

A North Carolina 501C3 Educational Archive

Documenting, Preserving, and Promoting Modernist Residential Architecture / www.usmodernist.org

- America's mid-century Modernist houses are special. Yet these "livable works of art" are being torn down in record numbers – largely because buyers, sellers, and realtors don't realize what they have – or how to preserve them.
- USModernist (USM) is part of a 501C3 nonprofit recognized for leadership in historic preservation with 12 local, state, and national awards.
- USModernist's website USModernist.org is America's largest open digital archive of residential Modernist houses and architects, documenting 6,500 Modernist houses, past and present, built and unbuilt, of 20th-century American residential design. The library covers nearly every Wright (Sr. and Jr.), Neutra, Lautner, Saarinen, Schindler, Williams (Paul and E. Stewart), Meier, Gwathmey and 30 other major Modernist architects. The site is used by state and national journalists nearly every day.
- The US Modernist Radio podcast engages conversation with fascinating people who own, sell, create, love, and hate Modernist architecture. Featured guests have included Paul Goldberger, Eric Lloyd Wright, Kelly Lynch, Eames Demetrios, Raymond Neutra, Susan Saarinen, Alexandra Lange, Nathaniel Kahn, Kate Wagner, and Sarah Susanka, and more.
- The USModernist architecture magazine library houses 2.1 million pages (6,000+ issues) of nearly every major US design magazine since 1891, full editions all downloadable, searchable, and with free access to the public. The library includes Architectural Record, Progressive Architecture, Architectural Forum, House+Home, among others.
- USModernist's members, called the Mod Squad, share interests in Modernist houses, design, travel, food, and lifestyle.
- USModernist's Executive Director, George Smart, received 2016 Institute Honors for Collaborative and Professional Achievement by the national AIA. He hosts USModernist Radio and speaks around the country as the Accidental Archivist.

Rebekah Laney
Development Director
rebekah@usmodernist.org
(865) 414-5800

George Smart
Executive Director
george@usmodernist.org
(919) 740-8407