Free decorator door panels when you buy a new Amana decorator refrigeratorfreezer.

We ll give you your choice of over 329 designs and wood grains. And if you're too busy to decide on a decorating scheme between now and Christmas, start enjoying the refrigerator now, and pick up the panels any time during the next six months. Your new Amana has a lot of exclusive designs inside, as well. Like an automatic icemaker that you can add. now, or years from now, because Amana makes the only one that's easy to install in your home. And ṣo the milk isn't frozen just because the ice cream is, Amana gives you two temperature controls. One for the freezer. One for the refrigerator. Setting one won't affect the other
There's a new fresh fruit bin that you can convert to a glide-out shelf.
There's also a "little refrigerator within the big refrigerator," especially for fresh meat, with its own temperature control. Keeps meat 8 to 10 degrees colder, so it stays fresh twice as long as an ordinary meat keeper.
All this plus adjustable cantilevered shelves on recessed tracks in the refrigerator, that go where you want them
Of course there are some things you wouldn't want to change. The handsome built-in look of our design. Even the big. gest side-by-side ( 25.5 cu . ft.) is only $353 / 4^{\prime \prime}$ wide. And freezer-at-the-top models, only $32^{\prime \prime}$ wide.

All of this plus Free O' Frost . . . no defrosting ever in refrigerator or freezer. Hurry to see your participating Amana dealer. Offer expires December 24, 1970. So get busy now with Amana's designs for your kitchen.

Is there a decorator in the house?

in Sculpture Collectors and no obligation to buy anything now or ever.

Besides being a fine example of contemporary sculpture, Ballerina is a fine example of what Sculpture Collectors, Ltd. is all about. It was commissioned exclusively for members. And created by a young sculptor named Anthony Cipriano.

If you never heard of Anthony Cipriano before, that's precisely the point.
Once a sculptor's fame goes beyond the small circle of art experts, the value of his work shoots sky-high. For collecting purposes, he becomes the exclusive province of the very rich.

Sculpture Collectors is always on the lookout for fine sculptors who haven't yet reached the impossible price brackets. Anthony Cipriano is one of them. His work has been exhibited in museums. And won a number of prizes. But, without Sculpture Collectors, you might not even have heard his name until he was beyond your reach.

For people who want to make fine sculpture

 a part of their everyday lives.Four times a year, Sculpture Collectors will give you the opportunity to purchase new works by upcoming artists like Anthony Cipriano. Each work is individually signed, then hand-cast in Foundry-Stone (a newly developed polyester that permits a wide variety of textures, colors and finishes) in an edition sufficient to meet the needs of membership.

As a member, you are never obligated to buy anything. In fact, when a work does appeal to you, you may keep it for 30 days before making up your mind. If you decide to purchase it, you will pay between $$ 25$ and $$ 45$. Never more.

Enjoy "Ballerina" for 30 days-  then decide whether to join.

Fill out and mail the coupon below, and we'll send you Ballerina by Anthony Cipriano. Live with it for 30 days. At the end of that time, if you want to join Sculpture Collectors, simply send us our $$ 10$ membership fee. And keep Ballerina as your free gift for joining, along with a complimentary subscription to an authoritative sculpture journal, The Foundry Mark.

The best decoration in the world is a roomful of books. 9

By William Baldwin

The lure of beautiful bindings

Bindings are a very extravagant luxury, but there are some books I am so fond of -decorating and architecture books and even some fiction I've reread several times-that I feel they deserve as beautiful a place to live as I can possibly give them. Each binding should suit the contents of the book. For instance, I see a book on Louis XV decoration in a baroque color like red or orange, one on Louis XVI in a classical green or blue. I have seen only one beautiful instance of a collection of books bound all alike. A Greek scholar I knew had all his old classics rebound in vellum that varied in color from pale cream to the amber tone of honey. Never, never would I have matched bindings by the yard. I hear some people even buy their books by the yard, never reading a word of them. They might just as well put up plywood panels covered with backstraps. People who simply do not read should fill their apartments not with books, but with evidence of their interest in other things.

My one contribution to the actual design of furniture was the set of brass bookcases I made for Cole Porter's apartment, and which I also have at home. Perhaps it is significant that I did not design something to sit on, or to have dinner at, but something to hold books. Bookshelves should be a matter of thought and imagination rather than expense. Of course you can have brass, glass, or solid oak, but you can also buy shelves by the mile of plain unfinished pine from the carpenter or the department store. You can have them finished in any color lacquer, or covered with leather or rattan, or marbleized. You can paint them yourself, or edge them with tooled leather. My one piece of advice: the more the better. I love to see doors and windows completely surrounded by bookshelves as though someone had cut openings right through the wall of books. I love to find, every time I visit a family, a few more little bookshelves that have sprung up since the last time I was there. Books will grow in a house like a vine if you just provide something to support them.

> Booles should be easy to get at Breakfronts make beautiful bookcases, especially the big ones that look built-in. I know a small library on Long Island that was actually constructed around two enormous antique mahogany breakfronts-shelves above, cabinets below-that extend almost the entire length of two opposite walls. Their fronts are flush with the walls, which turns their bulk into great depth. What I don't like are books arranged in breakfronts with porcelain birds and Lowestoft plates. That reduces the books to mere decorative objects, which I think is criminal. I don't think bookcases should have glass doors either. In a French room I might reluctantly allow grillwork, but generally I think you should be able to read a title from across the room, and take a book down instantly, without the nuisance of opening a door. If the books are old and rare and fragile, by all means put them behind glass-and keep the door locked. They are not reading matter, in this instance, they are treasured possessions.

Ilove to see books piled on tables, but I don't mean those coffee-table books that people get as presents, then go mad trying to figure out what to do with them. I've actually seen stacks of them used in a living room as tables, complete with candles. Imagine what would happen if you wanted to take one of those books out and look at it. What I do mean are piles of books to read, to use, to refer to-like the ones Pauline Rothschild has stacked around her bed.

To give a charge of energy

How exciting it is to visit someone and find the book of the moment-politics, ecology, whatever-right there on the living-room table. It might be the one open current from the outside world in an otherwise peaceful retreat. But Continued on page 10

it charges the whole house with energy, and makes for instant conversation. You can carry even this pleasant idea to extremes, however. One brilliant English decorator used to keep a basket by the sofa filled with a bargain-basement pandemonium of the latest books. She called it keeping abreast of the times. I call it showing off.

$T$here isn't a room in the house-including the bath-room-where books aren't first-class decoration. I can't imagine a guest room without at least one small bookcase, or if there isn't enough room, shelves built in under the windows. Good guest-room books could be volumes of current short stories, or best-selling paperbacks you can lend without worrying about their return. I never lend hardbound books I love unless I'm sure the borrower will treat them with respect and be meticulous about returning them. The replacement copy of a book that has been lost just isn't the same as that original familiar volume.

Rooms for books aren't pine-paneled dens any more, nor need they have dark walnut walls like those in traditional town houses. Bedrooms and dining rooms are being turned into libraries. Other people plan serious libraries, with Reoms built for books walls of books to the ceiling, library steps, and a table in the center. And they make sure there are enough comfortable chairs to read in-or have dinner. I have friends whose large entrance hall stretches to the left and right of the front door. They have lined each wing with floor-to-ceiling bookshelves and placed a great red lacquer table in the middle.

$\boldsymbol{W}^{\text {min }}$hen you decorate with books, no room color is wrong. In very small intimate libraries I lean toward the deep, rich warm colors. But pale ones are also beautiful, as they are in a summer villa in the south of France where the library was designed as a cool, quiet room. Its walls are strié the color of straw, the furniture is a yellow and green print, the windows overlook a grove of olives. I know another library -in a Pennsylvania farmhouse-that has pure white walls and a Scotch plaid rug, with scarlet furniture and red flannel curtains. In winter, it's the coziest room in the world. I would never have dreamed of a blue library, but in the Château Mouton-Rothschild the lofty library walls are all painted a deep soft blue, the furniture is blue velvet, and the shelf sections are divided by vertical beams marbleized in blue. The books-of every color imaginable-just sit on their shelves and glow.

An unprecedented publishing project

What is the Great Museums series?
It's a never-before library of art books nat lets you explore the world of great art ist as you would if you were taking a peronal tour: museum by museum. And it rings the entire panorama of man's creative enius into your home for you, your family, our friends to enjoy for years to come.
The quality and scope of the series is un-ivaled-with public and critical acclaim arely heard in art circles. Publisher's Weekly onsiders these volumes "superlative". "An xtraordinary home library of museum expeiences" is how The Cleveland Plain Dealer lescribed them. And the reviewer in The Nashington Post's Book World found the eries "very beautiful".
The color photography-one of the most utstanding features of the books-was all pecially commissioned by the publisher. A eam of expert Japanese art photographers was sent to the world's most famous museums to capture on film the most important and memorable works in each museum.

They succeeded. The photographs have been judged masterpieces in themselves.

From here, the art historians took over. They re-researched every famous work... looking at each with an eye to its place in art history and the artist's other works. From this vantage point, the commentary was written-with special attention to the unique features of every piece.

Then finally, the printing. Here, too, Newsweek brings you highest quality workmanship through the renowned Italian firm of Arnoldo Mondadori Editore.
Every magnificent volume in the seriesevery "tour" you take-is just as exciting as Louvre/Paris. From there, your next stop is the Vatican Museums/Rome, where you'll see the fabulous Papal Collections of Italian Renaissance paintings.

Your tour then takes you to the British Museum/London. Here you'll see the incomparable Elgin Marbles ... the fabled treasures of the Pharaohs ... and the finest collection of Egyptian antiquities outside of the East. From there, it's on to the National Gallery/ Washington ...the Prado/Madrid... the National Museum/Tokyo...t the Uffizi/Florence ... and many more of the world's most distinguished houses of art.

Comparable to art books twice the price

The price per volume? Amazingly enough, it's only $$ 6.95$ (plus a modest shipping and handling charge). That's right. Only $$ 6.95$ is all you pay for each luxurious volume in Newsweek's Great Museums series-even though the quality of the paper, the color reproduction, the binding and the authoritative text are comparable to that of art volumes costing more than twice the price.

Feast your eyes-for ten days-free

Don't miss this no-risk opportunity to begin your collection of these distinctive volumes in such a convenient and inexpensive way. Our plan, you'll find, is indeed simple:

1. The reply form will bring your copy of Louvre/Paris ( 176 pages; $93 / 8^{\prime \prime} \times 115 / 8^{\prime \prime}$ overall) to examine at your leisure for ten dayswithout cost or obligation.
2. At the same time, you may choose-as a free gift, to keep-a beautiful $21^{\prime \prime} \times 27^{\prime \prime}$ masterpiece faithfully reproduced in full color on canvas.
3. If you're not thoroughly delighted with Louvre/Paris, return it in ten days-and owe nothing. (Your canvas print is yours to keep.) 4. On the other hand, should you decide to keep Louvre/Paris, just send $$ 6.95$ (plus the small shipping and handling charge). You will then receive future volumes of Great Museums at regular two-month intervalsevery one as lavish and dynamic as the first ...every one with all photographs in dramatic color.
4. Each volume will be offered on the same ten-day free examination basis-at the same low price of only $$ 6.95$ each, plus shipping and handling.
5. At no time are you under any obligation to buy. You accept as few or as many of the books as you wish-there's no minimum. Build your library at your own pace, according to your own preferences. And you're free to cancel whenever you decide.

No money to send now.  No obligation ever!

With nothing to risk, but much to gaindon't you agree that it will certainly be worth your while just to examine Louvre/Paris for ten days....at our expense?

Send for your first "feast" today. Merely fill out and mail the postpaid reply form-and be sure to tell us which of the three canvas prints you want as your free gift. If the reply form is missing, write to:

Newsweek/Great Museums of the World 444 Madison Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10022

Special Deluxe Edition-also available

If you prefer, you may choose Louvre/Parisand all future volumes in your library-in a special Deluxe Edition. This exquisite binding is handsomely tooled in gold, has the look and feel of custom-bound leather volumes that would cost you as much as $$ 25$. Yet, you pay only $$ 2.00$ more per book. There is a special box on the reply form; be sure to check it if you wish each of your volumes in the Deluxe Edition.

HOW TO GIVE A GARDEN OF EDEN FOR CHRISTMAS THIS YEAR . . .

It's so much easier when you stop wrecking your brains trying to remember what someone once said they thought they liked -when you stop trying to figure out a person's type (do you really know any types?) and when you stop wrestling with the unknown. It's so much simpler when you do something entirely different or perfectly natural and just give someone those things that almost all the people on earth know and react to instinctively-the tremendous pleasures of flowers or fruits and, with them a note saying something enormously flattering that you really mean...

APPLES are rarely used in fragrance, but there seems to be a whole orchard in Lanvin's winey, racy, Rumeur ( $$ 8.50$ for a quarter of an ounce).
Carnations. There's a legend that won't be stilled-though scientists say it isn't so-that carnations are aphrodisiac. In any case, Mary Chess has a famous Carnation that smells like sugar and spice ( $$ 6$ for a quarter of an ounce) . . . Roger & Gallet's Blue Carnation has an Edwardian elegance ( $$ 12$ for half an ounce) . . . Oeillet Maritime is a delicious wild carnation from France at Caswell-Massey ( $$ 13.50$ for an ounce). There are dozens of long-stemmed carnations packed into Caron's famous Belodgia ($6 for an eighth of an ounce).
gardenias. Their knockout punch-so right in nature -doesn't always survive in fragrance, so you have to watch it. However these are very tasty translations . . . Mary Chess's Gardenia ( $$ 8.50$ for a quarter of an ounce) . . . Chanel's splendid Gardenia ( $$ 8.50$ for a quarter of an ounce) . . . and we all know that Elizabeth Taylor adores Tuvache's Jungle Gardenia ( $$ 12.50$ for half an ounce).
geraniums are a most unusual pleasure in Lanvin's bitey, greeney, original Spanish Geraniums ($5 for two ounces of mist).
HELIOTROPE is a most remarkably delicious purple flowerits uniqueness caught precisely in Caswell-Massey's Heliotrope ( $$ 25$ an ounce).
hyacinths to restore the soul-Ann Havilland's Blue Hyacinth spray perfume ( $$ 3.50$ for one quarter of an ounce).
JASMINE is very intense, transporting and part of the magic in most great perfume compositions, but Le Gallion lets you have it straight ($15 for a half ounce) . . . and a sweet, wild jasmine, Jasmin des Bois by La Ducale is at Caswell-Massey ( $$ 15$ for an ounce and an eighth).

THOUGHTS FOR THE HOSTESS

BY MARY MOON HEMINGWAY

We're told 'tis the season to be jolly. Jolly, perhaps, joyful certainly. But when all is said and done, there's a radiant seriousness about Christmas that withstands the most mawkish assaults, the most shallow sentimentalizing. I'm all for celebrating Christmas in all seriousness. For instance, when planning your holiday consider bringing a party to someone in the hospital or homebound-a party complete with tree, trimmings, food, and a few friends. It's well to take all ages seriously, too. One of my favorite holiday parties is a "ladies' luncheon" for my eleven-to-thirteen-yearold friends. I do it up with all the elegance I can muster, patty shells and finger bowls and frills. They love it.

If you want unhampered jollification, there's nothing so refreshing as a children's party even if your own young are no longer quite that young. Gather together a bunch of kids and let surprise be the keynote. Have them come dressed in costume, perhaps as a favorite hero or heroine, as one of the saints particular to the twelve days of Christmas, as mythical animals, or in ethnic dress. Finger food is recom-mended-cold barbecued spareribs, cold fried drumsticks, carrot and celery sticks, potato chïps, buttered biscuits, lots and lots of punch-the wilder the mixture of soda, fruit juices, and sherbet, the better. For dessert, a prize cake and candied apples. For entertainment, surprise them with a spider web and guessing games (identifying objects by taste, touch, sight, and smell), and for a finale, a surprise take-home package pulled from a fish pond, a Jack Horner pie (made from a hatbox), or a piñata. Just clear one room and let the party swing.

To entertain my own peer group during the holidays, I like an open-ended brunch with drinking before, after, or during according to choice. Lots of creamed finnan haddie and potatoes diced in cream; paper-thin blueberry and buckwheat pancakes; a variety of muffins, jams and jellies; spiced applesauce; fresh pineapple sticks, and a big macédoine of fruit as a first or last course depending upon the whim of the eater.

For homesick transplants, for sentimentalists, or just for good eating, how about a gift of an old-time New England food: baked beans (the yellow-eyed kind), brown bread with raisins, Indian pudding, corned beef hash, or a great group of pickles and relishes-Christmas from Vermont, as nostalgic as a paisley shawl? Plymouth Products of Plymouth, Vt., offers all of these as well as wheels of their superlative native cheeses. Country fare with flair. Naturally Plymouth has an excellent maple syrup, too.

A great present for any family, whether they have everything or not, is fresh holly flown from Oregon. The Brownells of Milwaukie, Ore., have been shipping holly from their holly farm in bunches or sprays, arrangements, wreaths, or swags for over fifty years. In addition to the usual dark green variety, they also have rare silver or gold variegated hollies. They even sell holly corsages and holly honey.

Christmas is aglorious gift to be shared

Part cruise director, part Louisa May Alcott, part Saint Bernard is one formula for keeping your family in the best of spirits over the Christmas holidays. That-and believing.

Believe, and know that Christmas is a gift, a glorious gift, a privilege to be shared. It's anticipation, participation, a certain pride, and certainly no time for prejudices. No one is ever too old for Christmas. Where can you find a more attractive older man than Mr. Claus?

The most important step is not to venture near the market place the week before Christmas. Everything should be done. The garlands swagged; the wreaths, whether they be of wheat or spruce, rounded and bowed; the presents wrapped. It's a tinseled challenge, but once it's done you're golden. It makes it so much easier to follow the star.

