BUILDING SUPPLIES AND LABOR DONATIONS HELP MAKE JOINT OFFICE SPACE A REALITY

Our new space at 1526 15th Street is coming along nicely. The wall framing is up, electrical is being roughed in, the mechanical system is being moved and the drywall is going up. We are having weekly construction meetings to keep on track since AIA Colorado and AIA Denver need to be out of our spaces by October 1. We have been lucky to have almost all the materials and labor donated. Vendors and contractors have been really generous to us. We would like to share who they are with you so you can thank them personally if you run across any of them:

- A & D Draft Aid, Don Council, Alberto Esguerra, and Ken Cabble - Blueprinting of Plans
- Access Systems, Berma Evans - Ceiling Grid Tile
- Benjamin Moore, Dennis Keaney - Paint
- Cies-Sexton, Sandy Eidnes - Photographic Imaging
- Colorado Stone Company, Sandi Misura - Slate in front of Gallery
- Creative Alternatives, Ken Rowland - Plasterglass column cover, lighting and Nitton Vinyl tile
- Joel Eden Photography, Joel Eden - Photography
- Florida Tile Ceramic Center, Wayne Boise - Ceramic Tile in Toilets
- Bob Goad & Company, Bob Goad - Slate Installation
- Golesh Doors, John Golesh - Wood Doors
- Gordon Signs, Harry Grass - Signage
- Heggem-Lundquist, Ron Lundquist - Painting Labor
- Johnson Hardware, Jim Johnson - Door Frames, Doors and Hardware
- Keenen Supply, Jim Urbana - Plumbing Fixtures
- Lees Carpet, Tom MacKay - Carpet
- Lexis Tile and Marble, Inc., Bill Howell - Ceramic Tile Installation
- Olympic Glass, Pete Johnson - Storefront Glass
- Phase II, Dan Larsen - Material and Labor for Metal Stud Framing and Gypsum Board
- Saunders Construction, Tom Blackstone - Estimating
- Scottsbluff Sash & Door, Bill Moore - Millwork for Work Area
- Swinerton & Walberg, Don Hellyer and Larry Duggan - General Contractor

CARRIAGE HOUSE SOLD TO CARETAKERS OF AMERICA

The Carriage House sale is a done deal. On July 29 we closed on the sale and the new owners moved in the weekend of July 30. Yes, we said they moved in. AIA Colorado and Caretakers of America are sharing the Carriage House. With the new space not ready we wondered where were going, but we were able to strike a deal with the new owners since they had no place to go either. The building they were renting was to be demolished the first week of August. They were not excited at the prospect of moving twice, so everyone was happy to be someplace. AIA Colorado occupies the downstairs and Caretakers of America the upstairs. We put our old files in storage and consolidated what we could to make us fit downstairs.

Carriage House Sold

The Carriage House sold for $85,000, giving us $3,865 in profit. Charlie Garretson of Garretson Realty was our real estate agent and represented us well.

Caretakers of America/America's Home Tenders are the new owners of the Carriage House. Clients range from realty companies, financial institutions to relocation companies. A bare house turns people off. Caretakers of America provides furniture and pre-screened housesitters at no cost to the homeowner. They have offices throughout the US, with the Corporate Headquarters now at the Carriage House.

ANSWER TO JUNE TEASER FOR 1994 ANNUAL CONFERENCE

In June we asked you to identify the only member of Congress who is an architect. The answer is Congressman Dick Swett, who represents the 2nd Congressional District of New Hampshire. He was first elected to Congress in 1990, and was the first Democrat elected in 78 years. When re-elected in 1992, he was the first Democrat to win re-election in 120 years, winning 65% of the vote. A graduate of Yale University with a BA in architecture, Congressman Swett is assigned to the Committee on Transportation and Public Works and the Committee on Science, Space and Technology. Congressman Swett is truly a visible leader, helping to change laws for the good of architecture. Look forward to his presentation at the AIA Colorado 1994 Annual Conference.

