he was right. I've gone in and out of places with it that stopped the snowplows. My only complaint is a stiff gearshift when it's very cold."

Gas-mileage squawks by Corvair owners centered around cities such as Detroit, New York, and Chicago where the climate can be damp as well as cold. This fact tends to prove the company's belief that icing is to blame. Otherwise, the air-cooled engine received a solid vote of confidence, particularly for its unexpectedly low noise level. Interior room was rated excellent in front, marginal in the rear. One man expressed relief that as the owner he never expected to ride back there.

LARK

The spirited Lark was introduced by Studebaker two years ago, and has not been changed much since. It offers a wider selection of body styles, including a convertible, than any other compact make. This factor drew several of the owners we contacted back to Studebaker after looking at the others. For those who wish neck-snapping performance as well as compactness, there is an optional V-8 engine available.

"My Lark handles like a toy," Harry M., an insurance salesman from Detroit, told me. "I looked at some foreign cars, but thought that in my business, I'd better buy American. The Falcon seemed like a tinny proposition and I didn't want to take a chance on a Corvair. Once I saw the Lark, it took me three minutes to make up my mind. Just sitting in it, I felt right at home."

Elmer Z., of New York, is one of thousands who park overnight in the streets and must move their cars around like a traveling dice game to avoid tickets. He didn't exactly buy a Lark for its ease of parking, but admits that the 175" overall length gets him in where others fail. Mr. Z. was seconded by an Atlanta schoolteacher, Esther R., who was faced with buying a compact car or enlarging her old garage. "Traffic made me feel insecure in the Lark at first," she said, "until I realized that its dimensions were just about the same as our first car, a 1935 Chevrolet. We built our garage around it years ago, and the Lark fits fine today."

VALIANT

Plymouth's Valiant stands on middle ground with respect to engineering and styling innovation. Yet owners who compared Valiant with the other compacts before making their choice voted styling, performance, and ride as superior. The performance stems from a larger (up to 145 h.p.) six-cylinder engine that is angled about 30° on its side to fit under the low hood. Valiant is also the only one of the Big Three compacts to offer power steering and power brakes. Its really good ride, which has a definite big-car feel, is due to torsion-bar suspension borrowed from bigger Chrysler products.

Samuel B., a grocer in Chicago, voiced a common complaint. "The design of the front doors," he says, "makes them hard to waterproof. I've made several trips to the dealer, but he has yet to fix them." Mr. B. was also disappointed by gas mileage, expecting 20 but getting 15 m.p.g. On the other hand, each time he wheeled out of his driveway he was pleased by neighborhood reaction to his bright red Valiant. (continued on page 75)

How we retired in 15 years with $300 a month

"1945 was an important year for Grace and me. My big promotion at the department store had come through, and the years of hard work were finally paying off. At forty, my earning power was good. But, ironically, I worried about money. It went out as fast as it came in. We never seemed to have any left over for savings.

"One evening, we were reading and listening to the radio when Grace brought up what we called 'our Florida dream.' For years, we had talked about retiring to Florida. We made great plans—a home by the water, our own boat, loads of time to relax and enjoy ourselves. What we hadn't figured out was a way to make certain we could afford to do it when I retired. With the trouble we had saving money, retirement seemed a long way off.

"Then Grace showed me an advertisement she had come across in a magazine. The ad told how a man of forty—with no big bank account, but good earning power—could have an income of $300 a month, every month, for the rest of his life, beginning in just 15 years. It was called the Phoenix Mutual Retirement Income Plan.

"Well, at first I was a little skeptical—it sounded almost too good to be true. But I figured I had nothing to lose so I clipped the coupon and mailed it to Phoenix Mutual for more information. It turned out to be the wisest thing I ever did.

"We retired three months ago, and our first Phoenix Mutual check for $300 arived in the mail, right on time. Now we're settled in sunny Florida, and it's every bit as great as we dreamed it would be. We have that cozy home right on the water. And, even more important to us, our monthly Phoenix Mutual check gives us the security to enjoy real peace of mind."

The kid and cargo space is bigger-the wagons are not

New Unibody puts more space inside without raising the roof or stretching the body

The 1960 wagons from Chrysler Corporation put space in its place—inside not out. They give you more room than ever for hauling bulky cargo or frisky kids, yet they fit in the same garage or parking space as last year's models.

A new way of building cars called Unibody Construction gave us the answer to this seeming contradiction. Unibody makes body and frame a solid, welded unit. Gone is the old concept of separate body and bulky frame. The inches of space this let us save shows up inside as added room and comfort.

These new wagons can also take more weight without strain. Unibody Construction removes the fat from the frame and beefs up the strength. They carry a load with confidence and grace.

And with these new wagons from Chrysler Corporation you can choose your power. New easy-breathing V-8's; new slant sixes with real get-up-and-go that give two or three more miles per gallon than previous sixes.

There are many more features offered (like the ones at right) that set these wagons off as something special. Let a drive bring out the difference great engineering makes.

and present creates a kitchen inviting as a welcome mat! This kitchen plan follows that of the Early American dog-leg lean-to. Dining area, living area, and work center become a co-ordinated whole. Soft sheen of stainless-steel cabinets and counter tops blends with the patina of old wood. Linoleum in kitchen area is easy underfoot and the spatter pattern is harmonious with brick floor in dining area.

Provincial Color Scheme Goes High Style

This cheerful Early American kitchen in Atlanta, Georgia, didn't just happen. The William Fells had definite ideas about the family kitchen they wanted. It had to be a bright, sunny spot with modern conveniences, yet provide the right atmosphere for prized family antiques. Inspiration for the color scheme came from antique blue and white Meissen ware proudly displayed in the built-in hutch.

To keep the kitchen light, pine cabinets and wall paneling were rubbed with white paint. Paint was wiped off knots to make them prominent. Porcelain knobs and H-hinges are traditional to Early American. Window treatment was kept simple to let in maximum light. Shutters give privacy.

Clean-up area is just a few steps from dining area with dishwasher concealed behind doors at right of sink. Laminated-plastic countertop material continues part way up the wall for easy cleaning.

"Grandmother" dining table in front of the open hearth is the favorite gathering place for family meals, games, and homework. Exposed beams and the break in the ceiling add structural interest. Brick floor takes hard wear, and doesn't show muddy footprints. Mrs. Fell simply washes it with detergent and water. She prefers a dull natural brick finish; others may like a shiny waxed one.

See plan on page 64

Sunlight streams through skylight onto main work areas. Brick and wood contrast with warmth of ash cabinets and brown appliances.