That's the week for traditions to come home again. The week to help your younger children make those oilcloth cornucopias filled with cranberries for the bird tree. The week for lingering visits with older aunts and uncles you might not see as much as you would like other parts of the year. It's a time to take your godchild for a soda fling, your grandchild to The Nutcracker Suite. It's the time to give, rather than give up.

It was the Duchess of Bedford who first showed me the light. One December years ago, when our four young children were meant to be napping but were probably opening all the windows of the Advent calendars, I read a magazine article telling me how the Duchess prepared for Christmas. Over the year she would collect treasures and store them in her seventeenthcentury armoire. Then when the season arrived, she was ready, she was relaxed. A relaxed mother at Christmas, after all, is one of the best spirits of all.

I still haven't an armoire, and that red wagon with "Chieftain" on its side would never have squeezed in, but I do gather and make gifts throughout the year. Maybe one gift will only be a beautiful, long peacock feather, but I know just the right person for a peacock feather.

$T$his fall, when our orchard was laden, we made apple pie after apple pie with a twist of lemon on top, as well as bread with a touch of honey. These will come out of the deep freeze the week before Christmas, wrapped in lavender and white checked gingham, tied with a red ribbon and delivered to friends. Once I'm ready for Christmas, I'm ready for anything. As for my husband, his spirits were at their peak, he claims, the Christmas Eve he discovered I had stopped buying toys to assemble.

With children in the house, Christmas spirits are usually so high you don't need any extra voltage. You just have to be sure they're on the right current and keep them generating.

This year our older son made our Christmas card, a photograph of an airy blossom of Queen Anne's lace that looks like a crystal snowflake. And the minute the school holiday begins, the other son can hardly wait to start testing those fickle Christmas tree lights. The girls' needlepoint pillows will be finished, I hope, for the needles are big, the pillows small.

But you mustn't let your expectations be too great. The same photographer son may decide he would rather sing carols with a young lady than with his family on Christmas Eve. Even traditions sometimes have to bow down to another kind of star.

Still, the sharing of traditions seems to be one of the happier ingredients for good spirits. It's the service at church, the family feast, it's stockings with small presents tied on the outside as well as the tangerine in the toe, bowls of apples and walnuts, the eggnog grandfather makes only on Christmas Eve, and then only with heavy homemade cream. It's the expected and the surprise. And it's never too late to make a new tradition.
One family had no Christmas at home at all last year. Instead they gave the tree, decorated; the presents; and the full meal to a family who probably never before had such a day. Another family gives funny presents to each other on Christmas Eve that they must wear at Christmas dinner. Last year grandmother was splendid in a "Snoopy" T-shirt.

Indeed, there are all sorts of plums to pull out of your Christmas pudding to keep spirits right over the holiday. As Mr. Dickens wrote ". . . it is good to be children sometimes, and never better than at Christmas."

Our Christmas is very much a country Christmas. So I talked to other women in other domains, with children of different ages. Here's how they wear Christmas on their sleeves, how they keep the candles glowing:

Elizabeth's children, ages four and six, have a German nurse who brings part of her homeland to them every Christmas. "We start thinking of Christmas, thanks to Greta, from the first Sunday of Advent. When we open our bedroom doors every Sunday morning we find a small surprise waiting for us, which she made herself. The first Sunday it is the Advent wreath; the second, a gingerbread man; then a star beautifully cut from golden paper; and finally on the fourth Sunday before Christmas we'll find our shoes sitting there very proud and very polished. Greta's thought and kindness make Christmas even more special for us."

Iva, on the other hand, has an elf. "He's 3 inches tall, lives in the bookcase, and the children know he's doing special beforeChristmas research for Santa. He's a great help, although invisible. Then when the children get out of school, I let them decorate their own rooms and we glue and paste presents and put braid on everything possible and we pop (Continued on page 105)

Violets in the Snow . . . The simplicity of fine handmade Milk Glass, the delightfully contrasting accent of sparkling crystal and the delicate beauty of hand painted sprays of Violets.
Each a personalized creation because of the care and skill of human hands.
Violets are a beauty worth collecting . . . A loveliness worth sharing.

Wildflowers in winter. Wildflowers wrought in iron, painted to life, gathered together to form a candlestick or larger candelabrum, an enchantment anytime, but even more so blooming midwinter on a dining table. A mixture of familiar blossoms, buttercups, et al., may be set off with live greens tucked in and around them for vernal freshness. On a New Year's table they would hint at the promise of spring to come. The Mayhew shop "grows" them.

Color me red and green and sprinkle me with snow-the cliché picture of Christmas. Wouldn't it be just as gratifying to color Christmas the way it is wherever you are, using local glory rather than the foreign and the exotic? When we were living in the tropics, we set a festive table all in green-green cloth, green glass plates, masses of green and white caladium leaves with limes and smooth-skinned avocados heaped high in the center. On the other side of the coin, I like to think about the Christmas table when I was a child in New England-white damask cloth, polished apples, rose hips, bayberry and barberry and fir tips in a pewter bowl, all lighted by bayberry candles in pewter stands. In the Southwest, you might mass small pots of succulents with squatty candles, and if you are lucky enough to have one, a santo or terra-cotta nacimiento group. Christmas comes in all colors.

The whoopee enjoined for New Year's Eve pleases me just about as much as the canned carols that have assailed my ears since Thanksgiving. A pox on forced hilarity. Instead, a group of us has gathered for many years in each other's homes to face the future together with the emphasis on quiet recreation coupled with haute cuisine. The party starts late in the afternoon at one house with high tea, sandwiches to cakes, for dinner is late. After a reasonable time, back home again for rest and dressing, the group regathers in black tie and finery in another house. We round robin the locations annually. A slow-paced cocktail hour with a sufficiency of smoked salmon, caviar, pâté, whatever fancy we fancy precedes dinner, which is always special-perhaps a crown roast of lamb, asparagus, wheat pilaf, and a triumphant dessert. Everyone contributes something so that no one is overworked. At the stroke of midnight we toast each other and our hopes in champagne, then throw the dimestore glasses in the fireplace. As Pepys would have it, "And so to bed." No straining for frantic fun.

Have you ever thought:

Of "buttering" a steak or baked potato with Boursin cheese, that subtly herbed, cream-type French cheese? Incidentally it may be frozen if wrapped in plastic wrap, then in a plastic bag. Thaw it via the refrigerator.

Of filling fresh or canned peach halves with chutney, baking them, and serving as an accompaniment to turkey?

Of carillon music on tape or record as background music for a holiday open house?

Of permeating the house with pine scent before a tree trimming party to set the mood?

Of making hollandaise sauce with orange or lime juice instead of lemon for an interesting change?

6 A weekend house must be simple to run,

says Christopher Owen

CHRISTOPHER OWEN, thirty-two, was born in New York City, went to architectural school at the University of Virginia, and did postgraduate work at Columbia. He started his own architectural practice in New York City four years ago and had done office projects, brownstone renovations, and designed several houses. " $I$ 'm definitely not a specialist," he says. His weekend house on Block Island, see page 82, was very much a team effort, with his wife, Sylvia, a talented, professional interior designer, working on the inside.

How should one go about finding land for a weelsend house?
I believe people can be divided into two types, mountain people and sea people. The first thing is to decide which type you are. Then it's essential for the land to be within easy reach of wherever you're living. It's no good if you have a drive of six hours or more. I would say look for a larger piece of land than you actually need, with the idea of reselling part of it. With today's escalating land prices, this may give you land for your house at little or no cost, and you can also control your neighbors. We have done this, in fact, selling off three acres of our original six-and-a-half-acre lot.

How important is privaey for a weekend house?
Very important, particularly if you want a salable house. We are virtually protected on all four sides from any building that's apt to take place within the next few years. On one side there's a farm; over the hill, a yacht club; and below the land, a tidal marsh. We are, in essence, very well protected.

Your house was completed in six months-even with a contractor coming over with workmen from the mainland and all the problems of transporting materials. How was this done?

This is the best toaster you can buy. Even if it only toasted bread.

No, we're not putting you on. It's true. Our toaster does more than anybody else's. That's because it's an oven, too.

We call it Toast-R-Oven*. It bakes potatoes, makes a mini-meat loaf, pops popovers, top browns cheese sandwiches. Does hors d'oeuvres, biscuits, croissants, muffins.

Even if it only toasted bread, this Toast-R-Oven still would be great. It takes on almost any shape or size bread. Even thinks for you. Opens its door when the toast is done.

GENERAL (96) ELECTRIC

Well, it's a small house to begin with, but the contractor really kept at it. It was an unusual design and it offered a challenge. I might add that most people on the island thought it was lunacy to build such a house. They think mainly of putting up a prefab in the fastest possible time, but of course, this wouldn't have suited our purposes. In fact, it's only the second contemporary house on Block Island.

Does a contemporary house like this need a lot of supervising?
Not really any more than a conventional house. At the outset I went up once every three or four weeks. Once when the foundations were set, then when the framing was one third up, and maybe twice more before the house was completely framed. You have to spend more time supervising as work progresses because so many details have to be reviewed.

Why did you choose red cedar wood for your house? Wood is good in a salt air climate. Materials that tend to rust or need a lot of maintenance in terms of painting don't make a great deal of sense. In general, choosing materials is a matter of each individual situation, but an excessive variety of materials is unfortunate. They should be reduced to the simplest number. Don't try to overdo it.

Should a weekend house be designed for the future or just with today's needs in mind?

We planned our house looking ahead to the future. We have no children now, but the house allows for an expansion of our family. This is why the guest quarters are on the first floor, completely isolated and well away from the bunk rooms at the top of the house, which will eventually be children's rooms. The children will not disturb the guests.

You seem to have so much room-four bedrooms-in a tiny house. How was this achieved?Cutting down on the bedroom space and making bunk rooms was a major factor. They are as simple as possible with storage drawers under the bunks and hanging space behind the doors. You don't need lots of space for things in a weekend house.

Was the house designeal with thoughts about easy maintenance?
Yes, my wife and I feel that a weekend house must be simple to run. It's no fun if you get away to the sea and then find you have lots of chores to do. That's why we chose oak floors that can be easily vacuumed. The all-electric kitchen has a self-cleaning oven, dishwasher, and garbage disposer. There's very little exterior paint work to need redoing every year. Also very little furniture indoors-we tend to loll on the floor on cushions and look at the view. And we're leaving the garden with wildflowers and no lawn.

B to give for Christmas

BY JAY HERIBERT

For the Christmas season, publishers produce their extravaganzas extravagant in size and color and beauty. They are as much fun to look at and choose as they are to give. Books on special subjects, in particular, make extremely thoughtful presents and often open up a whole new field of interest for the lucky recipients.

FOR THE ART LOVER

Among the most beautiful are the art books. And of these The Great Age of Fresco (Braziller, $30) by Millard Meiss is one of the handsomest. Nineteenth Century American Painting (Putnam, $$ 17.95$ until Jan. 1; then $$ 20$ ) with text by James Thomas Flexner offers many not overly familiar works. The Adventure of Art (Crown, $20) edited by Félix Martí-Ibáñez is a history of art, with over 475 illustrations in color. The Collector in America (Viking, $15.95) edited by Jean Lipman, Anthony Bower, and the staff of Art in America consists of articles about important contemporary collectors with many reproductions of outstanding works from their varied collections.

BOOKS ABOUT HOUSES ANID GARDENS

To my mind, the year's most exquisite book is Imperial Gar dens of Japan (Walker/Weatherhill, $$ 32.50$ pre-Christmas then $$ 37.50$ ) with its absolutely breath-taking photographs b Takeji Iwamiya, many reproduced in superb color, double page-spread size. A large book elegantly bound in purple silk Wild Flowers of the World (Putnam, $15) represents really first-rate buy-almost 200 beautiful paintings in colo by Barbara Everard of more than 1000 wild flowers. Explana tory texts by Brian D. Morley.

Great Historic Houses of America (Coward-McCann $$ 19.95$ until Jan. 1 ; then $$ 22.50$ ) by Phyllis Lee Levin pro vides a tour of fifty memorable houses spanning some 30 years of American history. Treasure Rooms of America' Mansions, Manors and Houses (Coward-McCann, $$ 19.9$ until Jan. 1; then $$ 22.50$ ) by Rita Reif describes fifty-fou great showcases spanning more than 250 years. Look then over and take your choice. Homeowners or prospective one will particularly appreciate The Dream House Encyclo pedia (Wyden, $$ 12.50$ ) by Hubbard H. Cobb. The subtitl "Everything you need to know to remodel or fix up farms barns, old mansions, vacation cottages, brownstones-or an house you now have" about sums up the contents.

TEETILES, PORCELAIN, FURNITURE

For the already interested layman or someone in search of new interest: Printed Textiles (Viking, $16.95) by Florenc Montgomery describes and illustrates English and American cottons and linens from 1700 to 1850. Spode (Praeger $$ 32.50$ ) by Leonard Whiter is a history of the Spode family factory, and wares from 1733 to 1833. The Book of Famille

The Borg Feminique personal scale is styled as a perfect oval . . . smooth and graceful . . . it tucks away in the smallest corner. The big, oversize, dial makes reading the Feminique a pleasure. In choice of color with deeply padded washable vinyl mat

Rose (Tuttle, $25) by George C. Williamson is neither a botanical textbook nor a French version of the Forsythe Saga, but a complete account of the Chinese porcelain made in the Yung Chêng and Ch'ien Lung periods with the rose-red color derived from a salt of gold.

People with a penchant for antique furniture should relish Early American Furniture (Knopf, $$ 17.50$ ) by John T. Kirk, which tells how to recognize, evaluate, and care for both primitive and sophisticated pieces of Americana.

FOOD, BEAUTIFUL FOOD

One of the most encompassing and interesting of the new cook books, An Encyclopedia of Chinese Food and Cooking (Crown, $$ 14.95$ pre-Christmas; then $$ 17.50$ ), by the Irving Changs and Austin Kutschers describes the various quite different Chinese cuisines and explains the implements and ingredients used in cooking. The book also has over 1000 recipes adapted to American kitchens. There is a list of stores throughout the country where ingredients can be obtained.

A most entertaining book about food-fact and anecdote filled-undoubtedly wins the longest-title-of-the-year award: The Enriched,Fortified, Concentrated, CountryFresh, Lip-Smacking, Finger-Licking, International, Unexpurgated Foodbook (Grossman, $$ 12.50$ until Jan. 1; then $15) by James Trager. Just about everything you might wish to know about food is here-the history of all sorts of viands, regional peculiarities, superstitions, controversies (macrobiotics-good or bad? MSG-safe or dangerous?), and more. Delightful reading, tremendously informative but remember, it is not a cook book and has no recipes.

Anyone who owns Volume I of Julia Child's Mastering

Let a daily pause on your new Borg "Royale" personal scale show you the way to fitness. Its simple classic lines, the tapestry inspired platform, the convenient handle, and its large easy-to-read dial make it a perfect compliment to your dressing room, bedroom, or bath. Designer colors too . . . or woodgrain finish.
$$ 12.00$

the Art of French Cooking will want Volume II (Knopf, $$ 12.50$ ). So will everyone else-and for them you can get both volumes boxed for $$ 25$, a great present for all cooks.

FOR CREATIVE HANIDS

We're sure all needlepointers-both veterans and beginnerswill be enthusiastic about House & Garden's handsome and enormously instructive new book, Needlepoint Design (Morrow, $$ 13.95$ pre-Christmas, then $$ 15.95$ ). Written by our creative crafts editor, Louis J. Gartner, Jr., a master needlepointer himself, the book teaches you how to create your own designs, and covers everything from basic stitches, selecting canvas and wool, to transferring patterns to canvas. Bonus: more than 100 of Mr. Gartner's lovely original designs that you can adapt directly from the book (for some of them, see page 86).

The Gloria Vanderbilt Book of Collage (Van Nostrand Reinhold, $$ 9.95$ until Jan. 1; then $12.95) tells how to make a simple and decorative collage out of materials found in any household, how to use collage in new and interesting ways. (For Miss Vanderbilt's collages applied to gift wrapping, see page 48.)

OTHER TIMES, OTHEIR PLACES

Looking Forward (American Heritage Press, $14.95) compiled by Ray Brosseau is off-beat and fun. It is subtitled "Life in the twentieth century as predicted in the pages of American magazines from 1895 to 1905 " and boy were some of these predictions on target (see the 1898 cartoon about pollution on page 41) ! Particularly amusing are the reproductions of old magazine advertisements. The Splendours of Leningrad (Cowles, $29.50) presents Leningrad's buildings, parks, streets, and-above all-its fabulous art treasures. The photographs are stunning and it may be a bit captious of me to wish that their captions were right with them rather than in the back of the book. But I do. Text by Abraam L. Kaganovich.

IRECORDED MUSIC AND SPOKEN WORDS

There is a wide choice of music brilliantly reproduced on records to give as Christmas presents. This being the year of the Beethoven Bicentennial, there has been a flood of Beethoven recordings. Here are three worth considering: The Complete Piano Trios (Columbia M5 30065, $29.98) with the Istomin-Stern-Rose trio; The Five Piano Concertos (RCA VCS-6417, $12.98) with Artur Rubinstein; The Thirty-Two Piano Sonatas (London, CSP-2, $50) with Wilhelm Backhaus.

For the opera buff: Tchaikovsky's Eugene Onegin (Melodiya/Angel, SRCL-4115, $17.98) conducted by Mstislav Rostropovich with members of the Bolshoi opera. Bizet's Carmen (Angel, SCL-3767, $17.98), the 1875 OperaComique version with Grace Bumbry, Jon Vickers, Mirella Freni. Gluck's Orfeo ed Euridice (London, OSA-1285, $11.96) with Marilyn Horne, Pilar Lorengar. Meyerbeer's Les Huguenots (London, OSA-1437, $24) with Joan Sutherland, Martina Arroyo. And for devotees of sacred music, Verdi's Requiem (Columbia M2 30060, $11.98) in a new recording with Martina Arroyo, Placido Domingo, Rugge Raimondi, conducted by Leonard Bernstein.

