

We're hoping to see you
at the MSA Convention

Please consider this your personal invitation to visit the masonry industry displays at the 61st Annual MSA Convention, October 20-22, in Lansing.

The Masonry Institute of Michigan will be joined by the Mid East Region, Brick Institute of America, and the Concrete Products Guild of Michigan in bringing you the masonry story.

Our theme is: "The Human Scale of Masonry."

At the Masonry Institute booth, you'll see...

- ...The latest technical information that's available to keep you abreast of the state of the art in masonry design and construction.
- ...How this information is used in educational materials and training programs to keep union bricklayers, masonry foremen and mason contractors up-to-date on the latest advances in masonry technology.
- ...That these technical advances in the hands of skilled people have helped keep masonry competitive with other building materials, despite its seeming disadvantage as a hand-laid material. Our latest Masonry Cost Guide will demonstrate that you can achieve "the human scale of masonry" at no extra cost.

As someone once said, the more things change, the more they remain the same. Throughout history, architects have always returned to masonry as man's basic building material. There are many good reasons why that's happening again today, and members of the Masonry Institute staff will be there to discuss them with you.

We hope you'll stop and see us.

Sincerely,

MASONRY INSTITUTE OF
MICHIGAN, INC.

John A. Heslip
Executive Director

LEGISLATIVE LOG
BUSINESS MUST BECOME POLITICAL SAYS RICHEY

If business people do not become deeply involved in electing suitable public officials--involved by giving their time, talents and money to candidates who are sympathetic to the needs of business--then they (meaning WE)"...may wake up to find themselves pallbearers at the funeral of free enterprise."

That was the central message delivered by Herbert Richey, Chairman of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, in a recent speech in Lansing, Richey warned of modern-day regressionists who are urging us to abandon private enterprise in favor of the inefficiencies of a state-controlled economy. They might well succeed, he said. "There's no law of nature to prevent the institutionalization of a silly idea. It happens with alarming frequency."

WHEN YOU TESTIFY---

You may attend a hearing and not speak if you wish. However, if you plan to present your views and comments please prepare them in writing and have copies available for the hearing committee. This in no way limits or restricts your oral commentary.

If you are unable to attend the hearing you may send your written comments to the proper agency conducting the hearing before the close of the business day preceeding the day of the hearing.

If you have any questions regarding the proper procedures or the content of your commentary please call the MSA office.

MICHIGAN DELEGATES SCOUT LEGISLATIVE
CONFERENCE IN PREPARATION FOR 1977 MEETING IN DETROIT

About 2,000 legislators and legislative staff people, including about 20 from Michigan Wednesday opened the 2nd annual meeting of the National Conference of State Legislators. The Michigan delegates, some of whom are here specifically on a scouting mission to prepare for next year's August 1-6 convention in Detroit, gathered at a pre-breakfast meeting with a representative of the Metropolitan Detroit Convention and Visitors Bureau. The meeting involved a general discussion of promoting the convention and reviewing the operation of convention here. Richard Key, associate manager of the bureau, said he is spending much of his time in reassuring delegates that hotel facilities in the new Detroit Renaissance Center are large enough to hold everyone under one roof and all convention activity will take place in that area. He said he is hoping for 2,000 to 3,000 delegates and spouses and added they would be expected to spend about $750,000. The Michigan Legislature has appropriated $150,000 to plan and subsidize the convention.

Registered Michigan delegates this year include Sens. Gilbert Bursley (R-Ann Arbor), Anthony Dereziński (D-Muskegon), Jack Faxon (D-Detroit) and Reps. Thomas Anderson (D-Southgate), Melvin DeStigter (R-Allendale), Daisy Elliot (D-Detroit), and Matthew McNeely (D-Detroit).

ASSOCIATION EXHIBITS HELD NOT TAXABLE

The Senate-House Conference Committee on the Tax Reform Bill (H.R. 10612) passed unanimously September 1 a provision eliminating taxes on association trade shows and exhibits.

Section 2106 passed by the Conference Committee exempts from tax the income from conventions and trade shows of associations conducting trade show activities which stimulate interest in, and demand for, related products and services.

The conferees are expected to finish work on the Tax Reform Bill shortly after the Labor Day recess. The trade show provision will not become effective until the House and Senate approve the Tax Reform Bill and President Ford signs the measure.