The Mood: South of the Border

Accessories from down Mexico way set the theme in the kitchen of Tom and Bette Crawford of Los Angeles. The open plan is ideal for the informal living they enjoy. See-through shelves and island divider create separate kitchen and dining areas. Gay colored dishes and glassware brighten the shelves. Cabinet drawers open from both sides of island.

Antique table serves many purposes in the tradition of a country kitchen. Wide-plank floor and beams are part of original house.

The Mood: French Countryside A variety of cooking utensils is used effectively

A variety of cooking utensils is used effectively to personalize this French-style kitchen in an Early American salt-box house. Hood with ventilating fan is made of plaster of Paris on a framework of aluminum and chicken wire. Armoire without doors is built into wall and outfitted with shelves and a maple cutting-board work surface.

All White and Country Casual

Skillful planning turned this kitchen into a room-within-a-room in the home of Mrs. Charles S. Johnston of Inverness Countryside, Illinois. The kitchen, once separated from living-dining room, was cleverly opened up by a large pass-through. Louvered doors close the kitchen from view on formal occasions. Because Mrs. Johnston loves to cook and entertain at the same time, her open-plan kitchen is ideal.

The color scheme blends shades of off-white and blue in both rooms. A creamy white kitchen is a perfect background for many types of colorful accessories and decorative effects.

For a mellow effect, pine cabinets were treated with three coats of white paint, each wiped off while wet. A final coat of burnt umber was wiped off to create an antique finish. Mrs. Johnston's old mahogany dining table and chairs were painted white with a parchment finish to harmonize with the color scheme. Louvered doors on the wall cabinets are decorative and match shutters.

Major appliances were placed out of direct view from the living room. Dishwasher and oven are enclosed behind cabinet doors. The cooking surface and barbecue unit are surrounded with a marble counter top which is decorative (continued)

Open shutters reveal a kitchen that's bound to stop conversation and demand inspection. Decorated with living-room care, it's also extremely workable. Marble counter, 4½' deep, is ideal for buffet service.

All White and Country Casual (continued) and useful. Standard barbecue unit lifts out for use outdoors. Ventilation is handled by exhaust fans installed directly above the charcoal barbecue unit and cooking surface. White laminated plastic, used on the counter top along the sink area, continues up the wall to meet cabinets. Antique accessories collected by Mrs. Johnston and dramatic light fixture offer a striking contrast to white scheme.

A Charming Provincial Manner By remodeling an old kitchen, the Elwood Hansens

By remodeling an old kitchen, the Elwood Hansens of Hillsborough, California, now have a family-style kitchen well suited to their busy lives. Sliding window over sink has a roll-up blind and is a handy pass-through to patio. Range has a built-in look but actually is wall-mounted on a base cabinet. Dishwasher front is paneled to match cabinets.

Family Kitchen With a Countryside View

The scenery of Carmel Valley, on California's Monterey Peninsula, fairly shouted for a kitchen that was open to the outdoors. The Robert McDonalds responded to the call with this delightful open-pavilion kitchen and family room surrounded by a wide terrace. Here, antiques and modern equipment live congenially side by side in a room planned for good food, good fun, and relaxed entertaining.

A view of the salad-making area in this kitchen, seen on page 15, is just one of the many ideas that make this country kitchen so workable. The unusual redwood dining table is actually two halves of a round table which stand (continued)

From the cooking area there's a view that would win top prize in a travel-poster contest. Architectural details such as the pine paneling, pine cabinets with weathered finish, old brick in the fireplace, and red concrete floor bring in texture of the outdoors.

independently and can be moved around for versatile seating arrangements. Its flexibility offers an opportunity for unusual centerpiece arrangements. Shown here, one half is moved forward to form a "figure 8." The compact kitchen area, confined to one end of the room, has a long peninsula as the core of activity. Perforated hardboard was used extensively on cooking top. Wall and base cabinets, at right, provide storage for china and food. Counter is handy when barbecuing.

one wall for hanging frequently used pans and tools. Copper cabinet hinges add traditional flavor. Bar near the windows is a delightful second dining area for quick lunches or snacks. Old brick hearth was extended to form a fireside bench, made comfortable and bright with colorful pillows. Windows were left bare to let in maximum daylight and provide a spacious view. Awnings on the outside cut glare.

Make your kitchen YOU-SHAPED

The way you work, the type of cooking you like best, the number of children in your family, the way your family lives—all have an important bearing on the type of kitchen that will give you the most satisfaction. Think of all the activities that go on in your kitchen throughout the year, then plan to accommodate as many of them as possible. If you're remodeling, don't be afraid to make structural changes that will give you more space.

You've heard about the L-shape, the U-shape, the corridor-type, and the one-wall kitchen. These are the basic designs that have been found to be very efficient. But, as you can see from looking at the plans of our country kitchens on pages 64, 66, 67, 69, and 70, it's not always possible—or even desirable—to follow these basic plans to the letter when planning your own kitchen. Variations that suit you are often more workable and make for interesting details that give your kitchen personality.

PLAN IN TERMS OF WORK CENTERS

The major activities performed in most kitchens can be grouped into four basic work centers. Keep the first three as continuous as possible for top efficiency.

Sink and clean-up center is the most frequently used area in the kitchen.

- Give it a choice location to form the core of the kitchen.
- In this center, put the sink, dishwasher, garbage disposer, storage cabinets for all supplies and utensils used in this area. Provide counter space at the right and left of the sink.
- The sink does not have to be placed under a window.

Range and cooking center should be close to the sink center, as more trips are made between these than any others.

- If you plan to have a built-in range, put the cooking top in this area. The oven can be located in a less important area, but do allow counter space beside it.
- Provide base and wall cabinets for storing everything used at the range.
- Allow counter space on both sides of range or cooking top. Install wood or stainless steel top on one side for hot pans.
- Install a ventilating fan and hood or one of the new ductless-type hoods above the range to remove grease and cooking odors.

Refrigerator and mixing centers should be combined whenever possible.

• Place refrigerator so door handle is nearest the counter you're going to use for mixing. (You can buy either right- or left-hand models.)

- Plan to have at least 36" of counter space at this center. A maple top is handy for rolling out doughs, chopping, and cutting.
- Plan sufficient cabinets to hold all food supplies, equipment, and utensils needed.

Dining center in the kitchen is considered a must for most families today.

- Allow as much space as you possibly can.
- Plan for comfortable dining at a table or table-height counter area. Avoid a lunch-counter feeling.
- If most meals are to be eaten in the kitchen, block off as much of the kitchen view as possible. Even the neatest cook ends up with some clutter.

