PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Carl Roehling, AIA

The most important goal for the 1989 is to "reach out" and interface with the individuals and groups that most influence our practice. The MSA Board has heard Keith Crain of Crain's Communication evoke architects to "tell me who you are and what you do". Tom Scott, the Governor's Press Secretary advised architects to "say good things about yourself; nobody else is going to go out of their way to say it." We, the Michigan Society of Architects should be positive and political. If there has been any reluctance to take the advice it has been negated by recent issues that have "reached in" and gobbled our apolitical attention.

The issues are: Interior Design Licensing. We have met with the Coalition for Interior Design Registration. As of our last meeting, we are in agreement on six of the seven issues outlined in the joint statement of interior design title registration between the AIA, ASID, and IBD. The only point that is unresolved is the issue of title registration.

The joint statement agrees that interior designers will achieve title registration and not practice registration. The Michigan Coalition for Interior Design Registration is going to pursue practice registration at this time which is in direct opposition to our statement.

We have initiated the Interior Design Licensing Task Force to act as a clearing house of information and a research committee in preparation for continuing negotiations with the Coalition. Contact the Task Force members to express your views. Members include: Don Koster, AIA, GV; Dan Redstone, AIA, DC; Rocco Romano, AIA, DC; Steve Vogel, AIA, DC; Graham Dickens, AIA, DC; Richard Fry, AIA, HV; Rae Dumke, MSA; and myself. You may be asked to contact your state representative or senator once the legislation is introduced. MSA has a minuteman program and is in the process of updating it. We have taken every AIA member's home address (approximately 85% have given us home addresses) and have tried to match it with a state senator and state representative for the purpose of having 100% districts covered in the state.

Another issue is the Landscape Architect "Practice Act". Last fall the landscape architects approached the MSA and the engineering associations with a proposal to change their "title" act to a "practice" act similar to the interior designers are trying to achieve. The Architect Engineers

Joint Legislative Council (AELC) reviewed the proposal last month. The MSA ExCom and MSA Board opposes this act.

Additional Board and Society action includes Qualification Base Selection, which is made up of architects from the MSA and engineers from CEC and other related disciplines. A program for Michigan has been finalized, and a seminar was given at a SMPS (Society for Marking Professionals) meeting last month. QBS is a program by which PUBLIC organizations have access to facilitators that can help them set up a QBS process for architects and engineers that they may be in need of.

At the MSA June Retreat, June 17th, there will be a Presidents Convocation chaired by the Regional Director, Bob Greager, AIA, to nominate the Regional Director for election at the October convention. The Presidents of each Chapter as well as the President of the Society will attend. Members should make sure that their Boards are aware that nominees should come forward through their presidents to be considered. Bob or former Regional Directors will tell you that this position is time consuming and takes approximately 20% or more time from your practice.

REGIONAL DIRECTOR'S REPORT

*Robert E. Greager, AIA
Director, Michigan*

By the time you read this the convention in St. Louis will be underway and our March Board Meeting will be History.

Historical happenings and major modifications seem to be common place at the Institute recently. Architecture Magazine has been sold to Billboard. The interest alone from the sale price will be $750,000 per year. The Institute retains 50% control of quality and editorial content. The Institute will also share in increased revenues which newsstand sales will provide. Billboard's circulation/distribution system will assure the Profession of greater distribution and influence.

Currently the Headquarters Building is undergoing much needed major renovation. We have reason to believe that the Justice Department's Anti-Trust investigation of the Institute is winding to a close. A new Self Assessment Test available from the Institute (Contact "Chip" Levy at 202/626-7458) emphasizes the Institute's renewed concern for continuing education. Likewise the Sweepstakes is almost painlessly producing more money for legislative impact (Contact your Chapter's President or MSA Director).

This year's Long Range Planning Committee is recommending a reorganization of three National Commissions as follows: Professional Excellence; Marketing and Influence; and Membership and The Institute. Other recommendations include: modifying the Institute's Calendar of Events; delivery of membership services; better professional education and educating the public to the value of Architecture.

My personal thanks to all who helped all Michigan Chapters fulfill The Institute "Minimum Standards". Our region was one of the few that made the Minimums. The real winners are all our State's Members who are now receiving better service.

PRE-IMPACT REPRISE

Pre-Impact Reprise is an exhibition of conceptual architecture produced by young Detroit area architects. Eleven architects, all employed by local firms and/or teaching in local schools of architecture, prepared new conceptual projects exploring aspects of the urban environment. The result of these explorations, presented in various media comprise the exhibit which will be at the Beaubien House this May and June.

