OBITUARIES

Carl Marr, AIA-E, of the Detroit Chapter, AIA died Oct. 20 at a Bloomfield Hills nursing home. Mr. Marr was born in Detroit. He graduated from the Cranbrook School then continued at the University of Michigan architectural school in order to follow in the footsteps of his father, architect Richard Marr, who had designed homes in Grosse Pointe and Detroit for the Fisher family. Carl Marr joined the family firm, Marr & Marr, in 1941. During his years at the firm his designs were incorporated at Adrian College and Albion College. He also designed several downtown Detroit commercial structures, including buildings for the former Burroughs Corp., Squibb, and IBM. Surviving are his wife, Coralie; sons, Richard and David; daughter, Janet Adolphsen; a sister; and four grandchildren.

Harry W. Gjelsteen, AIA-E, of the Upper Peninsula Chapter, AIA died September 6, 1990. He entered his own practice in 1946. He was long standing architect of the Northern Michigan area.