While these are the major centers, you may want to include space for other activities in your kitchen such as laundry, planning desk, sewing area, a spot for a freezer, or a built-in barbecue unit and fireplace.

GET THE MOST FROM YOUR CABINETS

Cabinets represent a major expenditure, so take time to consider the kind you want and the storage features they offer.

Factory-built cabinets in steel, steel with wood fronts, and wood are available in all price ranges and offer a wide variety of styles, colors, and finishes. Standard and custom sizes and storage features may be purchased, depending on your budget.

You may choose carpenter-built cabinets to give you personalized finish and style. Be sure you get the good storage features in these that a factory-built cabinet line offers. Consider these points: make use of corner areas, decide where you need drawer storage, vertical storage for trays, cookie sheets, etc., and where you need cabinets with shelves. Adjustable ones are desirable. Sliding shelves in base cabinets save awkward bending and reaching. Consider using shallow cabinets between base and wall cabinets to increase storage. Or, instead of building a soffit, run cabinets to the ceiling to gain storage for seldom-used kitchen utensils and bulky articles.

Standard base cabinets with counter tops are 36" high, but some manufacturers make them 30—32" high. If you have cabinets built to your specifications they can be made any height. Allow 15—18" between counter top and bottom of wall cabinets.

CHOOSE APPLIANCES TO FIT YOUR PLAN

1. If you're planning to buy all new appliances, you can select from a variety of sizes to fit your kitchen plan. If you are planning to use some of your old appliances, then the plan should be adjusted to accommodate their sizes. Allow additional space if your plan is to add new ones later.

2. Built-in equipment is popular because it gives a unified appearance to the kitchen.

3. A built-in oven and cooking top take up more wall area than a free-standing range. Consider this point if your kitchen space is limited. However, cooking tops in gas and electric models are available in many sizes depending on the number and arrangement of burners or units. Many are shallow so the top drawer of the cabinet in which they're installed is usable.

4. To save installation costs, consider freestanding refrigerators and ranges that look built-in.

5. When installing two built-in ovens, try to place them side by side instead of one above the other.

LIGHTING

Plan for overhead lights, a light over the sink, and under the wall cabinets. A decorative hanging fixture above the dining table is a nice addition.

WIRING

1. Be certain your electrical contractor knows what appliances you are planning to install in the kitchen so there will be enough current supplied to meet your needs.

2. Plan sufficient wall outlets in convenient locations for using all your small appliances. Install outlets near the top of the back splash instead of in the middle of the wall where they interfere with decorating.

3. Double outlets are often more convenient if installed horizontally instead of vertically and are generally less conspicuous.

PLUMBING

If remodeling, try to plan around the present plumbing system, but don't sacrifice a good plan.

HEATING

Discuss your remodeling plans with the contractor to find the best way to work around your present heating system. You may have to move a radiator or register to get a good kitchen plan.

DECORATING

When decorating your kitchen, give it as much thought as you would the other rooms in your home. The country kitchens shown in this issue are good examples of the various kinds of decorating that are practical.

Half-column blocks clamp pairs of flat patio blocks for a shelved, horizontal effect. Less for screening a view than providing a backdrop, this fence gives free ventilation, needs a 16" width allotment.

Column blocks stack up to create a large-scale design of great simplicity and strength. Best for a broad area; fine for defining a lot line; primarily a grid to see through, so be sure it faces a good view.

Chimney blocks (of all things!) are decorative just placed side by side. In fact, regular placement is preferable. As the sun passes along the wall, the crescent of light in the circle slowly changes.

Standard single-core blocks are set vertically, core out, between pairs of stacked partition blocks. Adjustment of the projection of the "shadow boxes," and of row over row, calls for precision.

Keyhole-shaped lintel blocks, placed foot to foot, form a diamond pattern. For alternation of the diamonds, double corner blocks are spaced between the lintel blocks on the bottom and topcourses.

Double corner blocks stand here in a pattern as old as children's blocks, and just as satisfying. Excellent for a windbreak, or for the end wall in a carport. Support must be provided for end rows.

Lintel and single core blocks in checkerboard arrangement form an almost-solid wall with emphatic vertical lines. From the other side, the pattern is severe, so give a thought to that view, too.

Corner blocks, like the chimney blocks shown at left, present an intricate design when placed on their sides. Stacked corner-up, corner-down, the resulting grille seems modeled and hand-crafted.

Half blocks with stretcher ends describe a strong basket-weave pattern. The simple alternating of the blocks, vertically, then horizontally, gives a light look to an otherwise heavy, solid wall.

VARIETY, PERMANENCE, AND BEAUTY WITH BLOCKS

When choosing blocks for your wall, shop around. Most of these are available in all parts of the country, and new ones are coming out every day. A simple, one-block pattern offers the advantages of bold effect, ease of construction, and economy (especially if you're having it done). If you're planning to use two kinds of blocks, stack them before you order, to be sure you're getting what you want—and that they really fit! Blocks aren't expensive, but a mistake always is. Take into account that sun and shadow are part of your effect. And remember that the scale of the block is affected by the distances from which the fence is seen. There's always a temptation to match the Great Wall of China, but neighborly considerations, building codes, and your own needs will give you something much more satisfying.

Partition blocks and lintels form this complex, projecting design. A job for an expert. Following the sketch, the basic units are: partition blocks in 4x8x8" and 4x8x16" sizes; lintel blocks, 8x8x8".

This vacation house is basically two tent-shaped structures, commonly called "A-frames," connected by a covered passageway or lanai.

The larger structure serves as the living and indoor dining areas but can also double as sleeping quarters. Attached to it is a shedlike building that contains the kitchen and a bath-dressing room. The small structure contains two bedrooms as well as a bath.

HOLIDAY HAVEN IN HAWAII

This sun-and-fun vacation home will give you ideas for your own hideaway

To most people on the mainland, a vacation in Hawaii means staying at a luxury hotel with Waikiki Beach at the doorstep. But to residents of Honolulu, it means getting away from the traffic-jammed city and off to their own special vacation homes located at secluded beaches or in the hills. This doesn't mean, however, that they go to the "little grass shack" we sing about. Far from it! Vacation homes in Hawaii are probably the most exciting to be found in the nation. The intricate blending of many cultures—Polynesian, Japanese, Chinese, Filipino, and Caucasian—produces some most unusual architecture and decorating. There is no traditional vacation-house design in Hawaii. The typical summer bungalows, seen on the mainland, are few and far between.

The mild climate of Hawaii encourages open planning and informal outdoor living. The family room is the whole outdoors—the sandy beach, the dashing waves. The dining room is the open lanai—lovely by sunlight or moonlight.

