The Denver Chapter of The American Institute of Architects 1993 Firm Profile

WHAT IS THE DENVER CHAPTER AIA FIRM PROFILE?

The Profile is a roster of AIA member architectural firms. All firms listed employ professional architects, registered and licensed to practice after meeting stringent educational and practical requirements, who subscribe to professional standards advanced by the American Institute of Architects.

Additional professional listings describe services available from a variety of individuals and firms in disciplines related to architecture.

Profile data regarding architectural firms was provided by the firms via a survey soliciting information most frequently requested by these users:

- * Potential clients seeking information about area firms
- * Architectural, contracting, engineering, and other firms in the building industry pursuing consultant services

* Manufacturers and suppliers to the building industry assessing prospects for marketing and service

* Newcomers to the area, and others with local employment goals

Profile users are invited to contact architects and other professionals listed in the Profile for clarification or additional information. Responsibility for the contents of the listing rests solely with the listed firm.

HOW TO USE THE PROFILE

Basic information about the firm, types of work offered, and personnel by number and type is listed in the Profile. Firms are also asked to provide examples of their work.

SELECTING AN ARCHITECT

The preparers of the Profile urge those contemplating a project which may involve hiring an architect to seek architectural consultation early in the process. A simple, brief phone call to an architect will tell you whether you can take advantage of complimentary consultation. Many architects are willing to meet with you initially without obligation.

Selecting an architect is a personal decision requiring the client's thoughtfulness and care. The preparers of the Profile believe that the information provided here can be of assistance in that decision by providing a perspective on the variety of architectural services available.

Perhaps most useful for your choice is consultation with a professional architect, or with two or three architects, to give you a sample of what you might expect from working with one of them, and to find a satisfactory match of your needs with what the architect can supply. You and your architect, working together, can turn your ideas and requirements into a built reality.

THE PELLA ARCHITECT SERIES.

BECAUSE THERE'S NO
SUCH THING AS SORT-OF
ARCHITECTURALLY CORRECT.

The Architect Series™ from Pella® is the result of literally hundreds of hours spent listening to architects talk about windows.

We asked them to unshackle their imaginations, to forget about what was currently possible in the world of window design and pretend they live in a world without restrictions.

What would they like to see?

What we heard required us to create a whole new technology for window design and manufacture. Windows have never been made quite this way before.

We believe The Architect Series represents the perfect fusion of both aesthetics and functionality in an energy-conscious world.