A chance to hear two giants of the music world discu their work and their lives is offered in two handsome packaged Columbia albums: Nine Masterpieces Col ducted by the Composer Igor Stravinsky (D5S-77 $$ 29.98$ ) is a six-album record. On five of them,Stravinsky co ducts his own music; the sixth is a recording of Stravins conducting a rehearsal and also reminiscing. Pablo Casa (M5 30069, $29.98) is a five-record, limited edition, boxe album with many of the legendary Casals performances, som available for the first time on LP's. One record is devoted Casals himself telling about his life in music and his quest $f$ world peace. Both albums contain handsomely produce booklets about their subject and complete discographies.

Records of the spoken word make excellent presents fo the literati among your acquaintances. Caedmon, the nam predominant in the field, has John Steinbeck's The Re Pony (TC2047, $13) read by Eli Wallach; English R mantic Poetry (TC3005, $19.50) read by such stalwarts the English stage as Claire Bloom, Anthony Quayle, Sir Ralp Richardson. And fun, especially for children, American Tal Tales (TC1317 and TC1320, $$ 6.50$ each) read by Ed Begle An unusual album The Black Experience (Spoken Art SA3002 $39) is a six-record set of speeches, songs, poem and historic documents tracing the history of the black ma in America.

And a special Christmas treat for the whole family America's favorite master of light verse reading his ow Yuletime poetry in Christmas with Ogden Nash (Caed mon, TC1323, $6.50).

Fitness is sweeping the country and the new Borg "Caribbean" offers a new concept in keeping accurate care of yourself. The soft sculptured lines of the gently foam padded platform add a touch of elegance and care to your dressing room or bath. In an exquisite selection of popular shades.

NOTES OF A HAPPY HOUSEKEEPER

 BY MAITY ELIZABETH FALTERWe're on the final countdown to Christmas. The pile of brightly wrapped packages in the sewing room is growing daily, and we are all going around with check lists in our heads. Tom's includes testing the Christmas tree lights before tree-trimming day, making sure the tall stepladder is in good repair and readily available and that the fire extinguisher is working. Tina and Sally have organized a shopping bag of wrapping paper and a tray of ribbons, tags, marking pens, scissors, and Scotch tape. We try to wrap two or three things at a time as they come from the shops, rather than making a big deal of doing everything at once. Then all I have left to do at the last minute is to stuff the stockings, which for me is the real fun.

Every year we try to add a permanent treasure to our collection of holiday decorations. Last Christmas it was a new star for the top of the tree; and this year it's a hanging mobile candelabrum for the hall-a silvery spiral of matte-finished chromed steel, about $21 / 2$ feet high. It has thirty-three arms to hold stubby candles, and when they're lighted it's breathtaking. Even the gentlest draft keeps it slowly turning. The candles-we have both red and white-are special slowburning ones that will last for a whole long evening. I found the candelabrum at Georg Jensen in New York.

First things first . . . and your new Borg "Suburban" personal scale is your passport to a confident personal care program. A wise choice too... it's padded, covered in a wide array of fashion right colors, and roomy enough for the biggest executive or daintiest deb.

BY LOUISE ADE BOGEIR

STONEWARE JUG
This pitcher of heavy pottery belonged to my husband's family in England. Each side depicts a jousting knight. In script on the bottom is "Published by W. Ridg. way, Son & Co., Hanley, September $1,1840 . " 1$ will appreciate anything you can tell me about it.

> B. T.-New York, N.Y.

The impressed "Published by" marks indicate the date and by whom the design was registered. W. Ridgway, Son & Co. was active from 1838 to 1848 . Many molded stoneware jugs of this type were produced in the 1830 s and 1840 s . Your design of the jousting knight is illustrated in Geoffrey A. Godden's book British Pottery and Porcelain.

SWEDISH SPIRIT CUP

My silver "skol" is a family heirloom from Sweden. It is $I^{1 / 4}$ inches high. On the bottom are "ET," a number " 03 ," three circles, and a mark that looks like a castle. Can you tell me where, when, and by whom it was made?
T. H. P.-Everett, Wash.

Your silver spirit cup was made by the Swedish silversmith Ernst Tengvall, who worked at Halsingborg from 1803 to 1823.

What is the style and age of this settee? It has five carved faces of women, each of them having a different expression, in the walnut framework.
E. R.-Hartford, Ky.

Your unusual chair-back settee is in the nineteenth-century Revived Renaissance style popular about 1860 onward. Your settee rather has the look of the Rutherford B. Hayes era, 1877 to 1881. Continued on page 36

Enclosed is a photograph and an attempt to copy the markings on the back of my Swallow platter. I hope you will be able to tell me from these how old it is. W. C. M.-Olympia, W ash.

The Staffordshire potter James F. Wileman operated the Foley China Works at Fenton from 1869 to 1892. According to the diamond-shaped registration mark, your pattern, "Swallow," was registered at the London Pattern Office on April 23, 1881.

BELLEEK SALT DISH
I wonder if you can tell from this photograph how old my salt dish is and also explain the marking and the name? J. M.-Columbus, Ohio

The Willets Company of Trenton, N.J., was well known for its Belleek wares made during the 1880s and 1890s. Your mark, comprising a snake coiled to form a W with "Belleek" above and "Willets" below is its characteristic mark.

PEDESTAL WINE TABLE

We inherited this table from my husband's family, native Bermudians, and were told it is a "gaming" or "hunting" table. The top is a solid piece of mahogany. Any facts about it will be appreciated.
R. H. T.-St. George's, Bermuda

Tables such as yours are known as "social" or wine tables and were introduced in England toward the end of the eighteenth century, intended for after-dinner drinking around the fireplace. The two ends of the horseshoe-shaped top faced the fireplace. Some of these tables had folding screens as protection against heat and a network bag stretched across the open portion to hold biscuits. The metal coasters sliding in a well held bottles, to avoid accidents. Judging from the snapshot, your pedestal wine table dates about 1810 .

ENGLISH PLATTER

These badly worn marks are on the back of my large pewter platter. Are they clear enough for you to identify it?
P. M. E.-Adrian, Mich.

Richard Goeing (note the "e") of Bristol, England used the Lamb and Flag mark with his name from about 1715 . He died in 1764, so your platter was made sometime within this fifty-year span.

What people aredoing...

 About Christmas this year across the country...Homegrown presents-walnuts, rosemary, mint, and thyme, pickled tomatoes and apple butter, wrapped in gingham packets and hung on a stick, bindle-style, are the Donald Johnstons' way of saying Merry Christmas. Everything is grown and made on the Johnston farm in Boonville, California. A presents-forpets party is given each year by a friend of ours for all her very young friends who own a dog, a cat, or a bird. Each guest is given a little Christmas tree trimmed (according to pet) with chew sticks, catnip mice, or packets of birdseed. A rag-doll tree draws all the children he knows to Sir David Webster's London house on Christmas afternoon. The dolls (the tree's sole decoration) come from anywhere they can be found - Portobello Road, the Victoria and Albert Museum-and each child takes one home. Atree trimmed in good spirits-tiny bottles of liqueurs hung on ribbons-is wheeled in with coffee by Mary Ann Moross after Christmas dinner. There is something especially festive about sipping an exotic like crème de violette.Spangled tree hung upside down from the ceiling is the main attraction in artist Carol Blanchard's 14-foot-high living room. "It's like a green chandelier." Big and bold tissue-paper flowers are the presents Mrs. Charles-Louis de Maud'huy makes for her friends each Christmas. She keys the colors of each bouquet to those of the room the flowers are to blaze in. Very personal needlepoint cushions are turned out each year by Mrs. Charles Caine for friends with country houses where the Caines spend summer weekends. Design motifs are thoughtful: a rose borrowed from a friend's rug; Japanese irises for a lady who grows and adores them; a stitched portrait of a pet dog or cat reproduced from a photograph Mrs. Caine has quietly snapped during a visit. A Christmas Eve pienic indoors is architect Harry Van Dyke's refreshment for guests who drop in at his Hudson Valley house. A great cook, Mr. Van Dyke fills little baskets with a country pâté, a tiny loaf of bread, shrimps rémoulade, fruit, cheese, and Christmas cookies. People eat when and where they like, and the punch bowl is never empty. A supper for all ages to start Christmas early-the night before Christmas Eve -is a tradition at the Ernest H. Martins. Mrs. Martin invites all her friends and all their children, sets up a buffet with huge bowls of chili, salad, and fruit and platters of smoked turkey. Swags of greenery laced with tiny white lights and attached to the ceiling or molding with each loop caught with a red velvet bow is designer Julian Tomchin's decoration for a room too small for a tree. A childrem's elay-modeling party is San Francisco sculptress Ruth Asawa Lanier's holiday salute to the young. The youngsters are given as much baker's clay as may appeal to the Rodin in them, plus expert instructions for turning a mud pie into pretty tree ornaments.
Planting a tree for a child for Christmas makes a lifelong gift-an idea inspired by actor William Holden's custom of planting a tree for his friends' children's christening present. A tree icicled with mirrors is Mrs. Edgar White's Christmas sparkler. She buys tiny mirrors in many shapes from a theatrical supply house, pastes them on lengths of thread, swathes the tree with them. Caroling on horseback is a Christmas Eve sing-out for the Baltimore Green Valley Hunt Club. Sung-out, minus fox, they jog back to the club for egg. nog and dancing. Caroling on foot begins at Manhattan's Brick Church, circles several blocks, and ends with a party. The invitation to carol includes a map of the proposed route so singers can alert friends. A tree-eutting, tree-planting party is given the last Sunday before Christmas by the Arch Diacks of Portland, Oregon. Guests, cautioned to bring spades and axe, drive to the Diacks' country retreat, cut their own Christmas trees, and plant new ones to replace them (seedlings are supplied by the Oregon Forestry Department); then gather around a roaring fire for hot wassail and roasted frankfurters.

THE GLorious TREE

"Worlds may wither unseen, but the Christmas Tree is a tree of fable, A phoenix in evergreen, And the world cannot change or chill what its mysteries mean To your hearts and eyes now."
-The Christmas Tree by C. Day-Lewis*
Of course, you'll have a tree, whether it's 20 inches high, or 20 feet tall. A tree is the Christmas magnet, drawing people together. Somehow it activates the holiday air. On the next seven pages we show you how to make and decorate many different trees, with fruit and nuts, candies and cookies, lights, mirrors, herbs and flowers. All of them are invitations to display personal ingenuity and talent, to give your friends, your house, or your garden a very special Christmas gift.

Our tree is our Christmas," says Julie Britt, in red, opposite page. "We like to do something new each year. We once had a tree entirely of white doves; then there was one that was all lemons, which smelled so beautiful. This year we have an everything tree. Tom gets up on a ladder and starts decorating from the top down. You have to with a big tree because it's so wide at the bottom. We made the star from silver straws and silver balls tied together. Our friends always come and help. We give them a basket of ornaments, and they do their own thing." *Copyright(c) 1954 ay C. Day-lewis, reprinted by PERMISSION OF THE HAROLD MATSON COMPANY, inc.

White daisies frost a delightful 3 . oot boxwood tree, left. "Scrape the daisy stalk," says florist Ronaldo Maia, "slip each flower into a watering tube, and poke them into the greenery, making garlands as you go." Tree at Ronaldo Maia. The delicate basket of silver plate by Gorham. A tree in Mrs. Walter Driscoll's yard, top, with strings of peanuts and popcorn, bunches of grapes and red apples for the birds. Rock candy crystal makes an 18 -inch tree, above left. Candy is glued to a cone. Designed by John Cianciolo at Parrish Woodworth. The 4 -foot tree, above right, of pine needle sprays, is treated with fire-resistant foam, then candles (waxed to doctor's tongue depressors) are wired into the cone. At Ronaldo Maia. The punch bowl of silver plate by Towle.

Gumdrops, raspberry drops, and sour balls mingle with other candies in the delicious 17 -inch table tree, right. At Ronaldo Maia. The base, a glistening "Contemporary" bowl of sterling silver by Kirk. The little 18 -inch carnation pyramid, above left, is made from four dozen white flowers and three dozen red, set in stripes in a cone of wet florist's foam. At Ronaldo Maia. Fluted bowl of sterling silver by Lunt. The apples, above right, are fixed to a Styrofoam cone with hairpins. Start from the bottom, alternating a layer of apples with boxwood. Trim the boxwood with scissors for a crisp finish. "LaPaglia" stemmed compote of sterling silver by International. Mr. William Merrill's Christmas table, below, is centered with a fruit tree of grapes, love apples, strawberries, kumquats, and sugar pears. At The Greenery.

FRAGRANT TREES... Scented with pomanders, wreathed with roses, scattered with bouquets

An orange and cinnamon tree, left, spreads a wonderful scent. Stick three dozen oranges with cloves in many different patterns and pile the fruit around a 20 -inch Styrofoam cone, filling the gaps with cinnamon sticks. At Ronaldo Maia. Graceful "Mandarin" bowl of silver plate by Reed & Barton. A tree in the window of Mrs. Howell H. Howard's New York house, top, is trellised with marvelous red silk roses, tiny Christmas lights, and traditional tinsel. On Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hampton's tree, above, the Christmas ornaments are all handmade, symbolizing Biblical figures: the angel for St. Matthew, the lion for St. Mark, the bull for St. Luke, the eagle for St. John, and the shell for St. James. "They're cut from shirt cardboard, each about 6 inches high," says Mrs. Hampton. "We paint them on one side and sprinkle the other with silver glitter." Added to these are lots of crosses: Maltese, Greek, and Christian. And the tree is finished with lights and ropes of tinsel.

HOW TO CREATE CHRISTMLS ENCHANTMENT

How to turn out your own romantic wrappings

Ideas from Gloria Vanderbilt

When House & Garden asked Gloria Vanderbilt (Mrs. Wyatt Cooper) if she would wrap some Christmas presents for us, she said she would, and found herself "doing five collages at the same time. The top of each box and the four sides." Here are four of her fantasies, and on the next page Mrs. Cooper will tell you what you need and how to proceed to turn out your own romantic wrappings. A painter since she was a child, Mrs. Cooper became interested in collage a few years ago and has worked on it so hard that she is now, as a collagist, going right to the top of the tree. In her recently published Gloria Vanderbilt Book of Collage, she quotes her dictionary's definition of the technique as "composing a work of art by pasting on a single surface various materials not normally associated with one another." Her own definition is "a puzzle with a million answers, all correct." She also feels that composing a work of art (which she can't help doing) is not nearly so important as the fun involved. "Anybody can do it, and you're apt to find the necessary materials right on your own shelves. At this very moment, I'm impatiently waiting for some sheets with blue and red flowers to wear out. The print will be marvelous in a future collage!" (Continued)

"In a collage, try always to include something you love."

"Unconsciously, we make collages everyday without knowing it," says Gloria Vanderbilt Cooper. "Whenever a woman gets a certain look in her eye and dashes to a table to rearrange the objects displayed there, it may seem like just puttering to her husband, but she's really making a tabletop collage. That's what collage is-arranging and rearranging as your impulses move you. And although wrapping a present in the manner of a collage is far simpler than doing an actual picture, the basics are the same. So, first of all, gather your materials. I keep an arsenal of supplies in my studio-colored papers, fabrics, old lace, paper lace, ribbons, photographs, greeting cards, valentines, aluminum foil, cutout flowers, what have you. Don't attempt anything until you have a stockpile, and try to build it with things that have a special appeal for you. You'll also need a good pair of scissors, and a white glue. I use Sprayment, which works like hair spray.
"Now, since a Christmas present is so very personal, think of the friend you are giving it to before you wrap it. For instance, my oldest and best friend is Carol Matthau, Mrs. Walter Matthau. She's a springtime kind of girl, beautiful, sentimental, mad about flowers. Before I wrapped her present [page 48], I put together a little assembly of things that reminded me of her-apple green tissue, three kinds of flowered ribbon, a braid of embroidered silk roses, a band of Spanish lace, a marvelous old valentine with a little girl in a pink coat and hat edged with ermine, some sprays of paper lilies of the valley, and some funny little Victorian paper Christmas trees. I wrapped the box in tissue, cut the little girl out of the valentine and mounted her on silver lace paper, then experimented with what should go where. Try never to glue anything down until you have an arrangement that really pleases you. Just move things about until something clicks, and that's it. When I had Carol's arrangement the way I wanted it, I glued everything down, tied on the ribbons, and added a gold paper medallion with a written greeting to Carol pasted in its center. Remember, someone else might assemble the same elements in quite another way and achieve a totally different effect. That's the wonderful thing about collage. You have no one to please but yourself, and you can do anything at all that gives you the satisfaction of having created something all your own. Don't think about it, just do it.
"Always, I try to include something I am very fond of-a photograph, a bit of embroidery, perhaps a pressed flower. I find that my affection for it influences the form the collage takes, probably because personal feelings, for me, are a much stronger guide than any training in art. For my husband, for example, I wrapped a present in red tissue -he loves red-then framed a favorite photograph of our two little boys and me in a white and silver valentine that I mounted on petals of green and hot pink tissue. As I always do, I cut out bits of pattern in the lace so the colors beneath would glint through, and to let the elements breathe. It adds to the delicacy. I tied up the box with a red and white stylized ribbon, cherry red and moss green rope yarn, and a beautiful old black velvet ribbon with purple, orange, and gold flowers. It looked as if it had belonged to the Medicis.
"And now, wrap away. You'll find, as I did, that the more you develop your inner response to things, the more your imagination will grow, and out of this you will arrive at your own personal style."