Because their vacation houses are truly second homes and are often used the year round, Hawaiians build them more carefully and sturdily than the typical mainland cottage. The home of Mrs. Henry Caldwell, shown on these pages, is an example of blending the architecture with the landscape to produce a house that almost seems to have grown there. Native materials such as coral rock and ironwood are combined with redwood, Philippine mahogany, and fir.

While certain portions of this house are designed to fit the particular climate of Hawaii, the general design and the "A-frame" construction make it adaptable for the Maine woods, the Michigan and Wisconsin lakes, or the mountains of the West Coast.

Section of living room shows how "A-frame" virtually eliminates the need for outside walls. This type of construction is becoming very popular because of its economy and also because in a cold climate it sheds snow easily, eliminating the need for a heavily reinforced roof frame.

Vacation house takes full advantage of its wonderful setting

Built-in sofas in living room convert into seven beds. Note the hearth of polished concrete which forms another bed platform.

On one side of the house the view sweeps through the woods, over blowing cane, and up the sky-piercing Kollau Range. On the other side is the Pacific Ocean which provides the house with its own sheltered cove and sandy beach.

The glass area on the ocean side is a protection against salt spray and sand, the inland side has only screens. Copper tubing on top of the windows sprays water over the glass to wash away the salt.

Sleeping accommodations are provided in both structures. In the living room, built-in sofas can be quickly converted into seven beds. Blankets for them are handily stored in drawers underneath. Having two sleeping areas is an excellent idea for an informal vacation house of this sort. It allows those guests who wish to turn in early to do so without being disturbed or putting a damper on activities going on in the rest of the house.

In good weather most dining takes place on the lanai, but "outdoor" cooking can be done in the living room on the raised hearth in front of the metal fireplace. When the house is to be left unoccupied, panels are fastened over the windows and glass areas to provide security.

The pride of owning beautiful sterling is close to every woman's heart. For the bride-to-be (and brides-who-were), choosing just the right pattern is an exciting affair but often a perplexing one. That's why we show you these ten favorites, spanning the silvery horizon from the simple beauty of contemporary to the sculptured elegance of traditional. On top of the album, Signet Monogrammed by Kirk; standing from left to right are Young Love by Oneida, Onslow by Tuttle, Grand Baroque by Wallace, Star Blossom by Alvin, Firelight by Gorham, Tara by Reed & Barton, and Raindrop by Lunt; at the bottom are Old Master by Towle and Angelique by International.

In today's fashion of mixing furnishing periods, silver has a new versatility; few patterns are limited to a single table-setting style. Most patterns lend themselves to a wide range of room decor, and complement many styles of tablewares.

For example, heavily ornate patterns Onslow, Grand Baroque, and Old Master, apart from their traditional use, can be striking when combined with pristine contemporary tableware. The transitional designs of Young Love and Star Blossom could enhance either traditional or contemporary tables. Tara and Angelique, reflecting in graceful scroll a French Provincial influence, are ideal for traditional or provincial settings. Exquisite in their simplicity, Signet Monogrammed, Firelight, and Raindrop blend beautifully with the most ornate china,

COME TO OUR CAKE

Try our Hawaiian Holiday Cake that's lavished with an orange-pineapple filling and sprinkled with coconut. The Stardust Pound Cake is pure ecstasy—delicately molded and dusted with confectioners' sugar. The Ice Cream Party Cake is a triple whoop-de-do. Strawberry, chocolate, and pistachio (or choose your own favorites) are tucked between split layers. Whipped cream's on top! And here's our trick-of-the-month: The Texas Rose White Cake uses the egg whites; the yolks go into the fruit-and-nut-filled Lord Baltimore. The nicest excuse we know to bake two cakes at the same time!

HOW TO BAKE A PERFECT CAKE

Read the recipe thoroughly all the way through, then assemble the necessary ingredients and utensils. Have all ingredients at room temperature.

Follow the recipe directions exactly. Use the ingredients called for. Don't substitute. Don't change amounts. You may change the recipe balance and ruin your cake.

Use cake pans that are the size and depth called for. If cake pans are too small, your cake will run over; if too large, the cake will be flat and skimpy, pale and crusty. To check the size of your pans (if not marked on the bottom by the manufacturer), measure across the top from one inside edge to the other and measure the depth down the inside. For best results and cakes that brown evenly, use bright and shiny metal cake pans. Dull dark pans brown cakes too fast and unevenly.

Be sure you bake your cake at the oven temperature and for the time specified in the recipe.

Start heating the oven to the specified temperature. The oven may wait for the cake, but the cake should never wait for the oven.

Prepare the cake pan. Check the recipe. If it says "greased pans" apply a thin film of shortening with pastry brush or paper. If "greased and floured" pans are called for, sprinkle greased pans with flour, shake to coat evenly, then gently knock bottom of inverted pan to remove excess flour. For lined pans, trace around bottom of pan on wax paper. Cut out circle and place in pan. (Precut liners may also be bought.)

Sift flour and have it ready for measuring.

Chop nuts or fruits and grate rind ahead of time.

********

Use standard measuring utensils. Make all measurements level. To measure flour, sift it, then spoon lightly into measuring cup until heaping full. Level with straight edge of a knife or spatula. Don't tap or shake cup.

Cream—rub or work shortening against the sides of bowl until soft, fluffy, and full of air. Continue motion as sugar is added and blended. Proper creaming contributes to tenderness.

Beat-combine ingredients by hand with vigorous strokes of spoon in an over-and-over motion. Tilt the bowl while beating. If you are using an electric mixer, use the speed and time specified in the recipe.

Stir-blend the ingredients with a circular motion.

Fold—cut the edge of the mixing spoon or whisk gently through the mixtures to be combined. Cut down one side of the bowl, across the bottom, up, and over the top. Continue until ingredients are completely combined. Turn the bowl a quarter way round between each folding.

After baking the cake the required recipe time, insert cake tester or wooden pick into center. If it comes out clean, cake is done. Cake can also be tested by pressing the top lightly with the fingers. If the top springs back and no imprint remains, the cake is done.

********

Remove the baked cake from the oven and set the pans on a wire rack. Let cool until cake shrinks slightly and is just warm to the touch. Invert sponge, angel food, and chiffon cakes in the pan and let stand until cold. Loosen cakes and remove from the pans. Return to rack to cool.

