AIA LAS VEGAS PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

E. Dale Scheideman, AIA

September brings a new year for schools. We have a distinguished speaker, Daniel Friedman, FAIA, to start the year at UNLV on September 17, 2003, speaking to us about "The Education of an Architect". This should be a great way to celebrate a new year.

The AIA Las Vegas Product Show is rapidly approaching and Randy promises this year's show will top all others. We need a show of force (everyone attend) to keep those sponsors returning. Plan to spend time visiting the booths.

The Design Awards Dinner will soon be here. We have a special guest Master of Ceremony (MC) – Norman Koonce, FAIA, Executive Director of AIA. We are fortunate to have Norman visit Las Vegas and he will be a great addition to an already great evening. The awards program will be the highlight of the year and will be extra special with our guest.

See you all there!

THE AIA TRUST

The AIA Trust provides some of your most important and valuable AIA members benefits, including Healthcare coverage, Term Life Insurance, Professional Liability Insurance, Business Owners Insurance, Disability Insurance, both personal and business; Long Term Care Insurance, Personal Insurance for your home, car, boat, personal possessions; Retirement Plans and even Legal Information Services.

With so much at stake in your personal and professional life, you need to know all you can about the benefits offered through the AIA Trust. Visit TheAIATrust.com website and learn more about the wide range of services that are available and the options you have as an AIA member.

BRIEFS:

Laura Jane Spina, Principal of RAFI: Planning, Architecture, Urban design, is a recent appointee to the Clark County Parks and Recreation Commission Board.

Carpenter Sellers Associates (CSA) recently celebrated completing one million square feet for the University of Phoenix (UoP). CSA is providing architectural design services for the University of Phoenix nationwide.

We are saddened by the loss of our dear friend and AIA member,

Ralph Bond, AIA Emeritus

As a member of Las Vegas Chapter and the Las Vegas community for over thirty years, Ralph's contributions to the planning and design of our city are significant and noteworthy.

In May, he retired as Chief Architect and Manager of Architecture and Design Services for the Clark County Real Property Management Division, a position he had held since 1988.

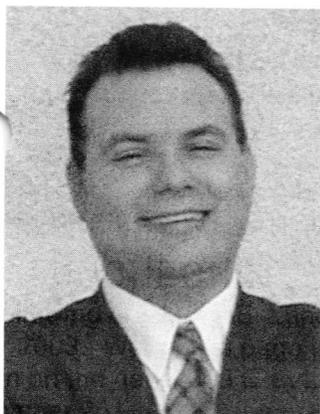

Our thoughts are with his wife, Dianna, and his two daughters, Erin and Megan.

We will all miss this very kind and gentle man.

He was a talented architect, a mentor and a trusted and loyal friend to those who knew him and worked with him.

In his own words, "The most satisfying part of my career was being able to provide something very positive for the client and the end user, which would better serve the citizens, seniors and employees in an aesthetically pleasing environment."

Ralph's legacy is visible in our city.

AIA NEVADA PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

David S. Frommer, AIA

AIA Nevada President's Message September 2003

The AIA State Government Network meeting was held in Albuquerque, NM this year and AIA New Mexico served as local host of this conference. AIA New Mexico did an exceptional job of representing the AIA Western Mountain Region with pride and dignity and the conference was a tremendous success.

I had the pleasure of representing AIA Nevada in this meeting of the state components of the AIA throughout the United States and its territories. The range of issues brought forth by the state components proved very informative to many of the issues facing AIA Nevada and its membership. Below is a list of issues with information on how other states are facing these challenges:

Construction Management: Many states are seeing efforts to define construction management through practice acts and by modifying existing statutes for design and construction professions. However, this discussion is on-going to determine if this is the correct course of action and how not to impact similar services that have been part of the state statutes for existing architectural and construction practices. We are facing this issue in Nevada and we need to ensure that any action taken does not limit the practice of architecture.