CHRISTMAS ENCHANTMENT

Spur-of-themoment bouquets

Fresh for your house and to give to friends

At Christmas when the field of wildflowers near her house is brown and the garden a ghost of itself, Mrs. Gianni Penati bicycles to a local florist to gather flowers as much like summer's as possible. She improvises her bouquets in improvised containers-a breadbasket, a tiny box with a saltcellar as liner, a sugar canister enameled a wonderful blue, the bright red sand pail of her young son Giannotto, right. Friends who come to visit often leave with a surprise bouquet. Mrs. Penati is a painter-Dabney is her signature-with three one-man shows to her young credit. Her arrangements are like small paintings, paint-box pure and touching in their evanescence. "The baby with his shepherd hat and the daisies," her photographer-husband says of the moment he captured, right, "could be one of her paintings. I don't care about flowers so much-I would just plant cabbage and herbs-but I like that bouquet, classic and white. I like what my wife does with flowers and her sense of color."

VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS TABLES for parties from breakfast to supper

"To make your party decorations most effective, take one strong element in your room and multiply it," says flower designer Stephen Barany. "It's much more dramatic to emphasize one color or one material than to mix a lot of unrelated bits and pieces." Working with Tiffany & Co., Mr. Barany has created a series of holiday parties that illustrate his maxim. In each case, table appointments, all from Tiffany's, and decorations were inspired by the room itself. The party tables will be on display at Tiffany's throughout the holidays.

Christmas morning breakfast in painter Richard Neas's Bucks County house is served on a table, left, drawn up in front of the fire in the green and white, flower-sprigged sitting room. The table setting, too, is green and white with just enough red to make it Christmas: green and white china; a linen square thrown over a green and white checked cloth; a stack of wooden berry baskets painted green and heaped with shiny red and green glass currants. Luxurious grace notes: a silver reindeer, a silver berry box. As traditional as the room: holly wreaths at the windows, a garland of pine and a fat bouquet of poinsettias on the mantel.

Christmas dinner in the kitchen is another Neas holiday tradition. The whole kitchen, above, was decorated with calico, hemmed for napkins, stitched into fruit-shaped beanbags piled in a basket to make a centerpiece. For over the fireplace, a pine garland was studded with more beanbags, and even the ribbons were cut from calico. On the table, sunny, yellow-glazed earthenware

Supper at midnight-champagne, caviar, smoked salmon, and cold lobster -for a few close friends is the kind of holiday party Richard Neas likes to give in his city apartment. The decorations, all silvery and shining, were inspired by the steel and glass dining table, a very modern element in a basically traditional room. Metallic leaves in a crystal vase glow against the warm brown wall, bare branches sprayed with silver paint and dusted with glitter sparkle in the center of the candlelit table. Everything on the table is either crystal or silver: crystal goblets for water, white wine, and champagne; bamboo-patterned plates for the salmon; silver service plates, champagne cooler, candlesticks, and a silver shell for the caviar.

An all-afternoon wrapping bee with plenty of time for tea and talk brings a group of friends to the Peter Sharps' library. To let the packages Mrs. Sharp wraps in the colors of her favorite needlepoint pillow take center stage, only two kinds of ornaments-white lights and clusters of tiny, shiny bright red baubles -decorate the Scotch pine Christmas tree. Refreshments for the wrappers: traditional tea and sandwiches served in cups and on plates in a traditional Imari design of red, gold, and blue.

A tree-trimming party at interior designer Stephen Mallory's country house is delicious with an arrangement of eat-ables-some for trimming the tree and others for a late supper. Red taffy apples (wonderful fakes) are wound between gold tinsel and lights on the tree, still rooted in a ball of earth that will be replanted after the holidays. (The Mallorys have Christmas all the year round.) For the buffet table, a small stylized tree was planted in a Delft vase, decked with more apples and a flow of plaid ribbons that reappear as ties for the napkins. A supper of boeuf Bourguignonne, salad, red wine, and strawberries is spread out on a blue and white, pattern-on-pattern table. "Something as personal as trimming the tree is shared with only our closest friends," says Stephen Mallory, "and, of course, with our daughter, Brooke, who always comes down for a quick look." ## SPARKLING DECORATIONS OF LIGHT

New designs to make yourself from easy-to-find light bulbs

Lights, however brightly or quietly they shine, are always a magical part of Christmas. Light bulbs today come in such splendid colors, such a dazzling range of sizes, and light up in such intriguing ways that your Christmas decorations this year may be no farther away than the nearest hardware store. To see how these lights can work, shining as centerpieces, reflecting in mirrors, or brightening a stairwell, we asked nine designers, architects, and artists particularly interested in light to show some of their sensational ideas. Lots of their schemes, shown here, look like one-of-akind light sculptures, but all are made out of just samplings of great electrical makings you can scoop up in variety and hardware stores and combine with your own variations. Many of the newest lights the designers chose look equally beautiful on or off-big chrome and gold bulbs, which mirror everything around them, and whisks of light-conducting fibers, which produce a glow like delicate fireworks. Most ingenious are the everyday shapes the lights are attached to: a Chinese checkers board, plastic funnels, a coil of piano wire, and, straight from the kitchen, muffin tins and cake-cooling racks. Directions for eleven ways to create very different effects with lights are detailed here. Ideas to spark your ideas.

1spiral of shimmering lights

 The feathery centerpiece, left, started with a very simple idea . . . what a twist of piano wire can do. The wire is coiled in a circle and then stretched so it spirals upward like a ramp. The lights are added next, little strings of miniature bulbs twisted up the length of the coil, their wires concealed with white masking tape. The fine, white whisk-broom shapes, producing hundreds of little pinpoints of light, are actually bundles of plastic fibers that conduct light from bulbs out to the end of their tips. These fiber lights come in sets with caps, right, that can fit over standard miniature lights. Adding even more shine to the arrangement: some bulbs left uncovered and a tinsel garland wrapped the length of the coil. Frances Whitney designed the centerpiece. Particularly known for the belts and jewelry she carves out of nickel silver, and ribbon twists of acrylic sculpture, Mrs. Whitney is intrigued with all the ways you can work with a curlicue.

Oouquet of lights and a muffin tin tree
Instead of real flowers for the table, a basket of flowers made of light bulbs . . . 5 -inch ones, little pointed lights, round theatre marquee bulbs. Arrange them all together in the middle of a buffet or reflected in a hall mirror. Interior designer John Rieck got the idea when he was looking at a big basket of flowers in a restaurant. To make his 30 -inch-high bouquet of lights, opposite page, he put bulbs in sockets spliced onto lamp cords and threaded them around florist's sticks, which he wrapped with green florist's tape and stuck into a piece of Styrofoam in the basket. Final touches: fake leaves, whisks of light fibers. Straight as a tree, the column of lights, left, is actually made of muffin tins, bolted together in the back, with colored and chrome bulbs and sockets set in muffin pockets. Threaded together with transparent electrical cord, the tins hang or stand, can rotate in any direction, and you can add as many units as you want. Bright plastic bracelets glued around bulbs intensify the light colors. Designed by architects Hardy, Holzman, Pfeiffer, and Michael Ross, this muffin tin "tree" could hang anywhere.

$\mathbf{s}$ ilver bulbs and mirror towers

Obelisks covered with mirror, each with a large silvered bulb on top, and pyramids surfaced with two-way mirror (each with a bulb inside) make splendid lightworks. When the bulb is switched on, the mirror becomes transparent so you see the bulb inside, its image reflected many times. Architect-turned-fashion designer Giorgio di Sant' Angelo has planned these lights as pointed shapes because "pyramids are an age-old religious form. Like trees, they have the true shape and feeling of Christmas." The base of each of these pyramids ( 12 to 30 inches high) is a plywood box with its sides covered with mirror. (A glazier will cut mirror for you.) The box top, slightly lower than the sides, has a hole cut in it to hold the bulb and socket. Strips of wood added just in from the edges of the box top make grooves for the four bases of the triangles of mirror, and allow them to lean in toward one another. The Tovibulbs, below, that sit on the obelisks like finials, are lined inside the globe with a thin coating of metal-silver or gold. When they are turned on, their filament suddenly visible, the bulbs emit a gentle glow; turned off, they look like solid metal orbs-a wonderful solution for any spot requiring a "naked" bulb, and perfect as a sculptured topknot for the obelisks.

Massed on a front-hall table with Christmas presents or in the midst of a collection of old silver or arranged on a buffet or by a fire, these mirrored lights shed a very special kind of holiday brilliance. Also, because of their architectural quality, they need not be classified as strictly Christmas decorations. They gleam just as effectively in June as in December, and are completely amenable to any setting, a totally traditional room, right top, or-at the other end of the scale-in the very, very contemporary apartment, right, of designer Alain Lariviere.

SPARKLING DECORATIONS OF LIGHT continue

Seven more light ideas to make yourself

The electrified checkerboard star, 1, made from a plastic Chinese checkers board, and the light cord wreath, 2, are two of many patterns you can make by inserting miniature jewellike bulbs through any surface with small holes in it. The bulbs come in many colors, pull in and out of their sockets like penpoints if you want to switch colors. You can add a "winker" bulb to each string to program the lights to blink on and off. The star and wreath were both designed by architect William Grover, who has cast light sculptures inside plastic, programmed fireworks by computer. The wreath is eight strings (of thirty-five lights each), pushe into holes drilled in a circular pattern on clear plastic-the cords, delibe ately exposed, are the greenery. You can build a similar light structur with any perforated surface-a pegboard, even a sieve or colander, if yo want a dome of blinking lights. The dazzling light board over th fireplace, 3 , goes up and comes down like a painting. The base of ph tographer David Massey's design is a 36 -by- 50 -inch piece of plywoo Then lengths of plug mold (3- or 6 -foot strips of electrified track you plu bulbs into) are attached to make the pattern. Next, plastic mirror is cut $t$ cover areas between the lines of plug mold. Five-inch Tovibulbs at plugged in around the perimeter. The center lines are lit with big blue an green transparent bulbs. quee green bulbs. Tiers of funnel bells (white plastic kitchen rels in disguise), 4, could make a whole wall of light or a room divider, ven a chandelier. Architect Paul Rudolph sliced off the necks of the els to fit over the sockets of tiny bulbs like ping-pong balls. So his os can swing at different heights like wind bells, they are attached to e parallel plastic rods with loops of transparent cord. The top rod is ended from the ceiling with fish line, which also ties the rods together. igner John Saladino, who designed both the electric wreath, nd the calke rack tree, 7 , says, "It's exciting to use industrial gs in old traditional shapes." The wreath he made of dozens of little tic cord holders, usually found concealing wires along a baseboard, sed into circles on a mirror. (Holders can take paint off a wall, are best on mirrors or glass.) Here they hold strings of miniature lights. Ends of the light strings are intentionally left on the table-"Celebrate the simple materials you use. Don't hide them." The collage of circles over the fireplace is composed of cake-cooling racks wired together into a tree shape, the top rack hung from a picture hook. Lighting it from underneath -baby spotlights in a mantel-top strip of plug mold. The fluorescent tube tree, 6 , designer John Harris describes as "a Christmas tree with an after effect, its bulbs give it a halo." He constructed it completely out of black light tubes in fluorescent light fixtures ( 6 - to 36 -inches long) bolted end to end to give the "tree" its shape. For a change of pace, you could use different colored tubes or slip tinted plastic sleeves over white ones. For shopping information, please turn to page 110.

A provocative exploration introducing the current Centennial Exhibition "Masterpieces of Fifty Centuries," at The Metropolitan Museum of Art.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Author of many books and essays on art, most recently, Civilisation, based on his celebrated television series, Kenneth Clark has been Director of the National Gallery in London; Chairman of the Arts Council of Great Britain; and Chairman of the Independent Television Authority. He has recently been elevated to a life peerage with the title, Lord Clark of Saltwood. His essay, "Unity in Diversity," is the introduction to the volume Masterpieces of Fifty Centuries based on a Centennial Exhibition at The Metropolitan Museum of Art. The book is published by E. P. Dutton and Company, Inc. in association with The Metropolitan Museum, $$ 12.50$. A soft-cover edition is on sale only at the Museum, $4.95.
The historian of art is bound by his profession to dwell on diversity. He is trained to distinguish between different schools and successive styles; and if he reads the writings of his predecessors, he must be surprised, and perhaps depressed, by the diversity of their judgments. The works of art they admire, and the reasons they give for admiring them, seem to differ in every decade. He may well feel that the appreciation of art is merely a matter of fashion, and, as with fashion in dress, one comes to accept anything; with the difference that there is no unvarying human body under the dress. Students of esthetics, on the other hand, have tended to the opposite extreme. They have tried to find a single cause for the pleasure that we derive from works of art, and have usually been driven back to such vague terms as rhythm, harmony, or significant form, which do no more than push the need for definition one stage further into the penumbra. Neither approach is satisfactory. The historian loses his sense of values, the esthetician loses touch with direct experience.

We need a philosophy of art based on experience, but only during the last fifty years has this become possible. Thanks to photography easy travel, and the liberal policies of museums and galleries, we can now see and compare the best surviving works of every culture. Fashion will always play a part in our judgments, but it has become a much more superficial part. Fundamentally we are far more inclusive. We can never again be in the position of our ancestors, who believed that all medieval art was barbarous and all Chinese art frivolous. Even the generation before our own thought Byzantine mosaics "stiff,' that may vary in degree according to our mood or our personal preference, but is basically the same.

I VITY IN DIVERSITY:

This inclusiveness is sometimes taken as a sign that we lack any real stylistic conviction. I think that this misinterprets an important development of our mental outlook. We have lost a great deal in the last fifty years, but one thing we have gained is a wider horizon. We have a better understanding of the past, a firmer conviction of the unity of mankind, and a realization that the appreciation of art cannot be limited to a small section of society. All these new inclusions are related to one another.

One result of our wider horizons is that the line between museums and picture galleries has tended to disappear. In the last century picture galleries still retained the character of salons or academies, with oil paintings in gold frames packed from floor to ceiling; and museums were thought of primarily as collections of historical specimens, amassed and arranged in order to provide information about the past. Under these conditions it was almost impossible to form any nception of the totality of human achievement. The Metropolitan useum of Art has been one of the first modern museums in which e visitor can pass easily from one epoch to another, from ancient cypt to Degas, and gain thereby a more vivid feeling of the unifying ctors in art. It is entirely appropriate that the culminating exhibition its centennial year should be conceived on these lines, with a bold cisiveness and a regard for excellence never attempted before. This not simply an exhibition of "masterpieces": It is an opportunity to Idy and compare the creative powers of man; and it is an opportunity consider, from direct experience, what we mean when we use the batable expression "a work of art."

The very earliest man-made objects to which one can apply the prd "art" fall into three categories: There are sculptured figurines; ere are cave paintings of animals; and there are pots or bones decated with abstract designs. Ultimately they all have the same intenon, but they try to achieve it by different means. They want to make ne stand still; they want to give disorder a shape; they want to make sible the feeling, born of the recurring seasons and the movements the heavenly bodies, that there must be some pattern in the universe. Of these three modes of art, the first produced the greatest works cause men discovered that the desire for personal or godlike imortality could be achieved by what we call form. What meaning can ? attach to that mysterious word, which is used so blithely by critics d writers on esthetics? A study of the Metropolitan's exhibition ould help us to decide. An Egyptian portrait, a figure of Gudea, statue of a Greek youth of the fifth century B.C., and a figure from partres Cathedral or Rheims, or a fresco by Giotto or Masaccio, puld all be accepted without argument as showing a sense of form. .e same would be true of Titian's "Man with a Glove" or Cézanne's Cadame Cézanne."

All these are representations of human beings; and I think it obable that the sense of form is closely dependent on the intense areness of the living creature, human or animal. At a very early age in man's development he felt that the living body must be simplid in order to conform with certain fundamental shapes-the sphere, e egg, the pillar, the pyramid-which seemed to him guarantees of der and permanence. We must suppose that this feeling was innctive. Certainly it antedates the consciousness of Euclid's geometry d has been used subsequently by painters and sculptors who have knowledge of measurable calculation. We can imagine that the rly sculptor who formed the features of a head conforming to an oid, or the body conforming to a column, had a deep satisfaction. Jow it looks as if it would last."

Thus began that interplay between observation and the idea, nich underlies the greatest art. We may agree that in certain early orks-the figure of Gudea or the Greek Kouros-the idea has too idently the upper hand. A head like a melon escapes the triviality of fitation, but it does not interest us as much as a head by Titian. prm must never entirely lose its original association with the human dy, for that alone gives it vitality. As a great modern artist (whose ork is often far from naturalistic) has said, "Each particular carving make takes on in my mind a human, or occasionally an animal charter and personality, and this personality controls its design and rmal qualities."

So when form moves us most, the idea has been warmed by a eling of our normal human needs. And next to survival, the strongest these needs is the sexual impulse. A narrowly sexual esthetic is complete, but it seems probable that our feelings of intense satisfaction when we contemplate certain pieces of sculpture or even pottery, our pleasure in apprehensible bulk, in smoothness of transition, in ratios of size between spheres and cylinders, arise from a physical cause rather stronger than the intellectual consolations of geometry. Ruskin said that ultimately sculpture derived its power from "bossiness or pleasant roundness"-one may speculate how far he was aware of the implications of this phrase, which the conventions of his time did not allow him to explore.

If ideal form is vitalized by our interest in the body, it is also modified by our interest in the visible imprint of the mind. The feeling of inner life does not show itself in the art of the Indus and the Euphrates, but it appears early enough in the art of the Nile, and under Akhnaten an outburst of spiritual enlightenment allows a penetration into the human psyche as deep and as disturbing as anything in art. We feel that the envelope of flesh has never been thinner. How strange that the Greeks, who showed in their literature such a profound understanding of human emotions, should have allowed so little of it to appear in their sculpture. Then, as the Hellenistic authority of ideal form declined, in late Roman portraits the vie interieure appears. Man was in search of a soul; and after the long eclipse of the Dark Ages, he found one, which shines through the heads of the saints and the Virgins in Gothic art. They too are subordinate to an ideal form, but it has changed from the sphere and cylinder of antiquity to a new shape, which found its greatest expression in the pointed arches and vaults of Gothic architecture. In its simplest form it is the shield with its armorial bearings; and the exquisite faces of Gothic saints are controlled by the idea of a shield. But they also reveal in their movements a quality inherited from the minor arts of Greece, the quality we call grace. That word, which can be stretched from theology to athletics, always implies some inner certainty, and when externalized in the turn of a head or the gesture of a hand, communicates that certainty by a single flowing rhythm.