Cool cake thoroughly before frosting. To keep cake plate clean while frosting, place four strips of wax paper at right angles on plate with pieces extending beyond edge. Brush loose crumbs from sides of cake. Place first layer on plate, top side down. Spread frosting or filling on layer completely to the edge. Let set. Place second layer, top side up, on filling. Frost sides of cake applying frosting with a spatula and using free, easy upward strokes. Bring frosting slightly above top edge in a narrow ridge. Pile remaining frosting on top of cake and spread lightly to edges. Make swirls with spatula or back of a spoon. Carefully loosen and remove paper.

All cakes freeze well. Make and bake your cake as usual and cool it thoroughly before wrapping. Cakes may be frozen frosted or unfrosted. The butter-type frostings freeze best. The 7-minute-type frostings do not freeze well; it would be better to freeze the unfrosted cake, then thaw and frost it. Unfrosted cakes may be frozen two ways. Wrap the thoroughly cooled cakes, seal and label them, then place on cardboard and wrap again. Or the cooled cakes may be placed on a piece of cardboard, cut to size and covered with foil or wax paper, and then wrapped, sealed, and labeled. Unfrosted cakes may be stored two to three months. When ready to use, thaw cakes in their wrappers at room temperature. When cakes are completely thawed, frost them as you would freshly baked ones. Frosted cakes should be frozen first then wrapped. They may be stored one to two months, and should be thawed at room temperature in their wrappings. You can freeze cake in portions to use for lunch boxes, or in halves or quarters for the small family.

Take a can of Campbell's Cream of Mushroom Soup. Mix in a little milk. Add a can of chicken, tuna or crab (or a cup of leftover meat), vegetables, seasoning. Heat and serve over rice, biscuits, toast—for a delicious meal in minutes.

facts you should know about water

heaters

FACT: Today, hot water needs of the average family increase steadily due to bigger homes, more hot water-using appliances, and bigger families.

FACT: Conventional water heaters can't keep up with growing demands for hot water; their ability to reheat water isn't flexible. The burner of a conventional water heater can't increase its power, it can only remain on longer.

PROBLEM: It's impossible to get MORE hot water from a conventional water heater. By turning temperature higher, you get only HOTTER water, and not enough at that. Then too, high temperature water can shorten tank life.

ALTERNATIVE: The expensive alternative up to now has been to replace the old water heater with a bigger one, which your family may again outgrow.

SOLUTION: Today, there's a positive solution to hot water shortages, and one that eliminates the too-hot water and replacement expense. It's called the 30-Plus, a totally new and different water heater from Rheem.

Outside the Rheem 30-Plus is a dial marked in gallons, from 30 to 40 to 50. There's no temperature setting because this is pre-set for you at 145°F. You do just one thing to get all the hot water you need: YOU DIAL FOR IT, and get anywhere from 30 to 40 to 50 gallons an hour from the compact 30-gallon tank of the Rheem 30-Plus.

FACT: The 30-Plus CAN "grow" with your needs because it alone has a new multiple "speed" burner and the revolutionary dial control.

Now, as your family-size grows, as you add appliances, get more hot water, 30 to 40 to 50 gallons, by DIALING UP. Anytime you need less hot water, simply DIAL DOWN.

You get all the hot water you need now, next year, in years to come. Best of all, you don't replace the 30-Plus gas water heater, because you don't outgrow it!

For more information, mail the coupon below, plus 10¢ in coin (no stamps please) for the factual booklet all about water heaters and the new Rheem 30-Plus.

BUYING EGGS

Select eggs that have been kept under refrigeration and that are graded and dated. Eggs are graded for size and quality according to federal standards or the laws of individual states. U.S. federal grades are:

Grade AA and Grade A. These are top-quality eggs, with a large amount of firm white and a wellrounded yolk. Good for all uses, but especially for poaching, frying, and cooking in the shell.

Grade B and Grade C. These eggs have thinner whites and somewhat flatter volks. Good for scrambling, salad dressing, and baking.

Compare prices of sizes and grades. The size of an egg does not affect the food quality. Food values of a small egg are the same as a large one, except the quantity is less. Price is affected by size. In the same grade there may be considerable price difference. Thus, small or medium-sized eggs may be a very good buy at certain seasons.

Choose either brown or white shells. There is no difference in the quality of the egg even though there is a difference in shell color.

STORING EGGS

Place eggs in the refrigerator as soon as possible after you buy them. Store them small side down and away from strong-smelling food. If any of the eggs have cracked shells, use them first.

Leftover yolks may be kept two or three days if covered with water in covered jar and refrigerated.

Store leftover egg whites in a covered jar in the refrigerator. They may be kept a week to ten days.

USING EGGS

To separate eggs: eggs separate quicker and better if brought to room temperature. Do it carefully so the yolk does not break, as the smallest amount of yolk will keep the white from beating to its fullest volume.

To beat egg whites: let them reach room temperature.

To combine beaten egg whites with other ingredients, fold-don't stir-using a light under-and-over motion. Follow your recipe-very often it is best to fold the heavy mixture into the beaten egg whites, not the whites into the other mixture. Overmixing will cause loss of some of the air you've been so careful to incorporate into whites.

When combining hot mixtures and beaten eggs or yolks, always stir the hot mixture into the beaten eggs a little at a time.

When you cook eggs by any method-in water, frying pan, or oven-cook with low to moderate even heat.

NUTRITION

Eggs are an excellent source of protein and contain all essential amino acids. They are a good source of Vitamin A, thiamin (B1), riboflavin (B2), and B12 and are second only to fish-liver oils as a natural source of Vitamin D.

Pour into prepared pans; bake 30 to 35 minutes, or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on wire racks 10 minutes; remove from pans. When thoroughly cool, split each layer through center to make 4 thin layers.

Spread each flavor of softened, not melted, ice cream, in foil-lined 9-inch layer cake pan. (If you don't have 3 pans freeze one flavor and re-use pan.) Freeze about 40 minutes or until firm. Remove from pans; peel off foil; put cake layers together with ice cream between. Place on foil covered 10-inch square of cardboard. Freeze several hours, or until very firm. Cake may be made several days ahead and kept frozen. For freezer storage over one day, wrap firm frozen cake in transparent saran or in foil. Several hours before serving, whip 1½ cups cream and fold in confectioners' sugar; spread thinly and smoothly over entire cake. Tint remaining ½ cup of cream a pastel pink with red food coloring; whip; pipe through pastry tube to decorate cake. Return cake to freezer until about 15 minutes before serving.

SUMMER IS ONLY ONE SEASON WHEN YOU ENJOY

CARRIER 12-MONTH HOME AIR CONDITIONING

Everyone knows the hot weather benefits of air conditioning—wonderfully cool, refreshingly dehumidified air that lets you sleep at night and enjoy life more every minute of the day.

