The vote is in

FOUR MSA MEMBERS TO BE HONORED
AT 1980 MASONRY AWARDS BANQUET

A jury of Denver architects, after studying 43 entries, has selected four winners in the fifth annual Honor Awards Program for Excellence in Masonry Design, sponsored by the Masonry Institute of Michigan in cooperation with the Michigan Society of Architects.

Their choices will be announced at the annual Masonry Awards Banquet, to be held Saturday, January 19, 1980, at the Engineering Society of Detroit. The architects of the winning projects, the owners, and the mason contractors involved in their construction, will receive cast bronze "M Awards" in recognition of their achievements.

Featured speaker at the banquet will be John T. Joyce, newly elected president of the Bricklayers International Union.

Circle January 19 on your calendar now and join with us in honoring the year's best in masonry design. A formal invitation will be mailed to your office. Let us know if you'll need overnight accommodations; we have reserved a block of rooms at the Plaza Hotel in Detroit's Renaissance Center.

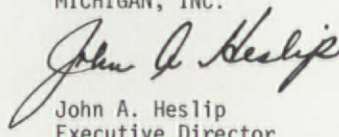

And don't forget our technical programs

Whether your office is large or small, whether you're located in Southfield, East Lansing, Northport or West Branch, our staff members are available to you. We offer a series of 12 hour-long slide programs on various aspects of masonry design and construction. For a look at exactly what's available, see our newsletter, "The Story Pole." (The next issue will be out later this month.) Then, to arrange to have one or more of these programs shown in your office, give us a call at (313) 478-6455. Use the same number anytime you have a question about masonry.

We'll be looking forward to seeing you...in your office and at the Masonry Awards Banquet January 19.

Sincerely,

MASONRY INSTITUTE OF MICHIGAN, INC.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

Administrator Douglas Costle of the Environmental Protection Agency announced in Lansing that the EPA intends to deny Michigan's request to extend the deadline for a vehicle inspection and maintenance (I&M) program for southeastern Michigan.

This means that new-source permits and modifications for hydrocarbon and carbon dioxide emitters such as auto factories, oil refineries, and power plants will be frozen in the Detroit area until the state legislature passes an I&M program, at least for southeastern Michigan.

This mandatory freeze, provided for in the 1977 amendments to the Clean Air Act could also affect federal highway funds for the Detroit area. An I&M bill, supported by Governor Milliken, is expected to be introduced shortly.

The ban affects Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw, Monroe, St. Clair, and Livingston counties. Permits submitted before July 1, 1979 will be issued. Those submitted after the deadline will be processed but not issued.

The situation was compounded when Detroit Chapter member David Hawkins, AIA wrote Rep. William Brodhead in Washington, deploring the situation. "This precipitous action on the part of the government can only deepen the current recession & imperil the future of a great many families and jobless who seek hope & positive leadership in this time of massive inflation."

Brodhead wrote back, "According to Mr. Joe Zucker of EPA's Congressional Affairs Office, no such moratorium has been imposed, although such a move might be possible in the future if certain areas in Michigan do not meet "clean air" standards set by the agency."

Subsequent action by the MSA resulted in Zucker saying he had been misquoted in the letter and that clearer information on the Clean Air Act would be forthcoming.

THE MSA CIVIL SERVICE TASK FORCE:

A SUCCESS STORY

by Richard L. Glissman, AIA, Chairman

"In order to safeguard life, health, and property, any person practicing or offering to practice the profession of architecture...shall hereafter be required to submit evidence that he is qualified so to practice and shall be registered..."

This quotation is from Public Act 240, the State of Michigan Registration Act, and was the issue facing the MSA from the Michigan Department of Civil Service, and the reason for the creation of the MSA Civil Service Task Force.

In July, 1978, the Michigan Department of Civil Service issued the Benchmark Classification System for Engineering/Scientific personnel. This brought vigorous disagreement and objections from many State employed architects and engineers because it lacked any requirement or even recognition of professional registration in any job description, although the duties described were similar to those cited in Public Act 240. Furthermore, architects were renamed

"Facilities Engineers" or "Architectural Specialist."

There was also an emphasis on management responsibilities, failing to recognize the technical expertise and project responsibility of many publicly employed professionals.

Within ten days, the Ad Hoc Civil Service Task Force was appointed by President Arthur Nelson, AIA. It consisted of William N. Gardner, AIA, Ed Jackson, AIA, Charles Sleeper, W.F. Nuechterlein, Bernard Mayotte, AIA, and Richard L. Glissman, AIA, as Chairman.

