"Come to Snowmass: Be in Harmony with Nature"

In case you have not heard, AIA Colorado is planning their 1992 Centennial Design Conference at Snowmass Village, Colorado, October 9-11. "Architecture / Environment...Man in Harmony with Nature" is this year's theme put together over the past year by Program Chair, Sam Caudill, FAIA of Aspen. Sam has called in some markers and gathered the best environmentalists in the country. He is an advocate of the environment and has worked hard to make this year's centennial conference a special one.

First off, most importantly, you don't have to get "gussied" up. The dress is casual and there will be an official "tie cutter" at all events to cut off your necktie or bow tie if you dare to wear one. Even the Design Awards dinner will be casual (you don't have to buy your wife a new dress to wear - think of the money you will save). Bring your walking shoes for Friday's break out sessions. After an exciting welcome and theme setting film on Friday morning at the Conference Center, you will be "trucked off" to Aspen in buses to the base of Ajax Mountain. From here, you will ride the gondola to the top of the mountain for lunch and for your first ever seminar at 11,000 feet. After that alpine adventure, you will walk to either the Given Institute, Wheeler Opera House or Aspen Center for Environmental Studies (ACES) for your afternoon seminars. And, the first 25 who sign up will be bused to the Rocky Mountain Institute for a presentation by Amory Lovins -- their place will not hold more than 25.

At stops to be designated, the buses will pick you up for your trip back to Snowmass Village to hear a presentation by Nat Reed on the roofdeck of our Conference Center. Next will be THE grand Opening Reception for the Exhibits. Then dinner on your own and a good night's rest.

All of the events planned for you on Saturday will be at the Snowmass Conference Center and Silvertree Hotel. Lunch with the exhibitors will give you time to visit the exhibits, judge their displays, check off your checklist for prize drawings and chit chat with your colleagues. The finale of our conference will be the installation of the 1993 officers, announcement of the Design Awards, Firm of the Year and Architect of the Year. If you haven't celebrated too much, you may want to join us for Sunday brunch before you take the relaxing trip home.

Brochures with registrations have been mailed, look to past issues for information about the speakers, study the schedule, and sign up SOON! Let us hear from you. If you have any questions, have not received your conference brochure, want to sponsor an event, or sign up for a booth/table, give us a call. Getting there will be easy:

By car: From Denver to Snowmass Village is a scenic 4-hour mountain drive (190 miles). Take I-70 west, then Highway 91 south through Leadville, continue south on Highway 24, turn west onto Highway 82 over Independence Pass (a bit "gnarly" in spots) through Aspen to Brush Creek Road, 6 miles to the Village. Or take a 4-hour interstate drive. I-70 west to Glenwood Springs (170 miles), turn south on Highway 82, 40 miles to Brush Creek Road. Drive 6 miles east on Highway 82, about a 45-minute drive. Turn up Brush Creek Road to the Village, 6 miles. From Glenwood Springs to Snowmass Village is 40 miles. From Grand Junction to Snowmass Village is about a 2 1/2-hour drive via I-70 to Highway 82. Turn east out of Glenwood Springs, 40 miles to Brush Creek Road. Drive 6 miles up to the Village.

By air: From Denver major airlines connect in Denver with United Express and Continental Express. Special rates have been arranged with these airlines.. To receive 5% off Super Saver and 45% off Coach fares, you need to make your reservations through Snowmass Resort at 1-800-332-3245.

The 1992 Design Conference on October 9 and 10, 1992 takes you to Aspen on Friday. The following are some special places to choose from for our Friday afternoon agenda.

ASPEN CENTER FOR ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

The Aspen Center for Environmental Studies is a private non-profit environmental education center located within the Hallam Lake wildlife sanctuary. Their goal is to educate people to be environmentally responsible. ACES is open year-round and provides a variety of natural science programs for people of all ages and interest levels.

Elizabeth Paepcke founded ACES to preserve this area as a wildlife sanctuary and to foster education about the environment. In the 1800's Hallam Lake served Aspen residents as an amusement park and as a source of ice during the community's early mining years. Establishing the sanctuary was a way of continuing the tradition of Hallam Lake as a place people could use and enjoy.

THE GIVEN INSTITUTE

Located within the heart of the famous skiing and recreation community of Aspen, Colorado, is the Given Institute, a conference center maintained by the University of Colorado School of Medicine. Completed in 1972, the conference center has hosted seminars and laboratory workshops with participants from medical schools, public agencies, hospitals and research institutes. This popular conference center after hosting medical community and related educational groups exclusively, is now open to year round corporate meetings, conferences and executive retreats.