But true air conditioning is a great deal more than 4-month or 5-month relief from heat. It is complete control of temperature, humidity and air purity during every season of the year.

Now Carrier 12-Month Home Air Conditioning brings all the benefits of true air conditioning to your home and for the first time. This new kind of central air conditioning introduces humidity control in the winter as well as in the summer; and filtration that banishes household odors, constantly filters dust and other harmful elements from the air.

These are just a few of the many benefits of Carrier 12-Month Home Air Conditioning that now bring more comfort and better health for you and your family. Read about them all below. Then call the Carrier dealer listed in the Yellow Pages. He has this wonderful new experience in living waiting for you. Carrier Corporation, Syracuse, New York.

12-Month Air Purification

Pollen, dust and many other harmful elements are continuously removed from household air by a revolutionary new air purifier.

12-Month Cleanliness

A unique filter, self-cleaning to maintain its high efficiency, keeps homes cleaner. Furnishings stay fresher. There's less need to dust.

12-Month Odor Removal

Cooking and household odors are whisked away. Even air that is heavy with pipe, cigar and cigarette odor is fresh again in minutes.

12-Month Humidity Control

In winter, moisture is fed into bone-dry air that irritates nasal passages. In summer, it is removed from sticky, humid air.

12-Month Temperature Control

The house is snug and warm in winter, delightfully cool in hot weather, and just right during the seasons between – automatically.

12-Month Circulation

Warmth or coolness is evenly and quietly diffused throughout the house. There is no stagnation, no stratification. Air stays fresh.

12-Month Ventilation

Drafts from open windows are no longer a problem. Dust, dirt, insects, driving rains and outside noises are kept outside your home.

12-Month Climate Control

Your Carrier Climate Center on the wall makes you master of all the wonderful benefits that only true air conditioning can provide.

THE ABC'S OF BLOCKS

Concrete masonry blocks contain portland cement and fine and coarse aggregates. The aggregate determines the weight, porosity, and texture of the block. Crushed rock, or sand and gravel give you heavyweight units; cinders, pumice, expanded shale, and such make up lightweight units. In general, you order the block according to aggregate. Because of the weight, concrete blocks are manufactured and sold locally. For the same reason, the aggregates are taken from nearby sources. Whereas the common, 8x8x16", heavyweight concrete block (with gravel as the aggregate) is available in lumberyards everywhere, lightweight aggregate blocks will vary in availability from region to region. The lightweight block is easier to handle and strong enough for most building jobs around the house and garden. Look for special properties and look out for limitations. Cinder blocks, for example, shouldn't be used outdoors, since they often contain bits of iron which leave rust stains on the surface. To be sure you're seeing the full range, not only of aggregates but of block shapes available, check several lumberyards, and building and masonry supply dealers.

HOW TO PROCEED

Once you've decided what you want to build, decide roughly on the dimensions. Visualize how it will look next to other structures and any trees or shrubs. Now's a good time to decide whether it's to be a solid wall or more in the form of a grille. What will it block out or frame? Consider its appearance from the other side, too. Check local building codes at this point. Their provisions are often quite specific; if violated, the structure must come down. Lumberyards and building and masonry supply dealers will help you design and proportion the structure, and will estimate the materials needed and the cost.

FOOTINGS AND FOUNDATIONS

The first rule of masonry construction is to put down a good foundation. The formula for a poured concrete footing: 1) footing should begin below the frost line; 2) make it twice as thick as the wall; 3) it should be just about as deep as the wall is thick. To mix concrete for footings, use one part portland cement, 3 parts sand, 5 parts gravel. In areas where the ground is soft, allow the footing to settle a week or two before beginning the wall. The footing must be level before you proceed. A standard 4" carport slab or sturdy terrace can, in some cases, serve as a foundation for a wall.

HOW DO BLOCKS STACK UP?

How you handle the mortar will determine the success or failure of the work. With a level, constantly check the block alignment up and down and across as you go. Follow a taut string guide as well. Spacers are commercially available to establish uniform mortar widths. All masonry block are put up with a portland cement mortar. This is available in bags and needs only to be mixed with the required amount of water. Packaged mortar of this kind is ideal for small jobs, but it's expensive. For larger projects, mortar cement is excellent.

This comes in bags but must be mixed with 3 parts sand as well as water before use. The cheapest but least convenient mortar is mixed by hand. One mix contains 1 part portland cement, 1 part hydrated lime, and 6 parts sand. Don't mix more mortar than can be used within 30 minutes or so. If mortar remains unused beyond this time, it loses much of its strength. Blocks should be dry when installed. Keep mortar off the face of the blocks as much as possible. Should some mortar get on the block face, allow it to dry and then remove with a trowel; rub area with a piece of block.

PAINTING AND COLORING BLOCK

A masonry block wall can be painted with a portland cement paint or one of the many exterior masonry paints. Block can also be purchased already colored, but these aren't ideal for the amateur mason, since mortar splashed on the colored surface can spoil it.

Use "batter boards," cord, and a framing square to lay out the trench for the footing. Corners at ends of wall must square with each other. Nails in the crosspieces that hold the cord should be at the precise line of the wall.

To insure that the footing is even, drive stakes into the bottom of the trench; use a level to make sure the tops of the stakes are all the same height.

Pour concrete into the trench, allowing it to just barely cover the tops of all the stakes. Semiliquid nature of concrete makes this easy. Leave stakes in.

The first block is embedded in mortar and made absolutely straight and level. The blocks can be moved by applying pressure and tapping gently on the top or face. Use plenty of mortar so that the block can be forced down; then scoop off excess mortar from the joint.

A tight drawstring is essential to keep the blocks in a straight line, Lay one block at each corner, then stretch the string, check with a level, and lay others to it.

To lay succeeding blocks, stand them on end and "butter" inside and outside corners. Tap with the trowel to seat the mortar, keeping it from falling off in transit.

Cut blocks to size by scoring both faces with a cold chisel. Tap gently, slowly pulverizing along the line. When the line is scored, a sharp rap will break the block.

Use wire mesh reinforcing on the next-to-top course on all walls, and along every fourth course on high walls. Use vertical reinforcing rods if stronger support is required.

Cap the top of a garden or retaining wall with a 4" solid block laid flat. If the wall is to serve as the foundation for subsequent construction, fill cores of the top course with mortar, troweled smooth; sink anchor bolts in the core filling.

Mortar courses must be "tooled" to make them firm and water-resistant. This is true even when the joints are to be kept flush. The tool shown is the simplest; there are also tools to produce a v or concave joint.