The task force developed a formal resolution which was presented and approved by the MSA Board and membership at the 1978 Mid Summer Conference. It noted the need for highly qualified personnel in the present climate of limited natural and financial resources, as well as consumer and environmental concerns. A conciliatory attitude was emphasized with the offer to work cooperatively with Civil Service.

During the autumn of 1978, the task force met with other professional groups through the Michigan Council of Professional, Scientific, and Technical Associations to share information. Most of the design professions had similar concerns and the MSA resolution was sent to Civil Service with a request for a face to face meeting.

On February 8, 1979, MSA representatives met with the State Deputy Personnel Director and his people in charge of classification. They exchanged objectives, clarified several points, and several changes were implemented.

Minimum requirements for the Architectural Specialist class were changed to include a bachelor's or master's degree in architecture, plus the title was changed to Architect.

The point that architects could only advance to a certain level in the system was clarified to mean that an agency could request the creation of an architect's class at any level, depending on the task.

Finally, Civil Service asked each state agency to identify those occupations that in their opinion, should be occupied by registered individuals. Almon Durkee, FAIA, Director of the Bureau of Facilities, came up with a list of 45. Civil Service will review these lists and will fill them with appropriately registered persons, where agreed.

On October 1, 1979, the task force filed its final report to President Terrill and asked to be formally dissolved as a committee.

MSA BULLETIN

EDITOR ..... Ray Chalmers

MSA PRESIDENT ..... Gene Terrill, AIA

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR .... Ann Stacy, Hon. AIA

The MSA BULLETIN is published monthly by the Michigan Society of Architects and is distributed free of charge to all members and their firms. Circulation 1200. Address: Beaubien House, 553 East Jefferson, Detroit, MI 48226; 313/965-4100.

Several factors contributed to the success of this task force:

1. The objectives were in the public interest as well as that of the profession.
2. The task force was knowledgeable and informed on current architectural education, registration laws, and the objectives and goals of the Civil Service System.
3. This was a broad based effort of architects from both the private and public sector. Task force membership was not limited to MSA members. The profession and the public were both well served and the issue provided an excellent example of effective society action.

MSA REPRESENTED

Detroit Chapter Public Education Chairman John Malak, AIA manned the MSA exhibit at the Metropolitan Career Awareness Day at the University of Detroit, October 24.

The exhibit consisted of a slide show, career information, and a display of the 1979 MSA Honor Awards recipients.

Carl Pirscher, AIA, Detroit Chapter Vice President spoke at the career sessions that afternoon. Also present were Roy Brockert, AIA and U-D School of Architecture Dean, Bruno Leon, FAIA.

The Career Day was attended by a variety of people ranging from high school students to school career officers. The MSA exhibit will be used again in the future for just such public awareness purposes.

DON'T FORGET THE CHILDREN

To benefit the needy children of Detroit, Samuel Popkin of Rossetti Associates and Jim Gallagher of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls will be in front of their respective buildings December 10 from 10:30 a.m. until noon selling newspapers for the Old Newsboys' Goodfellow Fund.

All donations will be used for Christmas packages for the children as well as for providing material needs throughout the year.

Contributions may also be sent to Popkin at Rossetti Associates, 601 Washington Blvd., Detroit, Michigan 48226; and to Gallagher at Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, 455 W. Fort Street, Detroit, 48226, payable to the Old Newsboys' Goodfellow Fund.

MSA WELCOMES NEW MEMBERS

New corporate members from around the state include Edward Bolt, AIA, Dwight E. Huskey, AIA, and Rowland Mitchell, AIA, from the Grand Valley Chapter; and David H. Lawrence, AIA from the Detroit Chapter.

AIA GRASSROOTS NORTH

The Washington D.C. Hyatt Regency Hotel is the site for AIA Grassroots North, January 16-18, 1980.

The event will begin with an evening reception, January 16. Included on the program will be regional updates on government affairs, public relations, and component affairs.

Chapter presidents and vice presidents are urged to attend. If you cannot make it, please appoint a representative from your chapter as there will be important information for all components.

For more information, contact the AIA at (202) 785-7376.

DETROIT CHAPTER NEWS

DETROIT CHAPTER ELECTION RESULTS

Six officers were elected to positions for the upcoming year at the Annual Business Meeting of the Detroit Chapter, AIA, November 6 at the New Hellas Cafe.

