THE NEWS

A killer George Matsumoto Prize Jury has been selected for 2015. What a team!

LAW & ORDER

Economic Hardship Unit

In the Wiesners vs. Cherry/Gordon case, one of Gail Wiesner's arguments is that the different style of the Cherry/Gordon house would drive down the value of her house and harm her economically. The recently renovated house on Euclid (525) right next door to the Wiesners at 515, across the street from the Cherry/Gordon

House at 516, closed September 26 for $513,000, or $261/sqft. A smaller home closed at 629 Euclid last November for $217,500, or $267/sqft. Around the corner at 605 Elm Street a recently remodeled home just sold for $377,000, around $260/sqft depending on the final area. These are among the top dollar per square foot prices in Oakwood. So no economic hardship ahead for the Wiesners. Except the huge cost of all the litigation they set in motion. Legal bills for them, for the Raleigh Board of Adjustment, for Cherry/Gordon, and for the City of Raleigh. To paraphrase Elton John, "it's a lose-lose-lose-lose situation, and it's getting more and more absurd."
