

Today's News - June 25, 2004

Muschamp stepping down as New York Times architecture critic, and "his army of detractors is all too happy to see him leave." – In Australia, too much money going to arts buildings and not enough to the arts and artists. – Shipping containers as the new building blocks of the future. – U.K. study: public welcomes - or rejects - high-density living (depends on which report you read). Koolhaas' Seattle library scores high - and low - points. – A new waterfront park in Philadelphia - grass and trees to arrive at a later date. – Bangladesh treasures Kahn. – Storm continues to brew over Edinburgh design guru's possible conflict-of-interest. – Arcosanti's struggle to continue building. – Summer school at Harvard.

To subscribe to the free daily newsletter click here

As Muschamp Goes. Angry Adversaries Ready for Revenge. By Clay Risen- New York Observer

Fund artists, not edifices: The State Government boasts about its arts budget but how much of the money is eaten up by buildings and bureaucracies?- The Age (Australia)

[The Shipping News: Shipping containers are everywhere—literally....why some architects consider them the perfect building block. - LOT-EK; Adam Kalkin; Sean Godsell; Jones, Partners; Architects; Office of Mobile Design; Fox & Fowle \[images\]-](#) The Architect's Newspaper

Nimbys become lmbys: Housing surveys find that local residents would welcome high-density development in the South-east - Cambridge Architectural Research-BD/Building Design \(UK\)

Public rejects high-density living: The government's policy of promoting high-density urban living has been hit by research that reveals that 80% of the public would prefer not to live in apartments - Cambridge Architectural Research-Building \(UK\)

Rem Koolhaas retools a traditional civic institution at the Seattle library: As the rhetorical fog begins to lift, it's clear that some of the praise was justified and some not. By David Dillon- Dallas Morning News

Changing Skyline: A fine park now, and even better later: Philadelphia's most exciting new recreational venue is currently amenity-free. By Inga Saffron - Margie Ruddick Landscape/Synterra Partners- Philadelphia Inquirer

Our architect -- Louis Isadore Kahn: Bangladesh got from Kahn one of the most distinctive and memorable, and architecturally creative capitols in the world.- The Daily Star (Bangladesh)

£60m storm over contract award for 'design guru' - Terry Farrell; Allan Murray- The Herald (Scotland)

The Anti-Burb: Arcosanti, a struggling community in the Arizona desert, preaches the virtues of close quarters...one of the nation's longest-running experiments to base a community around ecologically sensitive architecture. - Paolo Soleri- Smithsonian Magazine

Harvard Design School's Executive Education Summer Seminars, June-August, 2004- Harvard Design School

[New Directions: Branding Spaces with Graphics - Hillier Environmental Graphics Studio \[images\]-](#) ArchNewsNow

-- Officially opened: Daniel Libeskind: Danish Jewish Museum, Copenhagen
-- Under Construction: Gehry Partners: MARTa Herford, Herford, Germany
-- Winner Young Architects Program: nARCHITECTS: Canopy, MoMA/P.S.1, New York City
-- Newly opened: Radisson SAS Hotel, Berlin

Note: Pages will open in a new browser window.
External news links are not endorsed by ArchNewsNow.com.
Free registration may be required on some sites.
Some sites may expire after a few days.

Yesterday's News

© 2004 ArchNewsNow.com