CHAPTER NEWS

AIA Colorado North

The Colorado North Chapter will present Mr. Frank Lloyd Wright (as portrayed by Lyman Shepard, the world famous Wright impersonator from Chicago). Mr. Shepard will perform two one-hour plays at the Glenn Miller Ballroom on the University of Colorado campus, Boulder, at 3:30 PM on Sunday, September 18. Tickets are $8 for students, $12 for members, and $15 for guests (plus service charge and tax). Tickets are available at all Ticketmaster locations or call 303/290-TIXS.

"Essence of Design," a 10 x 10 slide show featuring 10 architects and 10 slides will be held on Thursday, October 13 at 6:30 PM at the College of Architecture and Planning in Boulder. Call Dave Williams at 443-7533 to be a presenter.

The "Un-Awards" banquet will be held on Friday, November 18 at 6:30, at the Boulderado Hotel. Call Thomas Beck, AIA in Estes Park at 303/586-9528 for more information.

Nominations are being taken for 1995 officers. Call President-Elect Steve Walsh at 447-2926 for more information.

Denver Chapter

AIA Denver will host the Annual Awards and Gala on October 1, 1994 in the Boettcher Conservatory at the Denver Botanic Gardens located at 1005 York Street. Featured keynote speaker Antoine Predock, FAIA has received numerous fellowships and has held several educational positions, received multiple awards and is considered one of the most prominent architects in the nation. The awards jury includes Bob Peters, FAIA, John Anderson, AIA, and Edith Cherry, FAIA, all well-known architects. Tickets are available through the AIA Denver office at 303/892-1188 and are $55 each. Tickets include dinner and admission to the awards ceremony.

Architecture Week runs from September 26 through October 1, 1994, culminating with the Design Awards Gala. The week long festivities include:

- ❑ Mayor's Proclamation of Architecture Week and reception at the Denver Athletic Club at 5:00 PM
- ❑ AIA Denver Breakfast Seminars kick off
- ❑ Tour of the new Denver Central Library. The tour will be limited and is free of charge to the public.

- ❑ AIA Denver's Architecture for Health Committee will present a workshop and program entitled "The Children's Hospital for the Future: A Child's Perspective."
- ❑ Firm tour at Michael Barber Architecture
- ❑ Tours of Coors Field
- ❑ AIA Denver's Interiors Committee Sponsors "Successful Solutions II"
- ❑ AIA Denver's Children in Architecture committee will sponsor a children's competition

Call AIA Denver at 303/892-1188 for further details.

AIA Colorado South

AIA Colorado South will present an event open to architects and the public called "Frank Lloyd Wright: Architecture is a Quality of Mind." The multi-media production, authorized and presented by Spencer Lake, AIA, San Diego, California, covers the seven decades of Wright's work. Lake presents the show with little editorial comment, allowing the buildings to speak for themselves as the viewer is moved through Wright's remarkable 70 year career. A reception for Mr. Lake will follow the showing. The presentation will be held on Thursday, September 8, at 7:00 PM at the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center, 30 West Dale Street. Tickets are $6.00 for the public, $5.00 for students and Fine Arts Center Members, and free to AIA Colorado South Members. Contact Peter Wood, AIA Colorado South Chapter President, at 719/632-3129 for more information.

AIA Colorado West

Many of the events planned at the beginning of the year are now happening or have been completed. 10 x 10's were presented in Steamboat Springs and Telluride and others are planned for Aspen and Vail. The Telluride presentations were the first organized activity sponsored by the AIA in that town and is part of our effort to reach out to the more remote regions of the West Chapter.

As these events come to fruition, planning has begun for next year with nominations to the new Board. There will be many new members for an expanded Board that will concentrate on improving the newsletter and expanding our annual awards program. In addition, we are also selecting area representatives for Telluride and Durango who, although they will not be able to attend most Board meetings, will help begin to bridge the distance which up to now has kept these members out of most of the West Chapter's activities.

