WINTER 1996 VOLUME 5 NUMBER 3

ON THE COVER

The living room of this home inspired by Frank Lloyd Wright's "Boomerang House" showcases a magnificent collection of Memphis art glass along with mid-century modern furnishings.

30 Saxbo Style

by Robin and Howard Hecht Saxbo pottery's graceful forms and immaculate glazes have influenced several generations of modern ceramicists around the world.

33 Working With Mies

by Jim Sweeney Architect Donald Lee Sickler, a member of the Mies van der Rohe Office for nine years, provides an insider's view on Mies and the development of modern architecture.

36 Vladimir Kagan

by William Ferrall Vladimir Kagan shares his thoughts from his summer home on Nantucket on his extensive career, the development of the modern furnishings market, his contemporaries of the 1950s, the resurgence of interest in his organic modern style, and the debut of his Classic Collection.

40 Modern Quarters: Boomerang House

by Robin Cohen This once-abandoned home built by Frank Lloyd Wright's chief contractor and engineer has been meticulously restored to its original specifications and tastefully furnished in mid-century modern.

44 20th Century Craft: A Critical Perspective

by Tran Turner Mr. Turner poses the question, or perhaps the challenge, "why is there no accurate published history of studio crafts of the 20th century?"

DEPARTMENTS

8 A Closer Look

Georg Jensen's designs in silver exhibit a distinctive style and refined handcraftsmanship.