WHEELER OPERA HOUSE

Jerome B. Wheeler's "perfect bijou of a theater" has been a part of Aspen's past and present history. Since its gala opening in 1889 its stage has hosted the leading actor-managers of the Silver Circuit and, more recently, the world's finest musicians and the theater's most illustrious stars. Now, restored to its original 19th century grandeur, and complemented with modern state of the art technical facilities, Aspen's Wheeler Opera House is one of the most intimate, attractive and versatile theaters in the country. The handsome new lobby with its sweeping views over the town of Aspen and Ajax Mountain, has become a favorite setting for receptions, parties, weddings and conferences. The Wheeler's tradition as Aspen's showplace provides an elegant facility.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE

Rocky Mountain Institute is a nonprofit research and educational foundation with a vision across boundaries. Seeking ideas that transcend ideology, and harnessing the problem-solving power of free-market economics, their goal is to foster the efficient and sustainable use of resources as a path to global security. Rocky Mountain Institute believes that people can solve complex problems through collective action and their own common sense, and that understanding interconnections between resource issues can often solve many problems at once. They focus their work in five areas-- Agriculture, Economic Renewal, Energy, Security, and Water--and carry on international outreach and technical-exchange programs.

AIAS - Revisited

by Rebecca Alexis, AIAS

Suddenly a "new" voice is arising in Colorado with strong interests toward the environment, the community, the profession of architecture, education and equal opportunity. This new voice is the AIAS (American Institute of Architectural Students) at the University of Colorado, Boulder. Its involvement with the professional organization of AIA has been minimal, but that is quickly changing.

Focused on increasing the awareness of important issues outside the intense and time-consuming studio courses through a series of lectures, discussions, social gatherings and fund raisers, the chapter hopes to minimize the prevalent sense of apathy in the student body.

The Environmental Design students at Boulder have a lot to understand about the profession, and the profession needs to be informed about this new generation of students.

As a representative from Boulder's AIAS Chapter, I hope a strong working relationship develops, one in which we can all benefit from each other.

CLASSIFIEDS

CHAPTER NEWS

AIA Denver continues to plan for its Architecture Week to be held September 19th through the 26th. The Annual Design Awards celebration (Denver Doodle Two) will be held on September 26 with Paul Goldberg of the New York Times as the guest speaker. Plans are "emerging" with the Emerging Impressions program being sponsored with UCD. Membership presentations continue on August 6 with the Urban Design Group. The Nominating Committee for the AIA Colorado 1993 Board of Directors will meet on August 3.

Colorado South Chapter AIA has prepared a draft of the revised by-laws for review by the Board, after discussion of them began at the June Board Meeting. The October membership meeting is targeted for approval. Randy Thorne will serve as the South Chapter representative to the State Government Affairs Committee, replacing Walt Burgess, who has served for the past several years.

The week of September 20 will be promoted as "Architecture Week". Plans are under way for the annual Gazette Telegraph architectural photo contest in September. The theme will be "Details architects admire." Members are asked to submit their ideas for detail -- visible to the public -- to Dave Heironymus by August 1.

The Resident Fellow program is tentatively scheduled for September 17. The topic will be geared toward some area(s) where the field of architecture needs to be proactive. The Member Art Show is scheduled for September 24.

Colorado North Chapter AIA held its Architecture Film Night on July 15th. A Michael Blackwood film was featured entitled, "Beyond Utopia: Changing Attitudes in American Architecture." On July 31st, the Annual Summer Party and Golf Tournament was held at the Estes Park Golf Course with a dinner following at the Aspen Lodge.

Activities and plans are now finalized for the CNC's Architecture Awareness Week to be held this September 12-18. Activities will include: a Historic House Tour of Ft. Collins on Saturday, September 12; a slide show and lecture presented by Carol Tuner on "Architectural Styles in Ft. Collins" on Monday, September 14th; two Jim Franklin Seminars on Wednesday, September 16th at CU in Boulder; and a lecture by Antoine Predock on Friday, September 18th. Other events, which are not yet specific in time and/or location, include: "A Computerized Tour of Colorado" - on display in several locations throughout the North Chapter area, and presentations at local area schools on the 200th Anniversary of the White House.

Colorado West Chapter AIA held its Board Meeting on July 24, 1992 in Glenwood Springs. Our highest priority is to get our bylaws in compliance with National's "model" bylaws. We are close to accomplishing this. The nominating committee report was discussed for CWC officers for 1993 and Colorado West's participation on the state board. We are actively promoting additional affiliate memberships through our associate representative, Shira Geller. The newsletter was discussed and we are planning to publish two more issues in 1992. The next publishing date would be September 1. Jim Franklin, FAIA will be visiting our chapter in Vail this September. The quest has begun to locate a chair for the CWC Awards program to be held in January, 1993.

New AIA Video Shows Value of Investing in a Dream with an Architect

In response to questions from consumers, AIA has developed a new video that explains how and why to work with an architect. Entitled "Investing in a Dream: A Guide to Getting the Home You Really Want," this 13 minute video features clients and their architects discussing all aspects of the design and construction process. The projects discussed: a new house, two additions, and one renovation/addition in progress. This video shows how architects can translate their clients' ideas and goals into dynamic homes well suited to the individuals who live in them. The video emphasizes the importance of collaboration between client and architect and the need for the client to take an active role in the process. The video, "Investing in a Dream" is available through AIA Colorado. Cost to members is $19.95 / $29.95 to non-members -- plus shipping and handling. Or, the video may be checked out for a week's use for a $150 deposit, refundable upon return of the video. First come first served for this new marketing tool. Check it out.