MEMBER NEWS

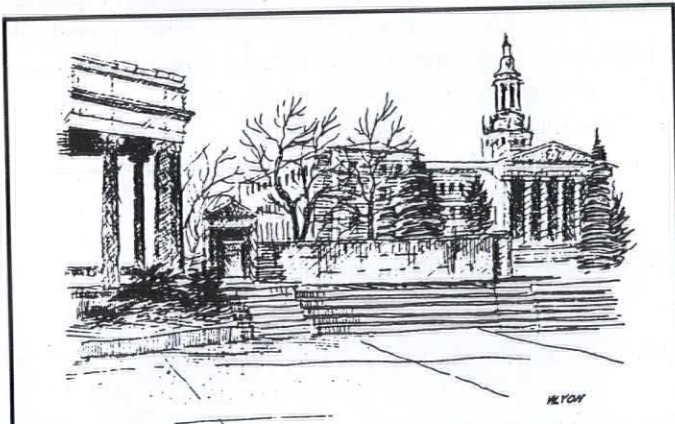

Barker Rinker Seacat & Partners, Architects, P.C., has announced four new, full-fledged partners, including Phil Lawrence, AIA.

Marvin Hatami, FAIA, who currently teaches architecture and urban design at CU Denver will take a year-long sabbatical conducting research in Urban Design and Planning in Paris and its territories. His research will focus on theories, approaches and strategies in the master planning and implementation of various renewal, planning and architectural projects.

Tom Hart, AIA, Chairs the 1994 Park Hill Home Tour, which also includes his remodeled contemporary home at 2072 Glencoe Street.

AIA COLORADO TO ELECT OFFICERS FOR 1995

The Nomination Committee submits the following nominees for the 1995 Board Officers for AIA Colorado:

President Elect:	Randy Thorne, AIA
Treasurer Elect:	Wendy Thoresen, AIA Mike Ossian, AIA
Secretary:	Dean Koll, AIA Mary Mason, AIA
Associate Director:	Kevin Hoskins, Associate AIA Michael DeMichele, Associate AIA

Nominee biographies and photographs will be included in the October Field Report, along with a ballot. If you would like to nominate a member for office, please contact Alan Zeigel, AIA, at 303/861-5704.

MORE CHANGES AT AIA COLORADO

We hope we have finished changing faces at AIA Colorado, but we still have a move ahead of us. Our newest face is Maria Tanguma, our new receptionist and friendly voice on the telephone. Maria has lots of experience working with professionals since she has worked for lawyers for most of her working life. Maria's family includes her husband and three children. She is quickly learning all about us and how to assist you when you call, and is looking forward to working with both AIA Denver and AIA Colorado. Call to say "Hi" if you get a chance.

AIA MEMO GETS A NEW FACE

The AIA MEMO will be no more. In October a new publication will replace it. It will be 11 X 17 in size with 25-26 pages. This is all part of the new communications system being instituted in Washington. Terry McDermott, AIA National Executive Director and Chet Widom, FAIA National Present-Elect shared some of the new goodies with the Component Executives at their August meeting in Seattle. A new marketing firm, The Martin Agency from Richmond, VA, is working on the launch of a new image campaign to promote the value of AIA architects.

THE ECO-CORNER

Healthy and Vital Architecture - This video explores the uses of sun, earth, air and water energies to create a vital, healthy human environment. Richard L. Crowther's holistic approach to architecture will become the building blocks for creating sustainable shelter for the next millennium. Available from AIA Colorado, the price is $29.95 plus tax. Call AIA Colorado at 831-6183.

