HEAT GUN...THE EASIEST, SAFEST WAY TO REMOVE PAINT

The electric heat gun softens paint in a uniform way so that it can be scraped off with a knife.

Some clean-up with chemical remover is required, but the volume needed—and the mess—is vastly reduced.

Heat Gun is safer: It avoids the hazards of methylene chloride vapors present in paint removers. Operating temperature is lower than a propane torch, avoiding danger of lead poisoning and fire. See article in November 1979 OHJ for operating details.

The Master HG-501 Heat Gun is #1 in paint removing. More than 3,000 are in use by OHJ subscribers...and the testimonials to its effectiveness come in every day. It is a heavy-duty industrial tool operating at 500-700 F. and draws 14 amps at 120 volts. Rugged all-metal construction; no plastics! See ad in the Nov. 1979 OHJ Emporium for full list of product features.

There's a two-month replacement guarantee: If the unit should fail for any reason within 60 days of purchase, return it to The Old-House Journal and we'll provide a free replacement.

Price of $62.95 includes: (1) Pedestal stand worth $6.75; (2) Same-day shipping via United Parcel Service; (3) The Old-House Journal replacement guarantee. Telephone orders accepted on VISA or COD. (There's a $2 charge for COD).

Old Buildings . . . Presents From the Past - A Renovation and Preservation Idea Market

The Utah State Historical Society sponsors a historic preservation conference and exhibition at Union Station in Ogden, Utah. Informative workshops on Friday and Saturday (May 23 and 24) offer instruction in restoration, preservation and antiques for historic homes and cultural sites. A three-day exposition of products and services available to the consumer interested in antiques and old building rehabilitation will be set up in the depot's grand lobby. An outdoor Old House Flea Market on Saturday, May 24, will be a unique marketplace for antiques and collectibles. Workshop pre-registration is $15.00 for two full days. The exposition is free and open to the public. For display booth rental and registration information, write to: Luci Merin, Utah State Historical Society, 307 West 200 South, Salt Lake City, Utah 84101, or call (801) 533-6024.

A GIFT TO THE STREET

A DISCOVERY OF VICTORIANS THAT BEGINS IN DELIGHT AND ENDS IN WISDOM . . .
THE IDEAL GIFT FOR ANYONE WHO LOVES AN OLD HOUSE

"Walk up and take a closer look . . ." is the theme of this superbly photographed and informatively written tribute to Victorian houses. Whether your interests are in their visual beauty or architectural history, this book is delightful.

REVIEWS

"... a handsome and commendable contribution to the study of Victorian architecture . . ."

AIA Journal, May 1977

"... The superb photographs by Carol Olwell immediately qualify this as an excellent coffee-table book. It is, however, much more than just a picture book . . . the table of contents reads like a late 19th century's builder's catalog . . . Judith Waldhorn imparts an abundance of information about this period . . . without dwelling on scholarly distinctions which the layman might find tedious . . ."

Smithsonian, May 1978

MEETINGS & EVENTS

Back To The City Conference

The Seventh Annual Back To The City Conference will be held June 5 - 8, 1980, at the Hotel DuPont in Wilmington, Delaware. This year's conference will deal with a variety of problems facing urban revivalists—displacement, energy conservation, waterfront development, economic incentives—and will take a look at cities in the new decade. Participants will have an opportunity to share local experiences through neighborhood tours and dinners in the homes of Wilmington residents.

For registration information, write: CITYSIDE, Inc., P.O. Box 1775, Wilmington, DE 19899.

HHAA CONFERENCE

The Historic House Association of America will hold its annual Preservation Conference in Princeton, N.J., May 8 - 11, 1980. Focus is the problems old houses face—from insurance to security to energy conservation. Taxes and new federal laws and grants will be discussed. For more information, write: Historic House Association of America, 1600 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006. (202) 673-4000.

Jonesboro Historic Preservation Conference

The Fifth Annual Historic Preservation Conference will be held April 17 - 19, 1980, in Jonesboro, Tennessee. A panel of nationally known preservationists and about a hundred other old-house enthusiasts will gather to explore Recognizing and Preserving the Parts of an Old House. Write to: The Jonesboro Civic Trust, P.O. Box 180, Jonesboro, Tennessee 37659.

For Your Next Event... The 1980 Catalog

HERE'S a way to provide some added interest to your next meeting, workshop or similar event.

SET UP YOUR own "Bookstore" table and sell the 1980 Old-House Journal Catalog.

THE CATALOG is a fast seller. It's the most complete and up-to-date sourcebook for old house "things." Your organization can raise money --and benefit your members at the same time.

ORDERED FOR RESALE in quantities of 10 or more, Catalogs are available at $4.47 each--50% off the cover price of $8.95.

YOUR CHECK must accompany order to qualify for wholesale discount. (No billing or consignment shipping.) However, unsold Catalogs in good condition can be returned for refund.

SEND ORDER to: The Old-House Journal, 69A Seventh Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11217. Add $2 for postage and give street address where delivery can be made by United Parcel Service.

If Selling Old Houses is your business...

...then you'll want to see the special package The Old-House Journal has developed to acquaint your customers with the unique joys and problems of old house living.