Building Codes: Discussion is still active regarding adoption of new codes throughout the nation, with the primary choice being the ICC code family and the NFPA code family. AIA Nevada still continues to be a proponent of the ICC code family in the State and municipalities/agencies of Nevada, when code updates occur.

Tort Reform: Several states have made successful and unsuccessful attempts at shortening the statute of limitations for architectural services, and Oregon was particularly successful in passing tort reform through expanding the existing 'Good Samaritan' statute in the state statutes.

Design-Build: Many states are seeing increased design-build activity, and issues that have come forth are ensuring Architects are permitted to lead design-build teams, and determining stipend amounts and intellectual property rights in publicly-led design-build submittals and competitions.

Construction Management At-Risk Project Delivery: Many states are attempting to implement CM At-Risk delivery methods for public projects, to provide additional effective and efficient means of project delivery.

Based on the wealth of information received at this meeting, I have contacted many of the AIA state components to build an archive of information on how these and other issues are being faced. This information is available to all AIA Nevada members at the AIA Nevada office, and the membership is strongly encouraged to choose issues that are of particular importance to your practices and participate in the discussions surrounding them. To join in a committee that addresses an issue of interest to you, please contact AIA Nevada to voice your concerns and participate in on-going discussions and resolution.

ARCHITECTURE LAS VEGAS

Latest Edition on it's way to you.

Watch your mailbox, newsstands and bookstores everywhere. The 4th edition of our "Architecture Las Vegas" magazine has just been published and this latest edition is on it's way to you.

Our thanks to this year's AIA LV Editorial Board: Dr. Robert A. Fielden, NCARB, FAIA; Dale Scheideman, AIA; Michael Alcorn, AIA, David Frommer, AIA, Eric Strain, AIA, Jeanne Brown and Randy Lavigne. Thanks also to the Greenspun Media Group; Rick Becker, Publisher, Phil Hagen, Editor and Vince Durocher, Advertising Sales.

CODES COMMITTEE

Jim Stroh, AIA - Chair

The City of Las Vegas has recently completed its review of the 2003 International Building Code (IBC) and International Residential Code (IRC) with plans to enact probably in January 2004. AIA Las Vegas supported the City's process for this review, which involved representatives from the design and construction industry. Many AIA members participated and were a part of the committee. The City has limited the amendments as much as possible to geological, geographical and cultural issues. The 2003 IBC and amendments are available for review on the City's website at www.ci.las-vegas.nv.us/building_safety.

We are asking that you visit the site and review the codes and amendments. If you have any concerns regarding the amendments, please contact Jim Stroh, AIA at Jim@JimStrohArchitect.com, so he can address those with the City.

If there are no objections, the AIA Las Vegas Board of Directors will endorse the process through which the City provided these codes and the complete 2003 IBC Codes Package as amended.

2005 AIA NATIONAL CONVENTION

Randy Lavigne, Executive Director

We continue to move forward in preparation for the 2005 Convention. Two new Chairs have been named to the Steering Committee.

Curt Carlson, AIA will Chair the Graphics and Image Committee, and is already hard at work in preparing the design approach for materials that will be needed to promote and support the 2005 Convention. If you would like to assist on this committee please contact Curt at Swisher Hall, AIA, Architects - 363-2222.

Allied member, Kelle Heming, representative for Vista Paint will chair the Volunteers Coordination committee. If you are interested in helping with any of the host chapter events and activities Kelle is the person to see. Call 292-8320.

In August, representatives from AIA National visited Las Vegas to investigate potential sites for national events including the College of Fellows Investiture Ceremony. The group included Doug Steidl, FAIA, President-elect 2005; Brad Simmons, FAIA, National Convention Chair; Larry Leis, FAIA, Chancellor for the College of Fellows; Pauline Porter, Executive Director for the College of Fellows; Chris Gribbs, AIA Director of Conventions and Meetings; and Christine Klein, Managing Director of AIA Conventions and Meetings.

The group was pleased with the locations that are available in our city for these prestigious events and will revisit the city early next year.