BUILDING PLANNING

The Governor signed a capital outlay planning measure that is a companion piece to a bonding bill he previously signed. The measure (SB 1471) establishes the procedures to be used under the bonding process. It provides for planning recommendations by the Department of Management and Budget, and approval of buildings to be planned by the Legislature's Joint Capital Outlay Committee. The Legislature and the governor would then give final approval to planning projects through legislation.

LETTER

The Honorable Coleman A. Young
Mayor of the City of Detroit
City-County Building
Detroit, MI 48226

Dear Mayor Young:

Thank you for joining us at the opening of the American Institute of Architects Honor Awards Exhibit. Not only was it a pleasure to have you with us but we found your comments about Detroit both informative and hopeful. We heartily agree-Detroiters must think positively and they have many reasons to do so. We hope you will not hesitate to call on the Detroit Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, especially its Urban Design Committee, for any support or help you may need to keep Detroit moving.

John W. Jickling, AIA, President, Detroit Chapter, AIA

Editor's Note: This Exhibit was the National Honor Awards on loan to Detroit for 30 days. The opening was in the Detroit City-County Building and from there the Exhibit went to the Fisher Building, New Center Area and finally to the new Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn.

REGIONAL DIRECTORS' REPORT

As the halfway point in my 3 year term as your Regional Director passes, I have begun to realize the wisdom in making it such a long term of office. Exposure to AIA at this level, though intensive, nevertheless needs that amount of time to learn and contribute effectively. As Chairman of the Government Affairs Commission and involved in the 1977 program planning process as a Commission Chairman this year and again in 1977, a different perspective of AIA is available to me which I could not otherwise experience. Throughout this report, I will try to share much of this with you.

Though there appears to be several months lead time from our discussions here, I urge each of you to return to your Chapter, the task of seeking candidates for Regional Director 1977-1980. Look for qualified candidates who can spend 25-30% of their work days away from their office on AIA Business. I have previously asked that the elections take place at the annual mid-summer conference on Mackinac Island, August 1977. I would further ask that the candidates be named early enough to utilize the absentee ballot process for that election.

For your information here are the past Directors for Michigan since the State has been a single region:

1960-1962 Linn Smith, FAIA, Detroit Chapter

1963-1965 Adrian Langius, FAIA, Mid-Michigan

1966-1968 Philip Meathe, FAIA, Detroit Chapter

1969-1971 the late Walter Sanders, FAIA,
Huron Valley Chapter

1972-1974 Clarence Rosa, FAIA, Mid-Michigan

1975-1977 William Jarrett, FAIA, Detroit
Chapter

Once again the appointment process to standing, Line (Type A) National Committees of AIA is completed. There was some improvement over last year, but for the most part Chapters were of little help in the process. Wherever possible, individual requests to serve on committees have been honored. With the single exception of the Committee on Community Development, Michigan is represented on all national AIA Committees of this type. There were no requests to serve on the the Community Development Committee nor was I able to find anyone to represent Michigan on that Committee.

The AIA National Board of Directors will hold its regular third meeting on Mackinac Island in late September, 1977. By electing your new Regional Director early, he/she can join me for the Board meeting and gain some advanced insight of Board operations.

Commensurate with the number of AIA members in this region, Michigan is permitted no more than three regular members on each Committee. In addition, an unlimited number of non-quota members (women, minorities, faculty) are permitted. However, this year non-quota candidates appointments to committees are less than last year. Appointment to special committees (Type B) and Task Forces (Type C) are made by the Commissions and Officers of the Institute later in the year.

Attached is a list of the appointments for Standing, Line Committees for 1977 from Michigan. Each candidate will receive written confirmation from President Elect Jack McGinty, FAIA, later this year. The prefix before each name designates the Chapter. "Rep" means the person is the partially funded representative of the region. "Partially funded" means the AIA will reimburse the cost of air fare, less $10.00.

Last fall I reported that 1976 income would fall short of needs of the Institute for the current year. At mid-year I am happy to report to you that the reduced income budgeted for 1976 seems to be holding true. The Institute programs, though somewhat reduced from previous years, can be carried out as planned for 1976. The realistic approach to budgeting and general tightening of expenditures in the planning process a year ago, has paid off.

With apparent success of its 1976 program and budget well in hand, the Planning Committee has begun the planning process for 1977. Income from supplemental dues will be much less in 1977. Steadily decreasing employment in Architectural Firms in 1976 will reduce supplemental dues income by $750,000 in 1977.

