

Today's News - Wednesday, March 27, 2002

Today's lead story remains the ANN exclusive - an interview with Reed Kroloff, Editor-in-Chief of Architecture magazine, about the changes going on at the publication. It posted yesterday, but we thought it important enough to not let it slide into the archives just yet. All the other articles are new today. The Industry Calendar that debuted Monday already has a number of new events - it's worth checking out at least once a week. Kristen Richards, Editor-in-Chief