The newly named Program and Content Chair for the Convention is Daniel Friedman, Ph.D., FAIA who will be visiting the Chapter for the September 17th Membership Meeting. As Director of the School of Architecture for the University of Illinois at Chicago, Daniel will speak to AIA members, students, faculty at the September meeting regarding "The Education of an Architect". This being his first visit to Las Vegas, it will also provide an opportunity for him to become a little more acquainted with the city and with some of the program opportunities that may help to enhance the convention.

Doug Steidl's theme for the Convention is THE POWER OF ARCHITECTURE - IMAGINE - CREATE - TRANSFORM. If you have ideas of how this theme can be demonstrated through programs and events, please let me know.

628 Days until Convention!

LISTEN TO DR. FIELDEN

Dr. Robert A. Fielden, A.D., NCARB, FAIA, Principal, RAFI: Planning, Architecture, Urban Design, offers his commentary on KNPR Public Radio 89.5FM. Dr. Fielden, who is internationally recognized for his contributions to architecture, offers his straight forward, insightful and down-to-earth opinion and comments on local and state topics and issues concerning the architectural community at large.

Dr. Fielden has participated in numerous community events, civic panels and conventions throughout the years and has gained considerable recognition for his commitment to architectural design excellence. His contributions to Las Vegas include a number of International design awards and architectural exhibits that contain his work. Dr. Fielden will serve as AIA Las Vegas President in 2005 when the Chapter hosts the AIA National Convention. He also serves as a member of the AIA Las Vegas Editorial Board for Chapter's official magazine, "Architecture Las Vegas".

AIA LAS VEGAS SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED

The AIA Las Vegas Scholarship Committee would like to thank all of the third-year students who participated in the 2003 AIA Scholarship Program. The scholarships, which were juried this past May, were based on the design of the third year project, which was a beach house. All of the projects were of a high caliber and were well presented.

This year's recipients of the AIA Las Vegas Scholarship Awards are:

Jared Lebo receives the $1000.00 William E. Snyder Scholarship Award

Myunghee Jin receives a $1500.00 AIA Scholarship Award.

Due to a tie, the second AIA Scholarship Award is divided equally between Philip Stewart and Jared Lebo, who will each receive $750.00.

The recipients will be recognized at the September AIA Membership Meeting on Wednesday, September 17th, being held at the UNLV School of Architecture. The evening will begin with a "Welcome Back to School" Reception at 6PM and the Program "The Education of an Architect" at 7PM. Please RSVP to the AIA Office at 895-0936 if you plan to attend.

We would like to extend our thanks to the members of the jury who participated in the selection process: Sean Coulter, AIA; Wade Simpson, AIA; and Rick Van Diepen, Associate AIA

We are still looking for silent auction items that will enable us to continue funding these awards. If you would like to participate, please call Shelly Ann Hayden, AIA, Chair AIA Las Vegas Scholarship and Silent Auction Committee at 456.3000.

UNLV SOA UPDATE

Michael D. Kroelinger, Ph.D., AIA, FIIDA, LLC
Director and Professor, UNLV School of Architecture

Well it happened! The 2003-2004 school year has begun and we seem to have survived the first couple of days. The students are back and seem ready to tackle a new academic year. Since April we have advised over 300 possible first year students and visited with numerous transfers. All in all, our enrollment numbers will be at record levels. You can imagine the result -- most of our classes are full and we have the unfortunate distinction of having to tell students that classes are not available. We will continue to aggressively address this problem and explore options to manage our growth and increase the quality of the educational experience for our students.

We have a full entering graduate student class of the "4+2" program along with 12 entering "3+" students. The September 17th AIA Welcome Back to UNLV meeting will be a great time to meet our students and interact with the faculty.

The faculty will be actively working over the next several weeks to establish position description for the new faculty that we will be recruiting for 2004-2005. One position will be for architecture and one for interior architecture and design. We hope, upon official approval, to publish ads and distribute announcements about the positions by mail as early as December.