CALL FOR ENTRIES

FabStruct: A Student Design Challenge - Fabrics & Architecture magazine is pleased to introduce FabStruct: The 1995 international Membrane Structure Student Design Challenge. FabStruct invites students to design a freestanding architectural fabric structure that could be used for a street-painting competition. The freestanding structure must be a temporary membrane structure with some permanent fixtures that provides shade, offers freedom of movement, and provides clear sight lines. Students can design a canopy, tent, air or tensile structure, a hybrid of these existing applications, or something entirely new. To receive more information or a FabStruct brochure and entry form, call Lisa Konn at Fabrics & Architecture, 612/222-2508.

CANstruction - The Society of Architectural Administrators is seeking design teams for the Third Annual CANstruction competition. Members of the design community are challenged to out-do last years winner, the 7,000 lb. Coors Field by Martin-Martin Consulting Engineers. The CANstruction Manager must be an architectural administration, and teams are to design a structure out of food that relates to this year's theme, FOOD. Building materials are to be non-perishable food items and will be donated to the Food Bank of the Rockies after the competition. Call Karen Roman at 303/758-8877 or Linda Kelly at 303/431-6100 for more information.

Presidential Design Awards 1995- From the nationally revered Vietnam Veterans memorial to the lifesaving EGIS Explosives Detector, from the stunning Linn Cove Viaduct that hugs the side of North Carolina's Grandfather Mountains to the dignified and uplifting Mer Rouge Villas low-income housing project in Louisiana, the products of federal design are everywhere, seeking to serve and inspire their users. These four projects are among 31 federal design projects that have been honored with a Presidential Award for Design Excellence and 216 projects awarded a Federal Design Achievement Award. Contact Thomas Grooms at the National Endowment for the Arts for information at 202/682-5437.

PROGRESSION...ASCENSION...PAUSE

by Lauren T. Ferris, Associate AIA

The Young Architects' Forum of Denver sponsored their second annual CMU design charette on Saturday, August 6. The competition was held on the 16th Street Mall.

The purpose of the competition is to help educate the public about architects and let them see, first hand, some aspects of the design process. Many people stop by during the 4-hour charette time and ask questions and share their opinions. During the last half hour, we have spectators vote for the "People's Choice" award.

Each year the competitors are given three basic concepts which they must depict using only the masonry units provided to them. This year's terms were "progression," "ascension" and "pause." Each team had 180 concrete masonry units and 80 bricks, which were donated by Valley Block and Lakewood Brick Company. Upon completion of the days activities, volunteers from Annunciation Housing Partnership pick up the donated units and use them for construction projects throughout the year. Annunciation Housing Partnership is a non-profit group which builds cooperative housing for low income families.

The event is a lot of fun and the public participation is very inspirational. We hope to get even more people to participate in next year's event.

DOCUMENTS AND PUBLICATIONS

The Sustainable Design Resource Guide contains information on a comprehensive range of environmental building topics followed by a list and description of the latest "green" building products with an emphasis on those locally manufactured and distributed. Conveniently organized according to the sixteen divisions established by the CSI, it is designed to help architects, designers, builders, contractors, and homeowners select, locate and specify environmentally-friendly building products. The guide has been written and edited by the volunteer efforts of over thirty design professionals from the ranks of AIA Denver, the Committee for the Environment and ASDPSR, and reviewed and edited by the nationally recognized experts, Richard Crowther, FAIA, and Gregory Franta, FAIA. It is a non-profit entity and all proceeds are channeled back into its production and growth. The Guide is $29.95 per copy (tax and postage are included). Send your check payable to AIA Denver/SDRG, 1660 Wynkoop, Suite 120, Denver, CO, 80202, 303/892-1188.

The Architect's Guide to Fees - Many architects don't charge enough, too often not even enough to cover their costs. They don't charge enough and they're not successful in getting paid the fees they do charge. The main reason is simple lack of data; lack of data on what other firms actually charge for minimal, median and comprehensive services. Other firms charge top fees with minimal client resistance. They know how to make accurate fee estimates relative to services to be performed. They know what others charge for what level of service and they can prove it to their clients. They can also show clients the disastrous results of hiring marginal, low-bid design offices. The Architect's Guide to Fees includes three volumes: Fee '94, Fees & Fee Management, and The Design Services Appraiser. Call Guidelines at 800/634-7779 to order.