The Old-House Journal Real Estate package contains sample copies of The Old-House Journal, plus three supplementary brochures:

- 1) Inspection Checklist for Vintage Houses
- 2) How to Date an Old House
- 3) Field Guide to Old-House Styles

What does the package cost?--Nothing! The editors of The Old-House Journal feel that the more people know about old houses the less likely they are to unwittingly "remuddle" priceless architectural treasures. And, of course, it helps us.

Some Real Estate Salespersons have also been giving subscriptions to The Old-House Journal as housewarming presents to people who have purchased old houses from them.

As a result of this growing practice, we have created a special Business Gift Discount. It's available through a Discount Gift Form that we can send to you.

If you would like bulk copies of The Old-House Journal for your office, supplies of the supplementary brochures, and the Business Gift Discount forms, just drop us a line at the address below.

THE EASIEST, CLEANEST WAY TO REMOVE PAINT

THE MASTER APPLIANCE HEAT GUN

MORE THAN 4,000 IN USE BY OLD-HOUSE JOURNAL SUBSCRIBERS

There's no PLEASANT way to remove paint. But if you have a large amount of paint to strip, the fastest, safest and most economical way is with the Master Appliance electric heat gun.

The Master heat gun has been collecting raves from readers ever since Patricia and Wilkie Talbert's original letter in the April 1976 issue of The Old-House Journal. Since then, more than 4,000 OHJ subscribers have purchased heat guns. And the raves are still coming in.

Master Appliance is the #1 maker of heat guns in the U.S.; they sell more

The heat gun is ideal for stripping paint from interior woodwork where a clear finish is going to be applied. There's none of the scorching such as you get with a propane torch. Use the heat gun for stripping paint from such places as: (1) Doors; (2) Wainscoting; (3) Window and door frames; (4) Exterior doors; (5) Porch columns and woodwork; (6) Baseboards; (7) Shutters; (8) Panelling. In addition, the heat gun can be used for such purposes as thawing pipes in winter, loosening synthetic resin linoleum paste, and softening old putty when replacing window glass.

The heat gun is NOT recommended for: (1) Removing shellac and varnish; (2) Stripping paint on window muntins (possible cracking of the glass from heat); (3) Stripping the entire exterior of a house (too slow); (4) Stripping Early American milk paint (only ammonia will do that).

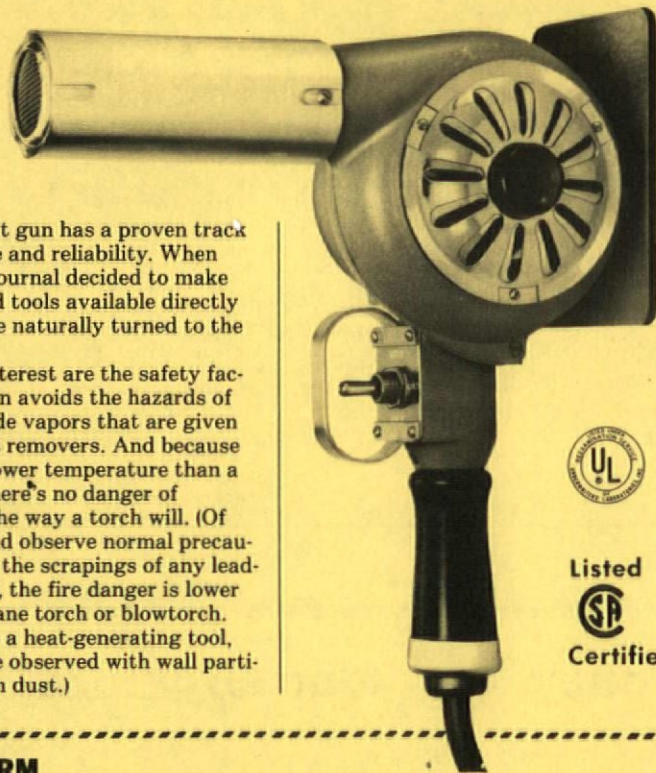

The electric heat gun softens paint in a uniform way so that it can be scraped off with a knife. Some clean-up with chemical remover is required, but the heat gun will remove about 98% of the paint—vastly reducing the amount of chemical needed and the consequent mess. See article in the November 1979 OHJ for additional details on operation.

Because it is a high-quality industrial tool, the Master heat gun isn't cheap. But with paint remover around $12 per gallon, the gun only costs as much as 5-6 gallons of remover. In some communities, groups of neighbors are buying a heat gun to share.

Price of $62.95 includes: (1) Pedestal stand worth $6.75; (2) Same-day shipping via United Parcel Service; (3) The Old-House Journal replacement guarantee. Telephone orders also accepted on VISA or via COD (there's a $2 charge for COD).

because their heat gun has a proven track record of long life and reliability. When The Old-House Journal decided to make these hard-to-find tools available directly to our readers, we naturally turned to the #1 heat gun.

Of special interest are the safety factors. The heat gun avoids the hazards of methylene chloride vapors that are given off by most paint removers. And because it operates at a lower temperature than a propane torch, there's no danger of vaporizing lead the way a torch will. (Of course, you should observe normal precautions in handling the scrapings of any lead-based paint.) Too, the fire danger is lower than with a propane torch or blowtorch. (But because it is a heat-generating tool, caution should be observed with wall partitions that contain dust.)
