Designed to Last.... by Honeywell

Designing what's best for today — and for what's coming tomorrow — is a longstanding tradition at Honeywell. That's why we're proud to be part of the old/new Northwestern Mutual Place and NML's 125-year celebration.

As part of NML's rebuilding program, Honeywell Commercial Division has installed a pneumatic temperature control system, monitored by a Delta integrated building management system. The 2800-point Delta system not only helps assure the comfort of Northwestern Mutual employees, it also provides a number of computerized energy management programs, card access control, electronic security, fire/smoke management and a variety of information outputs. All programming is in special user-friendly software, easily assessable to lay operating personnel for revision or reprogramming. And as part of NML's continuing renewal program, we soon hope to be adding more energy management capabilities as well as an automated data retrieval system to aid in energy performance analysis.

By renewing its traditions so magnificently, Northwestern Mutual Life assures its future vitality as a prime mover in Milwaukee and the insurance industry. Honeywell will be there when they need us, for as long as these buildings stand.