In the Renaissance the sphere and the cylinder returned. That the classical oval did not necessarily preclude inner life is proved by the marble busts of Florentine ladies, whose sensuality is enhanced by the geometrical form in which it is enclosed. The process culminates in the Mona Lisa where a head as perfect as a new-laid egg reveals an inner life of baffling complexity.

Given the interest in ourselves, which grew up in the fifteenth century, individual likeness was bound sooner or later to supersede the ideal. One may say that it began to do so with Jan van Eyck and the Flemish portrait painters. But even in the apparently impartial scrutiny of van der Weyden or Memling the underlying sense form remains. Only, perhaps, in the work of Holbein (who used a mechanical aid) are we conscious that description has become more important than the idea, although it is description so skillful and economical that it still gives us an esthetic shock.

The portrait is a thorn in the side of the student of esthetics. Having established to his satisfaction that art does not consist in imitation, he must face the fact that three of the greatest artists that ever lived, Titian, Rembrandt, and Velasquez, gave the best of their talents to painting portraits, and that in rank only just below them, artists like Frans Hals and Houdon did practically nothing else.

It looks as if the old Greek doctrine that art consists in imitation is not quite so foolish as it sounds, always allowing that imitation means transformation into a medium-paint, terra cotta, stone, or bronze - which is in itself an act of self-revelation. It is even possible that by giving his whole conscious attention (Continued on page 106)

TIIE JOY OF ITVINGWITII FLOWERS AND ART

The very personal collection of Enid ITaupt

Blessed with a life so full and so busy that "I have never known a moment's boredom," Enid Haupt is an editor, a collector of paintings, and a horticulturist so dedicated that her love of nature approaches pantheism. "My church," she says, "is under the trees." A gardener of enormous expertise, she grows every flower she can coax into life, does her own topiary trimming ("I carry my clippers around like some women carry their jewels"), and offers her plants the same love and understanding she gives to her friends. When asked to name her favorite flower, she could not. "It's simply the flower I have in my hand at the moment." Nor can she name her favorite painting. "I have never bought a picture I didn't love at first sight, and it has never taken me more than fifteen seconds to make a decision. Long before I could buy paintings, I haunted museums and galleries, studying, absorbing, and when finally I could buy, I knew exactly what I wanted. I also believe that paintings, like people, must be surrounded by living, growing things. To me, nature is the saving grace of mankind." It is no wonder that, in her New York apartment, Mrs. Haupt lives in a picture-hung garden, half of it growing, half of it-thanks to painters like Monet-immortal. In the way she complements her paintings with flowers of exactly the right color, shape, and character, she is, in her inimitable style, as much of an artist as the great names on her walls, and we can think of nothing more inspiring than a little journey through these rooms for anyone interested-and who in the world is not?-in a beautiful way to live.

PICASSO:S 'Beggar's Breakfast,' there in a corner of the living room, is the first painting my husband and I bought together. It was painted in 1904 during Picasso's Blue Period, and how so young an artist could evoke the picture's poignancy, I do not know. Genius, I suppose. But $I$ do know how long it took me to grow the topiary azaleas in the dining room. Seven years of pruning and pleading to coax their pompons all to come out at once. There are no curtains in these rooms, only shutters. I try to keep a camellia tree in each window whenever I can. They make the nicest curtains I know."

$E$ in the living room is Gabrielle, the model he painted all her life. Here, she is fifteen crisser innocent. The blue iris brings a bit of the French sky into the room, and the orchids ielle's skin. They're cymbidiums, fantastic flowers that form their own sculpture."

HE MATISSE odalisque in the dining room has only had two homes, Matisse's bedroom and my house. I try when I can to have geraniums with it in that extraordinary pink-as though it had spilled out of the painting. That, too, is why I keep the porcelain vegetables on the console. I pretend they've fallen out of the picture.

TN AUTUMN, I sometimes fill the stair hall with nothing but white flowers-cyclamen and topiary chrysanthemums. The autumnal light makes them seem whiter, like ivory. The pictures are Tiepolo frescoes transferred to canvas by an incredibly complicated process. They're two centuries old, but they've lost none of their golden glimmer."

-N SPRING, after those months of cold sunlight, I fill the hall with yellow and orange tulips and calceolaria. onossy With the sun pouring on them, they make a golden garden, so pretty with the Tiepolos. The lamp in the window is really two lamps, both by Giacometti, that I had laminated together to get the right height. I hope that Alberto forgives me."
and they now fill two walls of the library. They are almost a history of his career, since so many of them were sketches for future paintings, with even the colors he planned to use written in the margins. He must also have been a good baby sitter. There are five drawings of his son, Paul. I like pink with them-the rug, camellia trees and begonias in the windows, and over in the corner, one of what I like to call my 'toys,' a bonsai chrysanthemum.'

All glass and view and light AWEEKEND HOUSE FOR ENTERTAINING

The Owens' three-level house is like a sandwichthe main interest is in the middle

The main entrance to the Owens' house is up an exterior stairway to the second floor, this page, center. The living room and the kitchen are on this level, connected to the three bedrooms and bath at the top of the house and a guest room and bath at the bottom by a stairwell in the tower.

It's a compact design only 28 by 24 feet so most of the space goes into the glass-walled living room, with a ceiling 16 feet high. Upstairs, ceilings are 7 feet. "Bedrooms can be small in a weekend house," says Mr. Owen, "because you don't spend much time in them." Apart from the master bedroom, opposite page, bottom, all are bunk rooms. Two have portholes to add a feeling of being on board ship, below. Floors are of prefinished oak, except in the bathrooms and kitchen, top, which have Italian rubber flooring that Mr. Owen laid himself. "It's soft and comfortable to walk on, somewhere between carpet and rigid flooring." Kitchen appliances and the heating system are all electric, though the working fireplace in the living room adds a friendly blaze on fall weekends. "We like to stay through Thanksgiving before closing the house for the winter."

Mrs. Owen, an interior designer, decided to decorate with white and neutrals, introducing color through art-the canvas in the living room, opposite page, top right, is by Peter Dechar-and some bright upholstery. "Pale colors are fairly easy to maintain on Block Island. Everything's much cleaner, even the sea. It's as clear as the Caribbean, quite different from the water off the mainland." Cane and steel chairs by Breuer group around a 4 -foot-square table designed by Sylvia Owen in the dining area. Other armchairs in the living room are in white canvas and steel also by Breuer, set on a rug of white wool from Switzerland. Stereo music spills from speakers built into the wall.

The Owens' activities on weekends are very much outdoors-a picnic lunch on the beach, swimming, skin diving, water skiing, fishing, with lobster for dinner in the evening. "We are never without guests, but we feel they should do what they want to do and not feel that they have to be entertained by us." One of the surprises to Mrs. Owen is that she should be enjoying all this so soon. "She was quite convinced it would be at least a two-year project," said Mr. Owen, "but we put in a lot of work ourselves. It just goes to show what can be done if you try."

Kits to buy, designs  to order or to make yourself for Christmas

A gift of needlepoint

Any way you work it, needlepoint can be the most personal of gifts. You can stitch a design you know will please. Or let the one you hope to please have the fun of doing it. Or let the choosing be part of the surprise and give a gift certificate. To rev your imagination: 1. Needlepoint paperweights to make right now for Christmas in patterns adapted from a new book, Needlepoint Design. We tell you how below. 2. Enhance someone's favorite director's chair with a colorful back and seat, kit $$ 127$; cantilevered iron chair designed by Girard Goodenow, $$ 225$. At Suzy Girard. 3. Have a favorite fabric matched on a painted canvas, like this scalloped rug Ferris Megarity designed to go with his mother's dining room floral print by Brunschwig & Fils. Your order on a 3-by-5foot canvas, $$ 625$. At Woolworks. 4. To delight a patient perfectionist, Fu Lion playing with yarn, to work from a graph on plain canvas, 18 inch pillow kit, $$ 125$. At Maggie Lane. 5. For impatient perfectionists, quickly done pillows in the Florentine manner, 14 -inch kit, $$ 37$; tasseled 17 -inch kit, $$ 52$. At Suzy Girard. 6. Strictly for armchair safaris, tiger wreathed in flowers, 14 -inch pillow kit, $$ 56$. At Obelisk. 7. To tickle any fancy, tuck a needlepoint canvas in an old sewing basket. Standing basket with "Toucan Pete" 16 -inch pillow kit, $136. At Nina Needlepoint. 8. Young and stylish patchwork, 18 -inch pillow kit $$ 77$. At Suzy Girard. 9. Canework box cushion, at home anywhere, 12 -by-14-inch kit $$ 36$. At Obelisk. 10. To frame for a flower lover, bouquet-in-a-basket, 12 -by-14-inch kit $$ 36$. At Obelisk. 11. To dazzle the luckiest with precisely the right pattern, colors, size, and scale, a fabulous rug (or upholstery or what-you-will) painted on canvas by Louis J. Gartner. Gift certificates start at $$ 50$ for a 12 -inch pillow. At Needlepoint. 12. Adapted from a painting at the Victoria & Albert Museum, fringed 14 -inch pillow kit $$ 125$. At Woolworks. Kits are postpaid. Addresses, page 108.

Needlepoint paperweights you can malse in time for Christmas. Marble, basket weave, malachite, zebra, and wood-grain needlepoint, right (stitched, then glued on 4-inch blocks of wood), are among the 100 -plus patterns you can copy on canvas from a new book, Needlepoint Design, by House & Garden's creative crafts editor, Louis J. Gartner. The book, left (William Morrow and Co., $13.95), tells how to design your own needlepoint or to transfer to canvas any pattern from a printed page, fabric, or photograph. The author's designs are yours for the borrowing or inspiration. If you decide to adapt a pattern like one on the right and to cover a 4-inch cube, you will need a 16 -inch 12 mono canvas ( 12 stitches to the inch). You will complete only five 4 -inch adjoining squares in a Greek cross shape. To upholster, steam-iron needlepoint on both sides for pliancy and attach center square to top of cube with white glue. For side pieces, miter unstitched canvas under each flap of finished needlepoint before gluing. Staple edges to the bottom of the cube and mask with a square of felt.

Chocolate Saddlle of Venison

(Rehrücken)
Can be baked 1-3 weeks in advance. Ice and decorate several hours before serving.

6 egg yolks
$1 / 2$ cup sugar
Grated zest of 1 lemon
3 squares (3 ounces) semisweet chocolate, grated
Pinch cloves
Pinch cinnamon
Pinch allspice
5 egg whites
$2^{1} / 2$ cups finely ground unblanched almonds Butter, sugar
Chocolate Icing (see recipe below) $1 / 2$ cup blanched slivered almonds (scant) Whipped cream (optional)

Preheat oven to $350^{\circ}$.
Beat egg yolks and sugar until light and creamy. Add lemon zest. Combine chocolate, cloves, cinnamon, and allspice and mix well with egg yolk mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, and fold gently with ground almonds into batter. Blend until no white lumps show. Butter well a 12 -inch long tinned ring mold and dust it with sugar. Pour in batter.

Bake for $45-55$ minutes, until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean. Allow cake to settle for about 5 minutes before removing it gently from mold. When completely cool, return to baking mold and cover well with foil. Refrigerate until ready to decorate.

Several hours before serving, decorate the cake. Cover whole cake with Chocolate Icing. Refrigerate to set icing. When set, garnish cake with $4-5$ rows of slivered almonds the length of the cake, sticking points of almonds straight into cake. Refrigerate until serving time. This is delicious served with whipped cream. Serves 10 to 12 .

Chocolate Icing

4 squares (4 ounces) semisweet chocolate 6 tablespoons unsalted butter, soft

Melt chocolate in the top of a double boiler. When melted, add butter. Stir occasionally until all lumps have disappeared.

BREAD

Christmas Loaf

(Weihnachts Striezel)
Can be baked 4 weeks in advance.
$11 / 3-11 / 2$ cups golden raisins
2/3 cups currants
3 tablespoons dark rum
$11 / 2$ cups milk
11/4 cups sugar
$101 / 2-121 / 2$ cups flour
5 ounces fresh yeast, or 9 packages dry yeast
1 pound unsalted butter, soft
2 whole eggs
1 egg yolk
1 generous teaspoon salt
Grated zest of 2-3 lemons
Grated zest of 1 large orange
3 cups blanched almonds, ground
1 cup blanched almonds, coarsely chopped or sliced
$11 / 4$ cups walnuts, coarsely chopped or sliced Flour
1 whole egg, lightly beaten
Confectioners sugar

Have all ingredients at room temperature. Soak raisins and currants in rum.

Prepare a yeast sponge: Heat milk to lukewarm. Add 2-3 tablespoons of the sugar and about $11 / 2$ cups of the flour and blend. Mix in finely crumbled yeast (if using dry yeast, follow directions on package). Cover with a towel and leave in a draft-free place to rise, until bubbles appear on the surface.

While sponge is rising, mix butter and remaining sugar until creamy in a very large mixing bowl or large kettle (about 5 quarts). Mix in whole eggs, egg yolk, salt, lemon zest, orange zest, and 1 cup of flour. Add risen yeast sponge and beat more flour in with a wooden spoon. Blend in ground almonds. Continue beating, gradually adding more flour until dough is firm and cannot be beaten any longer with a wooden spoon. Beat with hand until about $10-11$ cups of flour in all have been added, and dough becomes very smooth, elastic, and shiny.

Transfer dough to a floured board and knead in more flour, if necessary (since some flour absorbs more liquid than others), to obtain a rather firm dough; knead until dough is smooth and elastic.

Gradually work in rum-soaked raisins and currants alternately with $3 / 4$ of the almonds and walnuts until evenly blended without overworking the dough.

Return dough to the mixing bowl to rise. (Or divide dough and put in 2 bowls to shorten rising time.) Cover with a towel and allow to rise in a warm, draft-free place until it at least doubles in size. Punch down with fist and fold risen dough over, working in remaining nuts. Cover and allow to rest 30-45 minutes.

Preheat oven to $400^{\circ}$. If dough has risen in 1 bowl, divide in half. Put $1 / 2$ on pastry board, and divide into 6 parts, 3 large and 3 medium pieces of even sizes. Form each large piece into a roll about 15 inches long and $1 \frac{1}{2}$ inches thick. Braid the 3 rolls (it is easier to begin at the center and braid to one end, then repeat to the other end). Pinch ends together securely.

Dust 2 10-by-16-by-2-inch baking pans generously and evenly with flour. Transfer large braid to pan. Form the 3 medium-size pieces into rolls about 14 inches long and 1 inch thick. Braid. Brush large braid with egg, then place smaller braid on top. Cover with a towel and leave to rise until it not quite doubles in size. Proceed in the same way with remaining half of dough to form another loaf. Brush tops with remaining beaten egg.

Bake in a $400^{\circ}$ oven for 10 minutes, then lower heat to $350^{\circ}$, and bake for $35-45 \mathrm{~min}$ utes longer, until brown and toothpick inserted in center comes out dry.

Cool on baking pans for $6-8$ hours or overnight. Cover well with plastic wrap and store in a dry, cool place. Slice and sprinkle generously with confectioners sugar before serving. Makes 2-6 loaves, depending on size. note: A medium and a small loaf can be baked on the same pan, but be sure to leave ample space between the loaves.

COOKIES

Hussar ITounds  (Husaren Krapferl)

Can be baked 2-3 weeks in advance.
1 cup ( 2 bars) unsalted butter, soft
$1 / 2$ cup sugar (generous)
Grated zest of 1 lemon
1 inch vanilla bean or $1 / 2$ teaspoon vanilla extract
3 egg yolks
$3-31 / 4$ cups flour
1 egg white
3 tablespoons coarsely chopped blanched almonds
2 tablespoons apricot jam
Confectioners sugar
Preheat oven to $350^{\circ}$.
Cream butter and sugar until smooth. Add lemon zest and seeds scraped from vanilla bean or vanilla extract. Mix in egg yolks and spoonfuls of flour alternately. Work in remaining flour until dough is firm.

Between the palms of your hands, roll small pieces of dough into balls about 1 inch in diameter. Put cookies on an 11-by-17-inch baking pan or cookie sheet, leaving space between cookies. Make a small indentation in the center of each cookie with your finger. Brush edges lightly with beaten egg white and top with chopped almonds (place almonds in a pointed paper cup or cone of wax paper, cut tip off, and let almonds pour through). Bake for 20-25 minutes, until lightly colored.

When cool, place a dab of apricot jam in the centers, and dust with confectioners sugar. Makes 4-4 $1 / 2$ dozen cookies. note: These cookies keep extremely well, especially if left plain without almonds and jam. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar shortly before serving or giving.

Salton Hotray  enablesawomanto do an unheard of thing at mealtime. Sitdown.

Every day at mealtime the American woman becomes a ping pong ball.

Bouncing back and forth between the kitchen and the dining room with remarkable speed.

Well, we think a woman shouldn't act like a waitress unless she's paid to be one.

So we recommend every home have a Salton Hotray electric food warmer.

It keeps fresh cooked food in a state of suspended animation for hours. Tasting exactly as it does when it comes out of the oven or off the stove.

A woman need simply place her dinner on a Hotray food warmer near or on the dinner table. And serve her entire meal. Without ever leaving the table.

And while no woman can afford to be without a Hotray food warmer, any woman can afford to buy one. They're priced anywhere from $$ 6.95$ to $$ 54.50$.