The exhibit is also an attempt to demonstrate the multi-valent capacity of Architecture to speak: to interject ideas with the visual techniques of the artist, rather than the construction budgets of the builder or the ordinances of the city. By severing the relationship between concept and construction, between building art and building code, it was anticipated that a future Architecture will emerge with its rhetoric intact!

This exhibit was conceived two years ago under the direction of William Hartman, AIA, and displayed at the IS Gallery in Pontiac.

The participating architects are Robert Arens, AIA, Prof. of Architecture at the Univ. of Detroit; Janet Ford, AIA, of Schervish, Vogel, Merz; Jacob Guter, R.A. of William Kessler & Associates & President of the Depot Town Assn. in Ypsilanti. Mary Doll is Secretary of the Depot Town Assn.; William Hartman, AIA, of SH&G & past adjunct Assistant Prof. of Arch. at UM; Marlene Imirzian, R.A., of SH&G/Southwest in Phoenix; Robert Lynch, R.A. is an Assistant Prof. at LIT; Wendy Sider Pierce, AIA, is with Architecture/Artistry/Interiors in Traverse City; Kevin Shultis, AIA, is in the Ann Arbor office of Gunnar Birkerts & Associates; Arthur Smith, AIA, is with Neumann/Smith and is VP, President Elect of the Detroit Chapter, AIA; Ian Taberner, AIA, of Taberner + LaMarche Associates & Assistant Prof. of Architecture at LIT; Todd Young, AIA, is with the firm of Young & Young; and Manos Vakalo is on the faculty at the College of Arch. & Urban Planning at the UM.

Special thanks go to the MSA Exhibit Committee members Graham Dickens, AIA, Ralph Youngren, FAIA, William Hartman, AIA, John Bell and the Detroit Chapter, AIA for sponsoring the PRE-IMPACT REPRISE EXHIBIT RECEPTION & OPENING WHICH WILL BE HELD ON THURSDAY, MAY 11th AT THE BEAUBIEN HOUSE FROM 5:30-7:30 P.M., RSVP 313 965 4100.

FUTURE BEAUBIEN HOUSE EXHIBITS

Graham Dickens, Chair, of the Exhibit Committee has been very aggressive and has put together a series of exhibits for the Beaubien House. Pre-Impact Reprise is a reconstruction of original Young Architects Exhibit and was put together by Bill Hartman. A new hanging system has been installed to avoid damage to the walls that occurred in prior exhibit installation.

The second exhibit is a Frank Lloyd Wright mile high building model. It is being built at the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit. The project is being led by John Bell. It is the first time a model has ever been built of Frank Lloyd Wright's building.

Later this year we hope to have an antique toy exhibit related to architecture. Watch the newsletter for opening dates.

NAAB TEAM VISITS UM

Rae Dumke, Executive Director

The first week in April the National Architectural Accrediting Board Team visited the University of Michigan for their accreditation evaluation. The team members were Robert (Bud) Oringdolph, FAIA, Team Chair, representing NAAB & NCARB; Susan Maxman, AIA, representing AIA; Mark Donahue, representing AIAS; and Raymond Yeh, AIA, representing ACSA. Observers invited by Dean Beckley and approved by the Team were Harold Varner, FAIA, representing the State Licensing Board of Architects and myself, representing the Michigan Society of Architects.

The three-and-one-half day team visit was intensive and extremely thorough. It included a tour of the College of Architecture and Urban Planning which highlighted the excellent research and library facilities the university is able to offer its students. There were numerous meetings with students, professors, administrators from both the College and the University; and alumni. There was a review of all course syllabuses, slides of student work, review of models, observing and talking to students during design studios.

The College submitted the previous NAAB accrediting team report to the team along with their responses. It also provided the team with their Strategic Planning Report which dealt with the major goals and objectives of the College, future directions, and the resources that exist and those that are projected in the future.

All of these things go into the team evaluation which are submitted to NAAB for their recommendations and will be reported back to the College for implementation.

As a non architect being able to participate and learn first hand about the College was extremely beneficial. It certainly highlighted both the positive and negative aspects about the school and I now understand why UM of graduates are so proud of their school. Michigan is very fortunate to have four architectural schools and obviously each one has different strengths. I appreciated the opportunity to have this experience and the time away from the office to meet so many interesting and vital members and future members of the profession. A special thanks to Dean Robert Beckley, FAIA, for extending the invitation and to Harold Varner, FAIA, for answering so many of my questions.

HANDS ON PUBLIC AWARENESS EXHIBIT

Art Smith, AIA, - Vice President, Detroit Chapter, AIA

In 1986 the Grand Valley Chapter of the AIA organized and literally built a hands-on exhibit entitled "There's no Place like Home" for children at the Grand Rapids Art Museum. It was an excellent Exhibit which received a tremendous amount of attention until its closing in 1988. To continue the momentum of the original exhibit Steve Vogel, (DC President), arranged an eight month showing at the Detroit Science Center.