DESIGN CONFERENCE 1992 EnvirOlympics

All members are invited to participate in... EnvirOlympics which will begin at 3:30 pm on Thursday, October 8, 1992. Chapters are challenged to square off with one another in a team brick laying competition. Bricks and mortar to be supplied by Robinson Brick. A mason will be on site to judge the team's work. Other events to follow will include: the death defying nail pounding competition; a "Pass the blueprint" relay; and a gin relay. Children will be invited to participate in their own version of the "Envir-Olympics with a hula hoop contest, balloon toss, and other relay races planned. T-shirts will be awarded to the winners of the EnvirOlympics competitions, along with cash prizes going to the winner's favorite environmental group.

Care to tee? There will be a best ball golf tournament, if at least 3 foursomes sign up (see below). The green fee at Aspen Golf Course is $46, if you bring your own clubs (add $25 if you need to rent clubs). Tee times will be announced when we have our count of participants. Tennis, anyone? A round robin tennis tournament will be arranged to begin at 12:00 on Thursday at the Snowmass Club for those who sign up (cost is $20 per hour for each court). The EnvirOlympics will end with the West Chapter's Host Chapter Party. Music and refreshments will be provided.

All of the above will be scheduled for your enjoyment and is our way to encourage you to come to Snowmass on Thursday so you can settle in and be rested for the conference's "official" beginning at 9:00 am Friday. Let us know which events you plan to participate in by filling in, cutting out and mailing out to us the form below.

MEMBER NEWS MEMBER NEWS

Communications Arts, Inc., a graphic, interiors and environmental design firm in Boulder announces that Brian R. Gough, David A. Shelton and John C. Ward, AIA, have been named to the position of Senior Associate. David A. Brown, AIA, Nicholas L. Igel, Paul L. Mack, Jr., AIA and Patricia Van Hook have been named Associates. The firm received two Pyramid awards from MONITOR, the Magazine of Shopping Center Retailing, for its work on two retail centers. Communications Arts, Inc., also received a first place award from the Society of Marketing Professional Services (SMPS) in Denver for its direct mail piece describing the renovation of Madison Square Garden.

The Vail Valley architectural firm of Zehren and Associates, Inc. has won SNOW COUNTRY MAGAZINE'S 1992 first place design award in the "Hotel, Inn or Condominium" category for the firm's design of Saddleridge at Beaver Creek. In the magazine's "Day Lodge" category, Zehren and Associates won honorable mention for the design of Vail Associates' Two Elk Restaurant on Vail Mountain.

Haller & Larson, Ltd., Architects and Swedish Medical Center were the recipients of an Intensive Care Unit Design Citation which was presented to them on June 18 at the AIA Convention in Boston. The citation was jointly sponsored by the Society of Critical Care Medicine, the American Association of Critical Care Nurses, and the AIA Committee on Architecture for Health.

Four awards for photography went to Colorado architects in the 1992 National AIA Architectural Photography Competition sponsored annually by the St. Louis Chapter. Third place and $300 went to Frank Ooms, AIA of Denver for his photograph entitled "Intersection" in Tokyo, Japan." Robert Root, AIA of Denver received one of the Judges Special Commendation Awards, as did Frank Ooms, AIA. Merit awards were given to Daniel P. Kemme, AIA (Colorado South), Per M. Hogestad, Associate AIA (Colorado North), Robert Root, AIA, and Frank Ooms, AIA. The fifty-four winning images are to be featured in a traveling exhibit making its debut at National and then to be available for AIA chapters. This year, the 1993 AIA Calendar features 52 full-color reproductions of AIA Photo Contest Entries -- each one a beautiful interpretation of our built environment. (Photos from the 1992 contest will appear in the 1994 calendar.) AIA Colorado is taking orders now for the 1993 calendar. Get a jump on 1993. Order your calendar today!

ADA Videotape Packages are available for purchase. Call AIA Colorado for details and ordering. Speaking of ADA, we are getting more and more calls for "ADA Experts." Are you one? You must let us know and we will refer you to these anxious callers.

Thank you everyone for paying your dues. We have all of our members for 1992.

AIA Colorado has a NEW Face in the Place. Dennis Dryden is our new Student Assistant. He is a fourth quarter student at the Colorado Institute of Art and is an enthusiastic supporter of their Work Study Program (so are we!). We welcome Dennis as the newest component of our team. Dawn Givens is finishing up her final quarter at C.I.A. and has left AIA Colorado in order to focus on her portfolio. We wish her all of the very BEST.