Vanilla Crescents

(Vanille Kipferln)
Can be baked $4-6$ weeks in advance. Will keep for weeks stored i airtight container.

2 cups flour
$1 / 4$ cup sugar (generous)
$13 / 4$ cups finely ground blanched almonds

14 tablespoons unsalted butter $11 / 2-2$ inches vanilla bean
$11 / 2-2$ cups confectioners sugar

Mix flour, sugar, and ground almonds on a pastry board or pastr cloth. Cut in butter. Knead ingredients together quickly, firs with the fingers, then with hands. When well combined, shap dough into a smooth ball. Wrap in wax paper and refrigerate a least 1 hour.

Preheat oven to $350^{\circ}$. Roll $3 / 4-1$ teaspoon dough between the palms of your hands into rolls about $21 / 2$ inches long, tapering of at both ends, and shape into crescents. Place crescents on an 11 by-17-inch baking pan, leaving small spaces between them. Bakg for $15-20$ minutes, until lightly colored.

While crescents are baking, split vanilla bean open length wise. Scrape out the black seeds. Blend these well with confec tioners sugar on a sheet of wax paper. (If vanilla bean is not available, use $2-3$ tablespoons concentrated vanilla sugar and combine with confectioners sugar.)

When crescents are slightly cooled, gently place several in the prepared sugar. Coat them with it and transfer to a plate. When completely cool, store crescents in an airtight container. Makes about 50-60.

Filled Walmut Slices

(Walnuss Scheibchen Gefüllt)
Can be baked 1.2 weeks in advance.

1-1 $1 / 4$ cups flour
$1 / 4$ cup sugar
Grated zest of 1 lemon
4 tablespoons unsalted butter, cold
1 egg
Combine flour, sugar, and lemon zest on a pastry board. Make a well in the center, cut butter into it, and add egg. Cover with ground walnuts. Quickly combine ingredients and knead into a smooth dough, first with a table knife, then by hand. Form dough into a ball, wrap in wax paper, and refrigerate for about $1 / 2$ hour.

Preheat oven to $350^{\circ}$. Divide dough in half. Roll each part between 2 sheets of wax paper until it is about $1 / 8$ inch thick. Cut out with a 2 -by- $31 / 4$-inch or smaller cookie cutter. Place slices close together on baking pan. Combine scraps, roll, and cut out. Bake 10-15 minutes, until lightly colored.

When completely cool, apply filling: Spread Walnut Orange Filling between 2 slices and sandwich together. Lightly brush a walnut half or quarter with egg white and place in center of each slice. Slices can also be served singly. Makes about 12 filled slices.

Walnut Orange Filling

1/2 cup milk
$1 / 4-1 / 3$ cup sugar
$11 / 2$ cups finely ground walnuts
$1 / 2$ teaspoon vanilla extract or
$13 / 4$ cups finely ground walnuts
W alnut Orange Filling
(see recipe below)
12 walnut halves or quarters 1 egg white

Bring milk and sugar to a boil. Add ground walnuts, stir, then remove from heat. Blend in vanilla extract or seeds scraped from bean, orange peel, and rum. Cool thoroughly before using.

Chocolate Butter Cookies

(Schokoladen Butter Keks)
Can be prepared 2-3 weeks in advance. Single cookies make good Christmas tree decorations.

2 cups flour

4 tablespoons sugar
10 tablespoons unsalted butter, cold
1 egg, separated
2 squares ( 2 ounces) semisweet chocolate, grated
1 tablespoon milk
2-3 tablespoons coarsely chopped blanched almonds
Raspberry or raspberry-currant jam
Combine flour and sugar on pastry board. Make a well in center and cut butter into it. Add egg yolk. Cover with grated chocolate and combine. Work quickly, first with fingertips, then kneading with hands to make a smooth dough. If dough seems too dry, add milk gradually. Form into a ball, wrap in wax paper, and refrigerate for 30 minutes.

Preheat oven to $325^{\circ}$. Divide dough into 2 or 3 parts and roll each part between 2 pieces of wax paper until it is about $1 / 8$ inch thick. Cut dough out with a plain or fluted round cookie cutter, $21 / 2$ inches in diameter, as close to each other as possible. Put on an 11-by-17-inch cookie sheet. Combine scraps, roll, and cut out. Brush half the cookies with egg white and sprinkle centers with chopped almonds. Leave the others plain. (If using only single cookies, brush all cookies with egg white and decorate each one with almonds.) Bake about 15 minutes, until firm and puffy.

Store in an airtight container and shortly before serving or giving, spread plain cookies with jam and sandwich with garnished ones. Makes about 30 filled cookies.

Egg White Almond Drops (Engländer)

Can be baked $1-2$ weeks in advance.
4 egg whites
$11 / 2$ cups confectioners sugar
$11 / 4$ cups blanched thinly slivered almonds Butter, flour

Preheat oven to $275^{\circ}$.

Mix egg whites and sugar in top of double boiler until smooth. Whisk or beat over moderate heat until thick and sticky. Blend in almonds.

Generously butter and lightly flour a 10 -by-16-inch baking pan. Drop full teaspoons of the mixture in the pan, leaving 1 -inch spaces between cookies. Form high mounds with the help of a second spoon.

Bake for about 30 minutes, until lightly golden. The almond drops will be soft when taken from the oven, and will harden as they cool. Remove from pan when slightly cool. Makes 16-18.

Cureforcolds.

Cold meat, cold potatoes, cold plates. And cold stares from your guests. Cure them all with Tappan Gallery, the electric range with a built-in warming shelf. It keeps everything hot

Almond Sugar Pretzels

(Mandel Zucker Bretzeln)
Can be baked 2.3 weeks in advance, and keep very well stored in an airtight container.

1 cup flour

6 tablespoons unsalted butter, cold
Grated zest of 1 lemon
$1 / 4$ cup sugar (scant)
$3 / 4$ cup finely ground blanched almonds
1 egg, separated
White or colored crystal (harlequin) sugar
Put flour on pastry board and cut butter into it with a knife. Crumble between your fingers into coarse pieces. Add lemon zest, sugar, ground almonds, and egg yolk. Blend well and quickly knead into a smooth dough. Form into a ball, wrap in wax paper, and refrigerate for a short time.

Divide dough and keep half refrigerated. Roll other half between your hands or on pastry board into a short roll $1 \frac{1}{2}$ inches thick. Cut into $1 / 2$-inch slices. Lightly roll each piece into a rope about 9 inches long and $1 / 4$ inch thick, tapering off slightly at each end. Make pretzel shape by lifting both ends of rope and making them cross in the center. Press ends lightly against top of rope. Carefully transfer to an 11-by-17-inch baking pan. Preheat oven to $350^{\circ}$. Repeat all steps with refrigerated dough. Lightly beat egg white and brush each pretzel. Sprinkle with crystal sugar. Bake about 20 minutes, until lightly colored. Remove from baking pan when cool. Makes 20.

Ginger Cookies

(Ingwer Bäckerei)
Can be baked about 4 weeks in advance.

2 whole eggs

1 egg yolk
1 cup sugar
Grated zest of 1 lemon

1-1 $1 / 2$ tablespoons ground ginger $21 / 2-23 / 4$ cups flour Butter

Mix whole eggs, egg yolk, and sugar until light and foamy. Add lemon zest, ginger, and enough flour so that dough holds together. Cover with a towel and refrigerate.

When dough is firm but still pliable, divide into 3 or 4 parts. Work with 1 part and keep the others refrigerated. Roll out dough on a lightly floured pastry board with a floured rolling pin until it is about $1 / 8$ inch thick. Cut out with a cookie cutter of any shape: Santa Clauses, stars, trees, etc. Lightly butter an 11-by-17. inch baking pan and place cookies on it close together. Dry for about 1 hour. Preheat oven to $325^{\circ}$.

Bake for $12-15$ minutes or until lightly colored. Remove from baking pan. Makes $4-5$ dozen cookies.

SWEET BITS

Can be prepared 2-3 weeks in advance.

Marzipan

$31 / 2$ cups blanched almonds, finely ground
$11 / 2$ cups confectioners sugar $11 / 2-2$ egg whites

Combine ground almonds and sugar on a pastry board until well blended. Make a well in the center and add egg whites. Work into a smooth consistency that does not stick to board and hands, working first with a knife or spatula, then by hand. If too dry, add more egg white. Paste should be moist enough to be pliable so it can be formed into any desired shapes, such as potatoes or fruits. Keep paste covered with a bowl while shaping as it dries out easily.

Blend apricot butter with rum or lemon juice.
Form a deep pocket in prune with finger. Put a small amount of stuffing in pocket, using a demitasse spoon. Put a quartered walnut on top of stuffing. Coat prune with ground nuts, if desired.

Put in white paper candy cups and cover well with plastic wrap. They need no refrigeration if kept in a cool place.

Walmut Balls

(Walnuss Kugeln)
$11 / 2$ cups finely ground walnuts 2 tablespoons cognac or dark rum $1 / 2^{-2 / 3}$ cup verifine sugar Confectioners sugar 1 egg yolk Unsweetened cocoa

Combine ground walnuts and sugar. Put egg yolk in a separate bowl, add half the walnut mixture, and fold together. Gradually work in remaining walnut mixture, alternately with cognac or rum. Blend well. Allow paste to rest for a short while to mellow.

Dust hands lightly with confectioners sugar. Roll a spoonful of the mixture between the palms of your hands into a ball. Let balls dry for about 1 hour. Put cocoa on wax paper and roll balls in it to coat. Place in paper candy cups. Makes 18.

Caramel Walnut Medallions

(Karamel Walnuss Medaillon)

About 16 walnut halves or 32 quarters

3/4 cup sugar
$1 / 2$ teaspoon unsalted butter

Arrange walnut halves or 2 quarters placed together to form a half in a baking pan or fireproof ovenware, leaving $1 \frac{1}{2}$-inch spaces between them. Put sugar in a small saucepan over low heat. Stir continuously. When liquid turns golden and sugar lumps have gone, add butter and stir. Spread caramel very quickly and evenly over bottom of pan with nuts, tilting pan slightly.

When slightly cooled, quickly mark in rounds around embedded walnut with a $11 / 2$-inch cookie cutter. When completely cool and hard, cut out marked rounds once more and lift from the pan. Makes about 16.

Filled Rum Balls

(Gefüllte Rum Kugeln)

| $11 / 2$ cups finely ground almonds | $11 / 2$ teaspoons unsalted butter, |
| :--- | :--- |
| $1 / 4$ cup verifine sugar | soft |
| (generous) | $1-2$ tablespoons confectioners |
| 4 squares (4 ounces) | sugar |
| semisweet chocolate, grated | $1 / 2$ inch vanilla bean (optional) |
| $1-2$ tablespoons dark rum | 1 teaspoon dark rum |
| 2 egg whites | $2-3$ tablespoons apricot butter |
| 1 hard-cooked egg yolk | Confectioners sugar |
|  | Chocolate sprinkles |

Combine almonds, sugar, and chocolate in a bowl. Add rum, then gradually 1 egg white, and knead ingredients until well blended. Allow to rest in a cool place while preparing filling. Make the filling: Put egg yolk through a food mill or sieve to mash. Mix butter and sugar until well blended. Add mashed egg yolk, seeds scraped from vanilla bean, and rum, and cream together. Combine thoroughly with apricot butter.

Divide chocolate mixture in half. Roll out chocolate mixture between 2 pieces of wax paper, which have been dusted with confectioners sugar, with a rolling pin until it is about $1 / 8$ inch thick. Cut into $1-11 / 2$ inch squares. Put a dab of filling into center of each square. Fold corners over filling with a table knife and roll between palms of your hands into small balls (keep hands cool).

Brush lightly with the remaining egg white and roll the balls in chocolate sprinkles. Put in paper candy cups. Store covered in cool place; if kept longer than I week, refrigerate. Makes 36-40.

Bringing an evergreen into the house in winter is an ancient custom. Joyfully in leaf when all else seems drab and lifeless, the evergreen is a natural symbol of hope and of life's renewal. There are many ways to decorate a tree at Christmas -see the glorious parade of trees starting on page 40 . But if the idea of greenness and growth, of the tree of life behind the symbol, tempts you to go one step farther, you might consider an evergreen you can decorate for the holidays, and enjoy for years to come-a living Christmas tree.

A tubbed evergreen can go outdoors after Christmas to live on a terrace. Or decorate a houseplant with airy orna-ments-a plant like a Norfolk pine, a bonsai, a citrus, or an evergreen of the holly persuasion like ardisia. Choose a balled-and-burlapped tree destined for your garden, to be planted by itself or in a "Christmas grove" added to every year. With like-minded neighbors, invest in a living tree to give to a park or schoolyard. Some cities have municipal bonfires to get rid of cut trees at New Year's Eve. Why not a winter Arbor Day instead?

If you choose a living tree, it must tolerate indoor heat (the fewer days indoors the better). Hemlock drops its needles indoors. It must also thrive in your climate. In a sooty city, a tubbed black pine or Douglas fir, even a Scotch pine, will prove less finicky than most other evergreens. Some trees that are excellent for cutting and shipping, like the popular balsam fir, need the north woods to grow in. For a garden tree, you might make an unconventional choice-a small dark yew or a columnar red cedar to start near a doorway, or a Colorado blue spruce. In the case of Austrian and Scotch pines, make sure they are nursery grown, with good fiber roots for still another transplanting. 'Tis the season to be chary, and the best plan is to shop early and tag a good tree at a good nursery for delivery later.

Look at the size of the earth ball. You'll want to dig an ample hole while you can still use a shovel instead of a pick. Mulch the hole and side heap with leaves, peat moss or hay to prevent freezing. Use the size of the earth ball, too, as a guideline for picking a container and possibly for picking your tree-trimming companions (a 5 -foot tree with a half barrel of soil can weigh 150 pounds). Try a galvanized washtub, or if you lack one big enough, protect the floor with foil or plastic and plumb the tree with bricks or blocks of wood. Water the tree every three days.

On your winter Arbor Day, hope for mild weather. If bad weather prevails, move the tree outdoors anyway and prop it against a wall out of the wind. Mulch the ball and don't let it dry out. As soon as possible, plant firmly with peat moss and unfrozen garden loam. Water but do not fertilize. How long you can keep balled and burlapped trees unplanted is anybody's guess. Most trees can be kept waiting a week or so-and some people have been lucky enough to save a tree not planted until an April thaw. With care at planting time and extra care through the first spring and summer, your Christmas tree should stay green and growing.

great HOUSE GIFTS with a personal touch

Everyone has special interests, and a present that shows concern and awareness of these interests is a most personal, thoughtful gift. For collectors of birds and animals: Especially welcome to the Audubon set are limited edition plates with bird pictures on them, such as a woodcock and ruffed grouse by wildlife artist James Lockhart, on a gold and green background. By Pickard, $$ 150$ the pair at Garfinckel's . . or Royal Worcester's porcelain bird sculptures by Dorothy Doughty-the perky little "Redstart Hen on Gorse in Spring" is a $73 / 4$-inch charmer. $$ 1900$ at Bullock's. . . Animal fanciers should flip over the solid bronze polar bear, 13 inches long, or the white-tusked elephant, 10 inches long, each $$ 250$ at Belgravia House. For the cook: The chef who likes her pots handy and enjoys displaying them will love the straight, wrought-iron rack at Bazaar de la Cuisine. It can be attached either to wall or ceiling and you can have it custom-made to any length you wish. One 4 feet long, $$ 15$ plus 25 c for each hook. . . . For the hostess: A luscious cheese deserves an equally luscious cheese plate. Baccarat has one of shimmering crystal with a fluted cover. 9 inches in diameter, 6 inches high, and $$ 160 \ldots$. . The sparkle of champagne is heightened by the sparkle of a mirrored cooler to hold it. This cachepot, on another occasion, can be filled with flowers. 9 inches high, $$ 15$ at Reflectibles. . . . No color can sometimes be just the right color on a table setting. For this happy change of pace, Tiffany has clear glass plates with rocky cut-glass borders. 10 -inch dinner plate, $$ 7.50$; 7 -inch salad plate, $$ 4 \ldots$ To give everyone his just desserts, Royal Worcester's lovely porcelain pots de crème with fruit designs on them. To present them, a tray decorated with peach-laden branches. $$ 27.50$ for six pots de crème; $$ 11.50$ for the $111 / 2$-inch tray, at Altman's. For the discriminating puzzle fan: If you have a puzzlehound friend who is also an art buff, you can let him blow his cool over the sleek metal, 6 -inch-high torso sculpture, "Le Mini David" that comes apart in twenty-three pieces to be reassembled (there's a diagram for the easily discouraged to follow). $$ 125$ at Bonniers. For the house-proud: Artist Muriel King will paint a beautiful likeness of a favorite room or garden, complete down to the minutest detail-something to treasure always-for about $$ 2500$. For the gardener, indoors and out: Any window-box Burbank (or budding Julia Child) will delight in a set of eight packets of herb seeds, with planting chart. $$ 1.50$ at Capriland. . . . To keep flowers and plants always just moist enough: the Haws standard Watering Can-a copper waterer from England with two nozzles, one regular, one fine. $$ 15$ at Wayside Gardens. . . And for the motor-happy men of the house, Jacobsen's snappy, red, 7-horsepower tractor with three attachments-it mows, tows, or throws (snow that is). $$ 1040$ at Ronconi.

great  HOUSE GIFTS for last-minute giving

There are always some presents you have to buy at the last minute and they can be just as imaginative and just as thoughtful as the ones you've pondered over for months. For flower and nature lovers: You can order rare orchids from Rod McLellan, one delivered each month of the year, each one different. $$ 90$ for the twelve. . . . Or you can give the rose fancier six old-fashioned rose bushes, each producing bounteous blossoms for years. $$ 18$ at Tillotson's Roses.

