Are you leveraging your resources?

Digital Imaging Resources can help you make all of your projects come alive with our state of the art equipment, and our eye for quality! Fast turn arounds are not a problem. Our digital Indigo press will personalize messages and images on each page to create quite a response from your client. Our color graphics department will help you design and print your indoor and outdoor displays on most any kind of media, for any application, including vehicle wraps, window displays, backlit signs and billboards. Lenticular graphics are a unique visual experience, not easily forgotten. Whether used in direct mail or as a trade show graphic, lenticular art can have a positive impact on any campaign. We can scan images that are 50" wide to a digital file, or produce an exact color reproduction. Your architectural drawings can be duplicated for you in color or black & white. You can send us your hard copy, or a digital file. Our finishing services include binding or stapling your brochures or books. If you need your prints mounted and laminated, we have many different substrates and laminates to choose from. Our laminates are UV resistant to help your prints stay as bright and colorful as when they were first printed. Give Digital Imaging Resources a call now, and see what a difference we make!

Working with an Architect

Would you like to help inform the public about the benefits of working with an architect for a home improvement or new construction project? Join the corps of architects who lead our free "Working with an Architect" seminars in public libraries, community centers, and village halls throughout the geographic territory of the Chapter. Rob Sierzega, AIA and Scott Rappe, AIA are the leaders for this important outreach activity of AIA Chicago. A training session for seminar leaders will be held early in 2005 in preparation for presentations in March and April 2005. If you would like to participate, contact Joan Pomaranc, Program Director, at pomarancj@aiachicago.org or 312/670-7770.

Nominations Requested for Endangered Historic Places

Focus attention on an "at risk" building by nominating it to the Landmarks Preservation Council of Illinois' 2005 Top Ten Endangered Historic Places list. Buildings on the list receive heightened public attention and the process encourages community members, professionals and government agencies to preserve our architectural legacy. Applications are due by January 3 and must include color slides or photos as well as written descriptions of the property, its historical significance, the threat it faces, the level of existing community interest, and feasible reuse possibilities. An independent panel of judges will make recommendations to the LPCI board of directors, which will announce its final decision as part of the March Preservation Day activities in Springfield. For more information call 312/922-1742 or log onto the LPCI Web site at www.landmarks.org, which includes previous lists.

Driehaus Preservation Awards

The Landmarks Preservation Council of Illinois' 2004 Richard H. Driehaus Foundation Preservation Awards honored six projects from around the state including the following projects by AIA Chicago members: the Dempster Street Station in Skokie by Antunovich Associates, the Hard Rock Hotel in Chicago by Lucien Lagrange Architects, and the Martin Mitchell Mansion and Carriage House in Naperville by Johnson Lasky Architects. The jury included Robert Surman, AIA, principal of Chicago-based Graham, Anderson, Probst & White.

Archeworks Wins Award

Archeworks, a nonprofit, socially focused design school based in Chicago, is the winner of the second annual $100,000 Chicago Benefits award from Humana, a health benefits company. Archeworks, which was co-founded by Eva Maddox, Assoc. AIA and Stanley Tigerman, FAIA, will use the award to assist its Disability Education, Awareness and Inclusion Project that educates children between 7 and 9 about breaking down stereotypes and fosters inclusive attitudes.

Two Chapter Members Appointed to State Licensing Board

The Illinois Department of Financial and Professional Regulation has appointed Alan Madison, AIA and Luis Martinez, AIA to the state architecture licensing board. They are filling two open positions on the board, serving five-year terms, and Madison has been named vice chairman. Madison heads his own firm specializing in residential and institutional work and has served as a delegate to AIA

Illinois for the past six years. He has been a presenter of AIA Chicago "Working with an Architect" seminars since the program's inception a decade ago. He is on the board of the Chicago Historic Bungalow Association, the University of Illinois at Chicago Advisory Board, and is in his sixth year of serving on the City of Chicago Building Board of Appeals. Martinez is the lead architect in the facilities planning department of the City Colleges of Chicago. He is currently involved in efforts to create a Puerto Rican cultural center in the restored Humboldt Park stables.

AIA Chicago Foundation Seeks Donations

For over four decades the AIA Chicago Foundation has advocated for the profession of architecture by providing educational opportunities for young architects and preserving valuable information through book and video projects. The foundation is the trustee for the Benn Johnck Award and the Martin Roche Traveling Scholarship, both awarded to students from local architecture schools. A video history project is currently in process to capture the lives of notable Chicago architects in audio/visual format.

Contributions to the foundation will help sustain the mission established by its founders. Checks may be sent to the AIA Chicago Foundation, 222 Merchandise Mart Plaza, Suite 1049, Chicago, IL, 60654-1001.

Membership Renewal and ArchiPages Compilation Underway

AIA Chicago members should have received invoices for their 2005 membership as well as questionnaires for the 2005 ArchiPages. Benefits of being a member firm include a link on the AIA Chicago Web site to your firm's site and a listing in the ArchiPages directory of Illinois architecture firms. The directory is sold to potential clients and distributed free of charge to local libraries, government officials, the media, and every AIA Chicago member. If you have questions, contact Phil Rahill, membership director, at 312/670-7770.

...that's what we strive for on every project, and that's the principal reason we've become Illinois' largest HVAC contractor. We're proud to have served Chicagoland for 67 years, and also proud that design-build and assist design-build represent more than one-third of our annual volume. By designing cost-effective, efficient mechanical systems, our team of 30+ graduate engineers and their proven design-build methods help set Chicago's standard for quality... at the highest level.