Steve developed the original contacts with Grand Rapids and the Science Center to facilitate the physical move of all the components. He then asked me to assemble a committee and organize the construction of the exhibit for a January 17, 1986 opening. That gave us approximately eight weeks which initially would appear to be an adequate amount of time.

Architects love to change things and we can become our own worst enemies. After some discussion we decided it would be more appropriate to expand the exhibit beyond Grand Rapids residential orientation to include Architecture indigenous to the Detroit Metropolitan Area. The exhibit spaces were very different so the layout would need to be modified.

The exhibit focuses the four basic components from Grand Rapids;

Style which looks at the historical districts in Detroit. Construction-A 8' X 8' cut away house displays how a house is constructed.

Interiors indicates the different styles and materials used in different environments.

Site has a contour model which allows children to build a house out of legos. In addition the area shows how different buildings fit into the landscape.

In addition there are models and drawings of Detroit Architecture displayed throughout the exhibit.

So we established a budget of approximately $4000.00 which included a $1000.00 Grant from the Michigan

Architectural Foundation. Then we designed the exhibit and had it priced. With approximately four weeks left until the opening we discovered we were $2000.00 over budget-a typical set of circumstances.

The original design defined the perimeter of the exhibit by a colonnade of columns which were organized in an Architectural time line from Stonehedge to elaborate Corinthian Styles. The price was $10,000 for material only. So we went into action by calling various contractors and suppliers. As a result of their willingness to help we were able to construct our exhibit on time and within budget. Rick Owen of Edrick Owen Inc. was the carpenter and he was able to work with Erb Lumber and National Lumber to donate material. We found out that a project in Auburn Hills had over ordered 40 cast gypsum columns which we were able to use without charge. Don Adams of RE Dailey was a wonderful source for a drywall contractor, printers and suppliers.

The Masonry Institute of Michigan donated their time and material. Because of the hours of the Science Center and Their need to leave the exhibit floor open we could not start construction until Sunday, January 15. I think we all know how difficult it is to coordinate contractors to perform in a timely basis when they are paid but to see the enthusiasm and flexibility in which they worked was terrific.

During this time period the committee was working long hours on weekends and the week of the opening. Everyone on the committee did an outstanding job and I believe each one at one time or another wanted to hang me-they still might. Below are the individuals and companies who were instrumental in the realization of this Exhibit "Architecture and the Building of Dreams." It is an excellent exhibit which is expected to be seen by approximately 200,000 children. It is something we can all be proud of. The hours of the exhibit are 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. Tuesday through Friday. Saturday 10:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M. Sunday 10:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M. Call 313/577-8400 for further information.

Pam Dubois, AIA

The Public Awareness Committee and The Detroit Center are sponsoring a seminar series for three age groups: kindergarten through second grade, third through sixth grade and seventh grade through adult. The seminars are held on Saturday mornings from 11:00 A.M. to 12:30 P.M., at the Science Center.

Two very successful seminars have been held to date: On March 25, 1989, 22 seventh grade, through adults designed their dream houses. Most of these participants had definitive ideas, but needed some help to draw them.

On April 15, 1989, 16 kindergarten, through second graders designed LEGO houses. Though we made the technical error of distributing LEGOs before showing the slides, both participants and leaders had a great time!

Additional workshops are scheduled: May 6, 3-6 graders, May 13, 7-Adult, June 3, K-2, July 8, 3-6 graders.

If you are interested in being a workshop leader, call Pam Dubois at 313/871-8500. If you are interested in enrolling your child in a workshop, call the Science Center at 313/577-8432.

I would like to thank the following people, for without their help these workshops would not have been possible:

Janet Burke, Pam Dubois, Alan Cobb, David Esparza, Stu Fine, Janet Ford, Jeff Housman, Gary Jelin, Mary and Dwayne McDovitts', Mark Mardirasian, John Marusich, Terri Merritt, Gary Sharemet, Rachad Shishakly, Art Smith and Lonny Zimmerman.

Special thanks go to Janet Ford, who designed and produced our flyers and certificate of participation, Lonny Zimmerman, who created the workshop formats, and Don Bennett, Vice President for Education, Detroit Science Center.