For a civic-minded friend, you might give a gift of a tree in her name, to be planted where her community needs it. For approximately $$ 150$, you can have your local nursery do the planting-a London plane tree, perhaps, or a ginkgo or a honey locust. For the avid stitcher: Erica Wilson has a home-correspondence course in crewelwork. The student receives a complete kit with wool, designs, instructions and her finished work is submitted to Miss Wilson for thorough criticism. Course I, $45. For nostalgia seekers: A delectable cook book Maryland's W ay is carried by the Hammond-Harwood House in Annapolis. For $$ 6.30$ you get such mouthwatering old-time recipes as South River Club Crab Soup or Priscilla's Cottage Pudding. All recipes are collected from generations-old notebooks. . . . Anyone who likes to sew and is intrigued with days-gone-by will love to make the old-fashioned sampler that is embroidered with a rainbow of thirtyeight different yarns on an Irish linen background and can be obtained from the historic restoration in Portsmouth, N. H. called Strawbery Banke. Just ask for kit no. 5 and enclose $$ 5$. For oenologist and gourmet: A bottle is always welcome, especially a fine red burgundy: a 1959 Chambolle-Musigny, $11.50; a 1921 Chambolle-Musigny Les Amoureuses, $$ 24.65$. Both are from Dr. Albert Barolet's collection of rare wines at Sherry-Lehmann. . . . Another quick gift-a basket of delicious cocktail snacks, $$ 25$ from Zabar's, brimming with cheeses, crackers, nibbles, spreads, and other lip-smackers. For the literati: A happy present for a bibliophile is a rare copy of one of his favorite books beautifully bound. A copy of Don Quixote, for instance, illustrated with aquatints and bound in lush brown calf with gilt borders is $$ 250$ at J. M. Bartfield. For the dog owner with everything else: Jim Buck's Dog School and Walking Service (sounds like the title of a rock song) in New York will give a two-hour walk to any dog plus a "play period," daily from Monday through Friday for $$ 21$ a week (on weekends you're on your own). In other cities you can probably avail yourself of similar services (check your local Yellow Pages). And, finally, for nearsighted calendar watchers or for anyone who wants to start the new year in a big way: a 30 -by- 40 -inch whopper of a 1971 calendar, each sheet a different eye-exploding color, each with a different type face. All this for $$ 20$ at Henri Bendel.

COIKKSCREW

Christmas presents made with great spirits

Wines and spirits on their own make fine traditional gifts, but how exciting to use them in concocting delicious new drinks, appetizers, relishes, desserts, or cheeses. Here are some marvelous, easy-to-make ideas from wine and food buffs who have a reputation for giving delicious gifts.

APÉRITIFS AND LIQUEURS

An apéritif or liqueur you've made yourself makes a very personal gift. A delightful raspberry shaded vodka, prettily decanted is one of designer Ken Scott's favorite gifts. The recipe, from the Begum of Hyderabad, calls for 1 quart of red raspberries or sour cherries to be steeped in 1 quart vodka for a week. Strain and pour back the vodka into a bottle or a decanter. Serve over ice or with soda.

Another white spirit washed with color, strawberries and tequila, is a specialty of oenologist Philip Brown. Wash and split ripe strawberries and place in a screw-top jar. Cover with tequila. Store for 2 weeks. Strain and discard berries. Serve as a liqueur. For attractive Christmas presents, Mr. Brown decants into hand-blown Mexican bottles.

SHRUB is a rum liqueur made by author Elisabeth Ortiz.
4 Seville oranges (from tropical markets or 1 cup water specialty stores) 1 quart dark, dry island rum 4 ounces granulated sugar
With a vegetable peeler, remove the skins from the oranges as thinly as possible. Boil the sugar and water until the sugar is dissolved. Pour out a little of the rum to make room for the syrup and orange peel. Recork the rum and leave for two weeks. Strain and rebottle, perhaps in attractive, corked earthenware bottles.
rompope is a traditional Mexican drink. Cook book author Elena Zelayeta makes this drink of her native country and pours it into robust glazed pottery jugs to give to friends.

Put vanilla bean and sugar in milk and slowly bring to a boil. Beat egg yolks until thick and light, add the cold milk, then gradually beat this into the milk mixture with a wooden spoon and cook slowly until liquid thickens and coats spoon. Cool and add rum ("Let your conscience be your guide," says Mrs. Zelayeta, but she uses about $3 / 4$ cup). Cover with foil or wax paper. Keeps indefinitely refrigerated. Yield: $11 / 2$ quarts.

COCKTAIL GARNISHES

A very special little something to pep up a cocktail makes a small, witty gift. A super gift for an Old-Fashioned fancier, brandied oranges is prepared by writer Patricia Brooks. Choose great big oranges, cut them into $1 / 2$-inch slices, leaving the skin on. Add $3 / 4$ as much sugar as the weight of the oranges, cover with water, and cook very slowly until the sugar syrup is thick. Cool and add brandy to taste. Pour into a sterilized jar-the wide-mouthed French ones are both attractive and practical-and add a few maraschino cherries.

An unusual present for the martini aficionado comes from Philadelphia cooking expert Julie Dannenbaum: Drain a jar of unstuffed olives and crush them lightly. Pop them into an attractive jar and fill with dry vermouth. One of these olives in a glass of gin makes vermouth redundant. If you make them about the first of December, the olives will have absorbed the vermouth by Christmas. As a gift they'd look nice packed into an old-fashioned crystal powder bowl withlid.

Or you might try a sudanese preprandial nibble. Maurice Moore-Betty, who runs a cooking school in Manhattan, takes pretty bottles or screw-top jars, fills them with fresh, unsugared dates, and adds gin to cover. Left six weeks, the dates will absorb the gin and puff up prettily.

FIREITS IN SPIRITS OIR WINE

There are some quite delicious gifts to be made from the liaison of fruits with wines and spirits. RUM FRUITS (peaches, apricots, plums, strawberries, cherries, nectarines steeped in golden rum and sugar) as prepared by Mrs. Ortiz make splendid presents. Select ripe but firm fruits and pack lightly into a wide-mouthed crock, about $3 / 4$ full. For each pound of fruit, add 2 cups of rum and 4 ounces of sugar, making sure the fruit is completely covered by rum. Cover lightly and leave at least two months before using. Keeps indefinitely and fruit can be added from time to time. The fruits may be used as a dessert with ice cream or pound cake; the rum as a sauce with fruits, served over ice cream, or strained as a liqueur.
mandarin oranges in cognac with a little sugar added are poured into apothecary jars by Count and Countess Gerald de Geoffre, who have just launched their Hennessy Bras D'Or in the United States.

To make pears in sauterne or peaches iv red burgundy, Mrs. Otto Meyer, wife of the president of Paul Masson Vineyards, steeps stewed, sweetened, and drained fruit in the wine to cover and then puts 2 quarts of this nectar in a winecarrying basket-a handsome gift.

A delectable sauce or dessert, chestnuts in cognac, is prepared by Philip Brown by cooking 1 pound chestnuts in a simple syrup ( 2 cups sugar to $11 / 2$ cups water) until tender and the syrup has taken on color. Cool it and add 1 cup cognac. Give in screw-top jars or pickle jars.

flavoringes

Good cooks adore gifts for the kitchen, and these lovely flavorings will be highly prized by any cooking buff.

A decorative bottle or decanter of cognac flavored with vanilla beans is one of master cook James Beard's favorite presents. He steeps 6 beans in 1 pint of cognac, advises friends to replenish with cognac or beans as necessary and use the fragrant cognac for anything requiring vanilla flavoring.

William Massee puts fresh ginger root into screw-top jars, covers with a medium sherry, such as an amontillado, closes tightly. Ginger keeps indefinitely this way.

An extra-special present is truffles in cognac. Writer José Wilson preserves them this way: Strain liquid from small can of black truffles. Place truffles in small jar and cover with cognac. (The cognac can be drawn off and used for flaming, adding tang to sauces.) Replenish cognac as it is used up.
marinated mushrooms, favorite gifts of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Meyer, are luscious added to soups and sauces. Take 2 ounces from a bottle of Madeira. Soak 1 ounce of dried mushrooms (Polish if possible, or Oriental) in warm water just long enough to loosen the dirt. Wash, drain, and dice the mushrooms; add to Madeira. Bottle prettily and recork.

RELISHES, MAYONNAISE, AND MUSTARI
Here are some new recipes for original and traditional gifts:
Bottled in a sherry shaker, PEPPER SHERRY is a treat for friends of George Christy, author of "The Los Angeles Underground Gourmet." Fill the shaker with $3 / 4$ cup California dry sherry (Mr. Christy says Almadén works very well). Slide several dry or fresh red pepper pods into this and let stand for three or four days. Mr. Christy suggests adding a couple of spicy drops to turtle soup, black bean soup, or consommé.
sherry jelly, presented in sherry glasses is a favorite idea of Mrs. Bernard Gurevitz: Mix 4 cups very dry sherry with 6 cups granulated sugar in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat and with wooden spoon stir in 1 bottle Certo fruit pectin. Pour into glasses. Cover with $1 / 8$ inch hot paraffin. Press Christmas stars into paraffin.

Presented in a covered lacquer soup bowl, cognac mayonnaise, the New York Times food editor Craig Claiborne's own creation, makes a mouth-watering gift. Blend $3 / 4$ cup homemade mayonnaise with I teaspoon tomato purée and I teaspoon cognac. Serve it with cold shrimp.

A hot mustard in a pot-de-crème is another Patricia Brooks specialty. Mix dry mustard with a touch of turmeric, a drop of water, and add stale beer to make a paste.

SWEET AND SAVORY

These very special jams, butter, and cheeses make surefire seasonal gifts. Kirsch and almond extract added to a good commercial apricot preserve make a ZIPPED-UP APRICOT JAM. Photographer Ernst Beadle scouts antique shops for old china jars, sugar bowls, fills them with jam for friends.
cumberland rum butter is a county specialty in Cumberland, England. Here is how native José Wilson prepares it. Cream $1 / 2$ cup unsalted butter and beat in 1 cup light brown sifted sugar until creamy. Mix in 1-2 ounces dark Jamaica rum and $1 / 8$ teaspoon nutmeg. Makes $3 / 4$ cup. Keep refrigerated. Serve as hard sauce or spread. Miss Wilson packs the butter into tiny souffé dishes or little earthenware crocks.

Presented on a handsome wooden cheese board, a RICH dessert cheese is one of Philip Brown's hostess gifts. Scrape the skin off Camembert and marinate in white Burgundy to cover for 24 hours. Drain cheese and mash with an equal amount of soft butter. Shape into rounds and roll in chopped almonds.

corn. A few nights before, I let them open some small present, say colored rubber bands. We put up the crèche last, which we place and they may pick up anytime they want. I don't want anything untouchable around at Christmas."

Fredericka's children are older, thirteen, fourteen, and sixteen, and "now I love Christmas," she says. "When they were younger I would have done anything to join that partridge in the pear tree. I just couldn't get organized, but now they're organized. And that keeps $m y$ spirits up.
"They choose the tree, decorate, and what's more when it's time they take it down and put everything away. The week after Christmas we all go to a play together, or get together a group, all ages, for sledding in the park or ice skating on a friend's country pond where there's always a Christmas tree in the middle."

According to Irene, who who lives in an old stone house in the country and whose children are grown, "Christmas here isn't that much different from the city now that distances are becoming closer . . . except maybe it's easier to have guinea hen for breakfast. Friends who live in an apartment always invite us in and we all go to Handel's Messiah together. They in turn come sit by our fires, which we keep going all holiday long. They sing their carols on steps with recorders while here friends often come by caroling on horseback."

Then there are other magic wands that light Christmas holidays on an island. "We feel 'we are alone together,'" said June, "and so we try to plan more family gatherings with other families. Making cookies in a group one day, caroling as strolling minstrels with the children playing their guitars, looking forward to the 'bird count' that the Audubon Society has every year between Christmas and the first of the new year.
"Before Christmas, I give the children an empty scrapbook and all the things they bring home during the year they don't know I've kept . . . maybe an especially good paper from school, a striped straw from a marvelous party. And together we give a lot of thought to where we're going to plant our living Christmas tree. Indoors I give each child a temporary, but logical spot where they can make those plastic flowers or whatever they receive. And, always, I keep a pot of spices, cloves and cinnamon mostly, simmering on the stove, for all those wonderful holiday smells."

All agreed, but Mary who lives in a suburb said it most positively, "No family is sufficient unto itself. And so for the last ten years we have had a seated dinner for seventy-two on New Year's Eve. We invite the couples for their children, and our children love it. The thought of the party keeps us all going.
"I do get in help for the food and drink, but the children set up the tables, decorate them -usually something I get on sale, such as silver paper with nylon lace covers and Mexican tin candlesticks. And our 17 -year-old daughter does the place cards. Each adult is placed between a child, not his own unless the child has to be fed, and an adult. The children's ages range from 18 months to 21 years. We try to have special food, smoked salmon and such, but thank heavens James the First gave up boar's head and tried turkey. It makes it simpler for me."

After all the planning it takes to keep your family in good spirits over the holiday, sometimes it turns out to be the medical student from Pakistan that you asked at the last moment for dinner that makes a certain Christmas most joyful. Those are the surprises, the gifts of Christmas. Rejoice.

Lifetime guarantee.

There aren't many guarantees in life, but here's one that's ironclad. We'll guarantee there's a lifetime of pleasure in playing the piano.
There's a challenge to it. An intellectual, artistic, even a physical challenge that never dims. Whether you are a child seeking a set of values to live with or an adult simply looking for relief from the prosaic demands of living, that kind of challenge is vital. Naturally we hope you buy a Yamaha piano. They are among the finest, richest sounding, most responsive in the world.
But we'd rather you buy another brand of piano than no pianoatall.

to likeness, the artist may liberate his unconscious to express itself in the manipulation of his medium. His fingers are free to be wiser than his mind. The actual quality of the paint on the head of Rembrandt's "Woman with a Pink" gives us the same feeling of rapture as a lyrical passage in Shakespeare, which depends equally on its matière, the sensuous quality of words.

To return to my three sources of art: The prehistoric wall paintings of animals introduce another element, the communication of energy. They are concerned with movement, and were the work of people who were themselves in movement. The original centers of civilization were, or wished to be, static. They were the cultures of the overflowing rivers, the Nile, the Euphrates, the Indus, the Hwang Ho. They were, literally, stick-in-the-mud cultures that aimed above all at avoiding change, and in Egypt achieved this aim for about 3000 years. These cultures produced what we call monumental art. But beyond their frontiers was the vast, seething cauldron of the wandering peoples, turbulent, aggressive, and liable at any moment to boil over across the Urals, across the Caucasus, across the Danube, or across the Great Wall of China. They brought with them the portable arts of the weavers and the smith in works of magical intensity and coiled up energy. Like the prehistoric wall painters they thought of movement in terms of animals, only the animals had long ago changed from snapshots to hieroglyphs and movement was conveyed by flow of line. The wandering people were hostile to settled societies. Tartars, Mongols, Lombards, Visigoths, Norsemen, they came down like wolves on the passive sheep who for so long have symbolized the congregation of the just (although in fact we keep them in order that we may eat them). But they were not wholly destructive, because their powerful rhythms revitalized a wornout naturalism. The most obvious example is the style that we call Romanesque, in which the exhausted remnants of antique art are revived by both northern and Islamic energy. A more mysterious interaction of nomadic and established styles had taken place two thousand years earlier in the ritual bronzes of Shang, China, whose monumental forms are covered with symbols of movementclouds, birds, and fabulous monsters of terrifying vitality.

With these awe-inspiring objects we reach the third of my original impulses, the need to decorate surfaces with patterns that should express some belief in the magical power of the elements. The decorated pots of Egypt or Mesopotamia convey a sense of order through geometry and repetition. The bronze vessels of early China combine symbolism, magic, and vitality in a way that makes them almost unique among the decorated surfaces of the world's art, although certain Central American reliefs have a curiously similar effect. In the spectrum of art, this is the opposite end to Egyptian and early Greek.

As Hellenistic art declined, the art of decorated surfaces took its place. The Judaic prohibition of images was adopted (like so much else in Judaism) by Mahomet, but Islam only gave the force of arms to a fait accompli. Aniconic art had been in the ascendant for over a century. The Church of the Holy Wisdom in Constantinople originally contained no representation of living things, but abstract designs of consummate beauty. In Islamic art, the image was replaced by the word, and the Cufic script became one of the supreme motifs of decoration. For 800 years this style spread over an area far greater than that of the Roman Empire, and like the Hellenistic style before it, it changed remarkably little in time or place. It even gained a more exhilarating invention of abstract design and a more sensuous beauty. Among the less orthodox Persians it admitted illustrations of enchanting delicacy, which create a world as polite as fifteenth-century Burgundy, but remain in the area of surface decoration. In the Metropolitan's exhibition, for almost the first time, the decorative arts will appear on a level with the arts of imitation and ideated movement.

To think of any human activity in terms of its origins is a useful beginning, but at a certain point this line of thought must be abandoned if it is not to become a limitation. In art we reach this point when the relationship of objects or figures to each other becomes more important than the form of the objects themselves. This was seldom true of ancient Egypt or Assyria, but when one comes to the three seated figures of the Parthenon gable, one is aware of a complex interplay of forms. The overworked phrase "it adds a new dimension" is literally true; only in Greek art the new dimension was curiously shallow. No one has ever explained satisfactorily why the Greeks did not compose in depth; perhaps it was because their temples had no significant interiors. At all events, it was after the long acceptance of the Gothic nave that fifteenth-century Florentines developed the system known as perspective, by which figures in space could be shown in measurable relationship to one another. From the point of view of realism, strict perspective is positively a nuisance, but it perfectly expressed the philosophy of the time. When the enclosed world of early humanism was shattered by Luther and Copernicus, a new feeling for spatial relationships emerged that grew into the unifying sweep of Baroque.