The Klai::Juba Lecture Series Committee is working on the plan for the year and will announce the fall schedule by late September. We're going to make sure the schedule works with the AIA and COTE meetings and speakers schedule so watch for our announcements and get the lecture dates on your calendar.

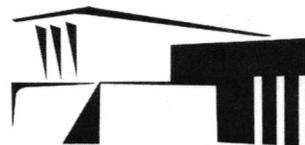

We have worked through the bid cost issues on the addition to the School and construction will start soon. I have asked that work be completed by July 1, 2004 so we can plan to move our graduate studios and research office into the addition beginning next fall. We are also working to create a wireless networking environment within the School and also expect to have approximately 40 additional Internet ports for student use in the studios on the second floor of the building. We hope the later improvements will be in effect by mid-semester. We also have an "extension" through the spring semester on the use of the 5th Street School for our downtown studio. One of our priorities for this year is to find a viable, and possibly shared, location to house and grow our downtown studio and related activities.

This fall also begins our calendar of accreditation visits, with FIDER returning to review interior architecture and design in December. NAAB and ALAAB follow in 2005 and 2006.

We will be working to reconstitute our SOA Advisory Council early this fall. Ray Lucchesi, AIA is working with me to convene a brainstorming meeting of five or six people to re-establish an active and needed advisory body. We should have an update on progress in the next AIA newsletter. Also, I will be spending a portion of a day each week visiting professional and other offices within the community to explore your thoughts, ideas and aspirations for the School. I was able to begin that activity last spring but want to have a more "aggressive" calendar throughout this academic year.

I believe we are entering the fall semester with a new air of optimism about the School of Architecture and our abilities to foster learning among students and nurture activities that make a difference at UNLV and in Southern Nevada.

Work with us to achieve our vision of creating an urban learning community that supports innovative ideas, teaching strategies, and results that enhance the reputation and visibility of the university, the community and the State of Nevada. Let me know your thoughts and ideas!

JEANNE BROWN, LIBRARIAN OF THE YEAR

The University Libraries is proud to recognize Jeanne Brown, head architectural studies librarian, as the recipient of the 2003 McPhee Librarian of the Year Award. The McPhee Award is given annually to the tenured member of the library faculty who has made a major contribution to the library, the university, the community or the profession.

In a nominating letter, a colleague enumerated some of Brown's many contributions to the libraries and the profession including "the effective leadership of the Architecture Studies Library (ASL), the creation of a nationally recognized architecture website, the design of a comprehensive instruction program designed to provide both classroom and online tutorial sessions." She has also published numerous journals, including Portal, Art Documentation, The Reference Librarian and a regular column for the publication Archi-Tech: Bridging the Gap Between Design and Technology.

Jeanne Brown is an Allied Member of AIA Las Vegas. She helped to establish and maintains the AIA Design Awards Archives as a part of the Architecture Studies library, and she serves on the AIA Editorial Board for the "Architecture Las Vegas" magazine.

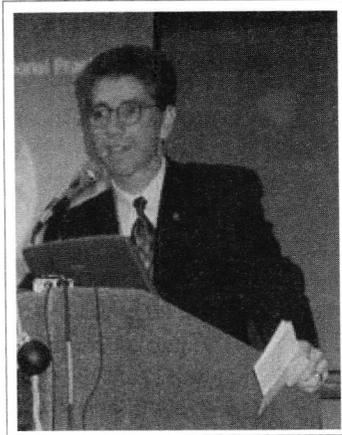

Our heartiest congratulations to Jeanne.

2003 MEETINGS & EVENTS

SEPTEMBER MEMBERSHIP MEETING "The Education of an Architect"

Our September Membership Meeting will welcome students and faculty back to the School of Architecture, and will feature special guest speaker, Daniel Friedman, Ph. D., FAIA, Director of the School of Architecture at the University of Illinois, at Chicago. He will discuss the challenges and the requirements involved in "The Education of an Architect", in an evolving profession and a rapidly changing technology.