VISION 2000

The individuals that attended the original 2000 workshop in 1988 representing the Michigan Region have put together a program called Michigan Vision 2000. Evie Asken, FAIA, Gino Rossetti, FAIA; Bob Beckley, FAIA; Robert Greager, AIA; Karl Greimel, FAIA; John Castellana, FAIA; Bruno Leon; and Neville Clouton are sponsoring in conjunction with MSA and MAF (Michigan Architectural Foundation) this program. An application for funding was sent to AIA National and we received $2,000 from them and up to $1,000 from the MAF to fund this program. The Michigan Vision 2000 is intended to give future leaders (students & Associate members) of the architectural profession insight into the issues that will face our society in the 21st century. For more information contact a committee member.

CAM PLAN ROOM RENOVATED

A few days ago, the Construction Association of Michigan celebrated the reopening of the Plan Room with architects and contractors. The Plan Room at CAM HQ on East Jefferson in Detroit was 25 years old and badly needed renovation. With the help of contractors from the metro area costs were kept to a minimum of $85,000. The Architect/Interior Design was done by Smith + Schurman Associates of Bloomfield Hills and the Construction Manager was Lerner-Linden of Novi.

The plan room is open daily, Monday-Friday from 8a.m. to 5p.m. and serves the construction industry in Michigan. For more information contact CAM at 313-567-5500.

AIA MINORITY RESOURCES COMMITTEE

The AIA National Committee on Minority Resources is holding their regional meeting on June 16-17, 1989 at the Ritz Carlton Hotel, Fairlane Town Center, Dearborn, Michigan.

The AIA is interested in the participation of its minority members in the activities of the Institute. The MRC in particular has developed an action program which cannot be executed without the participation of the minority membership at the local level.

The June meeting is in preparation for a major conference to be held in San Francisco this September 14-16, 1989. The June meeting agenda will prepare for the conference and learn about the concerns regarding minorities in the profession.

For information contact Ricardo Anselmo, AIA, MRC Steering Committee Member, 111 S. Waverly Rd., Lansing, MI 48917. (517) 321-8788.

WESTERN MICHIGAN CHAPTER DESIGN AWARDS

The Western Michigan Chapter 1989 Design Awards entries came from architectural firms across 11 counties which comprise the Chapter area. The entries were judged by Eastern Illinois AIA Chapter members: Raymond Chocholek, AIA, John Kraai, AIA, and Steven Reardon, AIA. Two projects were selected by the jury to receive the design awards and two were selected for honorable mention awards.

The first and second awards went to Eckert/Wordell Architects of Kalamazoo for an Office Building in Kalamazoo. The jury comment: "A successful combination of new construction and renovation, where the continuity of detailing is carefully maintained and even enriched in the new construction." Their second award was for the J.M. Wilson Corporation in Portage. The jury comment: "A sensitive solution, responsive to the best features of its interesting site."

Honorable mention was also given to Eckert/Wordell for the Hunt Family Residence in East Lansing. Jury comment: "A well organized plan, attention to detail, grand interior spaces, and warm, natural colors characterize this single family residence."

The second Honorable Mention went to Tower, Pinkster, Titus Associates of Kalamazoo for the Horizon Health and Surgery Center in Livonia. Jury comment: "An inward oriented medical 'mall' with strong exterior forms quality materials and excellent colors."

DEVELOPER SPEAKS TO SENATE SUBCOMMITTEE

On April 19th Ray Cato, owner of Cato Companies, architect/developer in Kalamazoo spoke before the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Capitol Hill to promote funding for low income Housing & Development in Washington of which he is Treasurer.

The following appeared in the Kalamazoo Gazette: "Cato cited research figures showing that there's a shortfall of 75,000 units of low-income housing each year - the difference between the number of housing units that fall out of the housing stock and the number of low-income housing units brought onto the market. The statistics, from congressional sources, indicate that there are 2 million rural American families living in substandard housing.

The Section 515 rural rental housing program fell under a heavy axe in the second Reagan term, enduring cuts from $940 million to $550 million from 1984 to 1988. President Bush has proposed a deep cut to $100 million, which is what Cato was complaining about.

When it comes to the Section 515 program, we're not talking about middle-class families. In 1988, the average income of a Section 515 tenant was $8,256.

Cato asked for a $500 million increase in the appropriation, back to $600 million - and like a lot of the deepest Reagan social - spending cuts, it looks like this one will be restored."

MICHIGAN HEALTH CARE FIRE SAFETY RULES

Public Hearings will be held by the State Fire Safety Board on proposed revision of the Administrative Rules of the State Fire Safety Board, Department of State Police, entitled "Michigan Health Care Facilities Fire Safety Rules".

The proposed rules apply to the following new and existing health care facilities - freestanding surgical outpatient facilities, hospitals, nursing homes and homes for the aged; county medical care facilities are considered nursing homes for the purpose of these rules.