Compact Cars (continued from page 11)

A man who should know manufacturing techniques voiced the same complaint. Edward L., general manager for a Detroit toolmaking firm, said, "Outward appearance is good. Inwardly the car is rushed together. The rubber sealing is horrible. I've had some regrets, especially all this trial and error to get the car into normal delivery shape. It's the factory's fault, not the dealer's."

There are those who want performance in addition to compactness and economy. Richard F., a retired navy officer who lives in Los Angeles, chose Valiant because he thinks that it gives him all of these features. "I had a Volkswagen," he noted, "but out on those freeways I felt like a rowboat at Midway. I didn't even have the power to hide." Cmdr. F. next skippered an eight-cylinder Rambler but it used too much gas. His happy solution was a Valiant, which, he says, "outguns both the Corvair and the Falcon without costing too much."

Valiant, like Corvair, has long since corrected problems reported by early owners. The only problem remaining is the happy situation of not being able to manufacture enough cars to meet the demand.

FALCON

This new Ford Motor Company product is best described as buttonneat and orthodox in every respect. Service records show that it has already built an amazing record of reliability, and sales are ballooning accordingly. One out of every three Fords made so far this year is a Falcon.

Ford's other new compact, the Comet, is mechanically the same as the Falcon, so owners can expect the same high degree of reliability. The Comet, though, is slightly longer and offers more luxurious interiors. As a company official puts it: "We want to give the public a car that doesn't take them from eight rooms and two baths down to four rooms and one bath."

Falcon-owner Richard K., of Chicago, drives 30 miles a day to and from his job at a food-processing plant, "I save $2 a week on gas compared to my '53 Chevy," he reports. "I average around 21 m.p.g. in city traffic. I expected more but I'm satisfied. What I wanted was a car that was simple, economical, and easy to wash.'

Schoolteacher Dorothy C., also of Chicago, bubbled over the phone, "I'm very happy with my Falcon. We've always been a Ford family. Steering is just as easy as power steering." From the plains of Texas comes a plea for more power. "The bigger cars pass me as if I were standing still," Joseph S., of Dallas, complains. Detroit can only shake its head at the paradoxical customer who wants both economy and speed, for the two cannot be had without some sacrifice of one or the other.

Repair bills on compact cars are lower as shown by the experience of Thomas F., of New York City. A truck demolished the right front fender of Mr. F.'s Falcon, but due to the simple bolt-on construction and uncomplicated curves, the damage was repaired for less than $50. These secondary economies have already induced over 400 insurance companies across the nation to lower rates by 10 per cent for American and imported compact cars.

RAMBLER

The Rambler's most popular model is 189.5" long and 72.3" wide. (A standard-sized Chevolet measures 210.8" and 80.8".) A 127 h.p., six-cylinder engine is specified by most buyers, although a V-8 is available for those who wish more performance. (A larger Ambassador model is more luxurious, but offers no advantage in interior dimensions.) Most compact of the compacts is Rambler's American series with bodies mounted on a 100" wheelbase. This latter is a replica of the 1955 vintage Rambler, and is actually selling better today than it did then.

Donald M., a minister from Atlanta, keynoted a prime reason for buying Rambler when he praised the car's comfort on a recent 2200-mile vacation trip. "My three youngsters sat happily for hours in the caboose," he said. "This is what we call that third seat that faces to the rear in our wagon. When I tired of driving, my wife took over and I napped in the reclining passenger seat. We got nearly 25 miles to the gallon, too," he added.

Chilly Denver paid a compliment to the car's heating and ventilating system, which is considered by some engineers to be the best in the industry. Olga McC., a secretary there, says this is the first car she has ever owned that would warm up during the short trip to her office. Conversely, Abraham S., of Los Angeles, who makes frequent trips to remote desert towns to sell oil-field equipment, claims the air conditioner in his Rambler is so good that he leaves a similarly cooled Cadillac at home.

Though never designed as a taxi, the Rambler of George L. is used for this purpose in New York City. "Passengers knock their hats off getting into the rear seat and then can't wear them when they sit down," he complains. "Otherwise the car seems to be holding up pretty well. But, if I had it to do over again, I'd get power steering."

Unlike doctors, engineers tend to criticize their fellows. "Why can't they settle on whether knobs should pull or turn," grouses Robert K., of Detroit. "One way or the other is O.K. with me, but I've broken three of them on this car already. And maybe it's the way I drive, but I don't get anywhere near the gas mileage that you hear about in those economy runs."

Many owners contacted bought Rambler because they were convinced of its high resale value. Three were satisfied previous owners. One, an advertising-agency man, was sold by his own trade, namely, a series of magazine ads called "Love Letters to a Rambler." It would seem that after a long struggle for recognition of a basic idea, Rambler is solidly established with many motorists.

It is evident that in less than a year, economical motoring has won a firm foothold with car buyers. And Detroit needed only one look at sales to rush plans for a second generation of compacts. One of them, the Comet, has already appeared, and it typifies the others to come with its concept of luxury in a small package.

By next fall, giant General Motors will offer three new compact makes to supplement the Corvair. They will look something like the original because they will use certain key body stampings in common with the Corvair, but each will have an engine in front. Buick's and Oldsmobile's versions plan a peppy but small V-8 with an aluminum block. Pontiac, on the other hand, will reintroduce the four-cylinder engine to America. Cadillac is readying for introduction next spring a four-passenger hardtop similar in theme to Ford's successful Thunderbird. It will, however, carry the usual high Cadillac price tag.

Over at the sprawling Dodge plant in Hamtramck, Michigan, engineers are busy on the final details of a slightly larger and more luxurious version of the Valiant. Dodge, which introduced a smaller (but not compact) car this year called the Dart, found that within a few months the newcomer was accounting for 85 per cent of all Dodge sales.

Ford is said to be working on a "compact compact" car that will feature front-wheel drive on a 95" wheelbase. One of the Big Three makers of cars in the highest price field plans to cut the size of its offering by nearly a third in the near future. They reason that parking spaces and traffic do not open up just because the driver has money.

IDOLING IDLING

Neighbor, always on the go,
Mowing lawns
and shoveling snow,
Trimming hedge
and pruning trees,
You've completely
spoiled my ease.
With my wife
you've made a hit;
But when I'm home,
I wish you'd quit!
Dorothy Dodge

Ford's vice president in charge of styling, George Walker, summarized the trend when he said, "There will be a substantial need in the years ahead for highly specialized vehicles to meet special kinds of individual and family requirements. There is growing evidence that we are drifting away from the idea that one car has to serve every purpose."

In other words, where the Model "T" put the American family on wheels, the new era will put each member of the family on his own wheels.