Dr. Friedman is also the Program Chair for the 2005 AIA National Convention and will be visiting Las Vegas for the first time.

The meeting will be held at the UNLV School of Architecture at 6:00PM on Wednesday, September 17th, with the reception in the auditorium and the presentation in the Architecture Studies Library.

Please RSVP to the AIA office at 895-0936.

6TH ANNUAL SDA CANSTRUCTION COMPETITION

SDA (Society of Design Administration) is once again hosting this year's CANstruction Program. The objective is to help feed the hungry in Las Vegas, and the program also provides a chance for design professionals to show off their creative talents at the same time. AIA Las Vegas is pleased to support SDA's efforts for this worthwhile event.

You know how it works. Teams of architects, engineers, contractors, designers, students and citizens, design and build structures made entirely from canned foods within a 10' x 10' x 8' space. Teams are responsible for acquiring their canned foods for building materials. These structures will be built and put on display in the Fashion Show Mall in October, and will be juried for awards, on Friday, October 10th. Twelve teams have already signed up to participate in this year's program.

The CANstruction Reception is planned for 6PM on Friday, October 10th in the Fashion Show Mall, at which time the winning entries will be announced. In the end all the canned foods are donated to the Food Bank of Las Vegas, and we'd like to make this year the best ever. See you there.

AIA LAS VEGAS PRODUCT SHOW SPONSORED BY MODERNFOLD OF NEVADA

ATTENTION AIA MEMBERS: IF you do not attend any other meeting during the year, Please attend The AIA Las Vegas Product Show on Wednesday, October 15th.

Your Chapter Needs You. Our show can only be a success if YOU attend. The Exhibitors are here because they want to talk to YOU. Remember.... If you don't show up this year..... they won't show up next year.

And that would be VERY bad.

SO....Please -- mark your calendars right now and plan to be there -- Wednesday, October 15th - 3PM-8PM, Grand Pavilion, Riviera Hotel. We need ALL AIA members to attend.

The 2003 AIA Las Vegas Product Show is sponsored by Modernfold of Nevada, LLC. This annual show IS the AIA LV Membership Meeting for October and it is open to all members of the architectural, design and construction community in Las Vegas.

The show will feature 120 Exhibitors, providing the latest products, services, technology and information in the industry. We're hosting complimentary food and beverages, and we're giving away $3,000. in CASH Prizes. To qualify for the prizes you must sign-in at each booth.....and you must be present to win. We're giving away Two $250.00 prizes, Three $500.00 prizes and One Grand Prize of $1,000.00.

Just before the show you will receive your "LUCKY NUMBER" by mail, bring that number to the Show and match it to one of the Booths....You'll win the $1,000.00 CASH PRIZE. (Tim Fichter, AIA won it last year!!! It could be YOU this year!)

How about those AIA C.E. Credits? We've got those too.

Construction Specifications Institute (CSI) is providing seminars and workshops that will provide AIA C.E. Credits. These seminars are scheduled from 8AM to 3PM on the day of the Show. Complete information and registration for these is included in this newsletter.

C.E. Credits are also available at selected exhibitor booths. Locate the booths that display the AIA C.E. Credits Designation.....sign-in at that booth and attend the brief C.E. presentation and you'll get your credits.

The show opens at 3:00PM on Wednesday, October 15th. Plan to be there at 3:00PM and stay until the end....

Bring all your friends...

GREEN BUILDING SEMINARS

Turning Green into Gold

September 11, 2003

AIALV-COTE is cosponsoring this one-day event. Turning Green into Gold 2.0 is packed with facts not clichés. Real numbers, strategies, and techniques you can start using the moment you return to the office. You'll see how to refute the myths that sustainable design costs too much and delays projects, and learn powerful ways to substantiate the value of sustainability.

