

MONTHLY BULLETIN

Official Publication of the MICHIGAN SOCIETY OF ARCHITECTS

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

By James Shane, AIA

There are about 200 miles of Michigan expressway between Big Rapids and the Beaubien House, and sometimes the drive gets a little tedious. The trip has been made many times over the last five years, but I have never regretted the miles. These, I've felt, are the dues I have had to pay for the opportunity to actively participate in the Michigan Society of Architects and still live in Michigan's four-season vacationland!

Tonight's trip, however has a decidedly different feel about it. For one thing, I am dictating this — the first of my eleven President's Columns — into a pocket recorder as I beat my way southeast. But most importantly, I am anticipating tomorrow's meeting, when we begin to flesh out a 1986 agenda, the agenda for the 99th year of the Michigan Society of Architects, and my own year as President.

A great deal of effort has already gone into the development of the coming year's programs. Much of the groundwork has, of course, been laid under preceding Presidents, and my goals include finalizing some excellent programs and projects.

Major functions of the state society include the development of an effective legislative liaison and the creation of a strong public image. Under Bob Greager, critical programs in these areas reached maturity. The Joint Architects & Engineers Legislative Committee (JAELC) was launched and now must be given life. The Renovation of the Beaubien House, a very important "signature" for the MSA and the Architects of Michigan, has been substantially started. A tenant has been found for the 3rd floor, and major strides have been made in the fund raising. 1986 should see the conclusion of the campaign and the final development of the renovation program.

These are but two of a number of significant issues at hand. We will also develop an MSA response to the liability crisis, and expect to review concerns in professional and continuing education.

An overriding concern was outlined in Bob Greager's last column (Nov-Dec). If we are to expand services to the membership and to the profession we must increase the revenue available to the society. A thorough study, with a mid-year report will look at all aspects of this.

As I stated earlier, this trip to Detroit tonight is a little different. Perhaps they all will be this year. But there are a couple of things I'm sure will not change. I have thoroughly enjoyed my last five years on the Board. I have worked with some really great people, and am going to work with some great people this year — and I am going to enjoy 1986.

ASSOCIATE NEWS

By David Aten

1986 MSA Associate Director

As I begin this next year as your Director, I'd like to thank Bob Tremonti for the excellent job he did as the first MSA Associate Director. Bob has been a big help to me in taking over this position.

In the coming year there will be two major items of interest to the Associate Member. First is that the NCARB Intern-Architect Development Program (IDP) is being considered as a training requirement prior to taking the registration exam. Studies are going on concerning the implementation of this program and I hope to have more information in the near future.

Second, there is a movement underway to get an amendment to the National AIA By-laws to elect an Associate Director to the National Board. The first part of this undertaking is having petitions signed—this petition is being written now and should be out to the chapters for signatures soon. More on this as the situation evolves.

In the meantime, if anyone has any questions, ideas or gripes, feel free to call me at 616-364-0675 and I will be happy to talk to you.

DETROIT CHAPTER AWARDS

The Detroit Chapter, AIA, presented a total of 15 Honor Awards for projects designed by Detroit area architects. This year's design awards included three for projects that were designed but never built and two 25 Year Awards for buildings whose designs were considered by the jury to have "withstood the test of time."

The GM Technical Center designed by Eero Saarinen in association with SH&G and Wayne State University McGregor Conference Center designed by Minoru Yamasaki and Associates received the 25 Year Awards.

One winner among the ten architectural awards was not for a building but for an architectural study that resulted in the "Detroit Historic Districts Style and Color Guide." This guide was produced as a joint venture by Schervish, Vogel, Merz, Cardoza, P.C., and E.B.H. Design.

Two awards were presented for historic preservation/adaptive reuse projects. William Kessler & Associates received an award for the Kresge Foundation Headquarters in Troy. Robert C. Wakeley, Jr., AIA received an award for his adaptation of the Grosse Pointe Shores Municipal Building.

Two buildings picked by the jury from California can best be described as "entry" buildings. SH&G's design for the U.S. Customs & Immigration Inspection Facility at the Detroit/Windsor border and Oakland/Troy Airport Terminal by Straub Associates/Architects both represent gate ways and were designed to create good first impressions to the U.S. and to Troy.

Rossetti Associates and Luckenbach/Ziegelman produced winning designs for corporate offices. Rossetti built over a street for the Travellers Towers Expansion in Southfield. Luckenbach/Ziegelman generated their award winner for the Handleman Company of Troy.

A college dorm in Hancock and a technical center for Oakland Community College represent winning awards for academia. TMP Associates created the Suomi College Dormitory in the Upper Peninsula. Jickling Lyman & Powell designed a technical training facility for hydro and electro-mechanical robotic systems.

The final award for the completed project category went to Roger Margerum Inc. Architects for the Roberto Clemente Center for the City of Detroit Recreation Department.

Winners in the unbuilt category included a office building by Gunnar Birkerts and Associates for Holtzman & Silverman in Southfield; the Electronics Technology Complex in Kokomo, Indiana by Leonard P. Marszalek, AIA, Argonaut Architecture, Engineering and Construction-GM Corporation; and, TMP Associates in association with Aros and Goldblatt Architects for their design of a cafeteria and gymnasium in Tucson, Arizona.

The awards were presented by Herbert McLaughlin, FAIA of San Francisco.