Serious consideration is being given to a re-structuring of the Commission to accomplish a viable program for 1977, but for less cost. Cost is reduced by consolidating programs and reducing staff.

Those of us who attended the Convention in Philadelphia shared a great experience. The City was the place for Architects to be in this bi-centennial year. The Michigan delegation held a well attended caucus in Philadelphia where once again up-to-date information on convention business was discussed prior to the business session. The issues of the Convention were debated with great eloquence-the prime issue of course being the ethical standards. The ethics matter was tabled for further study and will become the major issue before the Convention in San Diego next year.

During my meetings with members around Michigan I have attempted to challenge every AIA member to seriously study the revisions on ethics and communicate his or her views to the Ethics Task Force to help them in their deliberations and preparations for the final resolution by June, 1977.

There are several ways to make known your position on ethics. A Task Force is currently conducting hearings around the country where your representatives may express their views and the views of your chapter. You may wish to form a common position in your Chapter which can be conveyed direct to Robert M. Lawrence, FAIA, Chairman, Task Force on Ethics, 1735 New York Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006. If you wish, I can convey your thoughts to the Task Force personally. The ethics will be brought before the Board of Directors in September and again in December. The first sounding board is Grass Roots 1977. In San Diego, June 1977, at convention the final decision will be made.

Once again the primary issues for ethical standards revision are: 1. Lift the ban on advertising. 2. Construction contracting permitted with full disclosure. 3. Free sketches permitted if requested by client, however, Architect cannot volunteer to do free sketches.

Again this year I have scheduled rap sessions with the members of each chapter. I have met with the Huron Valley Chapter, Northern Michigan, Mid-Michigan, Western Michigan, and Saginaw Valley Chapters so far this year. The Detroit Chapter has scheduled me for October 13, The Flint area Chapter has scheduled me on November 10th for a meeting with its membership, and Grand Valley Chapter November 18th. I believe the rap sessions have been good. Their acceptance has convinced me that this form of communication should be continued-perhaps intensified.

I have a few membership statistics that may be of interest to you. 4400 Architectural Firms report that of the 15,500 registered architects, of which 7,500 are principals and 8,000 are employees, 7,000 principals are members of AIA and 2,800 employees are members. Another way of looking at it-93% of the principals are AIA members where only 35% of the registered architect employees are members.

Since 1973, firms have been reporting their employment statistics on a quarterly basis. Using June 30, 1974, as the recent highest employment date and as an index of 100.0, there has been a consistent drop in employment down to a low of 84.8 on March 31, 1976. For the first time in several months, the index has turned up, showing 86.1 on June 30th. AIA membership has held close to 1975 figures. Corporate membership stands at just under 23,000. There are 250 National Associates and 2,300 Members Emeriti. As reported to you before, there are about 60,000 registered Architects in this nation. This statistic became known to us only last year.

Before learning of the great number of non-members we thought AIA was doing well. We could only account for 35,000 registered architects, 25,000 of which were AIA members. Now, adding the fact that there are 35,000 students in Architectural programs and 6,000 graduating each year and 60% or 3,600 of them seeking and entering the field of Architecture each year, we have a problem. How can we attract more registered Architects to AIA to assure majority representation of the profession in the society?

Apparently most registered Architects do not believe that AIA is the strongest professional society representing Architects today. We recognize that improvements must be made to raise the credibility of AIA in the eyes of the prospective member and such improvements are constantly under way. The front line of AIA's image is with the Chapter and State Society, and I urge the Michigan Chapter's to look at themselves and do whatever they can to lift the image of AIA. For sometime there has been a move to strengthen the communication network and better support its components. The Institute is attempting direction to help themselves in better ways.

The membership issue was also tabled at convention for further study. It is intended that new membership categories will be presented with respective dues levels. Grass Roots in January, will be the first forum for revised dues presentation. Final membership categories revisions are scheduled for final resolution at Convention, June 1977. The Michigan Region representatives will participate in Grass Roots East, in Washington, D.C., January 24, 25 and 26. West and middle region Grass Roots are earlier, so we will have the benefit of refinements of presentation after two tests in the other regions before us.