Parallel with this penetration into space there was developed a pictorial science by which figures could be so arranged as to give the scene a feeling of architectural unity and permanence, without any lessening of dramatic effect. The picture space became like a stage scene handled by a master director; and in fact many of the painters who practiced this art, from Masaccio to Poussin, built up their compositions with the help of miniature models in a toy theatre. It is arguable that the great dramatic compositions of Italian painting, Giotto's frescoes in the Arena Chapel, Masaccio's in the Carmine, Raphael's in the Stanze of the Vatican, are the summit of European art, the point at which formal and imaginative power have been directed by the highest intelligence. In these great works the art of picture making is entirely at one with a passionate involvement in the subject represented, so that a description of the subject matter becomes automatically an exposition of the design. The same principles can still be seen in Poussin's "Rape of the Sabine Women" and David's "Death of Socrates," which, although painted almost 400 years later than Giotto's "Entombment," is obviously part (and we may add almost the last part) of the same tradition. No wonder that a mastery of this kind of composition came to be considered the highest achievement of art, "the Grand Manner of historical paintings." And yet the century of Raphael also produced Hieronymus Bosch and Pieter Bruegel for whom such massive pictorial constructions were entirely unnecessary. The fascination their paintings have for us shows that however highly we may rate the claims of form, rhythm, and design, there is no denying that our attachment to works of art is very largely due to their direct reference to life. From the eighth-century в.c. ivory of a Nubian slave to an ink drawing by Rembrandt, it is this quality of human pathos that we value, and it makes us often look with particular delight at details that play no part in the general design. Students of esthetics who examine their own responses may be dismayed to find how often they are narrowed down to a single de-tail-the turn of a head, a vase of flowers, or the light falling on a piece of silk-elements that play no part in the systems of esthetic philosophy.

From the sixteenth century onward relationships of form are supported by relationships of color. Of course there is enchanting color in the Sienese painting of the preceding century, but it is independent of the form. The use of color to enhance the impact of form was a Venetian discovery, and gives to the rare works of Titian that are well preserved their extraordinary resonance. This form-color relationship was carried to its highest point by Cézanne. Few painters have had a nobler sense of form in the simple terms that I described it earlier; but he determined to give form an even fuller development (sa plenitude) by rendering it with the maximum strength of color. The simpler his subjects, the more profound his effects, and no doubt the effect on our emotions of his pears and apples is due to very deep analogies in human experience.

There remains one branch of art that seems to be outside the original life-preserving functions of form, line, and composition; the art of landscape painting. It was the invention of the Chinese (for Hellenistic landscapes seem to have been no more than decorative fantasies) and represents a Wordsworthian desire to lose the self in contemplation of nature. In this respect the great Chinese landscapes reach a point that Western artists have never equaled, because they are not the result of an impression, but of prolonged meditation, in which each object is thought of both as a living thing and as a symbol. The richness and complexity of these works can hardly be equaled in Europe, but the nearest approach to them is in the landscapes of Poussin and Claude. In both of them a wealth of natural observation is used to create a single mood, or rather, to illustrate single poetic thought, and in both the equivalent of Chinese symbolism is the memory of some antique myth. Poussin's thoughts dwell more earnestly on the meaning of each legend; Claude allows each legend to suggest the mood and then abandons himself to the rapture of light.

The landscape of poetry and legend was a relatively short episode. The landscape of optical experience lasted for over 200 years, from Ruisdael to Monet, and was the form in which the best painters of the later nineteenth century found their means of expression. The Impressionists probably still give more pleasure to the average man than any other school of painting. They have opened our eyes to light and atmosphere, and in our urbanized society they evoke a lost paradise. Their success would have seemed inconceivable to connoisseurs of the seventeenth century, whose theory of art was based on the belief that the subject of a picture must have some historical or ethical significance. Yet these same connoisseurs loved the drawings of Claude, which show precisely the same kind of sensibility as the Impressionists.

It is in a painter's drawings that he reveals his personality, and the fact that for almost 500 years drawings have been preserved and collected shows how great a part this kind of intuition and spontaneous self-revelation plays in our love of art. Ultimately the artist may be reaching toward a timeless ideal, but he remains a fellow being, and we suddenly find ourselves listening to him, as we would to some inspired companion. Even the Egyptian sculptors of time-defying monuments left drawings as free and personal as Pi casso's.

Form unites; subject divides. It is true that a bad Greek marble and a bad Impressionist landscape would seem to have nothing in common. But as soon as we are aware of a hand responsive to some moving sensuous experience and controlled by the discipline of an idea, we are back in the realm of esthetic experience, and this can take place in any age, any style, or any medium. The brush strokes with which Cézanne conveys his feeling for the sky have the same vitality as the symbolic clouds on a fine Chinese bronze. The chief artists of our own time have moved much less far than was at first supposed outside the gravitational pull of a continuous artistic tradition. Douanier Rousseau's naïve remark to Picasso, that he was the greatest living painter in the Egyptian style now seems to us an obvious truth. Matisse, who was a master of classic form, as his early drawings and sculpture prove, did his finest work after he had absorbed the arabesques and flat color of Islamic art, the most unclassical of all styles. Henry Moore, whose early work seemed like a deliberate rejection of the Renaissance tradition, has ended as the disciple of Giovanni Pisano and Michelangelo.

Unity in diversity: those were the words in which Winckelmann, the first critical art historian, summed up his esthetic theory of antique sculpture, and the Metropolitan's exhibition, "Masterpieces of Fifty Centuries" will be an opportunity to see how far this dictum can be applied to the art of the whole world. The ways in which men have tried to give an ideal, time-defying shape to experience have varied; but the experiences, because they are related to basic instincts of human life -the instinct to survive, to worship, to play, to make love-are the same. And the bodily meanssharpness of eye, visual memory, movement of wrist and finger-are the same. So in the end, unity is stronger than diversity, and "Masterpieces of Fifty Centuries" should confirm our belief that art is the one thing, in this distracted world, that we all have in common.

NEW THIS MONTH IN THE STORES

etherea. This super-pure concept (each thing comes sealed in its super-purity) is presenting a new aspect for faces that they call Pure Scapism-pure fantasy in a range of smoky, pale, and bright effects. Among the six new lip colors are interestingly-Sweet Chocolate, Spanish Onion, Ripe Red Tomato. These lipsticks are $$ 3.50$ each. Some startling pales for eyes-Pale Green, Pale Blue, or Pale Lavender eye shadows (at $$ 5$ each) go with liquid eye-liners in the same amusing pastels (also $5) for a funny new kind of becomingness. The face shiners in sticks are-Pink Glaze and Amber Glaze ( $$ 7.50$ each). All at Bonwit Teller; I. Magnin.
max factor. California Fresh Fruit Lip Glosses. A free-form lipstick-little pots of fruited color that smell and taste hilariously real. Frost-A-Cherry is pale red, Frost-A-Strawberry intense pink, Frost-A-Coconut pale beige, and Frost-APineapple a clear gleam that tastes like Hawaii. $$ 1.25$ at Bloomingdale's; Joseph Horne; J. L. Nail enamels in Grape Purée, a lavender beige, and Hot Chili, a burnt, very new-looking red, $$ 1.25$. The eye shadows she calls Jeepers Peepers come three to a box in such combos as Marooned, Earth Bound, Skylark, and are $5. At Bloomingdale's; The Union, Columbus, Ohio.

SHE NeEDS

Little Mie-Wen in Formosa already knows many things . . . the gnawing of hunger . . . the shivering of fear the misery of being unwanted.
But she has never known love. Her mother died when she was born. Her father was poor-and didn't want a girl child. So Mie-Wen has spent her baby years without the affection and security every child craves.

Your love can give Mie-Wen, and children just as needy, the privileges you would wish for your own child.

Through Christian Children's Fund you can sponsor one of these youngsters. We use the word sponsor to symbolize the bond of love that exists between you and the child.

The cost? Only $12 a month. Your love is demonstrated in a practical way because your money helps with nourishing meals . . . medical care warm clothing . . . education
. understanding housemothers . .
And in return you will receive your child's personal history, photograph, plus a description of the orphanage where your child lives. You can write and send packages.

YOUR LOVE
Your child will know who you are and will answer your letters. Correspondence is translated at our overseas offices.
(If you want your child to have a special gift- a pair of shoes, a warm jacket, a fuzzy bear-you can send your check to our office, and the entire amount will be forwarded, along with your instructions.)

Will you help? Requests come from orphanages every day. And they are urgent. Children wrapping rags on their feet, school books years out of date, milk supplies exhausted, babies abandoned by unwed mothers.

Since 1938,thousands of American sponsors have found this to be an intimate person-to-person way of sharing their blessings with youngsters around the world.

Little Mie-Wen and children like her need your love-won't you help? Today?

Sponsors urgently needed this month for children in : India, Brazil, Taiwan (Formosa) and Hong Kong. (Or let us select a child for you from our emergency list.)

"Dear Sirs: I have had an opportunity to use Sauna Shorts primarily for the purpose of evaluating its worth in view of the many inquiries that have been made to me relating to your product. This Sauna Shorts' Inches-Off Program is based on sound scientific principles. it's sensible and it works-a rare combination! I plan to recommend it to all my patients who want to take off inches. Yours very truly, Anita Sharpe, Registered Physiotherapist, Los Angeles, Calif. © "Gentlemen: I feel I simply must write to tell you how happy I am with the results of your Sauna Shorts. I lost 5 inches in the very first week-2 inches from my waist and 3 inches from my hips. You can believe me when I say I'll make sure they don't come back! I wear my Sauna Shorts once a week now to keep my great new shape. My friends keep telling me how great I look and they, too, are interested in purchasing your Sauna Shorts.
 Sincerely, Mrs. Ina Ann Debs, Chicago, Illinois Dear Sirs: Thanks to

Anita Sharpe Sauna Shorts and an easy to follow exercise plan, l've lost 2 inches from my waist and 2 inches from my hips. Barbara McArdle, Inglewood, Calif.

Be fully satisfied in 1 week or your money back.
Since Sauna Shorts were first developed and put on the market, numerous letters have indicated that the Sauna Shorts "Inches-Off" Program is not only an effective approach to removing unwanted inches from hips, thighs and waistline, but also a very simple and pleasant way to obtain those lovely results. All it takes is thirty minutes a day with your regular or long-line Sauna Shorts and within a week you will be totally amazed and satisfied or we will cheerfully refund your money.
HOW DO SAUNA SHORTS WORK THEIR WONDERS?
Following your 3 -step exercise plan, just slip into your Sauna Shorts as you would any shorts and inflate them with the detachable air pump we provide you. You'll enjoy the warm, gently "massaging" action of Sauna Shorts' many air pockets, snuggling up to you tighter and tighter. Now you're ready to put the air pump aside while your Sauna Shorts go to work creating a Finnish Sauna-like warmth. This is your Sauna Shorts rest period, preceded by the 3 -step exercise plan which was designed to pinpoint "inches removal" from your hips, thighs and waistline. While you relax and go about your regular routine, you'll feel your Sauna Shorts doing their part-silently, comfortably, and with no further effort on your part.
CHOOSE REGULAR OR LONG-LINE SAUNA SHORTS-BOTH INCREDIBLE BARGAINS!
The regular Sauna Shorts and 3 -step exercise plan for reducing hips and thigh measurements are priced at a low $$ 9.95$. For hips, thighs and waistline reduction, select the long-line Sauna Shorts ...only $$ 14.95$. The long-line Sauna Shorts extend above the waist with vertical air pocket sauna strips, to help work off "lower midriff bulge" too.

VIRGINIA HAM AGED LIKE VINTAGE WINE

Christmas Tradition for 300 Years!

Smoked for weeks over hand tended fires, kept going day and night, while juices drip and pungent hickory smoke flavors the meat. Aged a year, then baked with wine and sugar. Arrives ready to serve (doesn't even need heating), for Christmas feast, buffet, cocktails, sandwiches, etc. Traditionally sliced paper thin and served cold; goes a long way; easy to keep; a delight to any homemaker during busy holidays.
300 years ago Virginia planters traded their hams to English sailing masters. Soon the old world's epicures were agog over this new flavor. Virginia Ham became famous around the world. It still is. Each magnificent ham now hanging in our aging rooms has been slowly cured, smoked to a rich mahogany hue, and aged the way the colonists did it 300 years ago. For there is no short cut to such flavor. Just before shipment each ham is soaked, simmered, skinned. the fat trimmed, then sauced with wine and sugar, and baked to a sweet and savory feast of flavor unlike any other! Old Virginia Smokehouse box, with card Old Virginia Smokehouse box, with carv-

Gardener's notes

BY JAMES FANNHNG:

THE FIISST SNOW BRINGS COLOIR out in the wintertime garden. Near the ground, stems of redtwig dogwood (Cornus stolonifera or $C$. alba sibirica) stand out brightly, and arching stems of Leucothoe Catesbaei droop their bronzy leaves. Higher up, the twigs of black alder (Ilex verticillata) are crowded with scarlet berry clusters, and the scorned but useful privets are hung with clusters of jet black fruit, left. Nearer your windows-if you've planted wiselyevergreen English or American holly will sparkle with red and green, firethorn will flaunt clusters of orange, and fruit-hung branches of crab apple and hawthorn will bend under the weight of snow. This hawthorn, right, is Crategus phaenopyrum, the Washington thorn, and one of the very best.

SEIDUCTION THIROVE IN THE PALM COUBT of every old-time hotel, so did the palms. It was the background music that was responsible for both, or so theorizes Dr. George Milstein, who has just made a recording titled Music to Grow Plants (Pip Records, $4.98 including a packet of seeds). There is a certain amount of scientific evidence behind the idea that sound waves stimulate the growth of plants, so Dr. Milstein recorded a high-pitched tone (near the upper limit of human hearing) and superimposed a concert of slightly oldfashioned jazz. By itself, the shrill plantstimulating sound would be intolerable for human ears, but the mask of music makes the recording acceptable for a reasonable amount of experimentation in any living room or home greenhouse.

WINTEIE STQRM DAMAGE TO LARGE
Trees can be forestalled by a little work before the bad weather begins. A tree crotch that might split under the weight of ice and snow should be bolted or cabled. Over-long branches that might snap should be shortened or cabled to higher, stronger branches. This is really a job for the professional tree surgeon, who would use wire cable and steel bolts, but a reasonably good temporary job may be done with rope for tying and poles for support. Any branches that break, of course, should be cut off as neatly as possible, as quickly as possible.

RACHEL CARSON WOULD BE

AMAZED to find herself spearheading an active and aggressive nationwide movement for improving our environment. A naturalist by training and retiring by disposition, Miss Carson was spurred to write Silent Spring by the threat to all living things-obvious to her, at that time, but to very few others -implicit in the wholesale and indiscriminate use of pesticides. Soon after publication of the book, Miss Carson found herself flooded with correspondence-pro and conand all kinds of demands on her time. Shortly after her death, by which time the flood had become overwhelming, a group of friends and acquaintances organized to establish the Rachel Carson Trust for the Living Environment. Working hard but with little fanfare and a tiny budget, the organization does continuing research into the effects of chemicals on the environment and makes itself heard in high councils of the government. One of the results of these efforts has been establishment of the Rachel Carson National Wildlife Refuge, a tract of several thousand acres on the coast of Maine. Headquarters of the Rachel Carson Trust for the Living Environment, Inc., is at 8940 Jones Mill Road, Washington, D. C., 20015, where inquiries, and, of course, contributions, are welcome.

CLEAR THE DECKS OF YOUR WINDOW-SILL GARDEN or greenhouse at the end of the year. Be ruthless, get rid of all the ungainly, overgrown, unproductive plants that are only taking up space, and start over with fresh young plants, maybe even a fresh approach to the whole problem. You could, for instance, concentrate on cacti. These rewarding and not too difficult succulents have an almost infinite variety. One or another of them will be in flower every day of the year, and the plant forms are endlessly variable. One of the best books for beginner or advanced cacti fanciers is The Pocket Encyclopedia of Cacti by Edgar and Bryan Lamb (Macmillan, $$ 4.95)$. It tells you what to do with your cacti every month of the year and has a really encyclopedic section of color photographs.

ALL. GARDENERS ARE SUN WOIRSHIPPEIRS OF NECESSITY. SOME CARRY THIS TO THE EXTREME OF TRYING TO TELL TIME BY THE SUN, USUALLY WITH SMALL SUCCESS BECAUSE THE TRADITIONAL SUNDIAL IS A PRETTY INACCURATE AFFAIR. BUT NOW, A REALLY aCCURATE DIAL HAS BECOME AVAILABLE. SET UP WITH PROPER CARE IT WILL TELL THE TIME WITH ONEminute accuracy the year round. Cast in BRONZE AND DESIGNED FOR EFFICIENCY RATHER THAN LOOKS, THE GRYPHON SUNDIAL IS FOR SALE BY MAIL FROM THE GRYPHON CORPORATION, 101 EAST SANTA ANITA AVENUE, BURBANK, CALIF., 91502. THE PRICE IS $95, PLUS POSTAGE.

plants and ant belong togethen. There is no better illustration than the way in which Mrs. Enid Haupt combines greenhouse plants with the art in her apartment, see page 70. Although few of us have anything like Mrs. Haupt's magnificent collection of painting and sculpture, we can follow her lead in providing for a year-long succession of plants to go with whatever we may have. Wax begonias, for instance, she uses lavishly. As one batch of plants begins to show the wear of city life it is retired to a greenhouse in the country, cut back, and nursed along until ready to be put on display once more. Good for only one brief spurt of bloom per year are Mrs. Haupt's topiary azaleas, but that one burst of glory amply warrants caring for the plants the rest of the year. The three-tier azalea soaking up summer sunshine in preparation for next spring's flowering, LEFT, is a single plant that took several years of pruning to achieve its present size.