GRAPEVINE

JOHN A. BUSBY JR., FAIA, of Atlanta was inaugurated as president of the AIA. DONALD HACKL, FAIA, who visited the MSA in Detroit last year was also installed as first vice president. MARK JAROSZEWICZ, FAIA, who once worked in Michigan for Eero Saarinen & Associates and for Victor Gruen Associates Inc. is on the AIA board of directors. He was president of the Detroit Chapter in 1972. He will resign as Dean of the College of Architecture at the University of Florida to return to teaching and writing...The annual meeting of the GRAND VALLEY CHAPTER was attended by over 75 architects including AL DURKEE, Regional Director, BOB GREAGER and JIM SHANE, MSA president and vice president in that order and RAE DUMKE...The SAGINAW VALLEY CHAPTER had a great program at their November meeting. It was all about the Dow Gardens in Midland. NOEL FAGERLAND and RAE DUMKE also made a pitch for the grand old Beaubien House. The total is now over $93,000 and there is still time to send a check that will count against your charitable contributions for 1985. PLEASE!!! THE AFFLECK HOUSE, designed by FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT, and owned by the Lawrence Institute of Technology has been placed on the National Register of Historic Places. Group tours can be arranged by calling LIT...Legislation was introduced in Washington to ban the construction of new billboards on the nation's highways. This was a plank in last year's AIA platform. Lots of luck in Michigan with that one...GARY KECSKES, assistant to the dean of architecture at LIT has accepted an invitation to serve on the Architectural Curriculum Advisory Committee of Oakland Community College...RICHARD MUSTO is in California working for Richard K. Brooks & Associates...WILLIAM MAZZARA is the construction project manager for Providence Hospital...DANIEL WINEY is now director of interior architecture for Whisler-Patri Architects of San Francisco...A smiling PHIL NICHOLAS had his picture in "CAM Magazine" in November...ROBERT B. TOWER has been elected chair of the board of governors for the College of Architecture and Urban Planning Alumni for the U of M. The college's alumni number more than 4,000. No wonder competition is so keen...GRAHAM DICKENS (we didn't make this up for the holiday season), great-great uncle of Charles, had his picture in the Detroit News. He was the guest of honor at the Hotel St. Regis at their annual Christmas celebration...We have an update on last month's box scores!! NEUMANN/GREAGER beat LOUIS REDSTONE after the scores were turned in so they ended the season tied with the KESSLER team for first place. A number of people called to remind the Bulletin of its error. If there is a hockey league out there, we don't want to know about it...E. C. MULARONI of Boston Tile & Torrazzo Company has advanced to the position of President elect and vice chair of the board of directors of the national association of tile contractors. Another star is born...Fifty GIFFELS ASSOCIATES architects and engineers who graduated from Wayne State University held an "in-house campaign" reception to raise funds for their old alma mater at Giffels headquarters...STEPHEN DUCZYNSKI has been appointed vice president and director for development for Scholstak Brothers in Southfield...THOMAS LUCHI is in Minneapolis managing Laventhol & Horwath's health care consulting practice...Didn't the DETROIT CHAPTER HONOR AWARDS COMMITTEE do a splendid job? ## $30,000 PRIZE

The Capitol Area Architectural and Planning Board of the State of Minnesota (CAAPB) is sponsoring a two-stage, international design competition to select an urban landscape design plan in the area surrounding the Minnesota State Capitol. Five finalists will be chosen and paid $10,000 to further develop their concepts. The winner of the first prize will receive $30,000 and an opportunity to negotiate a fee for the project.

Cass Gilbert was a major influence on all the construction and planning for the Minnesota Capitol and grounds and the CAAPB was established by statute in 1967 to protect the architectural dignity of the state capitol and grounds. The goal of this competition is to generate design solutions that will transform the underutilized capitol grounds into a pleasant, accessible, safe, functional and beautiful urban space.

The deadline for registration is

January 20, 1986. To register, send $85 to Kenneth Paolina, CAAPB Competition Advisor, Minnesota Capitol Landscape Design Competition, P.O. Box 306, Prudential Center, Boston, MA 02199.

DC INDIVIDUAL HONORS

Leo G. Shea, FAIA was chosen by the Detroit Chapter, AIA, to receive the Chapter's highest honor, the Gold Medal. The Gold Medal is awarded to an Architect who has demonstrated leadership and career long dedication to the profession. Shea is president of the Livonia firm, Louis G. Redstone Associates, Inc. He is an author and lecturer. He has been active within the profession serving on most key committees and is currently serving as a director on the MSA Board of Directors.

Internationally known photographer, Balthazar Korab, was chosen to receive an Honorary Membership in the Detroit Chapter. He is a native of Budapest and studied and practiced architecture before he began his new career as a photographer.

Arthur Smith, AIA, was selected as Young Architect of the Year. He is the first to receive this award created for architects between the ages of 25-35. This award recognizes exceptional work in a specific area of architectural practice or general excellence in a wide range of architectural activities. Smith fits both categories and is a designer with Neumann/Greager Associates.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

... "The foundation for a team-work approach in construction has been set in place during the past five years and will continue to develop," said Jack J. Zelazny, AIA/CIS. "The adversary position of the architect representing the owner, and the contractor representing himself is on the way out. The architect and the contractor are getting more and more aligned, to the extent of the architect becoming part of the contractor's staff, or the contractor becoming part of the architect's staff, or both or them becoming part of the developer's staff."