CLASSIFIEDS

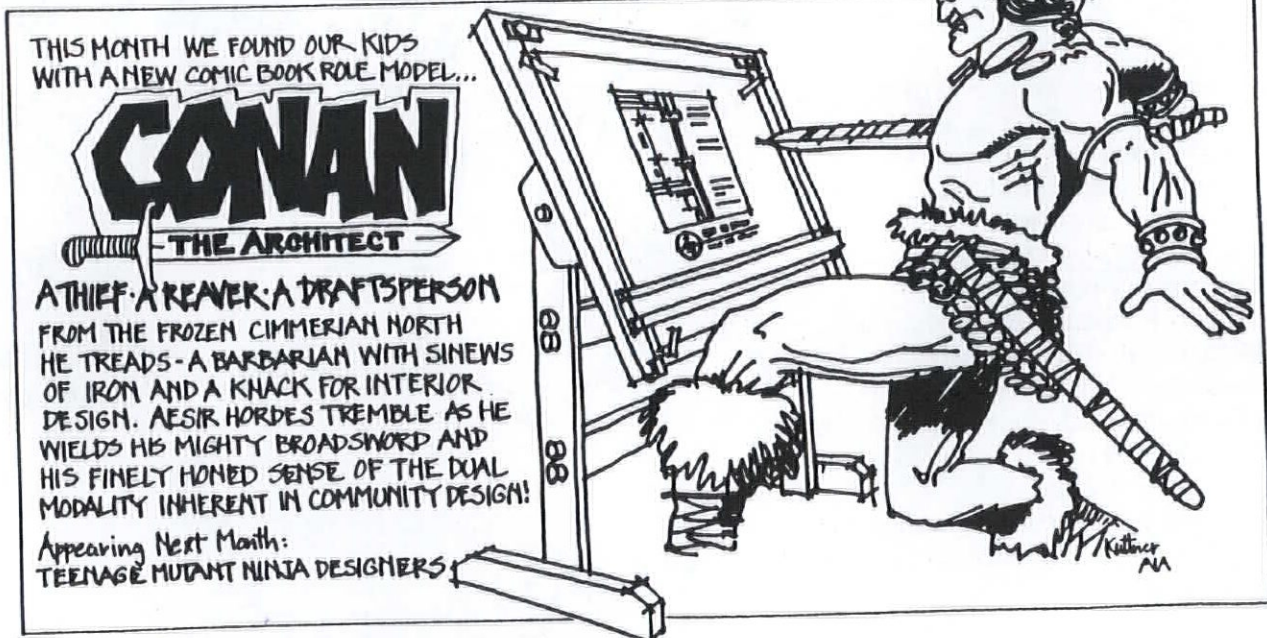

Assistant Professor of Architecture. Ph.D. or D. Arch and an established record of teaching and research experience in an accredited graduate architecture program are required. Applicant qualifications must include evidence of both a teaching/research specialization in the architectural technologies with an emphasis on indoor environmental performance analysis, and a teaching/research specialization in advanced graphic and CAD applications and programming on both Macintosh and DOS-based platforms.

Initial application by resume only to: Director, Architecture Programs, New College of Architecture and Planning, University of Colorado at Denver, Campus Box 126, P.O. Box 173364, Denver, CO 80217-3364. Application deadline October 7, 1994. Appointment scheduled to commence in January, 1995.

The University of Colorado at Denver is committed to enhancing the diversity of its administration, faculty and staff and invites and strongly encourages nominations of and applications from women, members of ethnic and racial minorities, veterans, and people with disabilities. Alternative formats of this advertisement are available upon request for people with disabilities.