Funding Green Buildings: Sources and Strategies Workshop

September 12, 2003

AIALV-COTE is cosponsoring the "Funding Green Buildings: Sources and Strategies" workshop at the Henderson Convention Center. This exciting workshop provides a 10-step "roadmap" for optimizing your agency's or your client's green building-related financing, capital campaigns and grant writing strategies. The presenter, Jan McAdams, uses case histories to describe creative approaches to the financing and fund-raising process.

2003 AIA WMR DESIGN AWARDS

AIA Colorado will host this year's Western Mountain Region Conference, which means that they are hosting the WMR Design and Honor Awards programs as well.

Award recipients will be announced at the WMR Awards Banquet as a part of the conference on Saturday, November 15th.

Registration for the conference and tickets for the awards banquet can be purchased through AIA Colorado = aiacolorado.org.

Life of Architecture

2003 WMR CONFERENCE

The AIA Colorado Design Conference will also be the WMR Conference on November 13-15, at the Park Hyatt Hotel in Beaver Creek, Colorado. This year's theme is Antinomy.

Antinomy means the existence of two concepts, rationally derived, that are in apparent opposition to each other. Antinomy is not an everyday word, however the phenomenon is not foreign to the practicing architect. Consider the following Antinomies....

*Architecture is a business.
Architecture is an art form.*

*Architecture is about change.
Architecture is about preservation.*

Make your plans to attend this year's WMR Conference. Keynote speakers include Charles Gwathmey, FAIA, Art Gensler, FAIA, Robert Ivy, FAIA and Hugh Hardy, FAIA.

The conference is being held at the Park Hyatt Beaver Creek Resort and Spa; room rates being at $119.00, phone 970-949-1234 for reservations.

Registration brochures will be mailed in early September, and registration will also be available through the aiacolorado.org website.

WANTED: RESIDENTIAL PROJECTS FOR TAUNTON BOOKS

The Taunton Press is looking for projects to include in upcoming publications. Of special interest from Nevada:

- Shelter from the sun. Houses designed for U.S. strong-sun climates, including desert, tropical, open plains, big sky, beach, sunny snowy climates. Innovative contemporary design, materials, and technology as well as references to Spanish Tropical, Spanish Desert, Indian, and vernacular forms welcome.
- Natural harmony. Houses designed to preserve the natural harmony of a site.
- Wholistic, unified inside/outside design. Homes where the floor plan and site plan were designed together to form a unified whole of inside and outside living. House and landscape could have been designed together or through the collaboration of architect and landscape designer. This project is an exciting collaboration between Sarah Susanka and the landscape designer Julie Moir Messervy.
- Good and inexpensive new construction with innovative building materials. Houses built for $150,000 or less. A note from our author: "I am a writer currently working on a book about houses that use inexpensive materials (i.e. galvanized steel, cement block, cement fiberboard, prefab parts, salvaged materials, etc.) in creative and unexpected ways to make houses that are well-designed, yet unabashedly budget. These houses are usually small; they sometimes express a sense of whimsy or humor, and there seems to be no age bracket for the clients—appropriate for retirement homes, for starter homes or second homes. If you have designed such a house, or know of someone who has, please let us know."

Other projects in the works:

- Cottages (gable form, cozy feel): recent construction or new remodel.
- Small, simple design: small but light-filled, joyful, and uniquely alive homes.

Please submit the following to the address noted below:

- A brief description of your project, including when it was built
- Photos (snapshots are fine; include before-and-after shots, if available, for remodels)
- A simple floor plan

SILENT AUCTION TO BENEFIT AIA SCHOLARSHIP ENDOWMENT

Our annual fund-raiser for the AIA Las Vegas Scholarship Endowment is our Silent Auction, and we need your help. We need items. Art, sketches, paintings, sculpture, books, furnishings, dinners, spa days, show tickets and tickets to sporting events, golf packages, hotel packages, weekend trips, gift baskets, wine, jewelry..... any and all things that can be sold to help generate funding to increase our Scholarship Endowment.