YOURS: ADVANCED DESIGN, TRADITIONAL QUALITY IN THE COMPACT WITHOUT COMPROMISE

THE BY STUDEBAKER

Advanced in concept, far ahead in design—The Lark is thankfully old-fashioned about money and quality. Tight-fisted guardian of family finances, both owners and businessmen report: The Lark saves up to 33% on regular gas bills and up to 22% on maintenance expenses. Quality-built to last—a solid, sparkling investment for years of happy, carefree driving. Bank on big dividends when you visit your Studebaker Dealer. See and price six stunning styles—NOW PROVEN BY MORE THAN A BILLION OWNER-DRIVEN MILES.

The LARK for '60-world's first and only full line of new dimension cars-available in 2 and 4-door sedans; 2 and 4-door station wagons; sporty hardtop and exclusive convertible. Choice of Six or V-8.

Perched six feet above the ground, this attractive playhouse is high enough to be exciting, yet low enough to be safe. You can make it in a couple of week ends from standard materials available at your local lumberyard. Total cost about $65.

PLAYHOUSE IN THE TREES

Where is there a child who doesn't love to feel high in the sky, in a world of his own? A place where he can bring his friends for club meetings and picnics...where he has a front-row seat when the baby robins hatch. Hand over hand up a swinging rope ladder, through the trap door, and there he is in his secret place. What if none of your trees is the right size? Then build our "tree house" on poles! Construction drawings give all the necessary dimensions and assembly information you will need to cut and build our "tree house." Stain or prime all pieces before assembling them. Set the four poles in the ground and then frame the base for the floor. Drop in floor panel to give you a place to work. Next, frame the ends, sides, and roof. Install rope ladder and benches. Finally, attach the siding, cap rails, and plywood roof panels.

Antrol Rose Bomb or Dust gives amazing 3-way protection against aphids, Jap beetles, other bugs and blight that spoil your flowers

- 1. Kill bugs on the spot. Antrol Rose Bomb, Antrol Rose Dust kill insects instantly . . . destroy Aphids, Mites, Jap Beetles, Thrips, Leaf Hoppers, many more.
- 2. Keep killing for weeks. Unlike some insecticides both the Rose Bomb and Dust have residual action—power to keep killing insects for weeks after spraying!
- 3. Protect against plant disease. These fine products do more! They guard against Powdery Mildew and Black Spot . . . other plant diseases. King-size 15-oz. Rose Spray $1.59. Large, Plastic Squeeze-Duster $1.49. (1-lb. refill, $1.49)

Shrinks Hemorrhoids New Way Without Surgery

STOPS ITCH—RELIEVES PAIN

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the as-tonishing ability to shrink hemor-rhoids and to relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently re-lieving pain, actual reduction (shrink-age) took place.

Most amazing of all - results were so thorough that sufferers made as-tonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.* Ask for it at all drug counters—money back guarantee.

FOR 1961

Two new color blends to try next year

Looking for something new in pink roses? Try 'Duet' and 'Pink Parfait.' Both have won All-America Rose Selections awards for 1961, after nationwide twoyear testing, and will be available at rose nurseries and garden centers this fall or next spring.

'Duet' is a bicolored hybrid tea rose with petals that are salmon pink inside and rosy crimson outside. 'Pink Parfait' is a pastel pink grandiflora (semi-cluster-flowered) variety. Both of these roses were originated by Herbert C. Swim at Armstrong Nurseries.

CLINT BRYANT

'Duet' has beautifully formed, two-tone-pink blooms and makes an attractive compact plant.

'Pink Parfait' produces several medium-size, pink flowers to a stem, makes a tall, husky plant.

NEW WEED KILLER

Knocks out plants in non-lawn areas for at least a full season

If you want to keep weeds and grass out of paths, driveway, patio, and terrace, the weed killer to look for at your dealer's is X-All. It's a new material made from two chemicals, one of which kills existing weeds; the other, weed seeds as they germinate. One application keeps an area weed-free all season.

X-All is a powder which you mix with water and apply with a sprinkling can. It costs 1c to 2c per square foot to use, depending on the quantity you buy, and takes one to two weeks to kill existing weeds.

Remember, though, it's nonselective, so don't get it on your plants and shrubs.

If there's no rain within a week after applying it, water it in with a hose. When used on Bermuda or Johnson grass, which are the only important semiresistant weeds. make a second application a month or two after the first.

Much Ado About June

Recently we came across some nuggets of information about June...possibly of passing interest to you. For example, the National Office of Vital Statistics estimates that there will be 198,400 brides during this month. We were saddened a little to learn that this number will account for only 12.4 per cent of all weddings during the year. It seems that June is slowly losing its blush as the leading bridal occasion. The other eleven months, according to statistics, are now almost equally as popular for nuptial celebrations.

However, all is not lost! It is estimated that June is the second biggest gift-giving month of the year. Weddings, graduations and Father's Day account for most of the reasons.

Probing more deeply into the bridal statistics, we learned that home furnishings and household equipment make up the major number of wedding gifts. With the help of store "bridal regis-tries", gift-givers can avoid sending duplicate coffee pots or silverware. Of course, "what to give" is still an individual problem and finding the one memorable gift takes a bit of doing.

If you are in this predicament, we have a suggestion that is different, yet appropriate for the occasion... Imperial washable wallpapers for the newlyweds' home! Imperial offers everything memorable; color, design and a lasting beauty background for the bride's lovely furnishings. She can make her selection from hundreds of Imperial wallpaper decorating ideas, each backed by a written, three-year guarantee.

A gift of Imperial wallpaper can be modest in cost or in the luxury class. In either case, the name "Imperial" carries social prestige. Best of all, she will remember you as the contributing decorator. See your Imperial dealer now. He will be happy to help you make the arrangements!

Here, suddenly, to fulfill Nature's promise is June, witching moment between spring and summer. Don't ask us what happened to spring! Seemingly overnight its yellows—forsythia and daffodil—dried into dull green. Across the street, hedge clippers whir, and the voice of the power mower is heard in the land.

For the first time, we let the swing down and begin the evening on the porch, soaking up a comfort no air conditioner can manufacture. A month hence they will go unnoticed, but tonight the sounds and smells of summer are so fresh. Distant laughter and the faint tinkle of glasses . . . the uncertain clatter of new roller skates clicking over cracks in the sidewalk as small fry, regulating themselves only by the sun, play on stubbornly into the steadily lengthening twilight . . . snatches of music from auto radios as more people take after-supper spins, going nowhere in particular.

June is summer's childhood, sort of. We can relive it year after year with the same wonder and delight. Thirty days aren't enough.