HISTORIC WORKSHOP

The Association for Preservation Technology/Southeast Michigan Chapter is holding a workshop "Their Buildings Now, the Care of Old Structures" on November 11-13 1976 at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Those attending the workshop concerned with the care, interpretation, and protection of old structures will be exposed to practical and imaginative alternatives used in the preservation and restoration of building and plant materials. Specific building materials will be studied for their composition and use in building construction. Appropriate and inappropriate solutions to buildings and landscape preservation techniques will be shared at the conference in small seminar sessions. Participants will learn from past examples and investigation from individual experts experienced in the field of preservation approaches that could be followed.

The Conference is sponsored by the National Trust for Historic Preservation, the Historic Resources Committee of the national American Institute of Architects, the Association for Preservation Technology/Southeast Michigan Chapter, and Lawrence Institute of Technology. It will be presented by the APT/Southeast Michigan Chapter and Lawrence Institute of Technology.

The Program Outline is as follows:

HELP THE FOUNDERS SOCIETY

Because the Detroit Institute of Arts is the country's fifth-largest museum, they need a lot of materials and equipment to keep it going—and those things cost money.

We're hoping you have something new or almost new that they can use. Some of the things they need are pretty ordinary: Furniture, lumber and tools, office equipment machinery. But a big museum needs lots of things you might never think about: Our Conservation Lab wants a washing machine, a scanning electron microscope, and dental tools. Theatre Arts needs a 16mm movie projector and stage lighting fixtures. And our Printing Department really could use a new printing press.

Tangible gifts to the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts are tax-deductible as provided by law. Your attorney or tax advisor and the Founders Society Development office can give you information regarding tax deductions for gift in-kind.

Their list includes their most pressing needs, but there are many others. If you have materials or equipment you think they may be able to use, please let them know by writing: Mr. Boris Sellers, Director of Development, Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward, Detroit, MI 48202

Everything you always wanted to know about...MASONRY

Six new programs now available to architects

A couple of months ago, you may remember us telling you that the Masonry Institute of Michigan was in the process of developing a series of 12 hour-long programs covering various aspects of masonry design and construction.

Now, it's our pleasure to report that the first six of these dozen programs are complete and available for showing in your office by a member of our staff.

Here are the programs that are now available:

BRICK AS A BUILDING MATERIAL

CONCRETE MASONRY AS A BUILDING MATERIAL

SELECTING MORTARS FOR MASONRY CONSTRUCTION

SELECTING AND SIZING MASONRY WALLS TO RESIST FIRE

MOVEMENT CONTROL IN MASONRY WALLS

WEATHERPROOFING MASONRY WALLS

The programs feature the latest available information. For veteran architects, they provide a valuable update on the "state of the art." For newcomers to the design profession, they serve as a veritable primer on masonry as a building material.

All the programs are illustrated with slides. All discuss the appropriate reference material that is available on each subject. And all are open-ended... to allow time for questions and answers.

To arrange a showing of the program or programs of your choice, just call the Masonry Institute, (313) 476-2495.

It's a good opportunity for you and members of your staff to learn "everything you always wanted to know about masonry."

Cordially,

MASONRY INSTITUTE OF
MICHIGAN, INC.

A CONVENTION REPORT

The 61st MSA Convention is now history. Those who participated by attending either part-time or full time, are to be congratulated. Many great events took place.

The first notable occurrence was the presentation by Art Nelson, MSA Director from Saginaw Valley, on behalf of the Saginaw Chapter, of a beautiful lithograph of notable historic buildings in the Saginaw Area. This artwork will be framed and displayed in MSA Headquarters. Copies of the Lithograph are available and can be purchased through Art Nelson (517) 799-5211.

The MSA Board endorsed the preparation planning of a state-wide R/UDAT workshop. The criteria for basic planning consists of each chapter "enlisting" the services of at least four members, with one being designated as chairman. The chairman must be a person who will assume those coordination responsibilities required during the R/UDAT. Full information concerning the R/UDAT will be available at the all day seminar/workshop. (The date, time and place are still to be determined)

The exhibitors provided a wealth of new information. They displayed interest and enthusiasm; we've made some new friends.

The seminar programs varied in sufficient degree to satisfy most appetites. Questions have been asked of the Institute in the area of ethics. An insight into the pros and cons were provided by Lou Menk, FAIA and Bill Jarrett, FAIA, regarding ethics. Chuck McCaffery, AIA presented a significant program on Historic Preservation, showing examples of good fortune that can come to many of the buildings we would consider in continuing to provide a contribution to community growth. What can one say about "Korab and His Kamera"? His presentation on Columbus, Indiana was outstanding. The seminars on energy and ASHRAE 90/75 illustrated topics that we must live with daily and which will affect your next project.