These items will be offered for sale at our 2003 AIA Nevada Excellence In Design Awards Banquet, being held at Caesars Palace Hotel on Saturday, October 11th, 2003. During the reception, from 6:00PM to 7:30PM, items will be available to the highest bidders.

If you'd like to help secure items or work with the Silent Auction Committee, please contact Shelly Ann Hayden, AIA, Director of Scholarships at 456-3000.

CITY OF LAS VEGAS ISSUES CALL FOR EXHIBITION SCREENING

The Cultural Affairs Division of the city of Las Vegas Department of Leisure Services invites visual artists to submit portfolios for its 2004/05 exhibition screening. Artists will be selected to show in either of the two city galleries: the Charleston Heights Arts Center, 800 South Brush Street, or the Reed Whipple Cultural Center, 821 Las Vegas Boulevard North.

To participate in the screening, artists must submit an artist's statement; 15-20 slides of recent work (a CD Rom of images or website address may be substituted for slides); an annotated slide/CD list; resume; press clippings and/or other support material and a self-addressed stamped envelope for return of slides/material. All media will be considered.

Submissions must be postmarked no later than November 30, 2003, or they will be returned unopened. Artists selected for exhibition will be notified by May 31, 2004. Address submissions to Nancy Sloan, Charleston Heights Arts Center, 800 South Brush Street, Las Vegas, NV 8910. Call 702-229-4674 or email nsloan@ci.las-vegas.nv.us for information.

SUCH A DEAL FOR NEW ALLIED MEMBERS

AIA Las Vegas needs and wants new Allied Members. So, go to work out there and invite all your consultants, engineers, contractors, manufacturers representatives, vendors and suppliers to join us. As an incentive, we're giving one "FREE" Business Card Ad in the FORUM Newsletter to every new Allied Member. That's a $100.00 value and a great way to introduce their name and company to the architectural community. Refer all potential new members to Randy or Kelly Lavigne at the AIA office - 895-0936.

ANDERSON, WHITELAW AND SHORTRIDGE TO JURY DESIGN AWARDS

A distinguished panel of jurors has been secured for this year's Excellence In Design Awards program. The specific criteria for the jurors requires representation from small, medium and large firms and at least, one of the jurors must be from the Western Mountain Region.

John Anderson, FAIA is the founding principal (1960) of Anderson Mason Dale Architects, a 40-person Denver firm with a regional public sector practice in architecture and planning. The firm has received over 50 design awards from local, state and regional AIA and others such as the National Endowment Council of Educational Facility Planners and the American Correctional Association. Anderson Mason Dale was selected as the Firm of the Year in 2000 from AIA Colorado, and received the same award in 1986 from the Western Mountain Regional/AIA.

Mr. Anderson recently served as the AIA National President in 2001.

He has been a member of the AIM (Aligning the Institute for the Millennium) Task Force. Mr. Anderson was awarded the AIA Western Mountain Region's Silver Medal in 1984, and AIA Colorado named him Architect of the Year in 1987. He was also a delegate to the World Energy Congress in New Delhi in 1983 and has been a guest lecturer at universities around the world.

A strong proponent of sustainable design, the integration of energy conservation and renewable energy resources into building design, and the use of recycled materials, he has appeared in many states and in the United Kingdom, Canada, South Africa, Finland and India as a lecturer and panelist on energy conscious architecture.

In his community life, Anderson has chaired the Lower Downtown Denver Historic District Design Review Board since 1991. Since its beginnings in 1988, Mr. Anderson has participated on the board of review and approves all renovation, demolition and construction in the Lower downtown B-7 Historic zone. The Board recently received an award from Historic Denver, Inc. for its effectiveness in preserving the character of the area while promoting appropriate development.

Alison M. Whitelaw, A.I.A. is president of Platt/Whitelaw Architects, Inc. During her 26 years of architectural experience in the San Diego region, Ms. Whitelaw has become well respected for her work on projects for private, governmental and institutional clients.