The results:

Vice Pres., Pres. Elect: Sam Popkin, AIA

Secretary: John Dziurman, AIA

Treasurer: Jim Pfaendtner, AIA

Chapter Director: Charles Merz, AIA

MSA Directors: Robert D'Alessandro, AIA
 Roger Margerum, AIA

In other chapter business, the bylaws were amended by voice vote. Article 6, sections 6 and 7 were replaced by a new Article 4, sections 1 through 5. The revisions concern nominating, balloting, and elections. The changes were made to conform more closely with national AIA procedures.

Treasurer Jim Pfaendtner reported an annual gain by the chapter of $5,000 through negotiations with the MSA. The question of a dues increase was postponed until the 1980 MSA budget could be examined.

Special recognition certificates were awarded by President Pinnell to Bob Greager, AIA, Andy Vazzano, AIA, Jane Schmidt, and Kevin Ratigan for their efforts on the Beaux Arts Ball. Certificates of appreciation to firms were awarded to Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, Rossetti Associates, and Contract Interiors.

Honor Awards Chairman, Gary Van Neck, AIA described the Detroit Chapter, AIA Honor Awards Celebration, December 7 at the Standard Club. The program will be expanded to include the General Contractors.

The nominating committee for 1980 will consist of Virginia Pinnell, AIA, Sam Popkin, AIA, Harold Van Dine, FAIA, Bob Greager, AIA, and Daniel Redstone, AIA.

DETROIT CHAPTER CALL TO ACTION

Committee work is the "go power" behind every important Chapter activity. This year the Detroit Chapter seeks broader participation on all its committees and cordially invites members who are not involved to become active.

A brief description of each committee is listed below. Please indicate your preference by checking the blank, filling out the form and returning it to the Detroit Chapter/AIA, 553 E. Jefferson, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

If you see a need for a Chapter activity not covered by the committees listed, and you are willing to pursue that interest on behalf of the Chapter, contact Carl Pirscher, President, 1980, Detroit Chapter/AIA at 354-0300.

____ ARCHITECTS IN INDUSTRY, GOVERNMENT AND EDUCATION shares information and experiences between architectural personnel working in the above categories and those in private practice. Communicates with AIA National Committees and develops programs for Chapter members.

____ ARCHITECTS SUNDAY functions as a catalyst for community awareness of architecture and architects through the sponsorship of public tours of buildings and spaces exhibiting significant design interest.

____ EXHIBITS. With our own display system, the opportunity to have architectural exhibits is ever present...Join the group and help promote our profession.

____ PUBLIC EDUCATION provides a chance to promote architecture to the public by providing speakers when requested and coordinating the High School Design Competition.

____ PUBLIC RELATIONS is responsible for keeping architecture and architects in the public eye and will promote Chapter activities and accomplishments thru the media. This year, the possibility of retaining professional counsel will be considered.

____ HISTORIC RESOURCES. Federal programs have made the work of this committee more vital to our members. This committee can work with and support other community groups interested in historic preservation.

____ BYLAWS. Will continue to review our bylaws and recommend revisions necessary for more effective and efficient Chapter operation.

____ STUDENT AFFAIRS helps architectural students become familiar with AIA. Responds to requests for career oriented talks on college campuses and in public school systems by practicing architects.

____ PUBLICATIONS AND GRAPHICS will develop graphics for promotion of committee and Chapter activities. This year it will review Detroit Chapter coverage in the MSA Bulletin.

____ PROGRAM COMMITTEE plans and coordinates regular meetings and programs, including the annual meeting and election, and other social and business meetings during the year.

____ CONTINUING EDUCATION/IDP plans, markets and implements Continuing Education programs. Establishes and coordinates the AIA Interns Development Program. This will be one of the Chapter's most important committees this year.

____ HONOR AWARDS BANQUET plans and manages the awards presentations and recognition ceremonies. Will develop a format that will maximize public recognition of design achievement.

____ NEW REGISTRANTS RECEPTION plans and coordinates the annual presentation of certificates to newly registered architects in the Detroit Chapter area.

____ URBAN DESIGN. Emphasis this year will be on Detroit's waterfront development. Design oriented professionals who care about their city will want to have a voice in making this Chapter's influence felt in this important area of civic development.

____ HOUSE TOUR. We expect this tour of significant architect-designed homes to be held on the east side in 1980. Eastiders are urgently needed to serve on this committee.

____ MEMBERSHIP. Responsible for new member recruitment, a special effort will be made this year to encourage architectural firms to fulfill their responsibilities in sponsoring new members.