The Individual Development Seminar afforded those in attendance an opportunity to help themselves and others. It was a departure from architecture and it was great!

We also had the opportunity to visit many of the State of Michigan Department Heads at the Breakfast. Al Durkee of the Bureau of Facilities and Bill Roege, Director of the Construction Group, took time to join us, as did Representative Rusty Hellman of the Joint Capitol Outlay Committee. You should know that Representative Hellman tells it like it is and he did just that as he commented on what he thought the architects in Michigan would be doing in the next few years.

Carl Fischer, AIA discussed recertification and how it will affect every registered architect in the State of Michigan. He talked of the work being done by Gene Terrill, AIA, (Chairman, MSA Continuing Education Program) and the fact the MSA is working with the State Universities on a continuing education program to accomplish goals serving the needs of recertification and resoprosity.

Leo Shea, AIA reviewed and explained the changes in the AIA 201 General Conditions document: It has been revised to better assist you in your practice. We look forward to its availability from MSA Headquarters.

And finally, the Awards Banquet, the opportunity to converse with and congratulate those architects we always talk about; to discuss with them their successes; to honor Bill Kessler, MSA's Gold Medalist, the highest recognition that can be conveyed by MSA.

The Mid-Michigan the Convention Chairman, Moe Stein, and the MSA Staff are to be congratulated, as are those who attended.

If you are counted among those who did not support this program, I would like to hear from you. What was lacking that caused you to miss out? Write me!

Gene DiLaura, AIA, President Michigan Society of Architects

LANSING SIDELIGHT

The continuing education program on Solar Design conducted by James Lambeth, AIA during the MSA Convention in Lansing was well attended and well recieved.

Lambeth, a faculty member at the University of Arkansas has been honored by the AUA Research Corporation for the "most efficient solar structure per dollar in 1975". Since 1968 his works have been widely published in professional journals.

We will reschedule this program if we have sufficient interest in the MSA. Registration Fee is $50.00 for members and this includes costs of materials, lunch and coffee breaks. Location and a date will be determined by demand. Please call Evelyn at MSA if you are interested in attending "Solar Designing: Design Responses to Renewable Resources.

LOUIS REDSTONE TO SPEAK AT PRODUCERS LUNCHEON

Louis G. Redstone, AIA will be the guest speaker at a Producers' Council luncheon meeting to be held on December 2, 1976, at the Engineering Society of Detroit, 100 Farnsworth. Contact Mr. Robert Denlinger at 967-1300 x 185 for reservations.

PLYWOOD DESIGN AWARDS DEADLINE DECEMBER 1

December 1 is the deadline for entering the Plywood Design Awards program, which recognizes outstanding aesthetic and structural applications of soft plywood.

Cash awards of $1,000 each and Citations of Merit are presented in four catagories: Residential Single Family, Residential/Multifamily, Vacation Homes, and Commerical/Institutional.

Entry information is available from the American Plywood Association, 1119 A Street, Tacoma, Washington 98401, which sponsors the annual AIA-sanctioned program with Professional Builder magazine.

CONSTRUCTION MANAGEMENT EXPERT TO PRESENT SEMINAR ON CASH FLOW AND CONTROL

Robert L. Teets, Chicago, author of the newly published book, "Profitable Management for the Subcontractor" (McGraw-Hill, 320 pages, $16.50), will present a one-day seminar on Cash Flow and Control to contractors, subcontractors, consultants and business owners, February 1, 1977 at the Marriott Motor Hotel, 8535 W. Higgins Road, Chicago, IL. The seminar is being sponsored by Midwest Electrical News magazine, Chicago.

"ARE YOU PREPARED?"

A new document is now available from MSA headquarters on the "Federal Marketplace: Are You Prepared?" to put design professionals on the equal footing with the federal agencies in order that you may have precise kinds of information about policies, new projects, how to make agencies aware of the architect, the ins and outs of the current laws governing the procurement of A/E services, which offices make the selections and how the various agencies evaluate, select and negotiate with architects and engineers.

This document will keep you abreast of changes as they occur in the federal marketplace. Price per copy is $7.20 to AIA members, $9.00 to non-members.

Call the document desk at MSA, for your copy. (313) 965-4100.
