New Paperback Edition: Type Journal: A Typeface and Lettering

Sketchbook. Are you totally into fonts? Do you have strong opinions about serif versus sans serif? Do you have a throw pillow with Helvetica written on it in Helvetica font? Then this is the book for you. Written by Steven Heller and Rick Landers, it is a journal for sketching, tracing, and coloring classic typefaces. An illustrated gallery offers terminology and tips from the pros. And by pros, we mean people that have more throw typeface throw pillows than you do. You are not alone.

Paul Rudolph's Walker Guest House, recreated and formerly on display in Sarasota FL, has been moved and reassembled in Palm Springs CA, just in time for the fall Modernism Week preview and sticking around through 2019. Join NCMH on our Modernism Week trip in February and you'll see it!

ARCHITECTURE YOU LOVE

This week on USModernist Radio: Modernism East and West. Laura Massino is LA's premier architecture tour guide and the prolific author of Architecture Tours LA Guidebooks, which include Frank Gehry Architecture, Pasadena, Downtown, Hancock Park, Hollywood, West Hollywood and Beverly Hills, and our favorite hood, Silver Lake. Heather Papinchak is co-owner of Polymath Park in Acme PA. She and her husband Tom are serial Modernists. They don't just collect chairs and art like you do, they collect entire houses associated with the architect Frank Lloyd Wright – even moving some houses across the country – to create a fantastic 130-acre touring experience within an hour of Wright's other landmarks, Fallingwater and Kentuck Knob. You can even stay overnight in one of the houses!

USModernist Radio is sponsored by Angela Roehl, your special real estate agent for Modernist houses. Listen via iTunes. Listen on Android devices and PC's. Listen to past episodes.