During much of her career, Ms. Whitelaw has worked to refine her knowledge and skill in the field of sustainable design. She has taught many classes and seminars on green building and sustainable design.

She has served as a trainer for City of San Diego project managers (Implementation of City's Green-Building Policy) and for High Performance Building Envelope seminars through SDG&E. She also teaches sustainable design classes at the New School of Architecture & Design.

Ms. Whitelaw believes that buildings should be designed to sustain their users, our communities and the environment, and that they should be a reflection of and a catalyst for cultural definition.

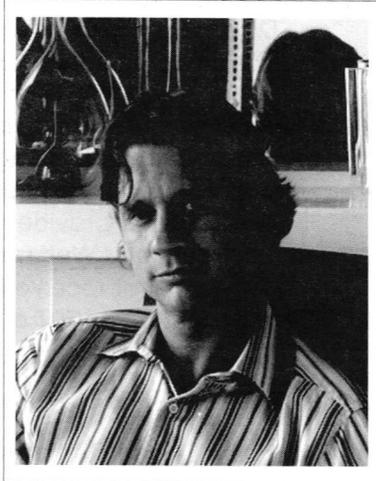

Ms. Whitelaw is a recipient of the Ruocco Award from Citizens Coordinate for Century 3 (C3) for serving the public good in San Diego through sustainable design. She is a past AIA San Diego president and currently serves as president of the San Diego Architectural Foundation. As Foundation president, she has been spearheading a consortium of architects and neuroscientists from around the country to create the Academy of Neuroscience for Architecture, a research institution that will study the affects of the built environment on the human brain. The Academy will be located in San Diego, California.

AIA NEVADA EXCELLENCE IN DESIGN AWARDS

Submission Binders Due - Friday September 26th
Jury - Friday, October 10th
Awards Ceremony - Saturday, October 11th

Steven Shortridge is a recognized designer of residential, commercial and public facilities. He is a principal of the firm CALLAS SHORTRIDGE architects (CSa) in Los Angeles, California, formerly known as SRAEL CALLAS SHORTRIDGE ASSOCIATES. CSa has been in existence since 1996, before that time, both Steven and Barbara Callas were senior associates with the parent firm of Franklin D. Israel Design Associates in Beverly Hills, and oversaw the design and construction of many influential projects. Together they continue the high standards of design excellence started by the late Mr. Israel.

Steven has a bachelor of environmental design from Texas A&M University and a master of architecture from M.I.T. Prior to his forming a partnership with Frank Israel and Barbara Callas, he was a project architect with the firm F&S Partners in Dallas, Texas. He has been involved in programming, master planning, interior design, and design for projects ranging in scale from a headquarters building in Tokyo to various residential additions in Los Angeles, California. As a principal at CSa, Steven functions in the design role for the various projects of the firm. He presently is principal-in-charge of design for three housing projects, two in Los Angeles and one in London, and an artist residence & studio in British Columbia. He has received several academic and design awards, and is a registered architect in California, Florida, and Nevada.

As an office, Callas Shortridge architects believes a collaborative approach is necessary to achieve great architecture. The dialogue with the owner and builder is integral to the design process. In their work CSa aims to assemble specific site influences and orchestrate these with client desires and programming; this orchestration takes place within a framework of architectural elements: structure, space, material, and light.

Articles on the firm's work have been published in Architecture, Architectural Record, Architectural Digest, Art Forum, GA Houses, House & Garden, Metropolitan Home, The New York Times, The Los Angeles Times, and other journals and magazines in this country and abroad.

Nevada. Currently called the "USGBC - Las Vegas Organizing Group", regular meetings are held at 7:00AM on the second Tuesday of each month at the Nevada Power building on West Sahara. Meetings usually last one hour and are open to building industry professionals, owners, operators and other interested parties. Join us in helping to shape the green building industry in Southern Nevada. Call Steve Rypka at 702-285-6842 for further information.

Let's live on the planet as if we intend to stay.
